Atcher's Dream Becomes Reality As Sears Opens

by NANCY COWGER

"Fifteen years ago, I had a dream, and fortunately for me, seven years ago Mayor Robert O. Atcher as he welcomed Sears Roebuck & Co. to Schaumburg at the firm's grand opening of its new store at Woodfield yesterday.

Atcher briefly related the history of negotiations to bring Sears and the other stores that will soon open at Woodfield to the village. Sears made the decision to build in Schaumburg seven years ago, and the following year hearings on the development were held. "People expected to see stone, brick and cement go up then," said the mayor, and when they didn't see it, they doubted Woodfield would be built.

"I was called the world's biggest liar in the Northwest suburbs for having said the world's biggest shopping center would be built right here in Schaumburg," Atcher said.

But construction started two years ago, culminating in the series of store openings begun by Sears yesterday. Other stores, including Marshall Fields & Co. and J. C. Penny outlets will be accepting customers in September and October.

AN ESTIMATED 200 persons crowded the main entrance to the new Sears store, off of Rte. 58, to watch while Anita Joyce Pankratz, Miss Illinois, opened the door with a "magic wand," and led shoppers into the building. Also participating in the formalities were Jack Twyman, former professional athlete and master of ceremonies; John P. Maloney, store manager; John D. Taylor, general manager of the Sears Chicago retail group; Culver J. Kennedy, Sears midwest vice president; and A. Alfred Taubman, chairman of the board of The Taubman Co., mall developer.

Maloney characterized the opening as "very successful," saying Sears was happy with the response of customers, which he termed "extremely favorable from everybody." He said he could not estimate the first day's shopping crowd, except to say "there have been a lot of people." Parking areas were full, and business was good, he said, with visitors to the new store both looking and buying.

Traffic in the area was expected to be a problem, said Maloney, with all major roads leading to the center under construction or repairs. However, he said, "the traffic anticipated problems did not develop."

MEANWHILE, Schaumburg Police Chief Martin Conroy, who detailed four men to traffic control with Sears paying the expense, said his men were "bombarded" about noon. Parking lots were filled with an estimated 10,000 cars during the early afternoon, Conroy said.

A few accidents were reported on Rte. 58, with injuries reported from one of them. No details were available from police as of press time.

WITH HER "magic wand," Anita Joyce Pankratz, Miss Illinois, officially opened Sears Roebuck & Co.'s new Woodfield store in Schaumburg, yesterday morning. An estimated 200 persons viewed the opening ceremonies at the main entrance, John P. Maloney, store manager. On his right is Culver J. Kennedy, Sears' midwest vice president. Next to Miss Pankratz is

Hoffman Estates Police Probe $10,000 Gem Theft

The alleged theft of $10,000 worth of jewelry is among several theft cases under investigation by Hoffman Estates village police.

Mrs. Martha Balcar, 186 Bradley Ln., Hoffman Estates, reported the theft at 4:44 a.m. Wednesday. Police are seeking James C. Morgan, the man she said she planned to marry, for questioning in the case. Mrs. Balcar told police Morgan had asked for her car keys, saying he would take the car to a Standard service station at Rte. 72 and Barrington Road for service work. She gave him the car keys, along with the key to her home. She later received a phone call from her son who told her the home had been ransacked, and several items were missing, said police.

Listed as taken were jewelry Mrs. Balcar valued at $10,000; appliances, including a television set and radio; silver serving dishes and credit cards.

Another home was ransacked at 407 Hawthorne, Hoffman Estates. The theft of numerous items, with values unknown for the present, was reported by Mrs. Lucile Wahls, mother of James Wahls, who lives at the address. Wahls is out of town on vacation, and Mrs. Wahls was checking the home at about 5 p.m. Tuesday, when she discovered the burglary.

While a complete inventory of missing goods cannot be made until Wahls returns, police list some items taken as a record player, a portable organ, power tools, a pocket watch and eight to 10 pint bottles of bourbon whiskey.

Police said the home was entered through a rear window, and because of the means of entry the culprit may have been the same person responsible for a Sunday burglary at 185 Bradley Ln. Merwin Pye reported the theft there of beer and whiskey. Entry was also through rear windows.

Woman Convicted Of Abortion Gets One To Two Years

Mrs. Donna Bostrom, former Schaumburg resident, Tuesday was sentenced to one to two years in the State Reformatory for Women at Dwight.

Mrs. Bostrom was convicted July 22 of criminal abortion. She was arrested Jan. 16, 1970, and charged with performing an illegal abortion Dec. 18, 1969.

Two area women testified before Circuit Court Judge Louis J. Giliberto, who heard the case, that Mrs. Bostrom had performed illegal abortions on them. Judge Giliberto pronounced the sentence. State law provides up to 10 years' imprisonment for conviction of illegal abortion.

Who, what and how? is the three-fold question members of the Schaumburg Presidents Club hope to answer about their new organization at their Oct. 5 meeting.

During the club's first organizational meeting Tuesday, Schaumburg Mayor Robert O. Atcher told the group of approximately 20 top-ranking officials of service organizations that "communication" was important.

Atcher had called together the community leaders, representatives of School Districts, 54, 21 and 15, the park district, library and athletic association presidents, and heads of service or community oriented groups at the Lancer Restaurant.

Its first action was to appoint Mrs. Jean Kessel, who is president of the Schaumburg Woman's Club as chairman and Sonja Leraas festival of arts chairman as secretary of the club.

"Who we are, what can we get out of our group and how to coordinate our activities and efforts," were the first questions said Mrs. Leraas.

"Richard Grote, president of the Schaumburg Township Library was selected to work on the by-laws and by our Oct. 5 meeting our purpose should be clear," said Mrs. Leraas.

She added that Grote will incorporate suggestions of the other members.

Discussion at the first meeting indicates that Atcher's idea to coordinate and encourage communication within the community was well received.

MRS. LERAAS and Paul Derda, park director, said the first session was "a good one." Mrs. Leraas said some organization heads felt a wider geographical focus on community needs should be the group's aim while others felt that the study should begin in Schaumburg.

However, all seemed to agree that the Presidents Club should work to minimize conflict within the community.

When different groups hold fund raising drives at the same time or stage events at the same time both the community and the group suffers, she noted.

"Betterment of the community by coordination of our efforts," is one of our goals, she added.

Plan Volunteer Development At Park

A "master plan" for volunteer development of the east side of High Point Park was approved by Hoffman Estates Park directors Tuesday.

Proposed by the East Side High Point Citizens committee, development planned will cost a total of $375, which was the sum of professional removal of five dead cottonwood trees earlier considered by the park board.

Under co-chairmanship of Ed Schwelmbach and Ron Ferguson, who live in the area of the park, the citizens group plans to recruit other neighbors from a point west of MacArthur School to a point east of the lake.

Their "master plan" calls for removal of the five dead trees and salvage of the lumber for sandboxes, benches and a retaining wall at the foot of Lancaster Lane.

THEY ALSO PLAN removal of weeds along the shore line and planting of flowers and shrubs at the park site in addition to filling in shore lines with sand.

It also is the citizens' intent to remove weeds from the lake and eliminate a dead pine tree from the foot of Lancaster Lane.

In the future they will present a detailed plan for construction of a sledding hill at High Point Park although this will not be accomplished in the first phase of the project.

A detailed list of equipment needed for the park work was submitted to park board members with the master plan and the group was promised assistance in obtaining the needed items.

Others also involved are the Pat Conjurans, Sam Lanzas, and Ray Schalks.

Charge Man With Traffic Violations

A 32-year-old Chicago man was charged with numerous traffic violations, including driving while intoxicated, after a high-speed auto chase Tuesday involving Hoffman Estates and state police which erupted in gun fire.

Patrolman Joseph Rinella of Hoffman Estates was on patrol at about 3:45 p.m. when he was hailed by a motorist. Rinella stopped behind the man's car, and the man allegedly made an obscene gesture out the car window and sped away westbound on Higgins Road, turning onto Barrington Road and then onto the Northwest Tollway.

The driver proceeded at speeds sometimes in excess of 90 mph, said Rinella. By this time, the state police had been called for assistance, and Trooper Jerome Boehn joined the chase. Twice the driver forced Rinella's squad car off the roadway. About a mile west of Rte. 53 Boehn fired several shots at the car, one of which struck and deflated a tire. The driver kept going, driving on the blown-out tire.

The chased car went through a state police roadblock, headed east, and the driver finally lost control of the vehicle, said police. He stopped the car and emerged, and Boehn and Rinella placed him under arrest.

Richard A. Thomas, 1625 W. Chase Ave., was charged by Hoffman Estates police with failure to stop at a stop sign, reckless driving, attempting to elude a police officer and driving while intoxicated. State police also filed numerous charges, said a Hoffman Estates spokesman.

Thomas is to appear in Circuit Court in Schaumburg at 11 a.m. Sept. 15.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

The House approved a two-year extension of the nation's basic draft law, but final congressional action appeared doubtful until after Labor Day. Included in the measure was an amendment urging President Nixon to renegotiate, rather than set unilaterally, U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

The Apollo 15 astronauts ended their six-day stay on the moon, blasting off toward a splashdown in the Pacific Ocean on Saturday.

President Nixon hinted he might approve a wage-price control board if he was convinced it could work effectively against inflation and that it could be operated without coercive enforcement powers. Seventeen Republican Senators earlier introduced legislation to create such a board.

A federal magistrate recommended that Daniel Ellsberg stand trial on charges of unauthorized possession and distribution of the 47-volume Pentagon study of the Vietnam war.

The Senate voted to forbid a candidate from spending more than $50,000 of his own money to run for President, $35,000 for the Senate and $25,000 for the House. The reform legislation was the first in 46 years. Prospects for House passage were uncertain.

The World

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky filed petitions to qualify for the Oct. 3 presidential elections and said it was up to the South Vietnamese supreme court to decide whether he would be a candidate. Sources said Ky's chances of remaining on the ballot were slim because of his difficulties in recruiting supporters.

Peking's official news agency described the U.S. decision to back the seating of Communist China in the United Nations as a "chummy two-Chinas trick played by U.S. imperialism." Washington sources said the attack was not unexpected but the harshness of it distressed some administration officials.

The State

A Chicago businessman, Edward O. Boehn Jr., said sworn testimony that he engineered $111,000 in loans secured by stolen collateral for mob-lined figures in 1965 was "an absolute lie." Earlier, a city banker had said his bank had been lured into granting $300,000 backed by collateral that later proved to be forged.

The War

U.S. helicopter gunships battered Communist patrols in the northern jungles and coastal lowlands of South Vietnam. In Saigon, Cambodian officials said thousands of villagers were fleeing their homes in eastern Cambodia, complaining that South Vietnamese government troops were committing atrocities.

The Market

The stock market, after suffering its second sharpest decline of the year Tuesday, firmed up during the first hour but then did an about face. The Dow Jones Industrial Average showed a loss of 4.89 at 845.14 after plunging nearly 15 points a day earlier.

Prices eased in moderate turnover on the American Stock Exchange.

Trainer Denies Part In Track Fire

One of three defendants named in a suit filed by horse owners who lost thoroughbreds in the June 3 fire at Arlington Park Race Track has said, "They've got the wrong man."

Robert Cramer, a horse trainer in the barn which was destroyed by fire and where 33 horses were killed, said, "I had nothing to do with them," referring to the plaintiffs, all New Orleans businessmen. Owners Eugene H. Rutter, James H. Rutter and Jack Weiss jointly filed suit this week in U.S. District Court seeking reparations for damages estimated at $280,000. The men owned six of the 33 horses killed. Cramer was named as a defendant in the suit along with Gilberto Morales, who was employed by Cramer as a stable hand and was questioned by Arlington Heights police about the fire.

Police said the fire was caused by negligence. Morales was seen smoking near the stable minutes before the fire began, according to Arlington Heights police. He was questioned but never prosecuted.

Records in the licensing office of Arlington Park show that Morales was discharged from the track on June 15, the day the Illinois Racing Board rejected his employment license upon the recommendation of track management.

Cramer said he knew Morales, but was never involved in training horses for either of the Rutters or Weiss. "I lost 15 of my own horses in that fire," he said.

The third defendant named in the suit is the Arlington Park Jockey Club, a division of Chicago Thoroughbred Enterprises (CTE), track operator.

The suit charges negligence in the stable area and the lack of an adequate fire alarm system in the barn, which, in total, sustained about $500,000 damage.

John F. Loomer, president of CTE was not available for comment. Loomer flew to Plainfield, N.J., where funeral services were being held for Philip J. Levin, president of Madison Square Garden Corp., the parent company of CTE.

Levin's Past Lives On With Probe

Race Track operator Philip J. Levin died at the age of 62 Tuesday, but investigations into his past live on.

Levin's $100,000 donation to Illinois politicians last year recently triggered a number of state investigations which will continue despite his death.

Among the investigators still pursuing the Levin case are members of Illinois Atty. Gen. William J. Scott's office, the Cook County States Attorney's office, the Illinois Liquor Control Commission, the Cook County Grand Jury and the Illinois Racing Board.

Much of the controversy centered around the political contribution as it relates to state liquor laws.

A spokesman for the liquor control commission said a hearing will be held Aug. 30 to determine if nine state liquor licenses Levin held at Arlington and Washington Park Race tracks will be revoked.

LEVIN, FORMER president of Madison Square Garden Corp., the parent company of race track operator Chicago Thoroughbred Enterprises (CTE), allegedly violated a little known state law by making his donations through one of his companies, Western Concessions Incorporated.

The spokesmen said state statutes prohibit political donations by licensees who derive more than 5 per cent of their income from liquor sales.

Western Concessions operates food and beverage service at Arlington and Washington Parks and Arlington Park Towers Hotel. Western Concessions is a subsidiary of CTE.

Among the 12 cancelled checks the attorney general's office has offered as evidence of the donations are four from Western Concessions, showing $5,150 was given to Democrats and $40,000 to Republicans.

Illinois Assistant Atty. Gen. James P. Zagel said his office also "still has the Levin matter under consideration."

Last month Atty. General Scott ordered Levin to supply the Illinois Racing Board with cancelled checks, corporation meeting minutes, financial records of CTE and other information pertaining to the contributions.

RACING BOARD officials have been asked to call in one more key witness before closing the books on Levin. He is Sidney Korshak, Chicago attorney and brother of Chicago city collector, Marshall Korshak, whom Levin allegedly entrusted to distribute the $100,000 gift to the GOP.

Zagel said the attorney general's office has twice asked the racing board to question Korshak. It is not known if the board will comply with Zagel's request.

Although a spokesman for the Cook County States Attorney's office declined comment on the Levin case, he said it is still under investigation.

The Cook County grand jury, which was investigating Levin at the time of his death, is also expected to continue their probe into the political donations. On July 22, Levin, along with other track officials, spent nearly an hour testifying before the jury.

On July 20, however, Levin told racing board commissioners he was never solicited for political contributions and "never expected political favors for them." He said the contributions were made in the interest of "good citizenship, doing business in Illinois," and to offset predominantly Democratic pledges he said was made in the past by his predecessor, Mrs. Marje Lindheimer Everett.

Eye Hermitage Water Requirement

Permits for phase two of construction of Kassuba's Hermitage Trace will be issued when the village is assured that the builder will provide adequate water generation for the development in accordance with recommendations submitted by Hoffman Estates Plan Commission this week.

Sam Pancotta, representing the building firm, attended Monday's village board meeting and said, that while he is not a principal in the firm, the request will be taken back for approval.

Kassuba will be required to construct a well or wells with a capacity adequate to serve the 347 apartments planned for construction.

Of the total number of units, 97 contain one-bedroom, 214 have two bedrooms and 36 are three-bedroom apartments.

ALTHOUGH Pancotta expressed agreement verbally, at the insistence of Hoffman Estates Atty. Edward Hofert, Kassuba will be required to deposit funds of letters of credit insuring financial ability to install the needed water system.

"We are experiencing a serious problem concerning water which has been given recognition by the courts of this county and must be, therefore, specific and strict with regard to water," Hofert told Pancotta.

He will require the firm to negotiate a written agreement explaining where the well site will be located on their property as well as its specifications plus information about when it will be drilled in relation to the need for building and occupancy permits.

Pancotta told the village board that materials would not be prepared for approval of engineering at next week's meeting.

HE IS TO ADVISE the village board when all things are completed and ready for presentation.

Plan Commission Chairman Richard

Regan told trustees that Hermitage Trace will donate $10,000 to Hoffman Estates Park District and give a $100 per unit contribution to the local fire protection district to be used toward purchase of a pumper truck.

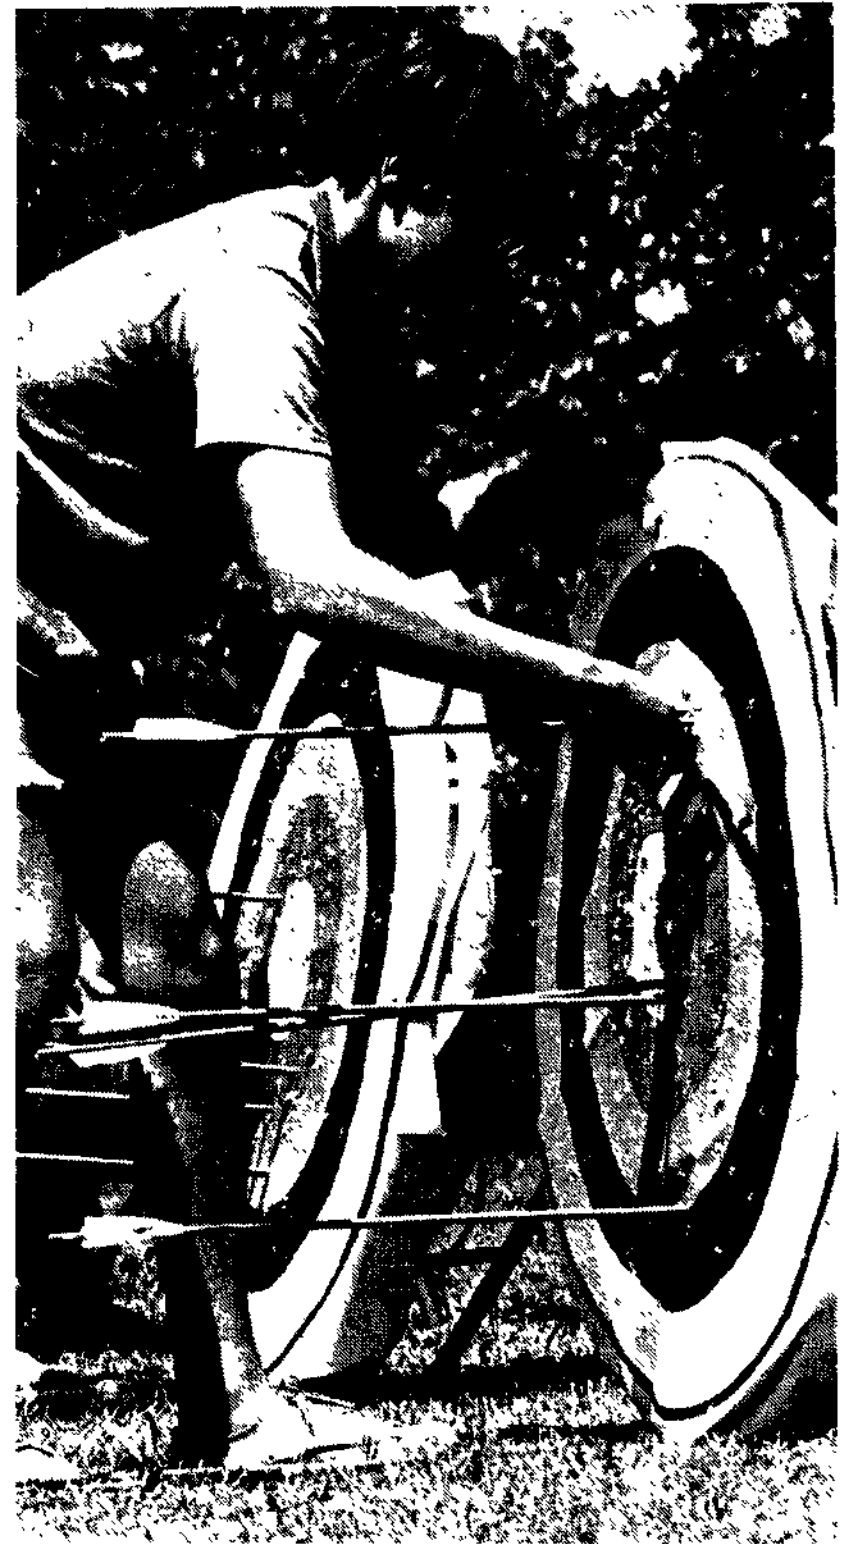

Regan said that the builder will also submit a written commitment tying him to construction of a lighting system in the apartment complex.

In relation to development of a well he will be required to work with Greeley and Hansen, Inc., water consultants to the village, in designing the facility.

In other plan commission business, trustees concurred in a recommendation to approve engineering for Ring Bros. Barrington Lakes apartment complex to be located on north Hassell Road.

The complex will contain 790 units with 417 one-bedroom apartments and 309 two-bedroom units.

Trustees Diane Jensen and Bruce Lind dissented with Edward Hennessy, Virginia Hayter, Bill Cowin and Mayor Frederick Downey casting the decisive number of affirmative votes.

Cool Weather 'Crimps' Swim Lessons

Operation of Hoffman Estates Park District's newly acquired Lions Pool is as smooth as could be expected with one exception — weather.

Reporting to park directors Tuesday, pool manager Jim Sindelar expressed concern about the "crimp" put into swim instruction by the far below 72-degree temperatures experienced during the last 10 days.

He informally recommended that park directors give serious consideration to the idea of purchasing a pool heater for the 1972 swim season in order to both extend the season and make instruction possible during cooler weather.

Purchase price and installation costs of a pool heater are estimated at $10,000. When the pool closes Labor Day, bathhouse facilities will be completely secured but in a way possible to allow for clubhouse or craft instruction use of the building, Sindelar said.

HE ALSO INDICATED that financial records of pool operation for the entire summer should be available to the park board within several weeks after the facility closes for the season.

Park Summer Programs End Today

Capsulizing highlights of Hoffman Estates Park District's summer program this week, Tom Teschner, director of recreation, described the total activity as highly successful.

Programs will end today with informal parties, dress-up days and other activities at the park district playgrounds, Teschner said.

Recreation staff members take particular pride in the district's capture of seventh place in the fifth annual Paddock Olympics the director noted.

"Our philosophy differs from some park districts in the way we participate in Paddock Olympics since some groups recruit children for the competition while all of our representatives came strictly from park activities in which they voluntarily signed up," Teschner said.

Among other group activities held locally, 150 children from Hoffman Estates playground groups enjoyed a splash party at Lions Pool last Friday in addition to field trips and a number of special event days.

ALSO NOTEWORTHY is the fact that members of the pee-wee baton group, 5 and 6-year-olds, took first place in district competition and will go on to national finals being held at Notre Dame University, South Bend, Ind., this month.

Local sponsors came forward to back each baton group member with the $30 fee necessary to go to the national competition, Teschner said and indicated that names of sponsors will be released by the park district shortly.

He expressed enthusiasm about a recreation program for exceptional children held in the district this summer and said that he hopes to include a following session in the fall program.

Sindelar plans to submit a proposal of park district management of all pools (those in apartment complexes) in the village with an eye to cost savings in purchase of chemicals and efficient use of staff.

He told board members that he does not plan that this would have any effect on private pool memberships since they would remain to be restricted to those who live in the developments.

"Such a move could enable us to float staff members when needed as well as develop a swim team and compete in AAU (Amateur Athletic Union) meets," he said.

Park District Fund Up $1,000

Park officials can boast of an additional $1,000 in their treasury thanks to judicious financial management on the part of the Hoffman Estates Athletic Association (HEAA).

Phil Mendel, HEAA baseball commissioner, appeared before the park board this week to advise that the district's share of the costs of baseball field improvements will amount to $2,000 rather than the $3,000 earlier pledged.

Park funds were used for installation of backstops and fencing of fields at Hillcrest School, Mendel said.

He also explained that HEAA spent an additional $1300 for filling and grading at all other fields.

MENDEL SAID that children participating in the 1971 baseball program totaled 900 representing a substantial increase over the 450 in the program the previous year.

Although Mendel did not cite specific costs, it was revealed at a park-affiliated meeting several weeks ago that the total cost of operating a baseball program this year was $22,000.

This information was presented by Mrs. Susan Armstrong, HEAA treasurer, who served as the organization's representative to Peoples Park in Parks (PPP), a volunteer service group being organized by Park Com. Tom Barber.

Mendel also advised park board members to "capitalize on the HEAA football program since it will be playing on your field this year."

Lands surrounding Hoffman Estates elementary schools were transferred to ownership of the park district late last fall through renegotiation of a park-school lease agreement with Dist. 54.

HEAA football programs will serve 500 boys this fall with Chino Park field, presently owned by the village but planned for transfer to the park district, and two fields at Hillcrest Elementary School.

EIGHT PEE-WEE teams with two divisions will be included as well as four widget groups plus the varsity squads — the Commandos and Raiders, Mendel explained.

The Raiders wish to remain at Chino Park for daily practice sessions but the Commandos would like practice space at Vogelei Park and Mendel indicated he would apply for the proper permit applications for this site.

Earlier HEAA had proposed construction of a major lighted field at Vogelei Park but the idea was abandoned by the organization following expressions of disapproval from neighbors in the area.

Pee-wee and widget teams use the Hillcrest fields.

Walden Development Slates Folk Festival

A folk guitar festival will be part of the anniversary celebration on Sunday, Aug. 15, 1 to 4 p.m., for Walden, a residential and commercial development in Schaumburg.

John Smolenski, manager, extends an invitation to the public to take part in the festivities which also include tours of Walden's three model suites.

Completed in the first phase of the $200 million development are 204 apartment units in two, three-story elevator buildings and 50 townhouses.

Currently under construction to be ready for occupancy Nov. 1, is Phase II, two apartment buildings with a total of 204 studio, one and two-bedroom units and 13, two, three and four-bedroom townhouses.

Phase III, an 80,000 square foot, five-story general office building will be ready early next year.

Walden, located on Algonquin Road, east of Meacham, is a joint venture between William J. Walsh and McCormick Investments, Inc.

the board of trustees for their action tonight.

Hogan, and Hanover Park residents Tom Bogan, and Macedonio, (Curly) Iniguez have met informally since their appointment by Pres. Richard Baker in July. Hogan said the three have not selected a chairman but will after Baker designates the tenure of the three appointments.

State statute governing the commission calls for one member to hold a one-year term, a second a two-year term and the third to serve a three-year term.

Hogan said the by-laws were compiled using state statute as a guide and after comparison with Evanston, Rockford, Elgin and Des Plaines by-laws.

The commission's job is to review applications for village employment, and see that the village complies with state statute as it is quoted in regard to village employees, said Hogan.

Iniguez noted that over 60 applications for public works positions were received by the commission this past month.

Hopefully the village board's approval of the by-laws will make the commission a formally operating body, said Hogan.

The commission members plan to announce the meeting date once a chairman is selected and added that minutes of each session will be available in the village clerk's office.

Signup Still Open For HEAA

Although registration for Hoffman Estates Athletic Association (HEAA) play has been heavy, boys living in the Winston Knolls subdivision may sign up through next weekend.

Appearing before members of Hoffman Estates Park Board this week, Phil Mendel, an HEAA representative and coach of one of the teams, stressed that to date the football program lacks Winston Knolls players.

Boys interested in the program are asked to contact Mendel, 529-4184 immediately, either for information or to register.

Mendel also issued an open invitation to the monthly general meeting of the HEAA being held Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. at Vogelei Community Recreation Center.

"We are a completely open organization with 600 members but, as usual, only about 12 show up for our meetings," Mendel said.

As of last March, HEAA had made no provision for including Winston Knolls boys in their baseball program but at the suggestion of The Herald scheduled a special registration.

New Voting District Formed By County

A new voting district in Cook County now designated as the 36th district by the County Clerk of Cook County has been formed from a portion of the 22nd district, announced Louis Barone, Hanover Park Village Clerk.

Barone said the area west of, and including all even house numbers on Churchill Drive, north of the Chicago Elgin Road commonly called Irving Park Road, east of Barrington Road, and south of the northern Hanover Park village limits now is designated as the 36th district.

'Dangerous Building' Signs Installed At Meadow Trace

"Dangerous building" signs were placed on five apartment buildings in the Meadow Trace complex yesterday morning by Rolling Meadows officials.

The signs, entitled "Notice of Violation," state that the building and zoning officer and city council have determined the apartments are dangerous buildings.

Building and Zoning Officer Sverre Haug said the buildings, located on the southwest side of Rolling Meadows are in violation of the city's safety code and were fire hazards.

Last month Haug asked that additional exits be constructed and ventilation improved in the basements of the buildings following an inspection. A time table was set up whereby Kassuba Development Co. owners of the complex, would make these corrections at the rate of two buildings each month starting in July.

To date Haug has received no response from Kassuba officials of intent to make the corrections or any plans for the necessary improvements. On the legal advice of the city attorney, who has also been unsuccessful in getting Kassuba officials to take appropriate action, the signs were erected yesterday morning.

"IF WE DON'T GET response (from Kassuba) to the signs in regard to correcting the building code violations further legal steps will be taken," said Joseph M. Ladd, who is replacing City Atty. Donald M. Rose while he is on vacation. He declined to state what further action might be taken.

Haug said the effect of the signs is to warn people but the city couldn't stop people from going into the basement if they wanted to.

In the event of a fire, Haug said a person in the basement area would be trapped and unable to get out.

Today's action highlights a year of criticism of the complex by residents and city officials. The initial inspection of the buildings took place last October after several tenants complained to city officials.

The complaints reached a peak last January when one of the buildings was destroyed by fire.

Criticism of the complex has been so intent that city officials have discussed taking measures to have the complex dismantled from the city.

John Blyth, Meadow Trace manager, had reported in July that the necessary improvements would be made to the basements to meet city codes but he was unavailable for comment yesterday.

Motor Fuel Tax Fund Totals $9,289.22

Hanover Park Village Clerk, Louis Barone reports that the Division of Highways allotment of motor fuel tax funds for the month of June in Hanover Park amounted to $9,289.22.

The Department of Revenue reports the villages portion of sales tax during the month of April was $26,261.45, less the four per cent administration expense of $1,050.46 with the village's total amounting to $25,210.99.

Barone added that the highway department has advised the village it is authorized to expend $81,936.80 for contract construction of arterial streets, and $6,157.28 for engineering, totaling $88,094.08 for the villages proposed section 5-cs program of street maintenance.

The village has received $384.26 from the Circuit Court Clerk of DuPage County. This is the village portion of fines assessed from Hanover Park citations.

Lions Sponsor Glaucoma Unit

A mobile glaucoma screen unit, professionally staffed and operated by the Illinois Society for the prevention of blindness, will be screening, without charge, for suspected cases of glaucoma from 6 to 9 p.m. Aug. 12 and 13, in Hoffman Estates.

Herbert Keesee, president of the Hoffman Estates Lions Club said the unit will be stationed at the Golf-Rose Shopping Mall.

This project is sponsored locally by the Lions Club. According to the society, glaucoma is a leading cause of blindness in Illinois and is most often found in those 35 and over. If undetected it can eventually lead to blindness. It is estimated there are 90,000 cases of unsuspected glaucoma in the state. Glaucoma may exhibit no symptoms in the early stages according to Derrick Vail, M.D., a director of the society. The Hoffman Lions urge all residents over 35 to be checked.

'No Significance For Appropriation'

Hanover Park President Richard Baker said no special significance is attached to the board's recent passage of an appropriation of $18,000 for a village engineer.

Baker explained that the salary was appropriated to ensure the money could be spent in the board of trustees decided to hire an engineer on a full-time rather than a consulting basis.

However, this does not indicate that "we are planning on replacing Engineer Larry Grindel," Baker added. Grindel's appointment is on a yearly basis and was due in April. Baker said Grindel has agreed to serve as engineer until the trustees check out the advantages of a full time engineer. "I have not asked for his re-appointment because the board should have the time to consider what is best," Baker added.

"We are looking into the matter and want to make sure that we do the right thing," Baker said. The president added that some villages who have switched to a full time man found the move was costly.

Lions Report Profitable Year

Sal Martinez, past president of the Hanover Park Lions Club in 1970 and 1971 and new president Mario Colangelo who holds his office until 1972 report that the past year has been rewarding financially and in services rendered by its members.

Lion Dennis McKinney said through the cooperation of area residents and businessmen of the tri-village area the Lions have been able to make the following donations, totaling $1,820.90.

Donations were sent to the Hadley School for the Blind $420; Dialogue $100; Leader Dog $320 and Illinois Camp for the Blind $120. Other donations in the amount of $960 went to the local FISH chapter, for purchase of glasses for children of Hanover Park. A Davies Foundation scholarship, Operation Open Heart, the Hanover Park Boys' Baseball Association, Hockey league, Lions Care program, American Legion for participation in the I Am an American Day parade, the Boy Scouts of America and emergency aid to residents.

U.S. Chamber Lobbies For Defeat Of Welfare Reform

by BOB LAHEY

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States has launched a campaign for defeat in the Senate of the Social Security and welfare reform bill already approved by the House of Representatives.

The chamber is urging members to demand that their senators reject key provisions of the House-approved bill — such as the family assistance plan — or to adopt one of several alternate legislative proposals.

Among those favored by the chamber is a program introduced by Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., calling for a complete return of welfare administration, with federal financial assistance, to the states. H.R. 1, the program approved by the House, would put welfare entirely in the hands of the federal government.

U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-13th, and 15 other Republicans have introduced a bill identical to Curtis' in the House.

Crane said he and the other sponsors of the bill are "completely opposed to further centralization of welfare." He said the bill would allow each state to design programs for the needs of its people and pointed out that the Family Assistance Plan in H.R. 1 makes no allowance for divergencies in state economies. "Certainly, more money is needed to survive in Chicago than would be needed in a small town in Alabama," he declared.

In a detailed analysis of the welfare plan in its biweekly newsletter, the chamber points out that the guaranteed annual income floor usually cited is $2,400 for a family of four. However, any family of four with an income under $4,320 would be eligible for income supplements.

UNDER PRESENT programs, the chamber reported, 13.1 million persons received some sort of federal welfare assistance in February, 1971. Under the standards of H.R. 1, 25.5 million would have been eligible for benefits, an increase of 95 per cent.

A chart prepared by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare shows examples of how income supplements would be reduced as earned income increased.

The head of a family of four, for example, who earned $2,500 would receive federal assistance of $1,214 for a total of $3,714. If in the next year he were able to increase his earned income to $3,500, his income supplement would be reduced to $547, for a total income of $4,047. By increasing his earnings $1,000, he would gain only $333 in total income.

The Chamber of Commerce said the welfare program, to become effective Jan. 1, 1973, would increase costs $5 to $6 billion in the first year.

The chamber also hopes to block provisions of the bill which would increase the $600, $900 and $1,200 at two-year intervals until 1980.

The chamber points out that this method of increasing the wage base rather than changing the rate at which the tax is levied would continue to place "an undue burden on the middle-income workers."

Benefits of the 1969 Tax Reform Act, designed to give relief to middle-income workers, would be nullified by the Social Security increases, the chamber said.

It cited figures showing that income tax for a family of four earning $10,260, with standard deductions and exemptions, in 1971 would be $1,052. In 1972, that would be reduced $57, to $995 — but the Social Security Tax would rise from $405.60 to $550.80, for a net loss of $98.20.

The house-approved bill is now being studied by the Senate Finance Committee and hearings are expected to continue well into September.

Rep. Philip Crane

wage base taxed for Social Security to $14,100 by 1980.

UNDER PRESENT law, the wage base would increase from $7,800 to $9,000 this year and remain there until 1980. H.R. 1 would boost the base to $10,200 next year and increase it by amounts of

Bids To Halt
Remap Try

At least one local community is taking action to try to prevent a controversial reapportionment map for Illinois from being implemented.

The Arlington Heights Village Board has sent a telegram to state officials opposing any plan to reapportion the 3rd District, which would split Arlington Heights into two or more legislative districts.

The board passed a resolution Monday night stating their opposition, which authorized the telegram be sent immediately to Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie and members of the Illinois Legislative Reapportionment and Redistricting Committee.

Village trustees also made a request for Village Pres. Jack Walsh to appear before the committee to present the village's position.

Trustee James T. Ryan made the motion. He said the village should formally be on record against politically subdividing Arlington Heights.

DIVIDING the village into two or more districts would be a "disaster," he said.

Historically, Arlington Heights has been one district, and any subdivision would not serve the best interests of the village's contiguity, he added.

"We are one of the largest communities in the Northwest suburbs and a strong voice in the area. Any division would be a disaster," Ryan told the board.

To date the eight-man reapportionment committee, four Republicans and four Democrats, has not reached agreement on any proposal.

It is believed, however, that one proposed redistricting map has been suggested that would split Arlington Heights into two, and possibly three districts.

The committee began its work after the General Assembly failed to formulate their proposals for reapportionment by the June 30 deadline, and has until Aug. 10 to complete their work.

Latest reports indicate a compromise redistricting map of Illinois' 59 legislative districts has been proposed in an effort to reach agreement by that deadline.

If the committee fails to meet their deadline, the Illinois Supreme Court will pick the names of one Republican and one Democrat to be submitted to the Secretary of State, who will pick one of the names at random to be appointed to the committee to break the tie.

At stake in the 3rd legislative district are Rep. Eugene Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights; Rep. Eugenia Chapman, D-Arlington Heights; Rep. David Regner, R-Mount Prospect; and Sen. John Graham, R-Barrington.

Traffic congestion. A familiar fact of life for suburbanites.

How Should You Get To Woodfield Shopping Center?

How do you get there?

As Chicago-based helicopters guided traffic flow to the new Woodfield shopping center, some 10,000 cars filled the Sears store parking lot by early afternoon on the first day the mammoth store opened to the public.

For the benefit of Woodfield shoppers, here's a rundown on the roads and highways surrounding the center:

—Rte. 53 is under heavy construction in the Woodfield area as construction crews attempt to create a new divided highway from the old two-lane highway. Rte. 53 at the Northwest Tollway is a maze of detours and construction projects with new ramps being constructed for traffic Chicago-bound from Rte. 53.

—Rte. 58 between Higgins Road (Route 72) and Rte. 53 is two lanes, heavily used and constantly traveled by trucks which are helping not only the Woodfield project but the dozens of other stores and enterprises which are springing up on Golf Road to share in the Woodfield boom.

—Rte. 72 west of Rte. 53 is good. The road is a four lane divided highway recently paved with new traffic lights installed. East of Rte. 53, Higgins Road becomes a narrow, two-lane road which twists through the forest preserve land. It can accommodate a lot of traffic, but the intersection of Higgins and Rte. 53 is often hampered by construction projects.

—Rte. 58 east of Rte. 53 is terrible. Lane widening projects stretching all the way to Mount Prospect make this section of Golf Road possibly the worst in the area. At the junction of Rte. 53, the Golf Road traffic coupled with the tollway changes being made just north of the intersection makes the entire area at the Northeast corner of Woodfield a severe traffic problem.

Probably the best way to approach Woodfield is from the west and south, particularly near the intersection of Rte. 72 and Meacham.

Third GOP Boundary Map Presented

by TOM LANE

With deadline pressure mounting, the Illinois Reapportionment Commission has begun studying a third Republican proposal for redrawing the state's legislative boundaries in the hope that more maps will spark the ideas commission members need to reach agreement on a redistricting plan by Aug. 10.

"This GOP proposal is lacking in several respects," Sen. Cecil Partee, D-Chicago, said Tuesday, "but I welcome the chance to look at it, as I'm sure other commissioners do, because the more maps we have the easier it will be to do our jobs."

Partee and other Democratic commissioners criticized the GOP proposal because, they said, it was incomplete and retained district boundaries based almost entirely on political considerations.

Partee said the courts have held that legislative lines must be drawn to guarantee equal representation even if traditional political lines must be crossed.

"THIS PLAN GIVES currency to the idea this state is divided into three sub-states," Partee said. "Chicago, the rest of Cook County and downstate Illinois."

The latest GOP proposal would give control of 19 districts to Chicago. Democrats have consistently lobbied for at least 20.

Sen. Terrel Clarke, R-Western Springs, who says he'll vote for no map with more than 19 Chicago-controlled districts, said the GOP plan was "a reasonable compromise that gives Democrats one more district than they deserve in Chicago according to census data." Democratic objections to the plan, Clarke said, were nothing more than "gobbledygook."

Because the proposal included only Chicago and the rest of Cook County, Democratic commission members expressed displeasure at what they called an "incomplete" map.

"I'D HAVE HOPED they'd bring a complete map," said Rep. Clyde L. Choate, D-Anna.

Clarke said the partial plan was submitted only to give the commission a chance to look at as much information as possible as soon as it became available. He said a full map embracing the Cook County plan offered Tuesday would be introduced soon.

One Democratic and three Republican proposals are now before the commission and each party is expected to offer another shortly, perhaps in time for the commission's next meeting which was scheduled for noon today.

Partee said he sees no solution to the impasse over whether Chicago should control 19 or 20 districts.

"Someone will have to give in," he said. "Ideally, Republicans would get 28 districts favorable to them. Democrats would get 28 and there'd be three swing districts. I think that's what we're all aiming for."

Des Plaines Loses Battle

Sewage Plant Is Approved

The City of Des Plaines yesterday lost another battle to keep a Metropolitan Sanitary District (MSD) sewage plant out of its city limits.

By a unanimous vote the planning committee of the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission (NIPC) recommended approval for federal funds for four interceptor sewer lines leading to the project.

The lines will channel sewage into the plant for treatment from Mount Prospect, Des Plaines and parts of unincorporated Elk Grove Township.

The approval on funding for the sewer lines came despite a strong plea from Des Plaines city officials that the plant would only compound pollution problems created by O'Hare International Airport.

Ald. Alan Abrams (8th) said that a proposed airport runway to parallel one which channels air traffic over Des Plaines would create more traffic and more air pollution.

He added a study of wind patterns in the area showed the proposed plant, to be located at Oakton Street and Elmhurst Road, would be in a pattern which would carry fumes from the plant at least one-third of the time directly into a heavily populated section of Des Plaines.

Des Plaines Mayor Herbert Behrel reported another site was available at Elmhurst Road and the Northwest Tollway. Smoke and fumes would be buffered by the Tollway, and thus would be a good alternate site, he said.

Earlier, however, Forrest Neil, chief

MSD engineer, reported he did not expect any major odor problem with the new facility.

Frank Chesrow, an NIPC commissioner, earlier said Abrams was belaboring the point to "where we can't tell whether you're opposing the airport or the plant."

In June, NIPC recommended that $26.4 million in federal funds and $12 million in state funds be approved to help finance the $48 million project.

In January, Des Plaines lost a six-year court fight against the sewage plant construction when the Illinois Supreme Court ruled the city had no control over zoning for the MSD project.

After the vote to approve the project had been taken yesterday NIPC commissioner John Baird said the statement to be transmitted to federal authorities should include the statements from Des Plaines officials on their opposition to the plant.

Early in the hearing, Richard Ward, an attorney speaking for the Des Plaines position, said he had conducted a door-to-door survey of residents in Evanston who live near the MSD treatment plant there.

He said residents complained about odors from the Evanston plant, and there had been some public confusion among MSD officials as to how much odor could be expected from a sewage treatment plant.

Later, however, Chesrow said the amount of an odor is a matter of judgment, and his criteria of judgment would be the health and safety of the public.

granted a conditional release. If a prisoner on conditional release violates the terms of his release, he is returned to prison and "good time" may be revoked.

Also approved was a bill to give penitentiary authorities police powers off the grounds of the institution for the purpose of recapturing escapees.

Other bills dealt with the sentencing of women and post-release treatment of juvenile offenders.

Graham is chairman of the legislative committee charged with surveillance of penal institutions. Schlickman was the 1967 recipient of the John Howard Association for his effort in rehabilitation of criminals.

Ogilvie OKs Bill Series

Among legislation approved recently by Gov. Richard Ogilvie was a series of bills sponsored by Sen. John A. Graham, R-Barrington, dealing with procedures in criminal institutions. The bills were sponsored in the House by Rep. Eugene F. Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights.

Among the bills approved was one to allow 3-day furloughs to prisoners who have completed half their sentences and who are eligible for parole in one year, for the purpose of "readjusting to free society." That bill will also allow prisoners to be released on furlough to appear before certain groups.

Another of the bills increases from 90 to 180 days the time at which a prisoner scheduled for final discharge may be

Horn Family To Sue School Dist.

A damages suit for "wrongful death" will be filed this month against High School Dist. 214 by the family of William Horn.

Horn died Easter from injuries he received when a washroom "modesty wall" collapsed on him and two other Arlington High School students Jan. 20.

The wrongful death suit will be in conjunction with suits filed against Dist. 214 on behalf of Brad Boice and William Kelly, also injured when the wall collapsed, for negligence in not providing a reasonably safe structure within the school.

A notice of intent to file suit, required by law when an individual is suing a governmental unit, has been received by Richard Bachhuber, board secretary.

The Horn family has one year from the date of the death to file suit, though John Hayes, attorney for the three families, said he plans to file the suits before September.

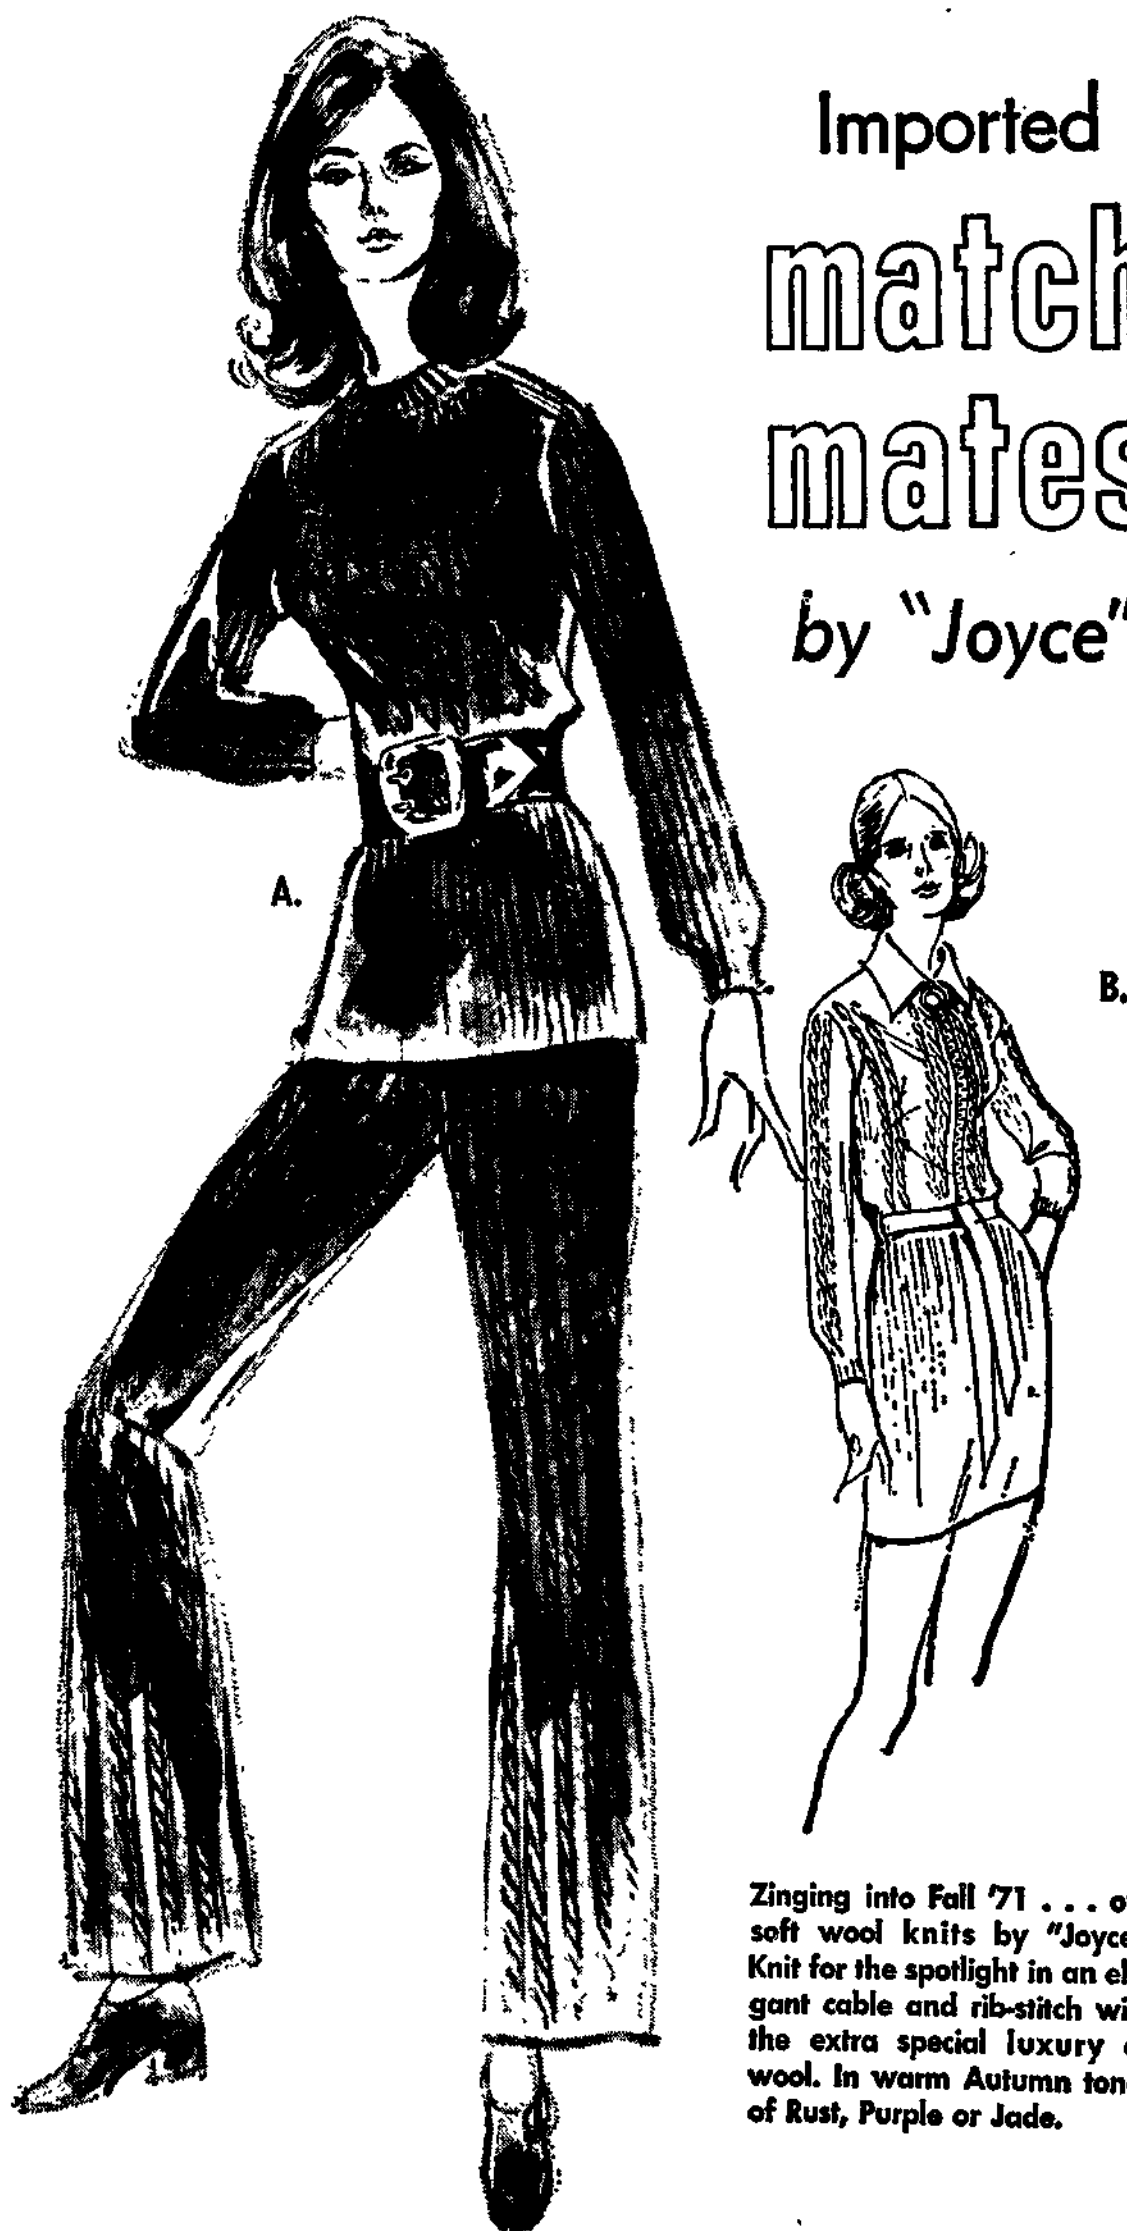

In a notice of intent filed before the death of Horn, damages were estimated to be $500,000 per boy for a total of $1½ million. According to Hayes, the value of the Horn family suit will be less because of William Horn's death.

Boy Scout Age Requirements Changed

Any boy who has completed the fifth grade or who is 11 years old can, with the approval of his parents or guardian, now become a Boy Scout, according to Harold Byron Smith Jr., president of the Northwest Suburban Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Formerly, boys had to be 11 years old to join a Boy Scout troop, but the executive board of the national organization has changed the membership requirement. A boy can now join the Boy Scouts, even if he is younger than 11, as long as he has completed the fifth grade.

The Northwest Suburban Council, which serves Chicago's Northwest suburbs, has 175 scout troops. Smith said the council also expects to organize about 30 new troops in the next three months.

The Boy Scouts of America is in partnership with more than 273 local schools, religious institutions, service clubs,

On Dean's List

Four Arlington Heights residents were included on the dean's list for the winter term at College of St. Teresa, Winona, Minn.

Of the 288 students on the dean's list released recently by the college, two Arlington Heights students had straight A averages. They include Maureen Cooney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Cooney, 901 E. Olive St., and Kathleen Lynch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lynch, 1015 W. Sigwalt St.

Other local residents on the dean's list include Nancy Healy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Healy, 2103 Burke Dr., and Mary O'Keefe, daughter of Thomas O'Keefe Jr., 644 S. Chestnut Ave.

To qualify for the dean's list, students must have an average of 2.67 or above based on an A equaling three points.

Every Living Creature Has 'Biological Clock'

by DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Every living creature, give or take a couple of bongo players, has a natural rhythm governed by what are called "biological clocks."

The function and importance of these innate and instinctive time pieces are just beginning to be understood and appreciated, but it is clear they are not being utilized to their fullest potential.

One promising function, or at least it seems promising to me, is pointed up in "The Living Clocks," a new book on the subject.

It tells of some experiments which indicate that changes in atmospheric pressure cause changes in the rate of certain cellular activity in potato plants.

From which some biologists have theorized that potatoes could predict changes in the weather as far as two days in advance.

AT A TIME WHEN weathermen appear more and more to be losing touch with reality, this is good news indeed.

Until fairly recently, weathermen relied to a considerable extent on intuition and guesswork in making their forecasts. Corns acting up, or maybe a twinge of rheumatism, were about all they had in the way of technological aids.

Use of potatoes in making predictions would be yet another great leap forward.

The first step probably should be adoption of an official U.S. weather potato. Your Idaho or your Maine may be best for baking or hash-browning, but some other variety might be better at forecasting thundershowers.

FOR THIS PURPOSE, it probably would be wise to transfer the weather bureau from the Commerce Department to the Agriculture Department.

Following that, the bureau would need to devise a potato scale, similar to the barometric scale.

First weatherman: "There must be a storm coming up. The potato is down to .05 and falling."

Second weatherman: "Is that peeled, or unpeeled?"

All of which would bring us to that bright tomorrow when we switch on the radio and hear "The latest potato forecast. Partly cloudy with scattered showers tonight, followed by clearing and French Fries tomorrow."

Q—HOW OLD DOES a disabled worker have to be to receive social security monthly disability payments?

A—There is no minimum age, but a minimum work period under social security is required to be eligible for disability payments. If a person becomes disabled before 24, he needs credit for 1½ years of work during the 3 years just before his disability began. If his disability starts between 24 and 31, he needs work credits for half the time after 21 and before he became disabled. If a worker becomes disabled after 31, he needs credit for at least 5 years of work in the 10 years before the start of the disability.

Q—MUST A DISABLED worker go into the social security office to file an application for disability payments?

A—No. If you are disabled you can telephone 225-7000 and tell the person who answers that you want to file for disability payments. Arrangements will be made to have an interviewer call you and take your application over the telephone. The application is then sent to you for your signature and return. You will also be assisted in securing the necessary proofs to establish your disability.

Q—WHEN SHOULD a disabled person file his application for payments?

A—Whenever he is advised that his disability will keep him from working for at least 12 months. This could be in the first month or any later month. We urge a person to file for disability in the first month that the doctor determines that he will be disabled for at least 12 months.

Q—WHAT IS THE FIRST month for which a disability payment can be made?

A—The first month for which the payment can be made is the seventh full month that the person was disabled. The first six months is a waiting period and no payments are made for those months.

A new approach to hospital design, developed in a Veterans Administration study of systems integration, promises to reduce the architects preliminary investigative work by standardizing those portions of hospital design that are often repeated.

During Phase II of the three part research project, a standard design for the bed patient, or nursing tower area, was adopted. It has been incorporated into a building system prototype design capable of being incorporated into a wide variety of hospital designs.

This system will not inhibit the architect in his development of a particular hospital plan, VA planners believe. They point out that it will allow him to analyze more possible design solutions.

Strict zoning rules have been developed for the distribution of utilities. The heterogeneous layout which normally occurs in present conventional construction has thus been eliminated. The new approach should also give VA the capability of designing and constructing its hospitals in a shorter period of time and result in buildings much more adaptable to constantly changing medical needs. The design allows also for a wide range of building components to be considered for use on the basis of performance requirements.

PHASE I CONCERNED itself with establishing the feasibility of systems integration techniques for VA hospitals and the criteria for future phases.

Development of the system is continuing with Phase III study titled "Application of the Principles of Systems Integration to the Design of VA Hospital Facilities." This study will extend the Building System Prototype Design to the entire hospital and should be completed later this year.

This project is being performed by the joint venture of Stone, Marracini and Patterson and Building Systems Development, Inc., both of San Francisco, Calif., under the direction of the Research Staff, Office of Construction, Veterans Administration. Copies of the Phase II report ("Application of the Principles of Systems Integration to Design of the 'Nursing Tower' Portion of a VA Hospital Facility") are available for $17.10 including mailing costs, from the Veterans Administration, Office of Construction (50C), 818 Vermont Avenue, Washington D. C. 20490. Copies of the Phase I report are also available at $6 each.

The Doctor Says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I am 41 years old five feet nine and weigh 155. I passed my physical exam for military service 30 years ago. Throughout my life, there have been times I have fainted (three times) or felt faint.

It has occurred when I donated blood and after standing longer than five minutes in church. I usually can battle this, but there have been times when it was hard to hear the pastor after I sat down.

I am somewhat nervous, easily emotionally disturbed and a poor sleeper. I do not smoke or drink any alcoholic beverages and rarely have more than two cups of coffee a day. I operate a medium-sized dairy farm, so I get an adequate amount of physical activity. Is my problem quite common and what is the usual cause?

Dear Reader: Fainting is a symptom and can mean many things. It is quite common in perfectly healthy people. True, it occurs more often in young people, before the age of 20, than in older people without disease.

I once set up a study to find out how common fainting was in the Air Force flying population. As a generalization, about 40 per cent of these healthy men remembered losing consciousness at one time or another and about half of these had been simple faints from "standing in church," visiting the hospital, parade formation, shots, blood drawing and the like. I do not regard three faints or near-faints in a lifetime as really unusual in an otherwise healthy person.

Fainting is caused by inadequate circulation to the brain. This can occur because too much of the blood collects in the legs while standing still. Moving the legs, to contract the muscles, helps prevent this.

The heart may beat too slowly or can even stop temporarily, through reflex actions, even in healthy people. When a person falls to the ground with this kind of a faint, the heart usually starts again automatically. The heart can also beat too slowly because of disease, usually in much older persons, and cause repeated fainting episodes. Usually these individuals have heart rates below 40 a minute and are sometimes treated with an implanted electrical pacemaker.

Nervous individuals sometimes breathe too rapidly and too deeply (hyperventilation). This blows off too much carbon dioxide and affects the body chemistry, which in turn affects the circulation and flow of blood to the brain. Such people should NOT hold their breath but can get benefit from slow and shallow breathing. Breath-holding can trigger undesirable reflexes that can cause fainting.

There are a lot of other reasons for fainting but, in the vast majority of people who faint and have no other complaints, it is not serious. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Win At Bridge

by Oswald and James Jacoby

It was shortly before the Ides of March. Marc Antony lost no time getting to six hearts after Caesar gave him a jump raise. Brutus opened the queen of diamonds.

Antony studied the hand and saw that he would need two spade tricks to score the slam. The normal play would be to tackle the spade suit by leading the deuce from dummy, rising with the king and leading back toward dummy with the intention of finessing the 10. This would insure his contract any time West held the spade jack or against some special holdings of the jack in the East hand.

It would also lose against the actual layout but Antony made the hand. He drew four rounds of trumps, stripped the hand of diamonds and clubs and led the queen of spades from dummy. Cassius sitting East could do no better than take his ace and lead back the seven which Marc allowed to ride to dummy's 10.

Why did you make that play? asked Caesar.

Brutus had such a tough time before discarding the four of spades on my fourth trump lead that I decided to play 'cassius for both honors.'

Why? asked Caesar. Brutus is an honorable man.

Thanks To You, Center Goes On

The Salvation Army Community Counseling Center is saved.

A minimum $7,500 had to be raised by Aug. 2 if the family service agency was to continue providing help to Northwest suburban families.

The Herald's emergency fund appeal launched June 21 officially ended yesterday — with more than $11,325 contributed thus far. By not only meeting but exceeding its minimum goal, the Center is thus assured of its ability to maintain present levels of operation.

The response of area communities to the Center's financial need is one of the most impressive civic "success" stories of recent years.

Responsible for this success was the depth of support which sprang from within each of the communities served by the Center. The dollars came, in waves, from the "little people" — people like you and the guy next door, the 84-year-old grandmother in Des Plaines, from pensioners and executives and young mothers. It came from the Arlington Heights neighborhood children who staged a benefit backyard carnival, from the Elk Grove secretaries who took up an office collection, and from the Mount Prospect boys who opened a Kool-Aid stand to do their part.

Money came in tattered dollar bills, in big checks, sometimes in pennies and nickels.

Hundreds of suburbanites gave what they could. Often, it wasn't much individually — but collectively, it was the backbone of the fund. And it was worth more because they cared so deeply.

Certainly, the goal would not have been met without the generosity of service clubs like Rotary and Kiwanis, the support of Wheeling and Elk Grove Township officials, or the outpouring from area churches.

But without the "little people" — nearly 2,000 of them — setting the tone, it wouldn't have been the same.

Because in the end, that's what all this has been about — people helping people. That's what counts the most, and that's the simple but profound meaning of the Center.

The success of the Herald's fund meets the Center's immediate financial crisis. Current operations for 1971 will be sustained, and the agency will remain open to serve an estimated 1,000 area families this year alone.

But what of next year and the year after? The need and demand for family services are increasing at a rapid pace, just as the populations — and problems — of our suburbs continue to soar.

Already the Center's professional staff of caseworkers is pressed to keep up with rising caseloads — a 30% increase for 1971 alone. The means must be found to avert another financial crisis next year.

The Salvation Army is now making arrangements for a "matching grant" from a private foundation. If successful in getting the grant to match the full amount of fund donations, this will strengthen the Center's financial base and provide additional operating funds after the current deficit is met. Hopefully, the foundation can be interested in offering assistance on a continuing basis.

Details of the foundation program will be released later this month by Salvation Army headquarters.

Efforts should be made to encourage other suburbs which rely heavily on the Center's facilities to follow the example of Des Plaines, which includes the family service agency in its annual municipal budget. Such financial support from villages like Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Palatine would enable the Center to open branch offices and provide service more conveniently located to the centers of population. At present, there is only one branch facility — in Palatine, one evening a week — and clients must travel to the Center's headquarters in Des Plaines.

Area business and industry have provided little financial backing for this most-needed community service, one which has great value for employers throughout Northwest suburbs. Much more can and must be done to encourage annual support from companies whose workers must rely on the Center as the only family agency available to them.

We need the Community Counseling Center. If it is to meet that need, the Center needs us and our continuing support and concern.

The challenge confronting us in the months ahead was perhaps best expressed by a Des Plaines dollar donor, who wrote: "If we all cared a little to help our neighbors, this would be a better world for all of us."

Obviously, his neighbors throughout Northwest suburbs feel the same way. All of us share that common concern for strengthening and preserving the fabric of family life.

With the dedication and unity of purpose expressed in the success of our emergency fund appeal, we are confident the future needs of the Center can and will be met.

You Still Can Give

The Herald "Center Fund" has officially ended.

Readers who still wish to make a donation to the Center may do so, however, by contributing directly to The Salvation Army Community Counseling Center, 1797 Oakton St., Des Plaines, Ill. 60018. All gifts are tax deductible.

'Square,' But Marx Made His Mark

by Don Oakley

Karl Marx may have been a revolutionary thinker, but as a student he would have been written off as a hopeless conservative by today's activists.

The archive on Carl Heinrich Marx (as he was then known) in Bonn's Friedrich Wilhelm University reveals that he once got thrown in the jug overnight "because of drunkenness and nocturnal noises that disturbed the peace." He also got into a spot of trouble one time for carrying a pistol.

But the report on Marx when he left

Bonn to continue his studies in Berlin specifically exonerates him from "suspicion of participation in unlawful student associations."

Furthermore, "nothing disadvantageous (about the student) in an economic or moral sense has become known." In other words, he left no unpaid bills and didn't get any girls into trouble.

Even worse is the statement that Marx was a "very diligent and attentive visitor to the lecture hall."

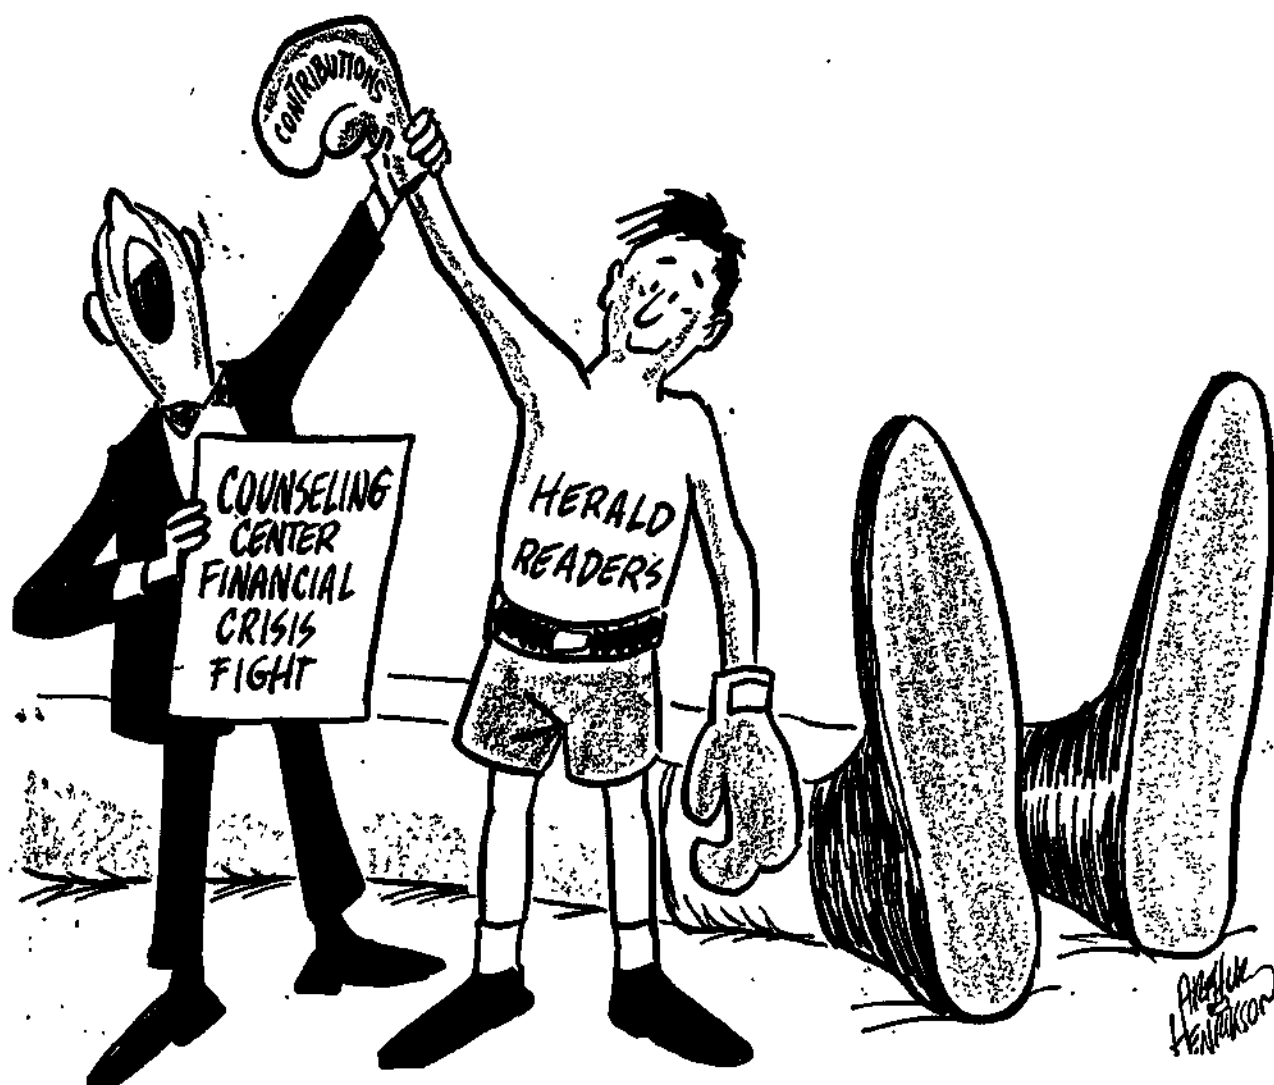

And to top it off, the spiritual father of world revolution went in for studies that young rebels today would hardly consider "relevant," including the aesthetics of Homer's work and Greek and Roman mythology.

All of which goes to prove the new saying that those who would change the world don't throw rocks. They learn first what world history is all about, in the broadest possible sense, and later throw ideological rocks that are far more potent than the kind found lying about on a campus.

Brad Brekke's Column

A Down-Home Kind Of Guy

Newell Esmond has the face of a bulldog, the temper of a rattlesnake, charges like a wounded grizzly and when the need arises, can bellow like an enraged elephant.

But strangely enough, off-duty or behind a closed door in his office, this same fellow is harmless as a jellyfish and as soft inside as a sneaker full of oysters.

Esmond is a cop. First, last and always a cop. And he likes his tough guy image. In fact, despite the fact that he's highly professional, if you're some punk passing through town, he'd like you to believe that he's a hard-as-nails police chief and you better not mess around pal, or he'll hang you so high not even the buzzards can get you.

But not really. This is only a defense. You see, beneath this granite exterior is a man with a heart. He's tight-lipped as a clam sometimes, sure, but he's warm as a puppy dog too. Newell Esmond is many other things besides tough. He's a man of compassion, given to feeling and occasionally worrying too much, and a man with tall dreams.

For 22 years he served on the Mount Prospect police force, the last six of them as chief. He came up through the ranks, first as a patrolman, then as a lieutenant.

Service to Mount Prospect has been a good part of his adult life and "Essie," who has many more good points than bad points, announced his resignation as chief this Monday.

Esmond is only 58, still young enough to enjoy an active life, despite his retirement. He's heading for Fort Lauderdale in two weeks, he says, where he has already bought himself a nice little home. And he's looking forward to it as the last great adventure in his life.

"It was no easy decision, but my wife and I decided to do it last October. So in a couple of weeks I'll slip into some dungarees, put on my straw hat and take off for the South... Yahoo!"

Esmond has dreamed of retirement for many years. He used to read Yankee Magazine and hoped someday he'd buy a big 10-room sea captain's house up in Maine, dirt cheap, and maybe a small farm to go with it, where he could get away from it all.

But it was just a dream... nothing more. He explained that his wife Billie has arthritis, see, and a Maine winter wouldn't much agree with her, so they decided on Florida instead.

Besides, said the chief, he has a daughter and two grandkids down in Miami anyway, and he's looking forward to spending more time with them.

One figure known to most at village hall in Mount Prospect was Rebel. Rebel was the chief's sidekick and constant companion, until he got too many tumors on his "hinee" and had to be put away.

A boxer, the chief used to bring Rebel down to his office and leave him locked up while he and Ed Haberkamp, who has since retired as fire chief, went to lunch. And Rebel, an old pooch with weak kidneys, sometimes would have accidents.

The telltale sign would be some whining and then a puddle leaking under his locked office door, which was the sign for his secretary to call for a janitor to clean up.

Of course, it wasn't anyone's fault. Not Rebel's or the chief's. It was just... well, Rebel was getting on in years and old dogs, like old men, don't smell good and sometimes lose control.

Now Esmond has a new dog, Duchess, a Saint Bernard as big as him. And she's going to Florida with him too. He says with plenty of water and shade, she'll do just fine.

Although Esmond is retiring, he isn't planning on a rocking chair existence. He says he'd go buggy in a week if he wasn't busy doing something and hopes to get into some kind of part-time police work down there. "I have a few stingers in, so we'll see. You know, I have a hard time getting through weekends sometimes. I sit around on Sunday, my wife's gone for the day, I drink eight pots of coffee, get antsy and come down to the office to see what's cookin'."

Occasionally Esmond would give reporters a hard time, just to keep them on their toes and all in fun.

"Where's the report on that big pot bust you made last night chief?"

"Why, you snooping again?"

"No, it's news chief."

"No it's not."

"We think so."

"What do you know?"

"I'm a reporter."

"Humph... I'll never understand you guys. Here, and you better give it back too."

"Thanks chief... pleasure to work with you."

Esmond and his wife now have a camper-trailer and plan to see some of the country on their way South, via the byroads.

"I'm gonna jawjack with the folks in small towns on the way down. Should be good... I always felt the small town people were more patriotic than city folks."

A conservative, Esmond tends to see hippies, pornography, right-wing nuts and other rabble-rousers as Commies — but they are his personal opinions, and he usually kept them to himself.

Baggy pants, a revolver drooping on his belt, a cuss word or two, a tie clasp with the grip of a pliers, a bunch that kept up with his fast pace, a belly laugh, and a broken office chair that lists to one side and slaps him in the head when he plunks his rump into it, that's how I'll remember Newell Esmond.

Yet despite all his peculiarities, Esmond was always an honest and hard working fellow. Rough, kind, a crackerbarrel philosopher, and very likeable... a down-home kind of guy.

"You stop by and see me if you ever get down my way, hear! We'll drink some good whisky, exchange good stories and maybe go fishing. I know a little place down there that's..."

Thanks chief. It's been wonderful knowing you. You're my kind of guy, even if we did get in each other's way now and then. And Good Luck to you in whatever you decide to do down there. Folks here will miss you sorely.

And chief, take it easy. No more worrying. No more politics. Just a good life.

And chief, on your way down to Florida...

Well, don't let any Commies get ya.

Let POW's Know We Care

I was shocked at the reaction of the Arlington Heights Jaycees in defending the action of Sam McGoun in rejecting John Birch Society float. When will people wake up and start thinking more every day. Why is it so wrong to remember them?

If Mr. Burke says he isn't in favor of burying the POW issue, then why in God's name does he agree with Mr. McGoun?

We can't forget our POW's. It's our responsibility to not only remember them, but to work diligently for their release. The time is now, not tomorrow to let our POW's know we care.

Mrs. Kathy Von Wiegand
Mount Prospect

The FENCE POST Letters to the Editor

about our POW's instead of treating them as though we didn't care. Do some people think it is so wrong to remember them, and try to let our fellow Americans have second thoughts also? Will the people of the United States ever wake up, and see just what is happening or will our POW's be lost forever like our four hundred POW's still in North Korea?

I don't think a float, with a man portraying a prisoner of war, with the caption, Freedom Let's Make It Their Heritage Too, is so wrong. As a matter of fact, I wish there were more we could do, than just build floats and educate people as to what is going on. After all we are talking about human beings, men who haven't forgotten us. They are men who put their lives on the line for us

Thank You To Staff

I would like to express appreciation and thanks on behalf of my family and myself to your women's staff, and especially Billie Bachhuber, writer.

An article featuring my background and interests appeared in the Herald on Monday, July 19. It was a pleasant surprise to my family and friends.

Mrs. Bachhuber was most gracious during our interview, and her friendly, relaxed manner made it easy for me to converse with her. The photographer was cordial and did his best to make me feel comfortable.

Once again, my thanks to one and all.

Put 'Brakes' On Expansion

To John J. Walsh, Village President, Arlington Heights:

I found it rather incongruous when I received your letter detailing the Village watering problems on the same day that The Herald ran a column saying that some day we could expect to be 140,000 strong in our "village."

It is a continuing source of amazement to me how we can continue to plan to grow, grow, grow when we can't even adequately handle our existing requirements. You must certainly realize that one of the major reasons for the defeat of the last school bond issue was not that we wanted bad or inadequate schools in Arlington but we are sick and tired of underwriting this seemingly endless growth plan that the Village Administration feels is necessary. When the people start voting down those issues that should be good for the community, I think it's time that the Administration look not at the people in wonderment but rather at themselves to determine the cause of dissatisfaction.

Some of the reasons our family moved to Arlington 10 years ago were (1) it was a nice size (about 1/2 what it is now); (2) was basically a single-family residence community; and (3) had an excellent school system. These reasons are fast disappearing.

I for one would like to see the Village stop growing in size and instead channel the effort and enthusiasm toward adequately serving the existing population. I could sympathize with (and maybe even support) tax proposals to improve what was an existing situation in the Village, but I have no sympathy (and no support) for proposals that I determine are merely to underwrite some mammoth expansionist policy dreamed up by growth-hungry, public relations-mad administrators.

Misplaced Priority

I find it absolutely incongruous that the Herald is placing a "high" priority on the major expenditure of public tax monies for the "planning" of bicycle trails!!

There is scarcely a single issue of your paper that does not report some new crisis or emergency in public service facilities or some new area of community need in meeting such essentials as education, sanitation, transportation, fire and police protection, drainage, water supply, social welfare etc. etc. With all these pressing emergencies prevalent how can you then call for funneling off desperately-needed tax dollars to finance a metro "plan" for something as silly and relatively unimportant as bike trails?? Let's get our kids educated decently before we start trying to create paths for them to ride bikes.

Pleasant Experience

On completion of two years as publicity chairman of the Arlington Heights Woman's Club and handing the publicity material to the new chairman, Mrs. John Scott, I find there is a feeling of missing something I enjoyed.

My contacts at the Herald were always pleasant and the cooperation and help of the staff gave me the confidence I lacked. Marianne Scott and Dory McClellan always found time to cheerfully answer my questions, give me a better idea, or correct my errors.

The Woman's Club has accomplished much in these two years, and a lot of credit is due to the publicity received through your papers.

A sincere "Thank You,"

Business Today

by DEAN C. MILLER

Lights! Camera! Action! Insurance! That's right, insurance to protect the millions of dollars invested by movie companies against such emergencies as Audrey Hepburn's cracking four vertebrae in falling off a horse, or Elizabeth Taylor's developing a cold that delayed production for a month.

Actually, the sequence probably would start with insurance. Few companies producing movies, television commercials and shows, industrial films, documentaries and filmed features would think of turning on a light or rolling a camera before arranging insurance. Too many disasters could wipe them out: Accidents, injuries, sickness, acts of God, weather, faulty film stock, scratched film, laboratory mistakes, equipment malfunctioning, non-appearance of principals and dozens more.

When Tyrone Power died suddenly of a heart attack during the 1958 filming of "Solomon and Sheba," Fireman's Fund American paid United Artists more than $1.2 million to cover the expenses of reshooting scenes with his replacement, Yul Brynner.

SLIGHTLY MORE than $1 million was paid to the producers of "Kiss Me Stupid," after Peter Sellers had a heart attack. The foibles of Parisian weather during the shooting of "Darling Lili" cost Fireman's Fund another $1 million. Because of faulty negatives, one sequence had to be shot over and it had to be done in bright sunshine. But Paris turned cloudy and rainy. Weeks passed until the sun appeared and the final scene was put in the can.

Fireman's Fund of San Francisco, is the world's busiest theatrical insurer. Over the last 15 years it has insured some 3,700 motion pictures, TV and theatrical productions valued at $2 billion. Last year alone it insured 196 productions worth $130 million.

Lloyd's of London also has a big share in the market. And Jerome J. Cohen, Inc., New York, currently represents about 1,000 U.S. film companies, according to Ronald M. Cohen, vice president.

Almost 80 per cent of FFA's theatrical premiums come from "cast insurance" against losses from death, injury or illness of leading actors and directors. Animals also are an insurance expense.

The 400 rats in the horror film, "Willard," were insured. So was the trained Doberman pinscher in the recent "Chokeberry Bay." Like their human counterparts, animal actors get a complete physical examination before filming.

That wasn't much help, however, some years ago when a trained polar bear, born in Los Angeles, was shipped to Alaska for a film production. It took one look at the Bering Sea, waddled across the ice and plunged in, never to be seen again. Fireman's paid for the loss of one polar bear.

United Air Lines Reports Profit

United Air Lines (UAL), Inc. reported a profit for the second quarter compared to a loss a year ago, announced Edward E. Carlson, president.

The company had consolidated net earnings of $1,063,000 in the second quarter while it posted a loss of $4,688,000 in the 1970 period. The 1971 second quarter profit was equal to 4 cents a share as opposed to a 28 cents a share loss a year ago.

"Despite the softness of the travel market, effects of stringent cost controls by our subsidiary, United Air Lines, were evident in second quarter performance," Carlson said. "These expense reductions, together with fare increases recently effective, resulted in higher net earnings in June even though traffic for this period was down 10 per cent from last year. Net earnings in June were $5,937,000, up from $4,675,000 in June, 1970.

"Airline traffic volumes and hotel occupancies continue at levels below a year ago, reflecting general business conditions," Carlson said. "It is encouraging to report, however, that United Air Lines operating expenses for May and June were down .9 per cent and 1.7 per cent respectively from the same months last year."

For the first six months, the consolidated net loss amounted to $32,143,000 ($1.77 per share) compared with a net loss of $27,035,000 ($1.32 a share) for the first half a year ago. The 1970 figures have been restated for an adjustment of first quarter 1970 federal income taxes. Net earnings for the company's hotel subsidiary, Western International Hotels Co., included in the consolidated results, were $655,000 for the 1971 compared with $1,045,000 for the 1970 period.

Net proceeds from the sale of 2.5 million shares of UAL, Inc. common stock in May totaled $83,550,000, which was added to the general corporate funds.

Sufficient funds were advanced to United Air Lines to prepay revolving bank credit indebtedness, thereby reducing interest expense.

United's operating revenues for the second quarter totaled $382,667,000, up 4 per cent from last year. Revenues for the six months totaled $711,474,000, up slightly from $707,596,000. The 1971 revenues include the general passenger fare increase this May and a freight rate increase last July. Average revenue per ton mile (passenger and cargo) was 48.8

cents, up 6.3 per cent from a year ago. Western International Hotels had gross operating revenues of $42,756,000 compared with $44,333,000 for the first half last year.

"United's operating expenses for the second quarter were held to the 1970 second quarter level, as the intensive cost reduction program continues to generate more benefits," Carlson said. Expenses for the first half were $743,165,000, up 1.8 per cent over last year's $729,838,000.

"Strong measures have been taken by United to reduce expenses," Carlson said. He pointed out that manpower is down 10 per cent from 1970 year end levels, $159 million in aircraft and ground facilities commitments have been cancelled, flights scheduled were reduced 18 per cent and aircraft flight hours were down 6.3 per cent in the period.

Revenue passenger miles for the first six months totaled 11 billion, down 6.4 per cent, while the average passenger load factor was 47.1 per cent compared with 49.7 per cent for the first half of 1970. Total seat miles flown were reduced 1.2 per cent, even though a greater proportion of flights were operated in larger aircraft, including the wide-bodied Boeing 747. Total cargo ton miles were down 7.9 per cent.

The airline has a fleet of 12 747s, with deliveries of two scheduled in 1972 and four in 1973 to complete the order for 18. The first of 22 wide-bodied DC-10s was recently delivered and service — first of any carrier — will begin Aug. 16 between Washington, D. C. and San Francisco.

In 1861 the U.S. Government imposed the first income tax. All incomes over $800 were taxed 3 per cent.

In 1917 the entire National Guard was drafted into the U.S. Army.

In 1962 actress Marilyn Monroe died of an overdose of barbiturates.

Ask The IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) More than a month ago I requested that tax be withheld on my pension, but I've noticed no change in the amount of my pension check. Doesn't my old firm have to start withholding immediately?

A) The payer of your pension does not have to begin withholding until three months after you filed your Form W-4P, Annuitant's Request for Federal Income Tax Withholding.

Although withholding is optional on your part, the payer must comply with your request to withhold tax.

Q) I do a lot of traveling on my new job. What kind of records should I keep?

A) Your records should show amounts, dates, destinations and business purpose. A diary or similar record, supported by items such as canceled checks and paid bills, is acceptable if entries are made when the costs are incurred. For more information obtain a copy of IRS Publication 463, Travel, Entertainment and Gift Expenses. It's available free from your local IRS office.

Q) Can I still deduct my stock market losses dollar-for-dollar from my capital gains?

A) Yes, these losses can still be used to offset capital gains. However, if you have a net long-term capital loss, each $1 of the loss can be used to offset only 50 cents of ordinary income. A net short-term capital loss can still be used to reduce ordinary income on a dollar-for-dollar basis. Net capital loss deductions are generally limited to $1,000.

Q) I saw a notice on the bulletin board at work that some people may not have enough tax withheld this year. How do I find out if I'm one of them?

A) Estimate your 1971 tax liability and the amount of tax that will be withheld based on your current withholding. This can be done from tables the IRS has given your employer. If you should find more withholding is needed, you should claim fewer exemptions and, if necessary, have additional dollar amounts withheld. You can do this by filing a new exemption certificate (Form W-4) with your employer.

Q) Is it true that I can claim a credit on the tax I pay on the gas and oil I use for my boat?

A) Yes. When you file your return next year, you may claim a credit of 2 cents per gallon for gasoline and a credit of 6 cents per gallon for lubricating oil. Be sure to keep adequate records to substantiate your credits. When you file your return use Form 4136 to claim the credit. IRS Publication 378, Federal Gas Tax Credit or Refund for Non-highway and Transit Users, may be helpful. Send a postcard to your local IRS office to obtain a copy.

Computing Machine Conference Slated

How can Congress use computers to insure that their information is accurate and complete and their analyses dependable? Can present methods of library and information retrieval services survive? What place is the computer assuming in medical diagnosis, patient monitoring, and treatment? How well do computers play chess?

These are only a few of the subjects being discussed at the Association for Computing Machinery's conference in Chicago's Conrad Hilton Hotel through this Friday.

"There is a significant contribution in areas dealing with the effects of computers on society, and of society on the computing profession," stated Technical Program Chairman, Melvyn H. Schwartz of Northwestern University. "The increase in speed and complexity of computer hardware and in breadth of users' needs has made it more important than ever to encourage strong technical contributions. At the same time, the social and political implications of science and technology can no longer be ignored by professionals, as their increasing involvement attests."

The program planning for this major technical conference is now complete. Of approximately 150 papers considered by the Technical Program Committee, 57 have been selected for presentation. In addition, eight panel sessions and two tutorials are scheduled.

The program ranges from strong technical contributions in such areas as mathematical programming, information retrieval, and programming languages through a broad class of applications to studies of the impact of computers on politics, diplomacy, and civic planning.

In addition to the topics mentioned earlier, many other thought-provoking subjects will be addressed. The subject of massive data bases will be approached not only from the standpoint of their value to Congress, but in city planning, library services, and business. The technical problems involved in preparing, searching, protecting such data from system failure will be discussed together with the problems of protecting confidentiality and ensuring proper use.

Fund Success Guarantees Center's Continuance

The Herald's emergency fund appeal for The Salvation Army Community Counseling Center officially ended yesterday with a total $11,339 donated by 1,939 readers, 28 area churches, eight service clubs, and two township boards.

In order to continue operations, the family service agency had to raise at least $7,500 by Aug. 2. Success of the fund appeal guarantees continuance of the center's services.

Additional funds will be provided by a "matching grant" from a private foundation. Announcement of this gift will be made shortly by officials of The Salvation Army.

A check for readers' contributions will be presented Aug. 18 to Lt. Col. Andrew S. Miller, unified commander of The Salvation Army, at a "victory" luncheon sponsored by the Herald.

A full financial report on the Center Fund will be published in the Herald next week after a complete tally is made of donations and deposits.

Contributions were deposited in a special account at The Bank & Trust Co. of Arlington Heights. Trustees of the account are Charles E. Hayes, editor in chief, and Kenneth A. Knox, executive editor of the Herald.

As the fund approached its closing deadline, two major gifts were announced: $50 from the Wheeling Jaycee Jills and $150 from South Church-Community Baptist, Mount Prospect, which had previously donated $150 to the Center. Names of donors were published in the Herald on June 25 and 30, and July 7, 12, 15, 20, 23, and 28. Making contributions since publication of the July 28 list were the following:

NINETY DOLLARS is a lot of money for four children to raise all by themselves, but these children did it for the Des Plaines Community Counseling Center. The four children staged a carnival with the help of their mothers which attracted over 100 children to help raise money for the Center. The children are Susan and Linda Varak, 10 and 8, and Kenneth and Randy Kusiak, also 10 and 8. With them are Mrs. Gary Varak of 601 E. Olive, Mrs. Jeanne Kusiak, 605 E. Olive, and Miss Sue Schafer, a caseworker at the Center.

Pair Take To The Road For Adventure In Spain

by BILLIE BACHHUBER

A spirit of adventure, positive attitudes and a minimum of luggage. That's what Mrs. Robert Magill and daughter Christy of Mount Prospect took with them on a recent automobile jaunt through Spain.

This venturesome pair first boarded a 747 jet at O'Hare Airport, landed in Paris, then took off for Barcelona. In Barcelona, a hotel reservation was the one "scheduled" overnight on their 10-day agenda. "We just took it from there," smiled Betty Magill.

Traveling is nothing new for the Magill family. Robert, head of the household is a regional vice president for Continental Airlines. Airline passes encourage traveling plans, the Magills agree. Family members — including Susan, who recently was graduated from St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minn., and Hugh, younger brother who will enter Prospect High School this fall — have traveled extensively within the United States . . . and to Hawaii.

BECAUSE CHRISTY, now a sophomore at St. Olaf, plans to teach Spanish, she wanted to visit Spain and to get to know the land and the people first hand. The yen grew stronger this past year when she was studying Spanish history.

Her talent for the Spanish language reaped more than one benefit. Last summer Christy worked for Mexicana Airlines . . . using only Spanish. She made out tickets, typed passenger lists and tourists' cards, and helped passengers through customs. Now more confident of her abilities, the attractive coed recalled her first day on the job "Scary!" she laughed, remembering that at first Spanish speaking passengers seemed to talk too fast.

Christy's fluency in Spanish reversed the traditional mother-daughter roles when she and Mrs. Magill decided to go adventuring alone in Spain this past June. "I can't speak Spanish, so everything was up to Christy," admitted her proud mother.

BETTY RECALLED how much she enjoyed watching her daughter working her way through everyday as well as unusual situations. The 19-year-old handled the money, ordered meals, made hotel reservations, asked for aid when needed and did all the driving.

For their exciting motor trek from Barcelona along the scenic Mediterranean coastline to Javea, Cartagena and Granada . . . then inland from Jaen to Madrid, the intrepid travelers rented a Fiat. For those planning a similar trip, the Magill ladies advise thoroughly checking out rented cars. "And learn to change a tire!"

Puncture-prone tires, no seat belts, no side mirrors and a faulty battery added unexpected delays and "flavor" to the Magills' already flexible schedule. During a harrowing nighttime drive to Cartagena, a port city, Christy had to fight her way through drunken sailors to locate a policeman who could direct them to a fourth class hotel. "Not fancy, but clean and adequate."

HELPFUL SPANIARDS guided them to scenery worth viewing, historical sites and to paradors, the Spanish national system of inns. Immaculately dressed local police, "so nice and polite," and Spanish national soldiers, "dignified and always willing to help" were the most helpful.

The friendliness of the Spanish people also impressed Christy and her mother. "Two delightful teenage boys changed a tire for us on a lonely stretch of road and wouldn't accept payment," Betty recalled. But, the two women caution, ladies traveling alone in Spain should be wary of "overly" friendly Spanish men. "They are very aggressive, so ignore them."

English major at St. Olaf College, did most of the talking and all of the driving for the adventurous pair.

Betty and Christy agreed that swimming in the beautifully clean, cold, blue Mediterranean, driving out of Barcelona and happening upon a Roman triumphal arch and Roman road built in 200 B.C. and spotting an old fortified castle from afar, then later touring it, are among their most treasured memories.

OTHER EXPERIENCES not soon to be forgotten are the beautiful Spanish children, Alhambra Palace in Granada ("one of the most beautiful Arabian palaces in the world"), staying overnight at the Washington Irving Hotel in Granada and "little old ladies dressed all in black walking along the highways with their donkeys."

Betty also enjoyed stopping in the hills to search for wildflowers. "I found dozens of beautiful flowers but recognized only wild snapdragons, hockweed, rho-dodendron and a deep cobalt blue flower resembling phlox.

For women who may plan to go adventuring as they did, Betty and Christy Magill have this advice: Take time to visit the national tourist office of the country you wish to see. Travel lightly but take along soap, toilet paper, tissues, wash cloths and pills for diarrhea. Keep a flexible schedule, watch all price lists and have a good time!

Planned Parenthood Open Meeting

Northwest Suburban Planned Parenthood Association will hold an open meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. in First Methodist Church, 123 N. Plum Grove Road, Palatine.

Prospective members as well as anyone interested in the problems of population increase and in working toward its control are invited to attend.

Speaker for Tuesday's meeting will be Mrs. Lessel Papp, a member of Planned Parenthood's board of directors who serves as liaison with the auxiliary groups. Mrs. Papp, who has been an active member of the Planned Parenthood Speaker's Bureau, will present a program on the methods of family planning. She will discuss the various methods of contraception which are available, including the option of voluntary sterilization.

NORTHWEST SUBURBAN chapter is planning to initiate a canvass of local physicians in regard to their willingness to take referrals for birth control, sterilization, pregnancy testing, venereal disease testing and treatment, and abortion when legal. When results of the canvass are compiled, a system of telephone referrals will be inaugurated as a means of helping area women select a physician to meet their particular needs in relation to family planning services.

Project chairman Mrs. Mark Beaubien Jr., FL 8-6106, may be contacted for further details.

Medical Aid Is Available

Mature Woman Must Help Herself

by FRIEDA KAYE

A combination of medical help and self-help can overcome the crisis of confidence faced by the woman over 40. So says Madeline Gray, who has described the crisis in such books as "The Changing Years" and "The Normal Woman," which she wrote after consulting many medical authorities throughout the country.

The woman over 40, according to Mrs. Gray, is usually so beset by unsettling problems, she finds her self-confidence ebbing. Her children are grown and about to fly the nest. Her husband may be particularly preoccupied with his own business-connected worries. And while she's trying to adjust to all these, the menopause comes along. "It's not surprising," Mrs. Gray observes, "that many women suffer emotional fatigue during this time."

However, she points out, there are two possible paths for the menopausal woman to take: one negative, the other positive. A woman she notes, can feel she must inevitably lose her physical attractiveness and try "to escape to the ice box." But, warns Madeline Gray, it's the overeating, rather than the menopause, which makes her "spread out" and lose her figure.

SUCH A WOMAN, she adds, can also say: I'm exhausted. I'm going to be a limp dishrag for the rest of my days. I'm through. Feel sorry for me. Or the woman — being positive — can face up to her problems and "recognize that the menopause is an inescapable part of life."

Help during such difficult times, according to Madeline Gray, is now available from physicians. Before 1900, she says, the average woman's life span was so brief she usually didn't survive until the menopause. "But with modern health care and modern gynecology, all this has changed."

Part of the changing picture, she adds, was the introduction of estrogen replacement therapy. Describing estrogen as the "tide-over medicine," and speaking from personal experience as well as her extensive research, she declares that the use of this hormone under medical supervision may dramatically relieve many menopausal symptoms. Among these she includes flushes, dizzy spells, fatigue and anxiety.

"THE PRESENT generation," she declares, "is probably the first in history where the woman over 40 has the help of hormones." If a woman needs estrogen, she points out, it can probably tide her over the difficult times "so she can enter her older years and be herself again."

In addition to this medical help, the modern woman should also recognize, says Mrs. Gray, the "all-important help she can give herself." For one thing, she should know she can't be 18 years old forever and should accept her actual age. For another, she must stop living through her children, re-think her own role in life, and find constructive new activities which give her ego support.

"The only way to keep one's self-respect," declares Madeline Gray, "is by being a unique personality and by using one's talents to the fullest." And she concludes, "You can do the best with your life if you don't expect it to be perfect."

Herald Sets Two Dates For Publicity Workshop

For women's clubs and organizations that have registered their president's name, address and phone number at the Herald offices, personal reminders will soon be in the mail regarding the eighth annual publicity workshops sponsored by the women's staff of Paddock Publications.

However, all club presidents and in particular news chairmen of all area women's groups are invited. All that is necessary is to call your reservation in to 394-2300, Extension 233. In Des Plaines, the number to call is 297-6633 and ask for Dorothy Oliver.

Workshops are scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 9, and Friday, Sept. 10. Sessions begin at 9 a.m., closing at 11:30 so that busy homemakers can be home by lunchtime. Each workshop will include a mid-morning "coffee and" break.

The Thursday, Sept. 9, workshop will be held at the Plum Grove Club, Plum Grove Estates, Palatine. The Friday, Sept. 10, session will be held in the Northwest Suburban YMCA, Northwest Hwy., Des Plaines.

Presidents and news chairmen may attend whichever workshop is most convenient for them.

The workshops are designed to aid the large number of club publicity chairmen and presidents seeking more and better publicity for their organizations.

The program includes discussions on copy preparation, what is "news," hints on writing, deadlines, how to submit news copy, writing publicity to interest readers, use of names, importance of accuracy and an explanation of Paddock Publications' publicity policies.

Pictures, too, will be thoroughly covered with discussion and slides of good and "bad" publicity shots.

Helpful pamphlets will also be given to each woman present.

The workshops are timed to coincide with the first week of school and the beginning of the active club year. This year Sept. 9 also marks the grand opening of the new Woodfield Mall shopping center and workshop guests will find it only a short hop for luncheon and an afternoon of browsing in the new shops.

Reservations for the workshops are requested so that comfortable seating can be arranged for all — and of course, enough rolls and coffee.

Serving the "coffee and" will be members of the women's staff who will also be introduced during "entertainment" earlier in the program.

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: We recently bought a used refrigerator which is in good condition except for a lingering odor. We washed the inside thoroughly with a Pine-Sol solution, then sprayed with a disinfectant. There was still an odor so we put in some activated charcoal; left it for four days and found the original odor gone but can't get rid of the charcoal smell. Used a baking soda solution but to no avail. Do you have any other suggestions we might try? Mrs. E.D.A.

To alert other readers, the worst thing that could be wrong with a used refrigerator is an odor. Other parts can be replaced fairly reasonably, but if an odor has gone into the insulation, you've had it. The insulation can be replaced but what an expense.

Charcoal has no odor of its own, but it is one of the few ingredients that can absorb any odor it's near. You might still try the method recommended by refrigeration experts and tried by many readers.

Evelyn Menges tried a double-whammy — using not only activated charcoal but the granules used to line kitten boxes — three paper plates of each ingredient. But first she washed every available area with ammonia water, with the motor turned off, of course, and then put in these plates with the door slightly ajar. Four days later, the odor was gone. One more washing and the refrigerator was in perfect shape. Readers have used vanilla, bread, vinegar and so forth, but a different type of method might be used if the above doesn't work — direct a fan or sunlamp into the interior of the box.

Good luck.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to Dorothy Ritz in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill 60006.)

Deborah Deehring Is Bride

An Arlington Heights girl, Deborah Deehring, was married early in June and is making her first home in Greeley, Colo. She became the bride of Lawrence Krueger Jr. in an afternoon ceremony in St. John's United Church of Christ. The bride and groom wrote their own wedding vows.

The couple met while attending Wisconsin State University at Oshkosh. The bride will complete her senior year in education at Northern Colorado State University and be graduated there in December. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Deehring, 502 S. Patton Ave., Arlington.

The bridegroom, son of the Lawrence Kruegers of Columbus, has a degree in radio-television from Wisconsin State.

The bride's only attendant was Mary Saunders of Green Bay, Wis. Best man was Thomas Ploetz of Madison, and Deborah's brother, Randy Deehring, ushered.

Mr. and Mrs. Deehring hosted a reception at home for 80 guests after the wedding.

Kensington Teacher Weds

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burdette Jr.

Students of Susan Jane Musial's fourth grade class at Kensington School, Arlington Heights, were among the guests at her mid-June wedding. She exchanged vows and rings with Charles K. Burdette Jr. of Dallas, Texas, in St. James Catholic Church, followed by a dinner reception at Starlight Inn.

Susan's parents are the Paul A. Musials of 118 S. Forrest Ave., Arlington Heights. She was graduated from Sacred Heart of Mary High School and Bradley University.

Her husband, son of the Charles Burdettes of Howard, N.Y., is a graduate of Alfred University in New York and works in Dallas for Babcock & Wilcox.

Susan chose a pink and white color scheme in a Victorian setting for her wedding. She added a touch of pink ribbon to her old-fashioned gown and pink roses to her bouquet.

'Gala' Is A Success

A crowd of more than 840 attended the sixth annual Gala July 31, a benefit for Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge. Approximately $25,000 was raised.

The funds will be used to purchase a mobile image intensifier. The equipment consists of an x-ray generator, tube and image system.

It can be used throughout the hospital in areas such as emergency, intensive care, surgery, patient rooms and coronary care.

"We are deeply grateful to all who supported Gala '71, both those who attended and those who contributed," said Mrs. Martin Bengtson, general chairman. "We're looking forward to Gala '72."

The Gala is sponsored by the Medical Staff, the Service League and the Men's Association of the hospital.

Purdue Graduates Are Married In Indiana

St. Mary's Cathedral in Lafayette, Ind., was the setting July 10 for the wedding of Miss Marjay Elaine Schrader and Richard Kent Robottom II, son of the Richard Robottoms, 129 Lincoln Drive, Hoffman Estates.

Graduates of Purdue University, Lafayette, the couple were married in an eight o'clock ceremony by Rev. Thomas Zimmerman. The service was followed by a reception in Thomas Duncan Hall after which the couple honeymooned for a week at the Wagon Wheel in Rockton, Ill.

Daughter of the Robert J. Schraders of Lafayette, Marjay chose the bridegroom's sister, Miss Cheryl Robottom of Hoffman Estates, as one of her bridesmaids. Miss Cindy Walton and Mrs. Dan Shannon also were bridesmaids, and Miss Diane Teder, a Kappa Alpha Theta sorority sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

The attendants' ankle-length gowns featured navy chiffon bodices and white saki A-line skirts. White saki also trimmed the cuffs of the long sleeves.

THE BRIDE'S GOWN was of chiffon with appliques of Venice lace on the high neckline, the bodice and the cuffs of the sheer bishop sleeves. A narrow blue ribbon encircled the high waistline of the gathered skirt. Her headpiece of white Sweetheart roses and baby's breath held an elbow-length veil, and she carried a bouquet of the same flowers.

Best man to the bridegroom was Robert Siedler of Hoffman Estates and ushering was Bill Rogal, also of Hoffman Estates. Groomsmen were Craig Palmund of Chicago, James Schaper, a Beta Sigma Psi fraternity brother of the groom, and Dan Shannon.

At Purdue the bride majored in elementary education and in the fall she expects to teach in Lafayette while her bridegroom is in service. Richard, also a graduate of Conant High School, received his degree in electrical engineering.

For the summer the newlyweds have been residing in an apartment in Hanover Park and the groom is employed by Dusaf as an electrical engineer.

A WEEK-LONG CRUISE to Jamaica, Haiti and the Bahamas was part of a recent Florida vacation for Mr. and Mrs. Otto Fest of Arlington Heights. They boarded the M/S Starward in Miami for the island tour.

Couple Postpones Their Honeymoon

June newlyweds, Barbara and Leslie Geiter, were too busy to take a honeymoon this summer but in the fall they will head west for a tour.

Barbara, daughter of Palatine Township Supervisor and Mrs. Howard Olsen, 547 S. Cedar, Palatine, and Leslie, son of the Ray Geiters of Dakota, Ill., are both 1970 graduates of North Central College. This past year Barbara has taught fifth grade at the Joel Wood School in Palatine and for the summer she is employed at National Boulevard Bank of Chicago.

Leslie is with A.R.A. Services, St. Xavier College, Chicago, as assistant manager of the college dining service.

Their wedding took place in First United Methodist Church in Palatine with Rev. C. A. Chamberlain officiating. A buffet reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church where the groom sang "One Hand, One Heart" for his bride and the 150 guests.

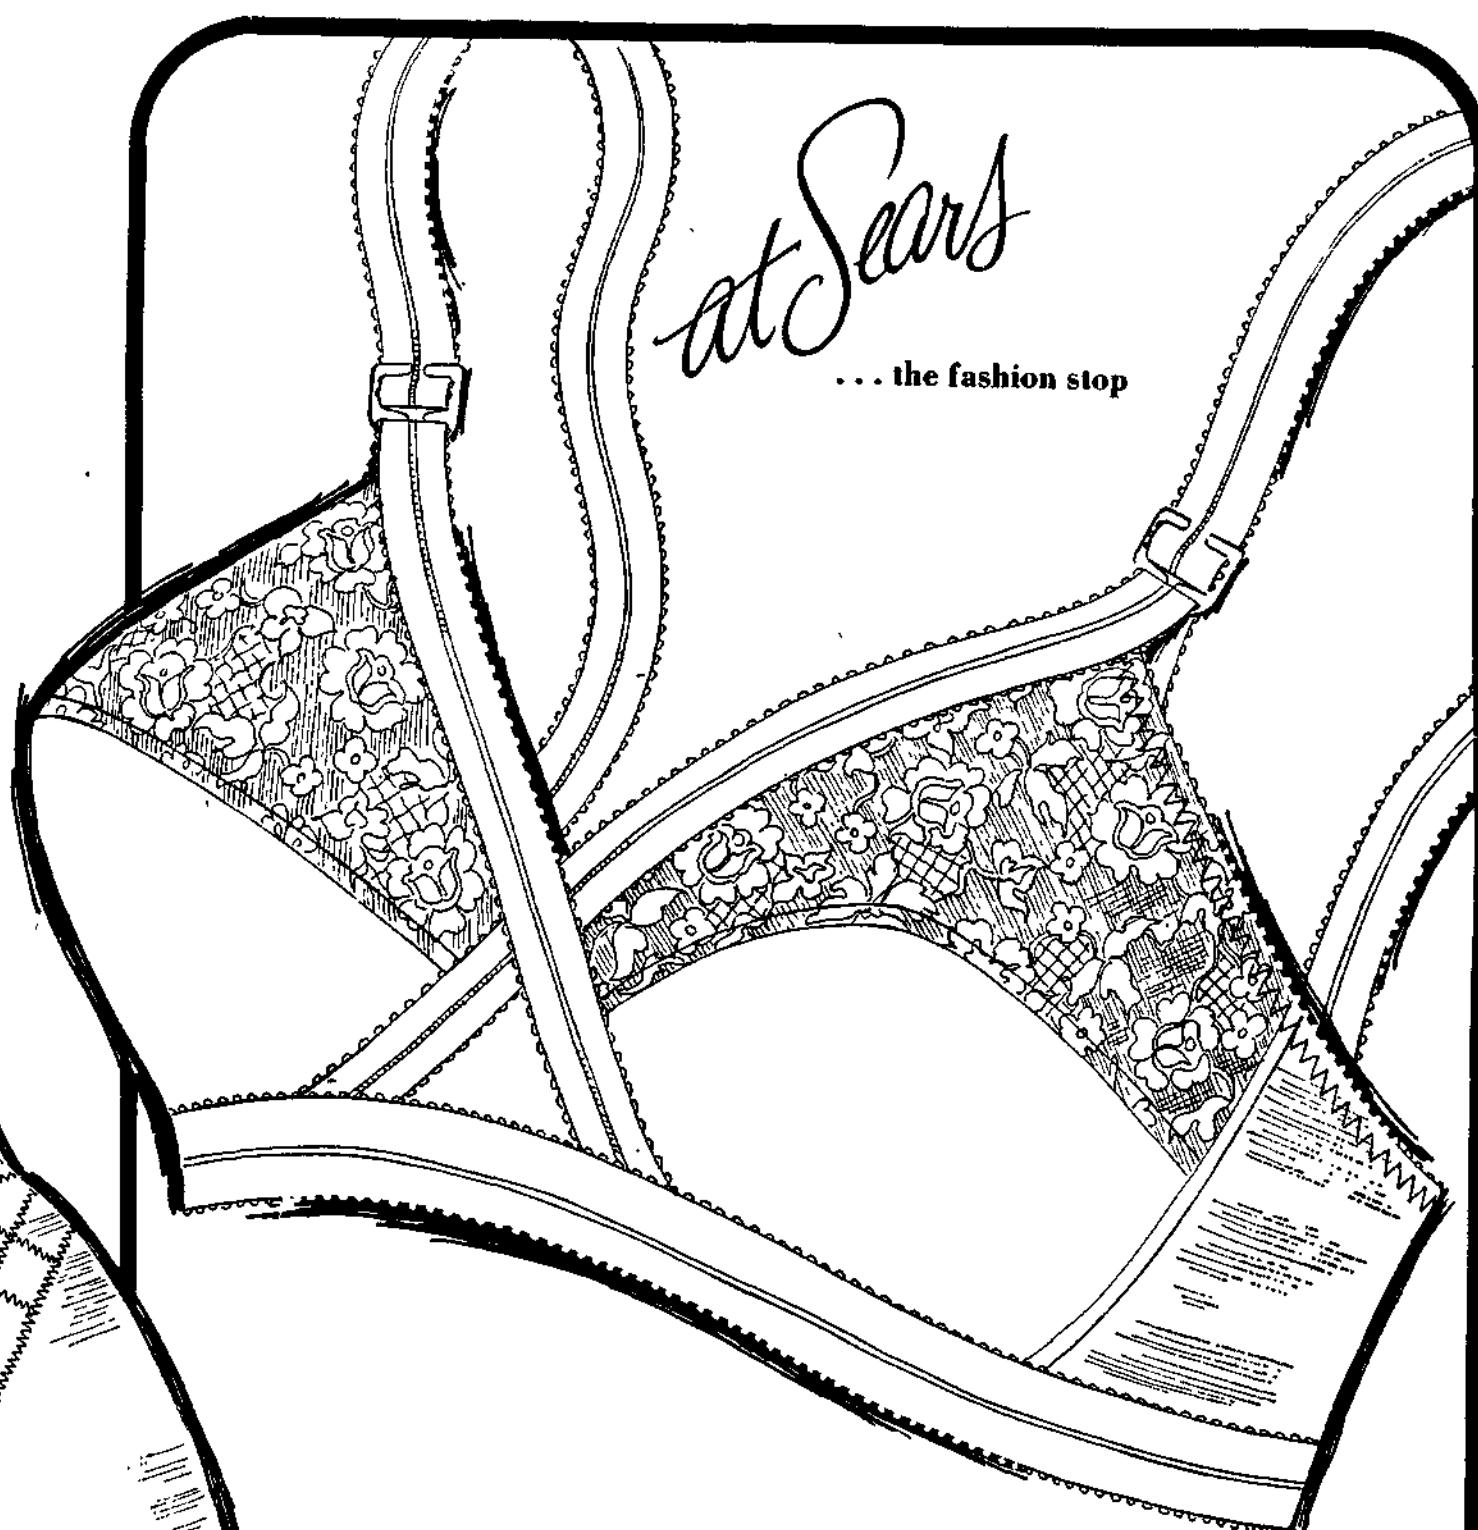

Among the attendants for the ceremony were the bride's sister, Beverly Olsen, who served as maid of honor, and her brothers, Brian L. Olsen and Bradley A. Olsen, who served as ushers.

The newlyweds have been making their home in Worth, Ill.

Industrial Clinic Aid 500 Companies

by JUDY NAJOLIA

An employee hurts himself at work, a new employee needs an employment physical, or a busy executive is required to have an annual check up.

Companies can't afford the long waits in physician's offices and hospitals for their employees, but employee health is an important part of their efficiency.

To meet the need for efficient industrial medical care, three area physicians organized the O'Hare Industrial Clinic seven years ago.

Today the clinic serves more than 500 companies with employees in the Northwest suburban area.

"Our location here on Higgins (near Rt. 83) makes it easy for industry to come to us," Kathryn Day, administrator, says.

Once there, new patients are taken care of in less than an hour on the average, revisits usually take less than 30 minutes.

"Companies like the clinic because we are set up to handle the papers and bookwork for workmen's compensation claims and insurance companies. We are probably the only clinic in the country which is limited strictly to industrial medicine," Miss Day says.

Three full-time physicians and nursing, physical therapy and X-ray technician staffs are available from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays and 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays. Nights and weekend patients are referred to a hospital emergency room.

"Most of our patients are industrial accident cases, but we do handle pre-employment and executive physicals. We are able to provide whatever tests the company requests," according to Miss Day.

For example, employees in jobs with heavy lifting may be required to have back X-rays.

Airlines use the clinic's auditory test booth to check employee hearing problems from increased noise.

X-ray, surgery and eye rooms are equipped with special instruments: "We have a lot of hand and eye injuries. We can't do surgery needing a general anesthetic, but we have an orthopedic surgeon on call who can get to the hospital," Miss Day says.

Dr. Richard Thors can quickly suture an industrial accident wound.

Whirlpool tanks and other physical therapy units are available in the clinic for rehabilitation of employees after an injury.

To help the physicians, the clinic has 10-minute X-ray development and a central dictation system for keeping medical records.

In all, about 150 patients go through the clinic each day.

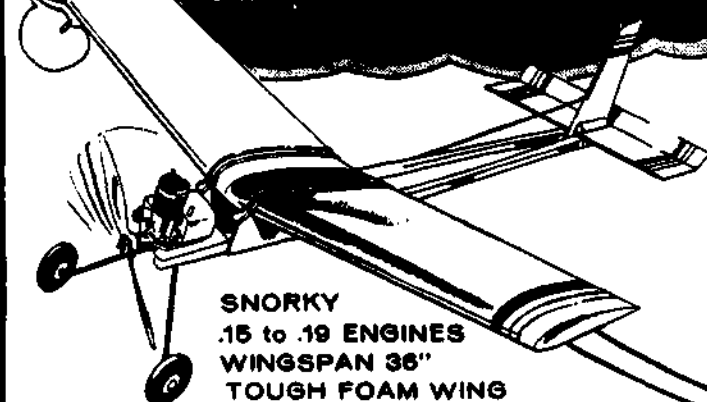

Besides their clinical work, the O'Hare Industrial Clinic works with companies to develop health maintenance programs. Physicians will go out to plants to administer flu shots or inspect for health hazards when companies ask.

"Our main concern is the patient. No private patients come here, so the industrial patient is always considered first. We've found this is what companies and their employees want," Miss Day says.

bowling alleys, with a special scratch- and chip-resistant Tell City finish. Buy the basic table, chairs and hutch. Then add other pieces for interest and convenience. All our Tell City Early American is "open stock." But shop now, while our selection is unusually large.

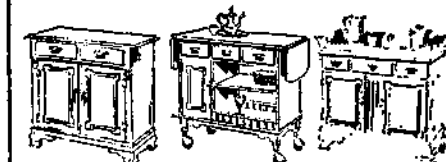

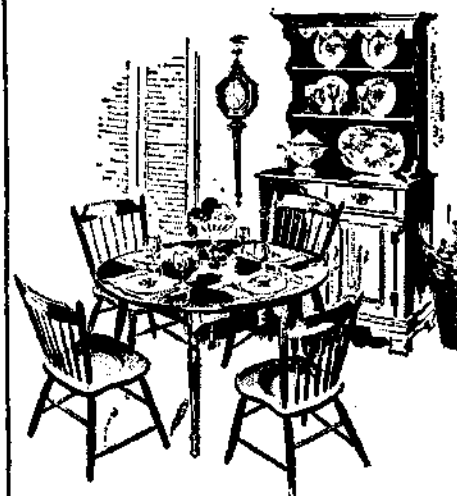

Butter Hutch gives you to match storage and beauty in so little floor space. Only 36" wide, but authentic in every hand-crafted detail.

Round Table is built to take long years of daily family use. Solid Hard Rock Maple base and matching "childproof" Formica® plastic top.

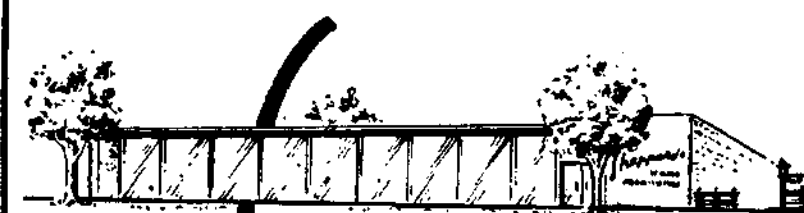

Thumb-Back Chair is one of the most popular Colonial designs. Sturdy well-sealed leather. Shaped back and comfortable saddle seat.

Server puts a lot of convenience into a yard of wall space. The top is a Formica® plastic top. The base is solid Hard Rock Maple. The finish and Formica® plastic top make it an ideal server.

Arlington Battles Cicero Today In Cook County Finals

If you asked Herald area legion baseball followers who played Cicero for the Cook County Playoff title last year at Recreation Park, there might be some hesitation or no answer at all.

But ask them which game they remember the most and they'll quickly give you a blow by blow description of the Cicero-Arlington clash. More words,

How To Get There

This year's Cook County Playoffs in American Legion baseball will be held at Argo High School in Summit. The easiest way to get there is to take the Tri-State Tollway south to the Stevenson Expressway. Go east on the Stevenson and exit at Harlem Ave. Go south on Harlem to 63rd Street and then head west on 63rd to the high school.

pushes and shoves were dished out than patches in that game. But that was in 1970.

Today begins another county tourney and guess which teams just happen to be matched up in the opening round of the double elimination affair — Cicero and Arlington. The defending champions will square off with Post 208 at Summit's Argo High School, host of the tournament at 10:30 a.m.

Arlington coach Lloyd Meyer has watched this 18 young men steadily improve over the two-month season. They went into the Ninth District Tournament as the third-place finisher in the regular season; they emerged with a perfect 4-0 record, including two victories over the Logan Square Lions, and the championship for the second time in a row.

"We've played real good teams and now we've beaten the best (Logan Square) in the state," said Meyer on the eve of the county tourney. "And they've (Lions) beaten a lot of good teams in the state. We've also beaten Cicero three times and tied Wilmette."

However, in those three meetings (1-0, 4-3 and 4-1) with Cicero, Meyer didn't see what he considers Post 96's ace, Bob Kokenes.

Bruins Eye Second Title

The Bruins, a 16-inch softball team which plays out of Rolling Meadows, will be shooting for tourney title No. 2 this weekend when they play in the McHenry Invitational Tournament.

Sunday they captured the Barrington tournament by nipping Villa Bleu 10-8 in the championship game. Powering them to victory was Bill Moore who homered twice for three runs batted in.

Also hammering two hits each were Jim Naller, Eddie Pitts and Bob Campbell, team manager.

They gained a berth in the finals by romping past Burrows Chevrolet 28-9 on Saturday. The weekend before they defeated Leonardi's Pizza 24-1 and Loren Tool 7-1. These four wins boosted the Bruins' record to 35-1, the only loss coming in the Illinois State Championship game against Sobies of Berwyn. They lost to the 1968 World Champions by a 13-10 score.

The other players on the Bruins are Bill Nay, Ron Leafblad, Paul Duval, Dan Welker, Ron Soucek, Dave Kozio, Dennis Boone, Errol Wheeler, Darryle Boyd and Dave Harrington. The Bruins are sponsored by Harrington's Industrial Gas Co. in Wheeling.

Hole-In-One For Collier On Mount Prospect's 12th

Warren Collier, captain of the Keefe's Pharmacy team, was the center of attention last week in the Mount Prospect Friday Night Golf League.

Collier carded a hole-in-one on the 155-yard 12th hole, witnessed by Don Odbert, Howie Foster and Bob Rinehart who were in the same foursome.

Tying for low gross honors were Chuck

More Seats For Fans

Western Illinois' student body will be able to watch their Leathernecks in much more comfort this fall with the addition of 5,000 new stadium seats.

Athletic director Gil Peterson, who made the announcement, said he was elated the request had been granted. "We have had to cram up to 18,000 persons into our 10,000 seat stadium for the past two years and now we'll be able to accommodate most persons wanting to see Leatherneck football."

Peterson said the WIU students would have access to 7175 reserved seats this season as compared to only 2500 last year.

The new bleacher-type seats will be erected on the stadium's east side to extend toward the goal lines.

"I don't have an ace," said Ed Janicki, Cicero's new head coach. "They're just ball players. I don't consider any of my players aces."

Janicki, who took over for big Gene Bianco — who was thrown out of last year's "fight" game, termed the atmosphere of the first three games "a good relationship. They just play ball, you understand," says Janicki.

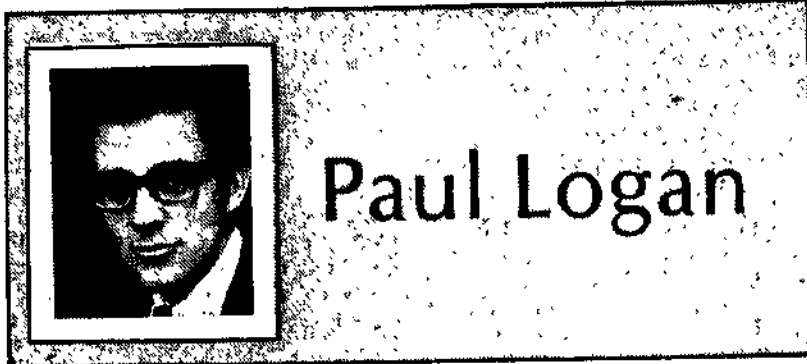

"We don't have the hitting team," says Janicki of his team compared to the sluggers of 1970. Cicero concentrates on defense more this year and "we've got good speed. I don't worry about speed," he added with a chuckle.

Jim Bokelmann will be trying to accomplish what he did last time against Cicero — strike out 15 and shut them out 1-0. He tuned up with an impressive 4-1 victory over Logan Square last Friday and his ankle, hurt earlier in the season, seems to be almost completely healed.

Meyer is expecting more offensive punch than his team was providing its pitchers earlier in the year.

"This team has really been coming, especially the hitting," says Meyer. "The main thing I try to teach in hitting is to try and learn the strike zone. I don't want them swinging at bad pitches. I want them to go after the ball but to be able to take a half swing and then stop if it's not in the strike zone. That takes a month or two to learn."

Mark Leonhard, Bob Leja, Steve

Paul Logan

Koch, Mike Wilbins and Jim Locascio are making contact now. Right down the line I feel we have a good hitting club right now."

Should the hitting and pitching come this morning, the Post 208ers will be right back out there battling again at 4:30 p.m. against Wilmette, the same team that ousted them from the tourney last year. Wilmette received a tourney bye.

If Arlington loses against Cicero, they will return to action Friday at 1:30.

"I'm deeper in pitching," says Paul Werd of Wilmette. "We're better because we've got three guys who have earned run averages under 1.00. And we've got six or seven men who were all area."

Werd's top hurlers are Rich Olson, Bill Hattis and John Wilhoitte. Hattis, many Arlington High School basketball fans will remember, is a burly 6-8 center who helped knock the Cardinals from the sectional tourney.

Werd tabbed Olson, a 6-2 righthander, to start the game, however. Should Arlington be successful against Cicero, Bob Leja, whom Meyer is expecting a big game from, will be starting.

"If their fellow isn't a sharp pitcher, we can hurt him," warned Werd.

Arlington (2B-10), Cicero (2B-9) and Wilmette (2B-5-1) all have 20-plus records and each team carries playrs who gained tourney experience last year. The other two teams are Giles, the Third District representative from Chicago, and Thornton.

One big reason why Meyer feels he can win the tournament is his wealth of pitching.

"I think I've got more depth than most teams do because I've been using them all year," he says. Of course there's Bokelmann, Leja and (Jim) Hopkins, and I also use (Mike) Mollo, Leonhard and (Dave) Landstedt.

"It's just a case of how bad we want to win. Our kids want to win — that's the biggest change in the last two weeks. We've had more spirit."

Adding to the spirit was the recovery of both Bokelman from a serious ankle injury and Wilbins from a broken hand. "They're fine now and it's given us a lift," added Meyer.

Wilbins switched to shortstop earlier this season, the first time he's ever filled that slot. However, he's shown steady progress as Meyer points out:

"I think he's the type of kid that really rises to the occasion. He's starting to believe in himself more and more and he's doing the job."

Coach Larry Nomellini, leader of Logan Square, had this to say of Meyer and his men:

"Arlington can stand up to any team down there. Tournaments being tournaments, a lot of odd things can happen. But Arlington will make a good representative."

The time for jumping on the bandwagon is now. Just ask those 1965 loyalists who followed Meyer's team to the district, county, state and regional titles before Arlington was stopped as the fifth best team in the nation.

Those who start following now might have the chance to brag in future years that they were there when Arlington made its second meteoric climb to national prominence.

YER OUT! Arlington baserunner Steve Koch is run down by Logan Square third baseman Steve Smith after straying too far off the base on a fake suicide squeeze. Umpire Ed Bouchee makes the call as coach Lloyd Meyer

Conant Summer Team Bows Out

The end of the line finally came for Conant's baseball team Tuesday in Summer League tournament competition.

The Cougars, winners of three tourney games and longest survivors in the Herald area, were ousted by host Highland Park, 7-0. Conant had been just one win away from winning its 16-team bracket and advancing to the finals at White Sox Park.

George Pattee pitched the distance for coach Jerry Cunningham's club, giving up 12 hits. He struck out four and walked three.

Highland Park broke on top with three runs in the first. After a double and two outs, a fly ball that "should have been caught," according to Cunningham, dropped for a single and opened the floodgates. A double steal, triple and two singles followed.

In the third, the hosts added another run with a single, stolen base and two-out single.

Two more scored in the fifth on a walk, fielder's choice, single, two-base error, squeeze play and walk.

The final run in the sixth scored more simply — on a home run.

Conant's hits were by Bill Koppari (double), Bill Gawron, Bill Arkus, Gary Prebenton, Ken Hobbard and Keith Steelman.

The Cougars finished 16-8 for the season with a hot second half. "We didn't have many seniors, so I was pretty pleased with that record," said Cunningham.

Barbara Scott Has Low Net, Gross Scores

Barbara Scott had both low gross of 40 and low net of 32 in the Championship Flight of the Arlington Heights Newcomers Golf League at Old Orchard Country Club last week.

Barb also had a birdie on the eighth hole and pars on Nos. 2, 5, 6 and 9. She was low-gross-on-even-holes winner as well.

Connie Malecki had three par holes on the championship level, Doris Groover and Betty Godwin two each and Dottie Fischer and Jeanne Fleming one apiece.

Mary Deichstetter had low gross of 47 and low net of 30 in Flight A with three par holes. Irene Burquist had a pair of pars and was winner of low gross on even holes. Other par holes were shot by Dottie Erlinger, Sig Dion, Katie Christianson and Margaret Livermore.

In Flight B, Bobbie Berg had low gross of 57 and Jane Kiely low net of 31. Bobbie was special event winner and Olive Staadt fired one par hole.

Flight C saw Elaine Reagan get low gross of 73 and low net of 37. Jane DeWitt was event winner.

Carpentry Was Just A Hobby

From Fashions To Remodeling Homes

The amazing thing about Tom Nathan's transition from designing and manufacturing stylish fabrics for women's fashion designers to the home remodeling business is that the two are related.

For fifteen years Thomas C. Nathan, president of Craftwood Lumber Company of Highland Park and Des Plaines, worked as a designer of fabrics for women's high fashion designers. During this period Nathan developed a feeling for color and style. With this knowledge and talent it was natural for him to apply his art to the home remodeling, he said.

Thomas Nathan

"Carpentry and remodeling were just hobbies that became engrossing as the years went by," Nathan said. "I started by building a room addition to my home and finally remodeled every room in the house." His friends and neighbors insisted he start a business along those lines. They said nothing they had seen came close to the way he beautified and upgraded a home.

With his major jobs Nathan said he realized there was no lumber yard or home center on the North Shore to serve the needs of the first-time homeowner wanting to do more than just an odd job. In fact, there was not even a yard or store that had an inkling of the kind of service or knowledge that was needed.

SO NATHAN decided to start his own combination lumber yard and complete home remodeling operation. That was fourteen years ago in Highland Park. Today the Craftwood Lumber Company has added another and more comprehensive remodeling home center in Des Plaines.

Surrounded by some of the nation's top craftsmen in the fields of carpentry, cabinet making and architectural designing, Nathan has built his business into one of the most modern and unique in America. On the premises is a built-in movie theater to show customers color motion pictures on paneling.

TOM NATHAN of Craftwood explains his kitchen ideas to Mrs. Paul Gallagher of Palatine and Mrs. Jack Kush of Des Plaines. Nathan is combining a background in decorating and designing with a lumber business.

Craftwood also has completely remodeled rooms as a showcase for customers to select from. There is a room with a floor and ceiling for the purpose of sliding different types of panels into the walls to show them under incandescent light in a full sized room. This eliminates the guessing game for the housewife who visualizes a panel on a rack as ideal, then finds it is not what she wants when it's put up in her home.

"But the most interesting thing homeowners discover," says Nathan, "is the economical aspects of doing the job yourself. First they discover how simple it is to do it yourself when shown by experts, then they find out it costs only a fraction of what a contractor would charge."

Elgin College Offers Fire Safety Study

The Illinois Junior College Board and Board of Higher Education have approved one and two-year programs in "Fire Science and Safety" at Elgin Community College, bringing the number of technical and vocational programs at the school to 20.

Fire science programs at the college level come in the path of a search by fire protection organizations to improve procedures, operations, and management techniques by educating and training their personnel to rise to the new challenges confronting them. There are approximately 130 programs like the one at Elgin Community College in 30 states.

Don Green, dean of technical and vocational education at the school, said the immediate objective of the college is to develop a two year associate and one year certificate program appropriate to the employed firefighter, professional or volunteer. Therefore, for the 1971-72 academic year, fire science courses will be offered only in the evening.

"Our plans at present are to offer the courses in the curriculum on a two year alternating basis, with all fire science courses offered in the evening and the general education and related technical courses offered day and evening," he said.

With this in mind, Fire Science (FS) 101 "Introduction to Fire Science" and Fire Science 102 "Fire Prevention," which were offered last year, will not be reoffered until the fall of 1972. Students who have taken both of these courses last year, will be able to take all the courses offered this year.

Classes in the Elgin Community College program will begin Sept. 15. Students may register through a counselor daily from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the main campus building.

Jan Faust Wins Scholar Award

Jan Elaine Faust, 40 S. Greenwood, Palatine, was recently selected for a Scholar Award from Northern Illinois University, DeKalb.

The Scholar Awards, valued at about $2,000 a year, cover tuition, books, room and board and a $250 stipend. Winners must maintain a 3.3 grade-point average at NIU to retain the scholarships for each succeeding college year.

Jan is a graduate of Palatine High School.

Sherman Wins Prize

Glen H. Sherman, 283 N. Schubert, Palatine recently won the $300 first prize in the fifth annual Sigma Xi Student Paper Awards Competition at the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign.

Sherman, a graduate student in electrical engineering, earned his bachelor's and masters degree from the university.

Richard J. Arhart, 852 Carmel St., Palatine received the $50 fourth prize. He is a chemistry graduate student and alumnus of the University of North Carolina.

The Accepted Influence in the Northwest Suburbs

Consumer Loans Gain Importance

The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago recently reported on savings inflows and other trends at Seventh District commercial banks.

For the second consecutive year, small-denomination time and savings deposits at large commercial banks increased over the midyear interest-crediting period. However, at banks in both the Seventh District and the nation, gains in passbook savings and time deposits other than large negotiable certificates were smaller than during the comparable year-ago period.

Savings and consumer-type time deposits at large U.S. banks increased .3 per cent between June 23 and July 7 of this year, compared to a 1 per cent gain during the comparable two-week period of 1970. Similarly, district banks reported a .2 per cent gain this year, compared to a 1.1 per cent gain in the comparable period last year.

This year's gain, reflecting interest credited rather than net new deposit inflows, is further indication that the growth in small-denomination deposits has begun to recede from the unusually high levels that characterized much of the past year.

The importance of real estate and consumer installment loans increased during the first half of 1971 at large banks in the district and the United States. The proportion of business loans in loan portfolios of these banks declined. Together, these three types of loans represent more than three-fourths of the outstanding dollar volume of loans of large banks.

Commercial and industrial loans on June 30 accounted for the largest shares of loans at district and U.S. banks, 43.5 per cent and 45.2 per cent respectively. Real estate loans ranked second in importance, accounting for 23.8 per cent of loans of large district banks and 19.5 per cent at large U.S. banks. The table shows the distribution of loans at large banks at midyear compared with December 1970.

FEDERAL FUNDS SOLD by country banks increased during the first half of 1971, continuing the trend of recent years. The average of daily sales figures reported by district members (other than the large banks in major district cities) for each of the first six months of 1971 has exceeded average sales volume in the same months of 1970 by one-third to three-fourths, despite the sharply lower rate of return.

Sales of federal funds, overnight loans of reserve balances to other banks, were reported by 835 out of roughly 890 district country banks in June 1971 (weekly average). In the last 12 months, the number of selling banks has ranged between 565 and 636 per week.

About three-fifths of the net inflow of time and savings deposits at large district banks during the first half of 1971 were channeled into earning asset growth. The remainder, coupled with a smaller net increase in demand deposits, offset a substantial decline in nondeposit liabilities and supported some gain in non-earning assets. Uses of funds differed markedly among major cities.

At large Chicago banks, earning assets expansion absorbed about one-third of the $1.1 billion increase in time and savings deposits between Dec. 30, 1970 and June 30, 1971. The remainder offset a decline in nondeposit liabilities, which include Eurodollar borrowings. Changes in earning assets were mixed. Holdings of U.S. Treasury securities declined $267 million, partially offsetting a gain of $534 million in municipals. Less than 1 per cent of time and savings deposit inflow was absorbed by the $10 million increase in real estate loans.

Time deposit inflows were not as strong at large banks in other district cities, and with the exception of Detroit gains in earning assets absorbed relatively greater amounts of the inflow. Gains in holdings of municipals largely accounted for earning asset increases. Real estate loans declined in Indianapolis but absorbed about one-fifth of the time and savings deposit inflows in other district cities.

Rental Success In Townhouses

Townhouse rentals are gaining in popularity in the housing market, according to the rental manager at the Walden community in Schaumburg.

The Walden project includes 50 townhomes in the first construction phase. These were rented within a few months of its opening in August, 1970. Townhomes are defined as rows of clusters of homes sharing at least one common wall, but having private entrances.

Also renting now at Walden are 204 studio, one and two-bedroom apartments in two, three-story elevator buildings. "It is unfair, however, to compare rental figures of our townhouses with those of the apartments, because the first apartment building was not available for occupancy until Jan. 1 and the second one was not ready until mid-June," said John Smolenski, rental manager.

Smolenski said the recent U.S. census report states that there is a trend toward home ownership, meaning that most townhouses will be sold as condominiums. "At Walden, we rent townhouses," he said. "I believe that our record shows that townhouse rentals represent a very important segment of the housing market."

"Most of our townhouse residents fall into one of two categories — either people working for large corporations who will be transferred within a few years and don't want to be strapped with ownership and for those devotees of apartment living who want none of the burdens of mortgages or maintenance," Smolenski said.

In addition to the total environmental plan of Walden, the amenities offered are a major factor in rental success, Smolenski said. All townhouses and apartments come with all-to-wall carpeting and drapes and have central thermostatically-controlled air conditioning. Each townhouse has a wood-burning fireplace, private balconies and patios.

There are 13 more townhouses under construction, in addition to two more apartment buildings which will be ready for occupancy late in the year.

Walden is located on Algonquin Rd., (Rte. 62) just west of Rte. 53 interchange of the Northwest Tollway. The development is a joint venture between William J. Walsh and McCormick Investments, Inc.

COLOR-MATCHED appliances and recessed lighting are two of the features of kitchens of apartments and townhouses at Hilldale Villages, Hoffman Estates.

Housing Industry Sets Economic Recovery Pace

The economy will not be able to turn its current recovery into a boom until it matches the pace currently being set by the housing industry, according to Jackson W. Goss, president of Investors Mortgage Insurance Company, Boston.

"Every indicator in the housing industry is pointed toward a positive pole," Goss said.

Investors Mortgage, a subsidiary of Continental Investment Corporation, also of Boston, is a major organization in the private mortgage insurance industry. The company works with lenders, such as savings and loan associations, commercial banks and mutual savings banks, by insuring the top 20 per cent of high-ratio conventional mortgage loans.

"The industry has already exceeded an annual rate of 2 million housing starts, several months before most people expected. Even the fact that interest rates advanced in June — for the first time since last fall — cannot be counted as a totally negative sign," Goss said.

Conventional mortgage interest rates in June rose to an average 7.5 per cent from 7.45 per cent in May. However, the average effective rate is still approximately 35 per cent below the June 30, 1970 level, he emphasizes.

"MORE THAN $18.4 billion in new funds have poured into the nation's savings institutions thus far this year, creating a very ample supply of money for mortgage lending. All indications are that the inflow of new funds will continue at a high level," Goss said.

The annual rate of housing starts has gone above 1.9 million units per year and factory housing production is currently at a level of 450,000 to 475,000 units per year. "This takes the adjusted annual rate of starts well over the 2 million mark," Goss said.

The strong performance of the housing industry is being reflected by the performance in the stockmarket of industry-oriented stocks, according to Goss.

"Currently housing stocks are very strong. These building stocks should parallel the Dow Jones Industrial Averages during the remainder of 1971, and then of 1972," he said.

"The housing industry is halfway outperform the averages in the first half through what could be a record year and 1972 looks just as strong. A slowdown could come in the months following the November, 1972 presidential election, as new attempts are made to stem the rise of inflation," Goss said. "However, the industry's performance thus far this year has reaffirmed the hopes that the nation's housing ills can be solved and a level of 2.6 million starts-per-year may be reached by 1975."

Shuey Takes Part In Sales Seminar

Lyle Shuey, owner of Shuey's Music Education Center, 27 W. Prospect, Mount Prospect, recently participated in a three-day management and sales seminar conducted by the Selmer Division of The Magnavox Co. at the Plaza Inn, Kansas City, Mo. Selmer, an Elkhart, Ind. based firm is the world's largest manufacturer of wood and brasswind band instruments.

Shuey joined other major Selmer dealers in learning the most advanced management, sales and customer service techniques and their effective application to improve retail music store operations and sales efforts.

According to Shuey, "the meeting represented a unique departure from the usual sales school format employed by most manufacturers in the music industry." During the three-day meeting dealers and salesmen participated in both general and conference sessions.

Multiple Listing Service gives you

Buying or selling a home is no easy task. In many cases the person offering the home for sale and the eventual buyer are many miles apart. For this reason it is important to both buyer and seller to seek professional assistance which gives both parties a wide coverage of the real estate market.

Multiple Listing Service gives you this coverage. The experienced and skilled staffs of over thirty different real estate firms comb the entire Northwest Suburban area seeking to assist both buyers and sellers. Combining their familiarity with the entire market, they make the job of bringing buyer and seller together a faster, easier job.

Next time you decide to buy or sell your home, make your first move to call one of the members of the M.A.P. Multiple Listing Service.

Centex Names Cooper

Centex-Winston Corporation, Palatine based home builders and developers, has named Thomas L. Cooper, vice president, marketing.

Thomas L. Cooper

Cooper will be responsible for all of Centex-Winston's marketing activities.

Prior to joining Centex-Winston, Cooper was manager of hospital marketing, international division of Abbott Laboratories. For the past nineteen years he has been involved in the sales and marketing field.

A native of Seattle, Washington, Cooper graduated from the University of Pennsylvania where he earned a B.A. degree and received his M.B.A. from the University of Chicago. He and his wife, Amy, and their five children reside in Libertyville.

258-Acre Development Features Bright Kitchens

Among the attractions of Hilldale Villages apartments and townhouses for prospective renters is the bright, modern kitchen found in each unit.

The 258-acre complex is being developed by Multi-con Properties, Inc. on Higgins Road (Rte. 72) approximately one mile east of Barrington Road, in Hoffman Estates. One- to three-bedroom apartments and two- and three-bedroom townhouses are now available at monthly rentals ranging from $180 to $420.

Standard kitchen appliances at Hilldale Villages include stainless steel sink, garbage disposal, dishwasher, refrigerator-freezer and terrace-top range with hood and fan. The kitchen has plenty of work and counter space. The cabinets are color-matched, and in some kitchens cork ceilings are used.

The dining-breakfast area is fully carpeted. Kitchens are well-lighted, with fixtures properly located. Layout of each kitchen varies according to the overall interior arrangement and size of the unit.

In the one-bedroom apartments kitchens may be found in four versions of the basic walk-through layout. One may have the utility room at one end; another may have a large storage closet opening off one corner. A third layout features two entrances, one at the apartment entry and the other opening to the dining-room area. In the larger apartments and townhouses at Hilldale Villages, the kitchens are similarly varied in layout. Most feature a semi-open arrangement with the adjoining dining room, and some may offer a "breakfast bar" or passthrough service window.

Du-Co Promotes Boje, Griffin

The appointment of Bert Boje of Lombard to the post of vice president and William Griffin Jr., P.E., of Bloomington, to assistant vice president of Du-Co Engineering Co., wholly-owned engineering subsidiary of Hoffman Rosner Corp., Hoffman Estates, was announced by William E. Griffin, president.

Du-Co is directly responsible for the conversion of raw land into marketable locations for residential, commercial, and community facilities for Hoffman Rosner, leading homebuilder and community developer.

Boje has been associated with Hoffman Rosner since 1960. For the past five years he has been primarily responsible for the coordination of all field engineering. He studied architectural design at the University of Illinois and was affiliated with Consoer Townsend & Associates, consulting engineers, for five years before joining Hoffman Rosner.

William Griffin Jr. worked for the firm as a surveyor during summer vacations while he attended the University of Illinois. After his graduation with a B.S. in civil engineering he joined the firm full time in 1965.

His responsibilities include completion of engineering plans, preparation of plat submissions, and supervision of sewer and water facilities.

Phillips Promoted By World Wide

William L. Phillips of 33 Carriage Way Drive, Rolling Meadows, has been promoted to new account manager of World Wide Agency in Chicago. He joined the firm as an account executive in March, 1970.

In his new assignment, Phillips will be responsible for presenting the services of the agency to prospective clients throughout the midwest.

TIPS TO HOME BUYERS AND HOME SELLERS

FROM

REAL ESTATE SERVICE

HOW TO MAKE YOUR HOME MORE ATTRACTIVE FOR THE SALE

If you are getting ready to sell your home, it is important that you make the home "visually" attractive for any potential buyer. The first impression is of the utmost importance and here are a few aspects that should be checked and adjusted if necessary.

Be sure your landscaping is always kept trim and neat with special care given to weed removal. Be sure all mechanical and electrical components of the home are in working condition, that your doorbells are all working and all door hinges are oiled. Fix any leaky faucets, keep all windows clean, be sure any obvious wall cracks are repaired and that there are new bulbs in all inside and outside light fixtures. Needless to say, any rooms that are in critical need of decorating should be repainted and brightened. It is amazing how much a small amount of decorating and maintenance will add to the attraction and to the selling price of your home.

Hospital Board Names Broniarczyk

Frank Broniarczyk, printing manager for the General Telephone Directory Co., headquartered in Des Plaines, has been appointed to a three-year term on the Holy Family Hospital lay advisory board.

General Telephone Directory Company sells Yellow Pages advertising and produces more than 900 telephone directories annually. It is a subsidiary of the General Telephone & Electronics Corp. Broniarczyk's printing department produces more than 800 telephone directories annually. He also oversees production of the remainder printed by contract printers in Los Angeles, Calif., St. Petersburg, Fla. and Hammond, Ind. In addition, the printing plant produces a wide variety of graphic materials used throughout the telephone industry.

Broniarczyk has been active in local civic organizations for 12 years. He is immediate past-president of the Des Plaines Chamber of Commerce and has also served on many of its committees. He is a member of the board of the Des Plaines Tomorrow Corp., active in the Des Plaines Redevelopment program, was chairman of the industrial section of the District 62 school board referendum. He is currently serving on Maine Township High School District 207's Cooperative Education Advisory Committee.

The Park-Plaines Chapter of the National Secretaries Association elected him "Boss of the Year" in 1969. Frank and his wife Florence are residents of Arlington Heights.

Gruenewald Named To Salt Lake Post

James L. Gruenewald of Schaumburg has been appointed manager of the Salt Lake City branch of A. B. Dick Co., Chicago-headquartered manufacturer and distributor of copying, duplicating, audio-visual and electronic printing and display equipment and related products.

The branch is one of 56 sales and service offices which the company has in the U.S.

Gruenewald was most recently marketing project manager — offset products, in Chicago. He has been with A. B. Dick since August 1970. Before that he was associated with D'Arcy Advertising Company and Swift & Co.

A graduate of Northern Illinois University, B.S., '64, he also earned a master's degree in business administration there.

Few Mortgage Delinquencies

Despite continuation of inflation and substantial unemployment, mortgage loan delinquencies at the nation's savings and loan associations continued at a minimal pace during the second quarter of this year, according to the United States Savings and Loan League.

For the second quarter, delinquency ratios remained well under 1 per cent of all mortgage loans outstanding at associations. These include conventional loans and loans issued under programs of the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration.

By month the delinquency ratios were: April — 0.75 per cent, May — 0.74 per cent, and June — 0.76 per cent.

The league monthly survey of mortgage delinquencies is based on a survey of more than 900 representative savings and loan associations, and includes all loans on which payments have not been made within 60 days of the payment date stipulated in the mortgage.

Compared to the second quarter of 1970, the delinquency ratio was up fractionally in April and June, but down in May.

Norman Strunk, executive vice president of the league, said savings and loan associations typically experience fewer mortgage delinquencies than other types of mortgage lenders.

"The reason for this," he said, "is that savings and loans concentrate on conventional mortgages, rather than on those made under various FHA and VA programs. The government-guaranteed loans historically have had a higher delinquency experience than mortgages conventionally made."

Hinz Relocating To Mount Prospect

J. Bayard Kelly, newly appointed president of Hinz Publishing Co., 1750 W. Central Road, Mount Prospect, a leading manufacturer of the popular studio-type greeting cards, has announced the relocation of Hinz headquarters from Fort Worth, Tex., to Mount Prospect. Hinz Publishing Co. is a member of the American Machine & Science Group.

According to Kelly, the move is part of an overall plan by the parent company to consolidate its operations closer to AMSI headquarters in Chicago, center of the Graphic Arts Industry and transportation hub of the nation, will also provide operating economies that were unavailable to them in their Texas location. In addition, it is anticipated that this move to Mount Prospect will improve delivery schedules and quality of work. There are also plans, according to Kelly, to expand their greeting card line.

Narduli Receives Service Award

James Narduli, 1819 Capri Dr., Palatine, recently received a service award denoting completion of 15 years with Flick-Reedy Corporation from president Frank Flick.

The presentation came as a high point of the Eighteenth President's Luncheon held at the Flick-Reedy plant. Flick hosted this, and the preceding President's Luncheons in honor of long-time employees of the company which he helped found.

The Flick-Reedy plant, where the luncheon was held, is located adjacent to O'Hare International Airport in Bensenville. Flick-Reedy is the world's largest manufacturer of machine tool grade air and hydraulic power cylinders.

California Comes To The Midwest

California styling in a master-planned environment will be a feature of the new Greenbrook Community in DuPage County.

The 450-acre community is expected to have 400 homes in its first developed area, Tempo Village. The homes range in size from three to five bedrooms and are priced from $27,990, with FHA, VA, and conventional financing available.

Greenbrook homes will feature master bedroom suites, interior balconies overlooking living rooms, and custom-designed cabinetry and lighting fixtures.

Five fully-decorated models are now on display at Tempo Village, featuring interiors by Nanja Williams. Twenty different exteriors, designed and coordinated by Stewart C. Woodard, A.I.A., are offered with four basic floor plans.

All home owners at Tempo Village are automatically members of Club Tempo, a major recreation center. The club features a junior Olympic swimming pool and complete clubhouse facilities for social, sport, and cultural activities.

Greenbrook is located on Lake Street (U.S. Route 20) one-half mile east of Barrington Road, and can be reached by taking the Eisenhower Expressway west, turning right at Elmhurst to Lake Street and left at Greenbrook Blvd. to the models. An alternate route is taking the Northwest Tollway to Barrington Road and Lake Street and turning left at the Greenbrook entrance.

Larwin is a subsidiary of CNA Financial Corp., a Chicago-headquartered holding company with more than $3.4 billion in assets.

Homes Readied

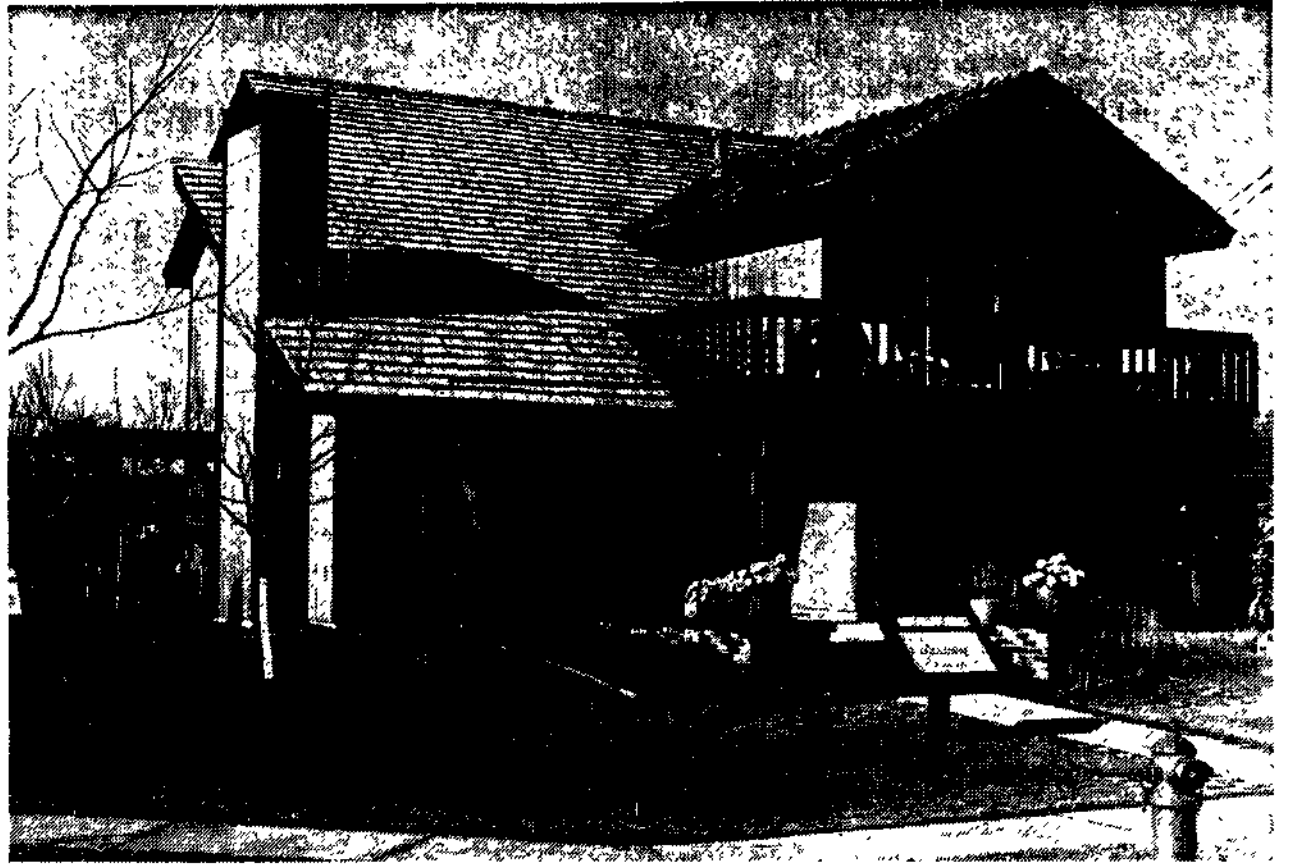

Centex-Winston Corp., builders of Winston Park South, a new community of single family homes located at Crawford and 175th St. in the city of Country Club Hills, has announced that the first foundations have been laid.

Since its opening in February of this year, more than 100 homebuyers have purchased homes in the new 180-acre community. Eventually, Winston Park South will provide homes for some 680 families. Five two, three, and four bedroom models which range in price from $23,500 to $28,750 are featured.

The model homes offered are: the Aberdeen, a three-bedroom, one-bath ranch priced at $23,500; the Brighton, a three-bedroom, one-bath split level priced at $26,200 which is also available with the lower level finished (family room and powder room) for $27,000; and the Coventry expandable Cape Cod. This home is available with two bedrooms and one bath and unfinished upper level for expansion later as family needs change at $24,200 or, completely finished as a four-bedroom, two-bath home priced at $26,750. The Devon mid-level features two options: a two-bedroom, one-bath home with lower level unfinished, priced at $25,200 or completely finished with family room, four bedrooms and two baths, priced at $27,730. The Edinburgh is a four-bedroom, one-bath ranch priced at $24,000. Optional attached one-car garages are available with all homes except the Brighton which provides a one-car garage as a standard feature.

Carpeting, ceramic wall tile in the baths, and vinyl asbestos floor tile are standard features. Also included in the price of each home are: washer, dryer, free-standing electric range and oven with power exhaust hood, and frost-free refrigerator.

Model homes located at 17621 S. Winston Drive will be open for inspection daily from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m.

THE MONTEREY IS one of the California style houses County. The house, available in four exteriors, has four offered in the new Greenbrook community in DuPage bedrooms 2½ baths and a two-car garage.

Branigar Starts Developments

Following its successful development of two homesite projects in the Florida Keys, the Branigar Organization, Inc., has now moved into central Florida with a small-acreage homesite development near Daytona Beach known as Plantation Pines. According to Elmer Swanson, Jr., Branigar Vice President of Marketing, this is the company's first venture in the state outside the Florida Keys.

"We are entering a different market here," Swanson said. "Our developments in the Keys, Kahiki Harbor and Fort Antigua, are projects which were designed to provide waterfront homesites ready for building. The properties are largely oriented toward the market for recreation and retirement homesites, although several of them have been purchased as investment property. However, at Plantation Pines, our major concern is with the segment of the market which is chiefly interested in land as an investment. Therefore, we are offering small acreage parcels, ranging from two to six acres."

Swanson believes that the growth trend of Daytona Beach is now westward. He said that Plantation Pines is only 12 miles from downtown Daytona Beach.

MAP Multiple Listing Service Posts A Record

A record 233 cooperative home sales representing a volume of $8,556,125 was reported by MAP Multiple Listing Real Estate Service for June. The 233 cooperative home sales topped the previous June 1970 total of 168 cooperative home sales.

For the first six months of 1971, MAP Multiple Listing Real Estate Service has sold a record total of 1,355 homes through cooperative listing sales for a total sales volume of $48,905,600. "The increased sales figures indicate and substantiate the desirability of homes in the Northwest Suburbs," said Robert G. Walters, president.

"Mortgage money is still readily available to home purchasers. However, interest rates and service charges have increased and there is every reason to believe that interest rates should continue to increase but should not cause any immediate effect on the willingness for people to buy and sell real estate," said Walters. "Now is an ideal time to buy a home . . . with the ever present rise in building costs plus the apparent increase in interest and service rates, people can expect to be money ahead by purchasing a home now to take advantage of the current interest rates."

MAP Multiple Listing offices have noted an increase in executive transfere business. Current figures show that approximately 65 per cent of all MAP sales for the first six months resulted from sales to out-of-area buyers, usually personnel who have been transferred to the Chicago area.

Named Manager

The recent appointment of James Johnson as manager of Kassuba Development Corporation's Berkshire Trace in Buffalo Grove was announced by Fred Choate, district manager.

One of 17 Trace apartment-recreational communities in the Chicago area, Berkshire Trace features 304 one, two and three bedroom apartments, a swimming pool, park and play areas and acres of free parking for tenants.

Johnson, 24, joined Kassuba last December as a trainee at the company's Fairway Trace, Des Plaines. Prior to that he was manager of Durkin Art Galleries, Wilmette.

He resides at Berkshire Trace with his wife, Diana.

Bank Joins Executive Credit Plan

The Bank and Trust Co. of Arlington Heights has joined the American Express Co. Card Division's Executive Credit Card Plan.

The bank and American Express are offering a jointly sponsored travel and entertainment card, called the Executive Money Card, carrying a minimum $2,000 line of credit. It will be available through the bank to persons who qualify for the line of credit.

This allows a member to obtain funds at the bank in cash or in Travelers Cheques or credit to his account. Members can also obtain credit while away from home at American Express Co., its subsidiaries or representative offices. A member can purchase up to $500 in Travelers Cheques in the U.S. and $1,000 overseas.

As another feature of the plan, a member can transfer his monthly charges for entertainment and travel into a loan against his line of credit. Robert M. Schweigerdt, vice president of the bank, said the Executive Money Card provides instant credit or cash in addition to the international charge privileges of the regular American Express Money Card.

Kunkel To Be Parkway Agent

Wm. L. Kunkel & Co., Des Plaines Realtor, has been appointed sales agent for Parkway Gardens housing development, according to Ralph H. Martin, vice president of Kunkel.

Located on Thacker, just west of Wolf Road in Des Plaines, Parkway Gardens will include a development of 100 3 bedroom ranches and 3, 4, or 5 bedroom colonials ranging from $37,900 to $43,900.

Ernie Schlanbusch, senior salesman in Kunkel's residential division, will be in charge of sales of the Parkway Gardens homes.

Gerdes Gets New Post At Pro-File

James R. Gerdes

James R. Gerdes of 1125 E. Patton Dr., Palatine, has been named Pro-File, Inc. regional manager for Chicago and northeastern Cook County, including Skokie, Morton Grove, Evanston and Glenview.

Pro-File, located in Milwaukee, Wis., is an in-depth computerized industrial reference company that helps engineers, designers and purchasing agents find needed products, services and production facilities.

Gerdes will be responsible for presenting the Pro-File concept to area manufacturers and purchasing and engineering groups.

For the past nine years, Gerdes was a management engineer with Argonne National Laboratory. Prior to that, he was associated with Warwick Electronics, Niles, as division systems manager. He is a member of the Data Processing Management Association and the Harper College Data Processing Education Advisory Committee.

He received a bachelor's degree in industrial engineering from Illinois Institute of Technology and a master's degree in production from the University of Chicago.

Olson Appointed Personnel Manager

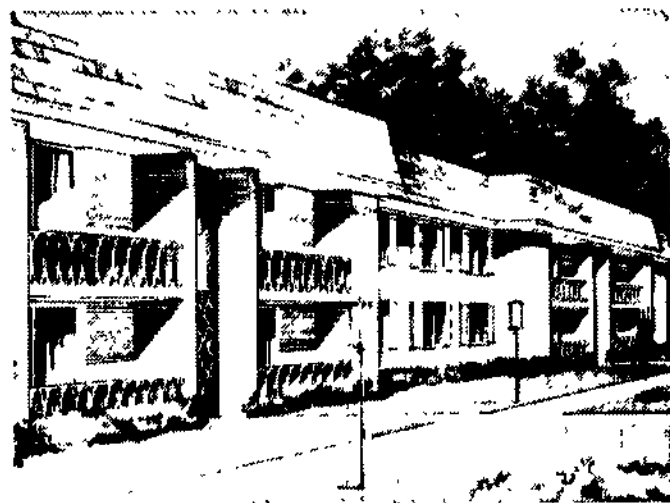

The appointment of John M. Olson of 418 S. Reuter Dr., Arlington Heights, as personnel manager has been announced by the Hanna Fluid Power Division of Rex Charnell Inc., Chicago. In his new position, Olson will be responsible for directing the personnel and industrial relations functions of the division.

T. Olson joined Rex Charnell's student training program in 1964. Upon completion of the program, he participated in several special manufacturing projects in the company's Milwaukee plants. In 1966, he was appointed employment manager at the company's Bearing Division in Downers Grove. In 1968, Olson returned to Milwaukee as a personnel specialist, and later that year, he became administrative assistant-industrial relations.

Olson holds a bachelor of science degree in personnel management from Marquette University, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Arrange Financing For New Industry

Mortgage financing of $350,000 on a one-story industrial building in Elk Grove Village on the west side of Lively Boulevard south of Oakton Street has been arranged by Salk, Ward & Salk, Inc.

Erwin A. Salk, president of the mortgage banking firm, made the announcement. The term of the loan is 25 years.

The 25,000 square-foot masonry and steel warehouse and office building is due for completion in October. Gene Rocklin president of National Threaded Fasteners, Inc., stated that the screw and bolt manufacturing and wholesale firm will occupy the premises. The industrial is being built by D. J. Rintz & Co., general contractors, on property of 55,000 square feet with 275 feet of frontage on Lively Blvd. Paved parking for 16 cars will be provided.

Handling negotiations for the Salk organization was Stephen A. Weiss, assistant vice president.

memo to advertisers

equal opportunities

With two seemingly equal advertising opportunities available, how would you decide which was to carry your sales messages?

We have a suggestion—take a few minutes to find out just how seemingly equal they really are.

Ask questions—how big is their circulation audience? Where do readers live? How much do they pay? And others.

Equal opportunities? Be ABC-sure!

Buying or selling a home is no easy task. Often times it can result in lengthy, unnecessary delays causing inconvenience or even hardship on both buyer and seller. Most often these delays are unnecessary and are the result of the buyer and or seller's failure to seek professional assistance.

Multiple Listing Service gives you action. From the moment the buyer or seller expresses his intention, a team of highly skilled real estate experts go into action seeking a solution to the needs of both parties. Their combined know-how and experience produce results fast.

Next time you decide to buy or sell your home, make your first move to call one of the members of the M.A.P. Multiple Listing Service.

Walter B. Meder Tops Million Mark

Walter B. Meder, 156 Richards Dr., Palatine, has sold more than $1 million of Prudential insurance protection in 1971. He is an agent in the company's Lake View district agency, located in Chicago at 2316 W. Lawrence Ave.

District agency manager Angelo J. Pirano said that Meder's sales achievement for 1971 marks the fourth consecutive year of similar high production records since he joined Prudential in January, 1968.

Walter B. Meder

Named To Chicago Rotary Club Post

Edward W. Boehm Jr.

Edward W. Boehm, Jr., of Palatine, president of the E. W. Boehm Co., has been elected president of the Rotary Club of Chicago—the first Rotary Club of the world for the 1971-72 term.

Boehm, as vice president of the Club in 1967, was Chairman of the Ad Hoc Committee which brought about the Rotary Club of Chicago Children's Habilitation Center located at 406 E. Grand Ave. This outpatient treatment center for crippled children has served Chicagoland's less fortunate children since November, 1969.

Is Vice President

Edward R. Vrablik

Edward R. Vrablik of 1404 N. Walnut Ave., Arlington Heights, has been named vice president and general manager in charge of all United States fertilizer manufacturing, purchasing, transportation materials sales and agricultural marketing programs at Swift Agricultural Chemicals Corporation. He previously was vice president marketing division.

The Swift Agricultural Chemicals Corporation is a subsidiary of Swift & Co., an international corporation with major interests in foods, chemicals, petroleum and insurance.

Vrablik had previous service with the parent company as director of planning for the Swift Chemicals Co. and coordinator of industrial and overseas planning on the staff of E. F. Swift, executive vice president.

3 Residents Honored By Prudential

Three area residents were honored recently by their employer, the Prudential Insurance Co.'s Mid-America Home Office for their part in the success of the 1971 U. S. Savings Bond campaign among the company's employees in the Prudential Building.

Hailed as successful Savings Bond Sales Coordinators at a recognition luncheon in the Chicago-based regional home office were:

David D. Groff, FLMI, 104 W. Orchard Place, Mount Prospect; Gerald O. Roessler, 2100 Wing, Rolling Meadows; and Jim Scanlon, 157 Thacker, Hoffman Estates.

The campaign they helped promote among their associates has increased deductions for U. S. Savings Bonds under the company's payroll savings plan by 35 per cent to $7,903 a week. With 1,081 employees of the office participating, the weekly per capita average increased to $7.31.

Completes Training

James Murphy, a member of the Mount Prospect sales staff of Baird & Warner, Inc., 21 E. Prospect Ave., recently completed a sales training program conducted by the 116-year-old real estate firm.

Murphy resides at 1113 Dogwood Lane, Mount Prospect.

The program for new sales personnel focuses on client and community services, cooperation with other real estate brokers, avoidance and cure of common mistakes made by real estate salesmen; development of successful listing and negotiation techniques, and effective use of advertising.

John L. Hall, senior vice president and general sales manager, said the course concentrates equally on technical subjects in the increasingly complex field of real estate and on the development of positive attitudes.

Rush hour at Farmington

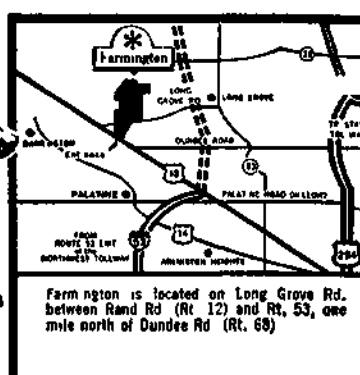

There is something about Farmington that puts life into its proper perspective. Here is simple, unhurried, peaceful country living complete with quiet ponds, winding lanes, woods and hills. Pheasants abound in our meadows. Wild ducks light on our little lakes. Game fish swim in our waters. The homes are so conceived that they seem to grow out of the land. It will stay that way, too, protected by prudent deed restrictions. There will never be a homesite less than one acre, never two homes that look alike. Farmington on Long Grove Road represents one of the last opportunities to get away from it all within easy commuting distance of the Loop (38 minutes by train, 42 minutes by car). Of the original 180 one-acre or larger homesites, fewer than 15 remain. They vary from $12,000 to $30,000 and may be purchased with a small down payment and liberal terms. Farmington is not for everyone. But to those few who know the difference between a house and a home, we invite you to come home, To Farmington.

Free Brochure.

Nothing can take the place of a personal visit to Farmington. But, if you can't drive out, send in the coupon below for a free brochure. We don't want to rush you.

Now! Buy your Farmington homesite on contract!

Jamboree Aug. 12-14

Youths from all over the state will converge on Joliet Aug. 12-14 for the annual Illinois Junior Sports Jamboree.

The annual jamboree, in which youths compete in various track and field events, is sponsored by the Illinois Jaycees and the Illinois Department of Corrections.

The competitors, all between 10 and 15 years old, were winners in local and regional Junior Sports Jamborees. These were conducted by individual Jaycee chapters earlier this year.

The northern Illinois regional event, in which some 800 youths from 25 different communities competed, was held July 17 at Prospect High School. Hosts for the event were the Mount Prospect Jaycees.

Awards were given out to winners in 42 events during the competition in Mount Prospect. The first place finishers in an event also earned the right to participate in the upcoming state contest.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

AXYDLBAAXR
is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Is Family Arrangement Essential To Survival?

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Some 2.3 million couples were married in the United States 25 years ago, the largest number in any single year to date. This is the story of one of them.)

by AILEEN SNODDY
WESTBURY, Long Island — (NEA) — Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reidman recall their honeymoon 25 years ago as a happy experience.

Now a retired New York City police detective Reidman was working as a waiter at a resort in upstate New York and she was on her first vacation by herself when they met. When she later married his brother they doubled-dated.

"I had a chance to watch him operate," Beatrice Reidman explains. Reidman's brother was killed in Europe during World War II. She was nine months pregnant and they didn't tell her until the baby was born that her husband was dead.

The Reidmans celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary June 16. They were married by a rabbi in Kew Gardens, Flushing, N.Y., and had a catered reception for 50.

Unlike many couples in '46 the Reidmans started married life with a $25,000 reserve and took a three-week honeymoon one week of which was at that Adirondack resort.

NEITHER CONSIDERS marriage old hat and as a mother of an unmarried daughter, Mrs. Reidman says she is troubled by youth's attitude toward it. She explains, "I'm square. I can understand some of the arguments but I don't believe a relationship should be from bed to bed. This is too unpermanent and could be tragic." Reidman still condones the double standard but adds, "This country was predicated on the basis of a family arrangement and it is essential to survival."

As for changing each other, he says he changes his attitude from time to time but appreciates someone "who allows me to criticize them but I feel I'm now willing to accept them as they are." Her major complaint is that he is too conservative about money when money isn't a worry for them.

Reidman now owns The Playhouse in Harlem. It was formerly the jazz-famous Minton's and still features live music. He has been a technical adviser for such TV shows as Brenner Car 54 and the movie, "The Pawnbroker."

With a more than $20,000 income net worth of around $100,000 and insurance, the Reidmans stick to a no credit card no charge account creed. This is part of his conservatism as is owning two Cadillac convertibles bought when they are always a year or two old. He thinks credit cards are a disease. He doesn't believe people should charge anything that has an increased cost after a month, i.e. interest charges.

THE REIDMANS are do-it-yourselfers. There are times, though, Mrs. Reidman would like to call in a repairman and get something done right away rather than wait. There is a well-equipped house with automatic dishwasher, air conditioner, separate freezer, color TV, five black/white TVs, power mower, barbecue equipment, movie projector, blender, stereo components, a movie camera, four still cameras.

Although they don't belong to social clubs or a country club, he is active in Temple, both bowl, golf and garden. She also took adult education courses in reading comprehension, sewing, cooking, decorating and bridge. They like to entertain friends "socializing" over late-night snacks and card games.

The Reidmans took a vacation around the world in 1966 and like vacations in general but she doesn't believe in separate trips or weekends.

With two daughters and one grandchild, the Reidmans worry about drugs and the wars around the world and their effect on the children's future.

As a former policeman Reidman comments on certain attitudes toward police. "I feel," he says, "that people get everything they deserve. They only scream when they are affected personally and are not concerned about Charlie next door until they are bothered. It is good youths are telling government they won't accept the garbage that was handed to their mothers and fathers."

Scholarship Goes To Cheris Marek

Cheris Kyle Marek, 122 Kingman Lane, Hoffman Estates, a college student majoring in special education, was presented a scholarship at the third annual benefit for the Mentally Retarded Olympic Program, Inc., held July 11 in Chicago.

The group sponsors the annual Illinois Special Olympics when nearly 2,000 retarded children compete in sports events.

- | | |
|----------------------|------------------------------------|
| 2 pounds ground beef | 1/4 cup shredded Cheddar cheese |
| 2 teaspoons salt | 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper |
| 1/4 teaspoon pepper | 2 cups seasoned mashed potatoes |
| 1/4 cup catsup | 2 tablespoons melted butter |

Combine beef with salt and pepper and shape into 6 to 8 patties, 1/2 to 3/4 inch thick. Set oven regulator for broiling. Place patties on rack under broiler so surface is 2 to 3 inches from heat. Broil 8 to 10 minutes on one side. Turn and continue broiling 5 to 10 minutes longer, depending upon degree of doneness desired. Remove patties from broiler. Top each with catsup, cheese and green pepper. Transfer patties to warm sizzle platter or oiled wooden plank. Tube or spoon mashed potatoes around patties. Brush with melted butter. Return to broiler until potatoes are lightly browned and cheese is melted, about 3 minutes. 6 to 8 servings.

VEGETABLE SLAW — CREAMY DRESSING

- | | |
|--------------------------|------------------------------|
| 1 egg yolk | 1/4 cup dairy sour cream |
| 1 teaspoon sugar | 2 tablespoons milk |
| 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard | 4 cups shredded cabbage |
| 1/4 teaspoon salt | 1 cup shredded carrots |
| 1/4 teaspoon garlic salt | 1/4 cup chopped green pepper |
| 1 tablespoon vinegar | 1/2 cup raisins |

In a small mixing bowl beat egg yolk with sugar, mustard, salt and garlic salt until well blended. Add vinegar. Gently blend in sour cream and milk. Chill.

In a large bowl toss vegetables and raisins to mix. Add dressing. Toss lightly to mix with dressing. 6 to 8 servings.

STRAWBERRY DESSERT MOLD

- | | |
|--|--------------------------|
| 1 package (16 ounces) frozen strawberry halves | 1 banana, mashed |
| 1 can (20 ounces) crushed pineapple | 1 cup dairy sour cream |
| 2 packages (3 ounces each) strawberry flavor gelatin | Strawberries for garnish |

Defrost berries. In a 1-quart saucepan drain berries and pineapple. There should be approximately 1 1/4 cups syrup. If not, add water to measure this amount. Heat syrup to boiling; remove from heat; add gelatin. Stir until dissolved; return to heat if necessary. Cool slightly then add drained berries, pineapple and banana. Chill until partially set. In a chilled bowl, with chilled beaters, whip sour cream until doubled in volume (about 5 minutes with electric mixer at highest speed). Fold sour cream into gelatin mixture. Pour mixture into 6-cup mold. Chill until firm. Unmold onto chilled plate and garnish with strawberries, if desired. 10 to 12 servings.

balance your meals and budget too!

- | | |
|---|---------------------------------|
| 2 1/2 to 3 pounds beef round steak, cut 1/2 to 3/4 inch thick | 1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes |
| 3 tablespoons flour | 1/4 cup chopped onion |
| 1 teaspoon salt | 1/2 teaspoon basil |
| 1/4 teaspoon pepper | 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder |
| 3 tablespoons lard or drippings | 2 cups sliced carrots |
| 1 beef bouillon cube | 2 cups diagonally sliced celery |
| | Flour for gravy, if desired |

Cut round steak in 6 to 8 serving-size pieces. Mix together flour, salt and pepper. Dredge meat in seasoned flour. Brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add bouillon cube, tomatoes, onion, basil and garlic powder. Cover tightly and cook over low heat 1 1/2 to 2 hours or until meat is tender. Cook sliced carrots and celery in small quantity of boiling water until tender but crisp. Place round steak and vegetables on platter. Thicken cooking liquid with flour for gravy, if desired. 6 to 8 servings.

PIMIENTO SALAD DRESSING

- | | |
|--------------------------------|----------------------------|
| 1/2 cup cottage cheese | 1/2 teaspoon sugar |
| 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento | 1/4 teaspoon salt |
| 1/2 cup plain yogurt | 1/4 teaspoon celery seed |
| 1 teaspoon minced green onion | 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder |

In a small mixing bowl beat cottage cheese with pimiento until almost smooth. Blend in yogurt, onion, sugar, salt, celery seed and garlic powder. Cover and chill to blend flavors. Yield: 1 1/4 cups.

Serve with salad of torn lettuce, spinach, sliced celery, cucumber and chopped green pepper, in a bowl lined with escarole. Top with onion rings, if desired.

MANDARIN ORANGE DESSERT

Cake:

- | | |
|---------------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| 1 package (14 ounces) gingerbread mix | 1/2 cup golden raisins |
| 1/2 cup chopped walnuts | 2 tablespoons grated orange peel |

Mandarin Orange Sauce:

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1 cup milk | 1/2 teaspoon brandy extract |
| 1 package (3 3/4 ounces) vanilla instant pudding mix | 1 can (11 ounces) mandarin orange segments well drained |
| 1 cup dairy sour cream | |

To prepare Cake: Grease well and flour a 4 1/2-cup mold. Prepare mix according to package directions. Fold in walnuts, raisins and orange peel. Pour into mold. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 to 35 minutes or until cake tester inserted comes out clean. Cool on wire rack 10 minutes. Unmold onto serving plate. Serve warm with chilled Mandarin Orange Sauce. 8 to 10 servings.

To prepare Sauce: In a small mixing bowl, at low speed, beat pudding into milk until smooth and creamy. Gently blend in sour cream and brandy extract. Cover and chill. Just before serving, fold in drained orange segments, reserving several for garnish.

Yield: Approximately 3 cups Sauce.

Easy Summertime 'Cook-In'

To most people summer means sun, water, trees, flowers and taking up a new hobby or elaborating on an old one. For the housewife, it's a time to dream up new menus. Yes, summer is made for family and friends — and a cook-in on your terrace or patio is a wonderful way to entertain. Home entertaining is becoming more and more casual. Most guests are given free rein — and fortunately, with the wonderful electrical appliances at her disposal, the hostess can be part of the party instead of a recluse chained to the kitchen stove. Even if she's without domestic help — silent helpers, such as the Farberware "open hearth" Broiler/Broilerette and automatic coffee-maker, let her know the joys of summer.

For your next easy, breezy summertime "cook-in" try a barbecued chicken. While it's cooking, prepare the balance of your free-wheeling menu. For openers, consider a chilled Dilled Cucumber Soup — one you can make in minutes in a blender. Fresh Herb Rice is wonderful with chicken, as are Glazed Baby Carrots. Cap the climax with crisp sugar cookies and Icy Lemon. Icy Lemon is a cool coffee dessert recipe. The coffee is brewed in advance and chilled until ready to use.

DILLED CUCUMBER SOUP

3 cucumbers
2 13 3/4 ounce cans chicken broth
1 cup fresh dill
1/2 pint sour cream
Salt

Freshly ground pepper to taste
Using an apple corer, peel cucumbers. Cut in half and seed with apple corer. Cut dill from stem. Place ingredients in blender. (If blender is small, divide ingredients in half and make 2 batches), and blend at high speed for 60 seconds, or until liquidified. Refrigerate for at least 3 hours before serving. When ready to serve, garnish with fresh dill.
4 to 6 servings.

BARBECUED CHICKEN

2 fryers, about 2 1/2 pounds each, split

1/4 cup wine vinegar
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup salad oil or olive oil
1 cup tomato juice
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
Rinse, drain and dry chicken. Combine remaining ingredients in a jar and shake to mix thoroughly. Brush chicken with sauce and place on broiler rack. Brush and turn chicken pieces often until done, or for a total time of about 1 hour.
4 servings.

GLAZED BABY CARROTS

2 bunches of very young carrots
1/4 pound butter
1/2 cup chopped parsley
Salt
First boil 2 bunches carrots in salted water. When cooked and cool enough to handle, cut each carrot into pieces about one inch long. Render 1/4 pound butter in a pot. Drop the carrots into the melted butter and sprinkle with the 1/2 cup chopped parsley. Shake the pot until the carrots are covered with the butter and the bits of parsley adhere to the carrots. Serve slightly salted and hot.
4 servings.

ICY LEMON

2 cups cold strong coffee
2 cups lemon sherbet
1 ounce grenadine syrup
Fresh grated lemon rind
Mix in blender at medium speed. Serve in slender glasses topped with lemon rind.
4 servings.

Return To Natural Food

Enjoying the good old flavors, textures, and nutrients of the natural foods our grandparents relished is not simply a passing whim. It is a major concern of doctors, nutritionists and people everywhere who are interested in good health.

The frozen and processed foods that fill our supermarkets today were unavailable in the early twentieth century. When grandma baked bread she used stone ground wheat and milk to produce a delicacy full of vitamins and minerals. This culinary art is highly regarded today.

Although natural foods encompass everything from fruits and vegetables to grains and meats, one of the most readily available group of natural foods are dairy products.

For generations, milk has been the source of essential nutrients needed for the daily diet. It provides high-quality protein, carbohydrate, easily digested fat, Vitamin A, calcium, and many other vitamins and minerals.

Milk products provide a great variety of highly nutritious food. Milk drinks, cream soups, casseroles, sauces, custards, puddings, ice cream and ice milk are only a sampling of the variety of dishes milk makes possible.

Yogurt, one of the cultured milk products, is similar in flavor and consistency to sour cream, although lower in calories. Made from partially skim milk, yogurt contains substantially more protein than whole milk.

The combination of yogurt and fruit makes a quick, delicious dessert or snack. It may also be used in casseroles, salads, salad dressings and desserts.

Natural cheese, another milk product, is high in protein and vitamins. Cottage cheese, which is made from skim milk, is lower in calories than natural cheese but high in protein. Besides being a favorite in salads, cottage cheese often is used in dips, spreads and appetizers.

The value of dairy products and their important role in a nutritious, balanced diet is well recognized. With the new emphasis on health and nutrition, this essential area cannot be ignored.

Nourishing Non-Meat Dishes

The Lenten period traditionally tests the homemaker's skill in providing a variety of tasty, nourishing non-meat dishes for her family. Here are three helpful recipe suggestions from A-1 Sauce Co. home economists.

FISH STEW

3 cups sliced potato
1 cup onion rings
2 celery stalks, cut in
1/2 inch slices
2 carrots, cut in
1/4 inch slices
1 No. 2 can whole tomatoes, chopped (2 1/4 cups)
5 cups boiling water
1/4 cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons A-1 sauce
2 boxes (12 oz. ea.) frozen cod filets, thawed and coarsely diced
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Place all ingredients in large pan or kettle, and bring to boil. Cover, lower heat and simmer for approximately 40 minutes, or until vegetables are tender. Makes 6 servings.

STUFFED GREEN PEPPERS

6 large green peppers
1/4 cup butter
1/2 cup minced onion
3 cups cooked rice
3/4 cup grated cheddar cheese
1 tablespoon A-1 Sauce
Wash peppers, cut stem ends and remove seeds. Cover with boiling salted water and boil uncovered for 5 minutes. Drain and halve lengthwise. Heat butter and saute onion until light golden. Add rice, cheese and A-1 Sauce. Fill peppers with rice mixture and place in baking dish. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees for 15-20 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

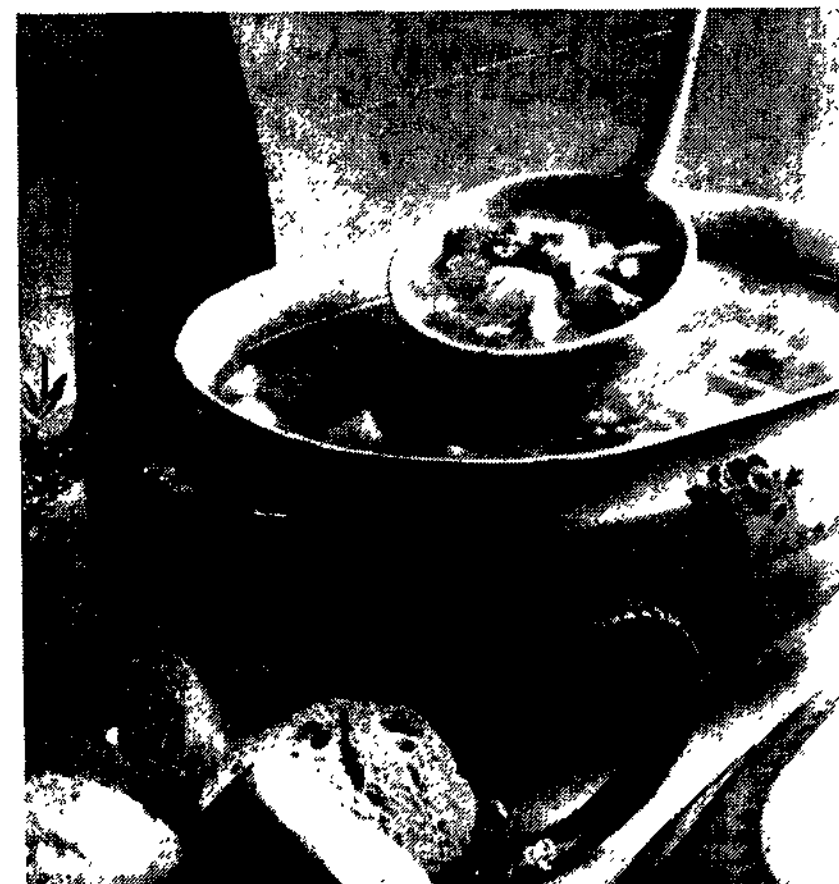

BAKED FISH STICKS

Place all ingredients in large pan or spears (10 oz. ea.)

2 tablespoons butter
2 packages frozen pre-cooked fish sticks
3 cups sour cream
5 tablespoons A-1 Sauce
1 medium onion, cut in rings paprika

Thaw frozen asparagus spears until they can be separated. Arrange in large shallow baking dish. Dot asparagus with butter. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes. Remove baking dish from oven, place fish sticks on top of asparagus. Mix sour cream with A-1 Sauce, and spread over fish sticks. Top with onion rings. Sprinkle with paprika. Return to oven and bake, uncovered, 15 minutes longer. Makes 6 servings.

Fit Cottage Cheese Into Light Meals

Fish Stew

Cottage cheese is one of the most versatile of foods. Throughout the year — but particularly during the spring and summer months when appetites often are at low ebb — its refreshing flavor and easy digestibility undoubtedly contribute to its appeal.

Fortunately, cottage cheese is a nourishing food. Thus it fits in perfectly with the lighter meals that are served during these seasons.

Because of its high protein content, it may be substituted for meat. A half cup provides as much protein as an average serving of lean meat, poultry or fish, according to home economists at Meadow Gold Dairies. And one and a half cups of cottage cheese contains the same amount of calcium as an eight ounce glass of milk.

Here's a salad dressing that provides more than enough protein and calcium for a light warm weather lunch. It is a creamy, garlic flavored dressing that is especially appropriate served on a salad of garden tomatoes and cucumber slices.

Combine 2 cups of cottage cheese, 1 cup of mayonnaise, 1/4 cup of lemon juice, 2 cloves of crushed garlic, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt and 1/4 teaspoon white pepper.

Guaranteed Value Per Measure And Single Item Pricing!

Eagle's Pricing Policy Is Clear, Simple, & Honest!

"Single Item Pricing" at Eagle takes the confusion out of food pricing. Every item is individually priced with our Everyday Low Discount Prices! There's no need to buy 3 or 4 of an item to realize savings - buy only what you need. And "Guaranteed Value Per Measure" is another way Eagle makes your shopping easier and more economical. This policy assures you of knowing which size package of a product will save you more. Eagle makes the large size package of every product your best buy, unless it's marked differently. Eagle leads the way in "True Discount Pricing," "No Limits," and "Single Item Pricing" ... "Guaranteed Value Per Measure" is another way Eagle continues to keep your trust with an honest discount program. It's nice to know you can count on Eagle.

Swedish Hospitality For Gourmet Club

by FRAN HECKERT

There might have been one tense moment the afternoon Mrs. Barry Burke began to unthaw 150 Swedish meat balls to serve the National Council of Jewish Women's Gourmet Club.

"There I was, prying the meat balls off, one at a time, as the frozen stack loosened," laughed Diane Burke. And husband Barry kept poking his head into the kitchen with comments like, "I don't know, Diane, it looks like you're going to have loose ground beef."

The incident would have caused sheer panic for most homemakers serving a Swedish smorgasbord the same evening, but Diane remained calm.

"The meat balls came out perfect," she said. "I just didn't realize they would take so long to thaw."

A few hours later — relaxed and confident — the hostess greeted 20 members of the Gourmet Club.

Diane's menu included creamed herring, limp bread, four salads, salmon mold, Swedish brown beans, homemade cookies, and all the accompaniments for an authentic smorgasbord.

She used recipes from four cookbooks plus cookie recipes from her mother and aunt. Diane also made a special trip to Andersonville in Chicago to bring home Swedish punch and cheese.

The petite blue-eyed homemaker feels that cooking is her specialty so preparing the smorgasbord was an enjoyable challenge.

Usually two women prepare the monthly gourmet dinner for club members and their husbands, but Diane took the job on herself because her "kitchen is so small."

Members of the club have enjoyed Indian, Turkish, Italian, Mexican and French dinners. To cover expenses, the hostesses figure preparation costs. Each couple then pays for their dinner, thus there is no problem with a club budget. Diane prepared the smorgasbord for $6.60 per couple. A complete French dinner with all the wines was $11.50 per couple.

But no one complains, the group is more fun than a restaurant and the food is guaranteed to be homemade.

Diane's love for cooking is obvious. Her eyes sparkled as she revealed one of her most embarrassing moments.

She was making one of her mother's "never fail" recipes, creamed chicken. Since it was the first time she and her husband had entertained, Diane was anxious to have everything perfect. And it would have been perfect if Barry hadn't decided that one tablespoon of cornstarch wasn't enough and dumped in half a box.

"The chicken looked marvelous," Diane recalled, "but serving it was like trying to serve cement."

After a few more similar incidents (like putting a box of rice in the vegetable soup), Barry learned that the kitchen is Diane's domain. "Barry knows that I'm a good cook so he doesn't interfere anymore," Diane remarked.

Diane doesn't always believe in trying new recipes on the family first. One time she served a company dinner using all new recipes. There wasn't a single goof.

Although Diane hasn't worked since her daughter Cathy was born two years ago, she's not about to get hooked on soap operas. One can't imagine the laughing energetic Diane sitting in front of the TV at 2 p.m. It's just not her style.

SWEDISH MEAT BALLS

1 1/2 pounds ground round
1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
1 teaspoon minced parsley
1 egg
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup milk

Combine ingredients and mix well. Shape into walnut size balls. Brown in 1/4 cup oil. Remove meat and stir the following ingredients into fat: 1/4 cup flour, 1 teaspoon paprika, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper and 1 teaspoon thyme. Stir in 2 cups boiling water and 3/4 cup sour cream. Return meat to gravy. Cook 20 minutes. Serves 6 to 8.

SPRITZ COOKIES

1/2 pound butter
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon almond extract

1 egg yolk
Flour to handle
(about 2 cups)
Cream butter and sugar. Add extract and egg; then flour. Use enough flour so that a silver knife comes out clean. The dough may be colored and forced through a cookie press. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven for 10 to 12 minutes until lightly browned.

CARDAMOM COOKIES

1 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon ground cardamom
1/2 cup confectioners sugar
1/2 cup cornstarch
1/2 pound butter

Cream butter and sugar. Sift flour with cardamom and add to butter; mix well. Add cornstarch to mixture and mix until smooth. Divide dough into halves and wrap each portion in foil. Chill several hours. (Work with one portion at a time so remaining stays chilled.) Roll into 1-inch balls and flatten with fork dipped in flour. Bake about 20 minutes in a preheated 325-degree oven.

SWEDISH NUT COOKIES

1/2 pound butter
4 tablespoons sugar
2 cups flour, sifted
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup pecans, chopped
2 teaspoons vanilla
Cream butter and sugar. Add sifted flour and salt; blend thoroughly. Add nuts and vanilla. Shape into small balls or crescents. Bake on a greased cookie sheet 45 minutes in 300-degree oven. Roll baked cookies in sifted, confectioners sugar.

Very Impressive Pizza

Pizza Casserole is VIP — very impressive Pizza, that is! No restaurant could duplicate this combination of fine flavors and textures. Guests of all ages enjoy this new pizza version, but it is especially popular with teenagers. Now that the young hostess is off from school, she likes to take more interest in food preparation. This recipe gives her that opportunity for fun cooking and, surely, many compliments, too!

Her guests will love every layer to this casserole — the beef-tomato herb sauce-noodle layer, the Mozzarella cheese layer, the cottage cheese-spinach layer — finally topped with cheese squares, salami slices, mushrooms and olives. She will find the recipe easy to follow, the results always "A+," and time left over for those last-minute details before the doorbell rings. Younger sister might even like to try a hand in making Pizza Casserole — it's that much in demand!

PIZZA CASSEROLE

1 pound ground chuck
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
1 (15-ounce) can tomato herb sauce

2 cups cooked corkscrew noodles
1 (6-ounce) package sliced Mozzarella cheese
1 (10-ounce) package frozen chopped spinach, thawed and thoroughly drained
1 cup small curd cottage cheese
1 egg, beaten
1/2 teaspoon salt
Salami slices, mushroom slices and whole ripe olives for top of casserole

Brown beef with onion and garlic in skillet; drain fat. Stir in Hunt's tomato herb sauce and noodles. Spread meat mixture in bottom of greased 1 1/2-quart shallow baking dish. Cut one cheese slice into 2-inch squares; set aside. Cover meat with remaining cheese slices. Mix together spinach, cottage cheese, egg and salt. Spoon over all of casserole. Top with reserved cheese squares arranged in checkerboard fashion, salami slices, mushrooms and olives. Bake at 375 degrees 20 to 25 minutes or until hot. Makes 6 servings.

Slim-Chick Salad

New salads slants with chicken are a boon to the budget and soothing to low-key summer appetites. Simmer chickens for salad, is the advice of the National Broiler Council. Thanks to the modern broiler-fryer, you can cook chickens in water for only one hour to reach tenderness. Put some bay leaf, onion, peppercorns, celery tops and salt in the water to develop flavor. Vary chicken salads with ingredients such as fruits or cooked and raw vegetables, and vary the dressing with sour cream, curry, mayonnaise, or lemon. Here's an unusual chicken salad that is quick and easy to make and low in calories.

SLIM-CHICK SALAD

1 container (8 ounces) plain yogurt
1 teaspoon curry powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped celery
2 cups diced cooked chicken
Blend together yogurt, curry powder and salt. Add to celery and chicken. Toss lightly. Serve on greens. Makes 4 servings.

YOU SHOULD always cook meat and poultry at low to moderate temperatures. This provides maximum tenderness and juiciness and yields more meat to serve because of less shrinkage. It also helps make sure the center is fully cooked without the outside being overdone. Proper cooking helps assure wholesomeness, USDA inspectors advise.

THERE IS A difference between "Chicken Soup" and "Chicken Flavored Soup." The first must contain at least two per cent cooked, deboned chicken meat, under U.S. Department of Agriculture poultry standards. There is no minimum requirement for chicken content in chicken flavored soup.

OUTER GREEN leaves of lettuce are coarser than the inner, tender leaves, but have higher calcium, iron and vitamin C value. Use the outer leaves whenever possible.

Budget Conscious Cooks Serve Tuna

You have to economize. Welcome to the not-so-silent majority. You're trying to cut down on those expensive items in your budget — that suddenly add up to a small fortune at the cash register.

You don't need a computer to know that if you serve tuna dishes for dinner regularly, say, about twice a week, you can effect sizeable savings at the supermarket plus savings in your valuable time. There is a difference in the cost of meals based on canned tuna in vegetable oil and those based on meat (and this means edible meat—not bones).

Even if you work or are away from home all day, you can quickly put together a variety of substantial "convenience" main dishes — on the spur of the moment if necessary — with tuna, simply because it needs no pre-cooking as a recipe ingredient. And these will be dishes with the double appeal of homemade savoredness and pleasant frugality.

Europeans who came to these shores in the twenties and thirties depended on canned tuna as a mainstay. Jewish homemakers, for instance, often used tuna to make hearty cutlets — a thrifty meatless meal that appeased the appetites of hard-working husbands and children. Others adapted tuna to nourishing native dishes — combining it with "meaty" vegetables and rice or pasta — and in that way managed to feed their generally large families on pennies a day. Nowadays, such imaginative preparations would be considered in the gourmet category.

Tuna cutlets and croquettes and burgers are still tremendously popular mainstays all over the country — not only because they are filling and low in cost — but because they are just plain delicious for lunch, snacks or dinner, hot or cold, with or without trimmings, summer or winter.

There are recipes ad infinitum for the making. Three that give you an idea of tuna's versatility follow.

GOLDEN TUNA RICE SALAD

1 package (6 ounces) yellow rice (saffron)
1/2 cup salad oil
4 tablespoons lemon juice
2 cans (6 1/2 or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped tomato
1/2 cup thinly sliced celery
1/2 cup diced cucumber
1/4 cup thinly sliced carrot
1/4 cup finely chopped parsley
1/2 cup pimiento-stuffed olives
1/2 teaspoon salt
Salad greens

Cook rice according to package directions. Beat together salad oil and lemon juice. Pour over rice and toss well. Chill thoroughly. Add tuna and vegetables, sprinkle with salt and toss well; chill 1 hour longer. To serve, place on salad greens.

Yield: 6 servings.

EGGPLANT STUFFED WITH TUNA

1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
1/4 cup chopped onion
2 medium eggplants
2 medium lemon juice
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 medium tomatoes, peeled and chopped
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1/2 teaspoon each, dried leaf oregano and basil
2 cans (6 or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
1 cup buttered soft bread crumbs

Melt butter in a skillet. Add green pepper and onion and cook until onion is tender, but not brown. Cut thin lengthwise slice from each eggplant. Remove eggplant pulp, leaving a 1/4 inch thick shell; dice pulp. Add diced eggplant to skillet with lemon juice, salt, pepper, tomatoes, parsley and herbs. Cook until eggplant is tender about 5 minutes. Add tuna and toss together. Spoon into shells. Place filled shells in a pan with 1/4 inch water. Bake in a 400 degree oven 20 minutes. Remove from oven; top with crumbs and bake 10 minutes longer, or until crumbs are brown. Yield: 4 servings.

TUNA CUTLETS JEWISH STYLE

2 cans (6 1/2 or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
6 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 1/2 cups evaporated milk
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup soft bread crumbs
2/3 cup dry bread crumbs
1 egg, slightly beaten with 2 tablespoons water
3 tablespoons salad oil

Heat 4 tablespoons oil from tuna; blend in flour, salt and pepper. Stir in evaporated milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Measure 1 cup of the sauce; add to tuna with onion, lemon juice and soft bread crumbs; mix well. Reserve remaining sauce. Line freezer tray with waxed paper. Turn tuna mixture into tray; chill in freezing compartment 1 hour. Turn out and cut into 6 or 8 cutlets. Dip cutlets first in dry bread crumbs, then in egg and water mixture, then in crumbs again. Heat oil in skillet; add cutlets and cook until golden brown on both sides. Top with Mushroom Sauce and pimiento cut-outs.

MUSHROOM SAUCE

To the reserved sauce, add 1/3 cup milk, 1 can (3 or 4 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained, 1/4 cup white wine, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Serve hot. Yield: 1 1/4 cups.

Tuna Cutlets

There Is A Catch...Smelt

Smelt have delicate, sweet-flavored flesh and contain a pleasant oil that aids digestion. These small fish carry a big protein punch to make them valuable nutritionally as well as good eating. The average size is from seven to eight inches and the average weight is 10 to 11 smelt per pound. Many of the smelt caught, however, are finger-sized, just big enough for two or three bites. Any size, however, adapts readily to Saucy Smelt, a versatile recipe from the National Marine Fisheries Service.

If the smelt are larger ones, serve as an entree with your choice of sauces. If the smelt are finger-sized, they are just right for hors d'oeuvres with cocktail sauce. No matter which size, this quick and easy way to enjoy smelt is bound to be a hit with any age group.

A number of informative, full-color fish and shellfish recipe booklets, including smelt recipes, have been chosen with other consumer-oriented publications from 11 Federal agencies for inclusion in the new Consumer Product Information Index. For more information and a free copy of the Index, readers may write Consumer Product Information Distribution Center, Washington, D. C., 20407.

SAUCY SMELT

2 pounds pan-dressed smelt (approximately 15 per pound or other small dressed fish, fresh or frozen)

Salt
Pepper

1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce
Cocktail Sauce
Lemon Wedges

Thaw frozen fish. Clean, wash, and dry fish. Sprinkle inside with salt and pepper. Combine flour and cheese. Dip fish in tomato sauce and roll in flour mixture. Place in a single layer in a fry basket. Fry in deep fat, 350 degrees, for 3 to 4 minutes or until brown and fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve with Cocktail Sauce and lemon wedges. Makes 6 servings.

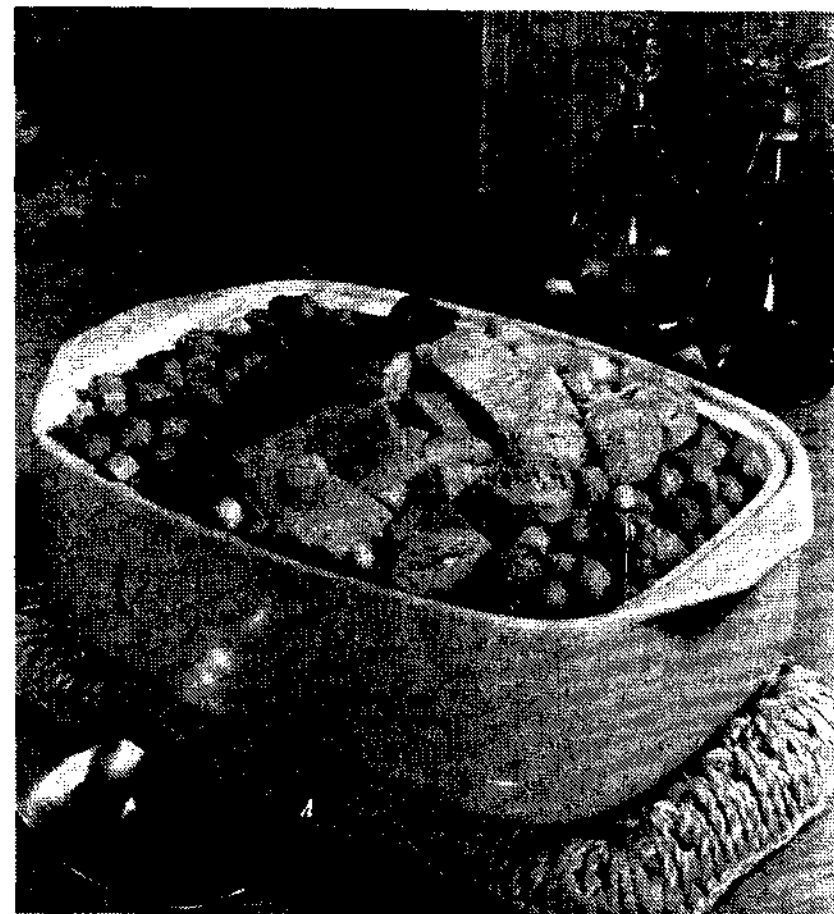

There's a new fashion in warm weather dining. The casserole, a hearty, one-dish meal for cool months, goes into the refrigerator instead of the oven and emerges well chilled for a refreshing summer-y dinner.

Like its winter counterpart, this warm weather, Mediterranean style casserole eliminates cooking entirely and brings dishwashing to an easy minimum.

CHILLED TUNA CASSEROLE

2 cans (6 1/2 or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
Salad Oil
1 can (15 ounces) artichoke hearts, drained
1 can (6 or 8 ounces) whole mushrooms
1 can (1 pound, 4 ounces) chick peas, drained
2 canned pimientos, cut in strips
1/4 cup vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon dried leaf oregano
1/4 teaspoon pepper
3 scallions, sliced

Drain oil from tuna into measuring cup; add salad oil to make 1/2 cup. Arrange tuna across center of rectangular serving dish. Arrange row of artichoke hearts on one side and row of mushrooms on other side of tuna. Arrange chick peas and pimiento in row at either end of casserole. Combine oil, vinegar, salt, oregano, pepper and scallions; mix well. Pour over ingredients in casserole. Chill. To serve, toss together. 4 servings.

Mod Artist Beats The System

by JEANNE LESEM

NEW YORK (UPI)—Edward Giobbi is a contemporary artist with admirably old-fashioned ideas about food and diet.

"A lot of young people are killing themselves," he said in an interview. "They have great pride in their intellectual and social obligations but they totally disregard the way they eat and live. I point out if they die, their ideals die with them."

Giobbi, whose fame until now has come from his paintings which hang in important museums and private collections, said he urges young people to stop eating sweets full of artificial things and to stay away from liquor and dope.

Growing up during the depression, Giobbi, pronounced "Jobby," learned to cook when he was a young art student.

"I felt I would be in late middle age before I reached my prime as a painter," he said. "I had to learn how to eat well and to eat nourishing food on a very limited income — a dollar a day."

"I wanted to be healthy because I couldn't afford to be sick. I wanted the energy for painting. Now, when I'm invited as a painter to lecture, I end up talking about eating the right foods, buying in season and buying economically. Students are much more interested in this than my theories on painting."

The artist, now 45, said his ability to cook, garden, make his own wine and even raise his own chickens, ducks, pigeons and rabbits enables him "to beat the system, to be independent of the business establishment, to do what I think is right as an artist, what I feel like doing."

"We raise 80 per cent of the vegetables we eat on a year-round basis. We freeze and can the extras," he said.

"WE" ARE GIOBBI, his wife, Ellie, and their three children, son Cham and daughters Lisa and Gena. He said the children are so saturated with his views on food and his espousal of organically-raised produce and animals that "they intimidate their friends. They question television food ads."

They also help cook, weed the garden and have illustrated his newly-published cookbook, "Italian Family Cooking" Random House.

Giobbi's recipes, many of them from his Italian-born family and friends in Italy, bear almost no resemblance to the contents of other Italian cookbooks published here.

Missing are dishes with what Giobbi calls "too much tomato paste, garlic and inferior olive oil."

"Tomatoes are grossly abused by Italian-Americans through misunderstanding," he said. He said country people in Italy make their own sun-dried paste from home-grown tomatoes and preserve it — as the commercial variety is preserved there — in good quality olive oil. One tablespoon of it is enough for one pound of spaghetti, Giobbi said.

Potatoes are among the many vegetables popular in Italy, and they're often used in combinations rather than singly, as here. Verdura Trovata, or found vegetables, is a phrase used by rural Italians to describe combinations of wild and cultivated produce, cooked in a skillet with olive oil and garlic.

Giobbi's recipes for verdura mista, or mixed vegetables, are spinoffs from the old-country custom. He also provides low-cost meat and poultry recipes and main dishes that combine seafood with meat or poultry.

The recipes were two years in the testing, Giobbi said, adding that it was easy to find time, because "it's very difficult to paint more than six hours a day." He said he always cooks lunches and dinners for his family, while his wife does the baking, including all their bread.

Edward Giobbi's chicken with shrimp and peas makes use of leftover soup chicken.

Place 1 cup each of coarsely chopped boiled chicken, canned or cooked fresh peas, drained, and coarsely chopped tomato in a wide skillet with 1 teaspoon of oregano and salt and pepper to taste. Cook, uncovered, over high heat for 5 minutes. In separate skillet, saute 1/4 cup of chopped onion in 3 tablespoons of butter over high heat several minutes. Add 1 pound of raw shrimp, shelled and deveined, and cook, uncovered, over high heat 3 to 4 minutes, or until shrimp are cooked. Add juice of 1/2 lemon, cook several minutes more, then add shrimp to chicken mixture. Stir in hot pepper to taste, cover and cook 5 minutes over low heat. Serve hot on rice to 4.

Mustard Grilled Fish

Prepare Vacation's Catch A Different And Delicious Way

With so many campers, boaters and weekend anglers wielding rods and reels, it's a safe bet a whole lot of fish will be cooked over campfires and on the backyard barbecue this summer. For all you lucky fishermen, The French Company's test kitchens, have created some outstanding new fish dishes. And if the fish weren't biting, pick some up at the market—they'll taste almost as good.

A simple-to-fix baste sparked with prepared yellow mustard distinguishes the Mustard Grilled Fish. Used on either whole dressed fish or firm fleshed fillets, the sauce adds zest without overpowering the delicate flavor.

Hawaiian Fish Kabobs is another different and delicious way to cook fish out-of-doors. A sweet-tart sauce of pineapple juice and an envelope of spaghetti sauce mix adds intriguing flavor to the tender fish chunks.

Either dish served with potato salad, sliced tomatoes, crusty rolls and fruit for dessert is a balanced meal that provides servings from each of the basic four food groups needed daily to keep fit.

MUSTARD GRILLED FISH

¼ cup prepared yellow mustard
¼ cup oil
1 teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt

Dash black pepper
1 to 2 pounds fish fillets or 4 to 6 small whole dressed fish

Sliced bacon
Combine mustard, oil, sugar, salt, and pepper. Wrap bacon around fish and fasten with food picks. Brush with mustard sauce. Grill over hot coals 5 to 10 minutes. Turn, brush with mustard sauce, and grill 5 to 10 minutes longer, or until fish flakes easily when pierced with a fork. 4 to 6 servings.

HAWAIIAN FISH KABOBS

1 can (1 lb.) pineapple chunks
¼ cup oil
1 envelope (1½ oz.) spaghetti sauce mix
1 pound filleted fish, cut in 1-inch chunks or 1 lb. scallops
4 to 6 slices bacon
Drain syrup from pineapple, reserving ½ cup. Combine ½ cup of syrup drained from pineapple with oil and contents of envelope of seasoning mix. Alternate fish and pineapple chunks on 4 to 6 skewers, weaving bacon around them. Brush with seasoning mixture. Grill over hot coals about 10 minutes, until tender, turning and brushing with seasoning mixture frequently. 4 to 6 servings.

What's Thawing For Dinner?

Blueberry Takes The Cake

by CHARLOTTE ERICKSON

Blueberries are in ample supply now and can be enjoyed while they are top quality. The following are some recipes I think you'll find appealing and easy to prepare.

IRENE'S BLUEBERRY BATTER CAKE

2 cups blueberries
Juice of ½ lemon
3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ cup milk
1 cup sifted flour

Topping

1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup boiling water

Generously butter one 8x8x2-inch pan and cover bottom with blueberries. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Cream butter and sugar; add baking powder and salt. Alternately add milk and flour. Continue mixing until mixture is smooth. Pour batter evenly over the blueberries.

In separate bowl combine sugar, cornstarch and salt. Spoon this mixture over the top of the batter and cover entire mixture with 1 cup of boiling water. Bake in a preheated 375 degree oven for 1 hour.

Note: For a less sweet cake, cut sugar in topping to ¼ cup and add the grated rind of 1 lemon and ¼ teaspoon of mace.

BLUEBERRY LEMON SQUARES

Crust

½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup flour
¼ cup sugar

Filling

4 ounces cream cheese, softened
1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
Grated rind of 1 lemon
2 eggs
3 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon baking powder
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups fresh or frozen blueberries
Confectioners sugar

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Cream butter; add flour and sugar. When well mixed, press into the bottom of 9x9-inch baking pan. Bake about 15 minutes or until lightly browned.

Meanwhile, cream cheese with sugar until light and fluffy. Add remaining ingredients (except blueberries), mixing well. Spread blueberries over partially baked crust. Cover with cheese filling. Bake at 350 degrees for another 30 minutes or until lightly browned. Sprinkle with confectioners sugar.

Note: This recipe is also good with plums. Bake in middle of oven for at least 45 minutes. Reduce lemon juice to 1 tablespoon. Add ½ teaspoon mace and ¼ teaspoon cinnamon to the cream cheese mixture.

To make a double recipe, if you do not have two 9x9-inch baking pans, make one 9x13-inch pan. However, decrease the crust ingredients as follows:

¼ cup butter or margarine
1½ cups flour
1/3 cup sugar

Baking pan should be 2-inches high as the squares will be a little bit deeper than usual.

BLUEBERRY CAKE

¼ pound (½ cup) butter
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
2 teaspoons baking powder

¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups sifted flour
1 pint fresh blueberries or 2 cups frozen blueberries, drained

2-3 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add baking powder, salt and vanilla, again mixing well. Add flour. Now fold in blueberries. Spread in a well greased 9x13-inch baking dish. Combine cinnamon and sugar. Sprinkle lightly over the top. Bake in a 350 degree oven for approximately 45 minutes or until cake tests done.

Mostly For Men

by Charles Flynn

Chances are that wherever you travel on a summer vacation you'll be tempted, as I always am, to purchase a real, "genuine" country ham. There are as many varieties as there are cures of country ham, but probably the best known are Virginia, Kentucky, and Ozark hams.

Since they're expensive, you want to make a good buy. In general, select a medium-sized ham in a market which indicates the hams have had proper care. Exposure to sun, dirt and insects just can't help a ham no matter how well cured it may be.

Most reputable places will tell you about the age. As a rule the leaner it looks the longer it has been cured. Long-aged hams will tend to be much more salty than those which have had only a moderate aging.

The old-fashioned way of curing hams is called the dry-cured sugar process in which the ham is hung for 60 to 75 days in a curing room, then smoked over hickory, oak, or sassafras four to five days. After smoking, the hams are hung in a room controlled for temperature and humidity for aging, 30 to 60 days or longer.

IF COOKING A very old ham, scrub thoroughly and soak it overnight before cooking. Many chefs insist the only way to cook a country ham is to boil it. Here's how:

Completely cover the ham with water and soak overnight. Pour off water and re-cover with fresh. Use a thermometer and bring the water temperature to 180 degrees and keep at approximately that temperature while cooking 4 to 5 hours, depending on size. Remove from water and allow to cool.

With a sharp knife, remove skin and score the fat side in 1½ inch squares. Sprinkle with brown sugar and place in a 450 degree oven just long enough to melt and glaze the sugar.

Moderately aged hams may be baked without soaking. Place ham in a roaster fat side up and cover bottom of the pan with hot water. Cover and bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) allowing 20 minutes per pound for hams up to 12 pounds and 15 minutes per pound for larger sizes. When cooking time is 2/3 complete, remove skin with a sharp knife and spread surface of ham with 1 tablespoon prepared mustard and add ¼ cup vinegar to water in the pan. Continue baking, basting frequently. When almost done score the fat and sprinkle with ½ cup brown sugar. Bake for another 20 minutes uncovered.

For frying country ham slices, place in a cold ungreased skillet and add 1 tablespoon water. Cook over a low fire turning frequently. For red-eye gravy remove ham from skillet, increase heat, adding 1 teaspoon water or coffee for each slice of ham fried. Stir until all particles are scraped loose from bottom of pan, then pour over the platter of ham. Great with biscuits.

From Grill Chef To Gourmet

by LOIS SEILER

As a cure for the mid-winter doldrums, Dave Halliday of 350 N. Inverness, Inverness, hit upon the idea of forming a men's gourmet group. After all, the golf course was covered with snow, the skies were bleak, and cooking seemed an interesting thing to do.

Three of Dave's friends shared his enthusiasm for this idea, and thus a "club" of sorts was formed. That was four or five years ago and now, with countless successes (and a few failures) under their belts, the men consider themselves gourmets.

When the group gets together, which is about every six weeks, the wives are guests. They are assigned clean-up detail but never balk a bit, having been wine and dined with such elegant fare!

Are the wives ever critical of what their husbands prepare?

"YES," SAYS DAVE. "but we men are far more critical of our dishes than the girls."

Dave laughs about the Far Eastern dinner where the Sukiyaki and Saki were all a big success but the dried fish and seaweed soup left much to be desired.

"It was hard to tell which was worse, the odor or the flavor," Dave chuckled.

Other than the ordinary amount of barbecuing that almost every suburbanite does, Dave hadn't done too much cooking before organizing the gourmet group. But he always appreciated good restaurants, good food and good wine.

He has an established reputation for his shortbread, made by a secret recipe which has been handed down in his family for generations. His grandfather, who was a baker in Scotland, originated the recipe.

"YOU NEED the strength of a man to knead the dough which gives the shortbread its superb texture," Dave explained.

Each Christmas he makes 60 to 80 shortbread "cakes" about 5 by 8 inches in size. As a self-employed manufacturer's representative, Dave gives the shortbread to customers as well as friends. It's a unique gift that his clients aren't likely to forget!

Dave's wife, Barbara, who is an excellent cook in her own right, considers her husband's Crab Stuffed Red Snapper and Curried Eggs in Spinach Ring two of his specialties.

Dave uses a whole red snapper, head and all, stuffs it with a crabmeat dressing and bakes the fish in butter and wine. He recommends a fresh spinach salad and rolls as accompaniments, with a light dessert such as Key Lime Pie.

The spinach ring can be made with fresh or frozen spinach. After it is cooked and chopped, it is combined with rice, milk, eggs and seasonings and baked in a ring mold.

Unmolded onto a platter, Dave heaps hard-cooked eggs in the center, pours a flavorful curry sauce over all and garnishes the plate with additional quartered eggs and pimiento. This makes an excellent accompaniment for roast pork, a crown roast or leg of lamb.

Dave's interest in gardening prompted him to build a greenhouse where he will not only grow plants for his garden but also herbs for his culinary endeavors.

Dave and Barbara have two daughters, Jeanne, 13, and Janet, 10 years old, who consider themselves quite fortunate to have not one, but two parents who are truly good cooks.

CRAB STUFFED RED SNAPPER

1 7-pound red snapper
2/3 cup minced onion
6 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 cans (7 ounces each) crabmeat, boned and flaked
1 cup fresh bread crumbs
¼ cup chopped parsley
¼ cup heavy cream
½ teaspoon thyme
2/3 cup melted butter
2/3 cup dry white wine

Have the red snapper cleaned and dressed for stuffing. Sprinkle cavity with salt and pepper.

Saute onion in butter until golden. Mix in crabmeat, bread crumbs, parsley, cream and thyme. Stuff the fish and sew or skewer edges together securely.

Place the fish in a foil-lined pan. Com-over fish, basting well. Cover tightly with foil and bake in a pre-heated, 400-degree oven for 45 to 55 minutes. Serves 8.

CURRIED EGGS IN SPINACH RING

4 to 5 pounds fresh spinach or 5 packages (10 ounces each) frozen spinach
1½ cups cooked rice
1½ cups milk
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 tablespoon salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
3 beaten eggs
8 hard-cooked eggs

Wash fresh spinach thoroughly in several waters. Remove stems. Place in large covered kettle and cook in water that clings to the leaves for 5 to 8 minutes or until tender. Drain well and chop. Or cook frozen spinach according to package directions and drain well. Toss five cups of spinach with the rice.

Scald milk; add butter, salt, nutmeg. Stir in beaten eggs. Add the spinach-rice mixture and mix well. Pour into a well-greased 7-cup ring mold and place mold in a pan of water. Bake in a pre-heated 350-degree oven for 45 minutes or until knife inserted in spinach comes out clean. Loosen edge with spatula and turn out onto warm platter. Fill center with 6 of the hard-cooked eggs cut into quarters.

Prepare the following curry sauce:

¼ cup butter or margarine
1/3 cup peeled, diced apple
1/3 cup minced onion
¼ cup flour
1 tablespoon curry powder
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Melt butter in saucepan; saute apple and onion until tender. Blend in flour and curry powder. Gradually stir in milk, stirring constantly until thick. Season with remaining ingredients.

Pour over hard-cooked eggs and spinach ring. Garnish platter with remaining eggs, which have been quartered, and strips of pimiento. Serves 10.

CRAB STUFFED red snapper is a gourmet specialty of Dave Halliday, Inverness. He stuffs a whole red snapper with a savory crabmeat dressing and bakes the fish in butter and wine. Dave prepared this elegant entree for a men's gourmet group which he organized.

An Ordinance

PROVIDING FOR BORROWING MONEY AND ISSUING BONDS OF THE PROSPECT HEIGHTS RURAL FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT, COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS, TO THE AMOUNT OF $275,000 AND PROVIDING FOR THE LEVY AND COLLECTION OF AN ANNUAL TAX TO PAY THE PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST OF SAID BONDS.

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees of the Prospect Heights Rural Fire Protection District, Cook County, Illinois, did call a special election to be held in and for said Fire Protection District on May 1, 1971, for the purpose of submitting to the electors of said Fire Protection District the following question:

Shall bonds of the Prospect Heights Rural Fire Protection District, Cook County, Illinois, in the amount of Two Hundred Seventy-Five Thousand Dollars ($275,000) be issued?

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees of said Fire Protection District did cause to be given proper notice of said election by posting notices thereof in at least ten (10) public places within said District and by publishing notice thereof once in the Prospect Heights Herald, being a newspaper published in said District, the dates such posting and publishing being at least twenty (20) days prior to the date of said election, which said notices as so posted and published did specify the place where such election was to be held, the time of opening and closing the polls and the amount of bonds to be issued;

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees of said Fire Protection District by proper proceedings adopted and spread upon its records, found that all legal requirements in connection with said election were duly complied with and that a majority of the votes cast at said election on said question above referred to, were cast in favor thereof;

NOW, THEREFORE, Be It Ordained by the Board of Trustees of the Prospect Heights Rural Fire Protection District, Cook County, Illinois, as follows:

Section 1. That it be and it is hereby found and determined that the Board of Trustees of the Prospect Heights Rural Fire Protection District has been authorized by a majority of the votes cast at a special election published in said District, the dates such posting and publishing being at least twenty (20) days prior to the date of said election, which said notices as so posted and published did specify the place where such election was to be held, the time of opening and closing the polls and the amount of bonds to be issued;

Section 2. That in order to raise the sum of $275,000 needed for said purpose in order to provide more adequate protection from fire for lives and property within the said District, there be borrowed by, for and on behalf of the Prospect Heights Rural Fire Protection District, Cook County, Illinois, the sum of $275,000 and to evidence said loan negotiable coupon bonds of said Fire Protection District be issued. Said bonds shall be designated "Fire Protection Bonds," be dated July 1, 1971, be fifty-five in number, numbered from 1 to 55, inclusive, of the denomination of $5,000 each, due serially on December 1 of the years and in the amounts and bearing interest as follows:

Principal Amount	Year of Maturity	Rate of Interest
$25,000	1972	5.00%
25,000	1973	5.00%
25,000	1974	4.50%
25,000	1975	4.50%
25,000	1976	4.00%
25,000	1977	4.00%
25,000	1978	5.25%
25,000	1979	5.25%
25,000	1980	5.25%
25,000	1981	5.80%
25,000	1982	6.00%

That such interest be payable on December 1, 1972 and semiannually thereafter on the first days of June and December in each year, which said interest payments to date of maturity of principal shall be evidenced by proper interest coupons attached to each bond and maturing on the dates herein provided, and both principal and interest shall be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at First National Bank of Mount Prospect, Mount Prospect, Illinois. Said bonds shall be signed by the Board of Trustees of said Fire Protection District, and each bond and coupon shall be signed by said officials, respectively, by their respective facsimile signatures and said officials, by the execution of said bonds, shall adopt as and for their own proper signatures their respective facsimile signatures appearing on said coupons.

Section 3. That the principal and interest shall be payable to bearer, provided however, that such bonds may be subject to registration as to principal in the name of the holder on the books of the Treasurer of said Fire Protection District, such registration to be evidenced by notation of said Treasurer upon the back of such bonds so registered. No bond so registered shall be subject to transfer upon such books and similarly noted on the back thereof unless the last registration shall have been to bearer. Such registration of any of said bonds shall not, however, affect the negotiability of the coupons attached to said bonds, but such coupons shall continue transferable by delivery merely.

Section 4. That the bonds and the interest coupons to be so attached thereto shall be in substantially the following form:

(Form of Bond)

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

COUNTY OF COOK

PROSPECT HEIGHTS RURAL FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT RURAL FIRE PROTECTION BOND

Number _____ $5,000

ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, that the Prospect Heights Rural Fire Protection District, Cook County, Illinois, hereby acknowledge itself to owe, and for value received promises to pay to bearer, or if this bond be registered, then to the registered holder hereof, the sum of FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS ($5000) on the first day of December 19____, together with interest on said sum from the date hereof until paid at the rate of _____ per cent per annum, payable on December 1, 1972, and semiannually thereafter on the first days of June and December in each year, upon presentation and surrender of the respective interest coupons hereto attached as they severally become due and payable.

Section 5. That the principal and interest are hereby made payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the First National Bank of Mount Prospect, Mount Prospect, Illinois.

For the prompt payment of this bond, both principal and interest, as aforesaid, and the levy of taxes sufficient for that purpose, the full faith, credit and resources of said Fire Protection District are hereby irrevocably pledged.

This bond is issued by said Fire Protection District for the purpose of acquiring property adjacent to the existing fire station, building and equipping a building thereon to be used as a fire station, altering and improving the existing fire station, purchasing and acquiring necessary fire fighting apparatus and equipment for fire protection purposes in order to provide more adequate protection from fire for lives and property within the said District, pursuant to and in all respects in compliance with an Act of the General Assembly of the State of Illinois entitled "An Act in relation to fire protection districts," approved July 8, 1927, title as amended by act approved July 23, 1951, and all acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto and is authorized by a majority of the votes cast at an election duly called, noticed, held and canvassed for that purpose in said Fire Protection District, and in compliance with an ordinance duly passed by the Board of Trustees of said District, and published in all respects as by law required.

It is hereby certified and recited that all acts, conditions and things required by the Constitution and laws of the State of Illinois, to exist or have been properly done and have been performed in regular and due form and time as required by law; that the indebtedness of this Prospect Heights Rural Fire Protection District, represented by this bond and the issue of which it forms a part, and including all other indebtedness of said Fire Protection District, however evidenced or incurred, does not exceed the constitutional limitation; and that provision has been made for the collection of a direct annual tax, in addition to all other taxes, on all of the taxable property in said Fire Protection District, sufficient to pay the interest hereon as the same falls due and also to pay and discharge the principal hereof at maturity.

This bond and the coupons thereon shall be registered in the name of the holder on the books of the Treasurer of said Fire Protection District, such registration to be evidenced by notation of said Treasurer upon the back hereof, and after such registration no transfer hereof, except upon such books and similarly noted hereon, shall be valid unless the last registration shall have been to bearer. Registration hereof shall not affect the negotiability of the coupons hereto attached which shall continue negotiable by delivery merely, notwithstanding registration hereof.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Prospect Heights Rural Fire Protection District, Cook County, Illinois, by its Board of Trustees, has caused the indebtedness of said Fire Protection District to be registered in the name of the President and Secretary of said Fire Protection District and the coupons hereto attached to be signed by said officials, respectively, by their facsimile signatures, and said officials do, by the execution hereof, adopt as and for their own proper signatures their respective facsimile signatures appearing on said coupons, all as of the first day of July, 1971.

That interest or principal coming due at any time when there are insufficient funds on hand to pay the same be paid promptly when due from current funds on hand in advancement of the collection of said taxes herein levied, and when said taxes shall have been collected, reimbursement shall be made to the said funds in the amounts thus advanced.

Section 6. That forthwith as soon as this ordinance becomes effective, a copy thereof certified by the Secretary of said Fire Protection District, which certificate shall recite that this ordinance has been passed by the Board of Trustees of said Fire Protection District and duly published shall be filed with the County Clerk of Cook County, Illinois, who shall in and for each of the years 1971 to 1981, inclusive, both years included, ascertain the rate per cent required to produce the aggregate tax herebefore provided to be levied in each of said years, respectively, and extend the same for collection on the tax books in connection with other taxes levied in each of said years, respectively, in and by said Fire Protection District for general corporate purposes, and in each of said years such annual tax shall be collected by said Fire Protection District in like manner as taxes for general corporate purposes, for each of said years are levied and collected and when collected, such taxes shall be used solely for the purpose of paying principal of and interest on said bonds when and as the same become due.

Section 7. That the funds derived from such levy be and the same are hereby appropriated and set aside for the sole and only purpose of paying principal of and interest on said bonds when and as the same become due. That the funds derived from the sale of said bonds be and they are hereby used for the purpose of paying the aggregate tax herebefore provided by law, and the funds derived from the sale of said bonds be and they are hereby used for the purpose of paying the aggregate tax herebefore provided by law, and the funds derived from the sale of said bonds be and they are hereby used for the purpose of paying the aggregate tax herebefore provided by law.

Section 8. That forthwith after this ordinance has become effective as provided by law, the bonds herein authorized shall be executed and delivered to the Treasurer of said Fire Protection District and be by him delivered to First National Bank of Mount Prospect, the purchaser thereof, at the purchase price of $5,000 each, plus accrued interest to date of delivery and a premium of $7.50, and that the contract for the sale of said bonds and said purchaser, heretofore entered into, be and the same is hereby in all respects ratified, approved and confirmed.

Section 9. That all ordinances, resolutions and orders, or parts thereof, in conflict herewith be and the same are hereby repealed and this ordinance shall be in full force and effect upon its passage and publication, as provided by law.

State Red Tape Snarls Traffic

The Elk Grove Village Board has gotten tangled in red tape spread by the state on several traffic problems in the village.

At Tuesday's meeting, board members heard a report from Village Mgr. Charles Willis on the reaction of the state highway department to the detour of traffic from Higgins Road to Oakton Street because of construction.

Also, Willis reported the response to two village requests for action on problems elsewhere in the village.

The detour of through traffic from Higgins to Oakton was approved by the village board last month in an effort to relieve traffic congestion near the industrial park north of Higgins that was caused by the construction.

As part of the detour, the village erected temporary stop signs at Arlington Heights Road and Oakton Street.

STATE OFFICIALS were concerned about the detour because the village had not obtained permission to set it up. Late last week, Willis said, they finally agreed to leave it in place if the village could get written permission from the county highway department and the township road commissioner.

The county has agreed to give the permission, he said, and the township road commissioner has said he has no authority to approve or deny use of Oakton Street for the detour.

The county has also been concerned about the stop signs, he said.

Trustee Edward Kenna responded to the report by saying, "The county would have nothing to say if we placed a police officer at that intersection. All we've done is replace the officer with stop signs temporarily."

Willis also reported that the state highway department had agreed to do extensive repair and rebuilding of Pratt Boulevard between Rte. 83 and Elmhurst Road, but only if the contractor would do the work at 1968 prices.

As a result, he said, the contractor has declined to do the state job because "he could not absorb the 25 per cent loss because of the price change."

Since the state will not do the extensive rebuilding, trustees authorized repairs and resurfacing by the street department of both Pratt and Nicholas Boulevard using $35,000 of motor fuel tax funds.

FINALLY, WILLIS reported that state officials have agreed to make a traffic study of the intersection of Busse Road and Touhy Avenue, where trustees have contended a traffic light is needed.

The study will determine whether a light is needed, he said, but "I cannot give a date certain for when it will be made."

He said the state has a two-week backlog on requests for studies of intersections and could not guarantee a time for the study.

Trustees expressed concern that the study might be delayed and someone might be injured because of the danger. Earlier the board had discussed making Touhy one-way to try to alleviate the problem.

Kenna said he was in favor of solving the problem without the state's study, but added, "With the turn over the detour on Oakton Street I'm not sure if we do something on Touhy we won't end up with the National Guard out there."

Auto Storage Question In Courts' Hands

A long-standing discussion of whether Elk Grove Village should have an auto storage facility is now being transferred to the courts.

The village board of trustees Tuesday night authorized the village attorney to prepare a defense against a suit being brought by Underwriter's Salvage, 1400 Busse Rd., which asks the court to allow the auto storage facility under existing village zoning.

The firm first approached the village about the facility last fall and was rebuffed when trustees referred to it as a "junk yard."

At issue is the question of whether an auto storage lot is permitted under existing M-2 (heavy manufacturing) zoning. Village Mgr. Charles Willis explained yesterday.

The salvage company, which operates the "Village Store" on the site, now sells damaged merchandise for insurance companies, he said.

THE COMPANY is contending that they should be allowed to have the storage building on their property now zoned for heavy manufacturing, he said.

The case was referred to the village board because village officials believed that it would constitute a "major new use that was not specifically allowed in the zoning code," Willis explained.

In April the board voted 4-2 not to allow the use. The suit was filed against the village Friday asking for reversal of the ruling.

At the same meeting, Village Atty. Edward Hofert reported on the "Wintz Subdivision," a request by Alfred L. Wintz of Bensenville, to obtain a plat of subdivision for a lot at the end of Placid Way just east of Cypress.

Last month the board referred the proposed subdivision to the attorney for study. The plan commission recommended denial of the request because the land lies in the flood plan for Salt Creek and has no road to provide service for the village.

Hofert said he felt the key issue was whether a road could provide service to a lot if the subdivision were approved and recommended the board direct all communication on the matter to him.

Seek Blood For Young Leukemia Victim

Blood donations will be collected in Buffalo Grove Saturday for a two and a half year old victim of leukemia.

Although leaders of the campaign were encouraged by the number of persons who have already volunteered to donate blood, they said more donors are needed.

The boy, Danny Sendler of Buffalo Grove, received about 30 units of blood during a recent two and a half week stay at Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago. The boy was released from the hospital, but still suffers from the blood disease and may need more transfusions.

Danny, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter

Sendler of Buffalo Grove is a victim of lymphatic leukemia.

DONATIONS OF BLOOD will be collected at the James Fenimore Cooper Junior High School on Plum Grove Circle, just east of Arlington Heights Road in Buffalo Grove, beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday. Prospective donors were asked to phone for an appointment to avoid long lines and delays.

Persons interested in donating blood were asked to call the following volunteers: Mrs. Evan Fader, 537-3273; Mrs. Richard Friedman, 537-3839; Mrs. Richard Henrich, 537-2085; Mrs. Merrill Hoyt, 537-3670; and Mrs. Les Minkus, 537-3494.

Donors may have any blood type. However, there are some restrictions and prospective donors were asked to call their own doctors if they have any questions about their physical condition and its effect on blood donations.

Certain persons cannot act as donors. This includes persons who have had malaria, hepatitis, high blood pressure or heart disease and persons who have had major surgery or who have given birth in the past six months.

Prospective donors must not eat fatty foods for four hours before they plan to donate blood.

Hard Work Keeps Her Going

100th Birthday A Bittersweet Party

by LINDA PUNCH

When the family gathers Sunday to celebrate Mrs. Victoria Rembowski's 100th birthday, it will be a bittersweet occasion.

Only two weeks ago they were together for the funeral of Mrs. Rembowski's last surviving child and only son.

Mrs. Rembowski, who lived with her son at the Willoway Terrace Trailer Park in Elk Grove Township until his death, had a birthday celebration there earlier this week. The party, organized by Ida Knoll, was attended by several of the Rembowski's trailer park neighbors.

A bouquet of long-stem red roses was presented to Mrs. Rembowski as she stepped from her granddaughter's car. She climbed the stairs to the trailer unaided and entered her son's home for the first time since his death.

SHE SEEMED a little lost as she sat down in a black leather chair in the corner of the living room. Memories of the past seemed to compete with events of the present for her attention.

Her granddaughter kept up a continual flow of conversation, speaking to Mrs. Rembowski in Polish one minute and to the guests in English the next.

A handmade black mohair shawl, a basket of fruit and a rosary blessed by the Pope were given to Mrs. Rembowski by her neighbors. She also received the traditional birthday greeting from President and Mrs. Nixon.

"When I handed her the letter from President Nixon, she asked me if it was a bill," said Mrs. Stanley Williams, Mrs. Rembowski's granddaughter. "When I explained to her what it was, she was really astonished. She keeps it with her and shows it to everybody."

Mrs. Rembowski was born in Konig, Poland, Aug. 8, 1871, and came to this country in 1904. She lived in the small Polish town of West Wyoming, Pa., until her coalminer husband's death there in 1928. Mrs. Rembowski moved to the northwest side of Chicago in 1929 to live with her son and his family.

MRS. REMBOWSKI and her son moved to Elk Grove Village several weeks ago. They had been in the mobile home 12 days when he died. She now lives with her granddaughter at 1727 Kim Ave., Mount Prospect.

In her 100 years of life, Mrs. Rembowski has witnessed not only the death of her five children, but the birth of her first great-grandchild. She also has eight grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Williams said her grandmother helps with housework and yardwork. Trailer park neighbors report having seen Mrs. Rembowski pulling weeds around her trailer home.

"I think it's hard work that keeps her going," said Mrs. Williams. "She's swept and washed the floors every day since she's been with us. She's always been a hardworking Polish woman."

A ROSARY BLESSED by the Pope was one of her birthday gifts.

Village Hall Gets Walk In Front

Village hall will soon be like residential homes in Elk Grove Village — it will have a sidewalk in front.

The Elk Grove Village Board Tuesday night authorized the administration to seek bids for the sidewalk, which will run for 600 feet along Biesterfeld Road, asserting that, "We require it for the residential area so we should do it ourselves."

The board authorized expenditure of no more than $3,500 for the project. The sidewalk will be built by a contractor to ensure that it can be finished before school starts in the fall, village board members said.

In addition, the village street department will cover the open drainage ditch in front of the hall sometime in October, as soon as they finish the other village projects, Village Mgr. Charles Willis said.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

The House approved a two-year extension of the nation's basic draft law, but final congressional action appeared doubtful until after Labor Day. Included in the measure was an amendment urging President Nixon to renegotiate, rather than set unilaterally, U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

The Apollo 15 astronauts ended their six-day stay on the moon, blasting off toward a splashdown in the Pacific Ocean on Saturday.

President Nixon hinted he might approve a wage-price control board if he was convinced it could work effectively against inflation and that it could be operated without coercive enforcement powers. Seventeen Republican Senators earlier introduced legislation to create such a board.

A federal magistrate recommended that Daniel Ellsberg stand trial on charges of unauthorized possession and distribution of the 47-volume Pentagon study of the Vietnam war.

The Senate voted to forbid a candidate from spending more than $50,000 of his own money to run for President, $35,000 for the Senate and $25,000 for the House. The reform legislation was the first in 46 years. Prospect for House passage were uncertain.

The World

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky filed petitions to qualify for the Oct. 3 presidential elections and said it was up to the South Vietnamese supreme court to decide whether he would be a candidate. Sources said Ky's chances of remaining on the ballot were slim because of his difficulties in recruiting supporters.

Peking's official news agency described the U.S. decision to back the seating of Communist China in the United Nations as a "clumsy two-Chinas trick played by U.S. imperialism."

The State

Three survivors of a 1969 police raid that resulted in the deaths of Black Panthers Fred Hampton and Mark Clark have filed suit in U.S. District Court asking that a federal grand jury report on the incident be expunged. It contends the document is illegal and showed bias toward the Black Panther party.

The War

U.S. helicopter gunships battered Communist patrols in the northern jungles and coastal lowlands of South Vietnam. In Saigon, Cambodian officials said thousands of villagers were fleeing their homes in eastern Cambodia, complaining that South Vietnamese government troops were committing atrocities.

The Market

The stock market, after suffering its second sharpest decline of the year Tuesday, firmed up during the first hour but then did an about face. The Dow Jones Industrial Average showed a loss of 4.89 at 845.14 after plunging nearly 15 points a day earlier.

Prices eased in moderate turnover on the American Stock Exchange.

Sears Is First To Open At Woodfield

by NANCY COWGER

"Fifteen years ago, I had a dream, and fortunately for me, seven years ago Sears saw the same dream I had," said Mayor Robert D. Atcher as he welcomed Sears Roebuck & Co. to Schaumburg at the firm's grand opening of its new store at Woodfield yesterday.

Atcher briefly related the history of negotiations to bring Sears and the other stores that will soon open at Woodfield to the village. Sears made the decision to build in Schaumburg seven years ago, and the following year hearings on the development were held. "People expected to see stone, brick and cement go up then," said the mayor, and when they didn't see it, they doubted Woodfield would be built.

"I was called the world's biggest liar in the Northwest suburbs for having said the world's biggest shopping center would be built right here in Schaumburg," Atcher said.

But construction started two years ago, culminating in the series of store openings begun by Sears yesterday. Other stores, including Marshall Fields & Co. and J. C. Penney outlets will be accepting customers in September and October.

AN ESTIMATED 200 persons crowded the main entrance to the new Sears store, off of Rte. 58, to watch while Anita Joyce Pankratz, Miss Illinois, opened the door with a "magic wand," and led shoppers into the building. Also participating in the formalities were Jack Twyman, former professional athlete and master of ceremonies; John P. Maloney, store manager; John D. Taylor, general manager of the Sears Chicago retail group; Culver J. Kennedy, Sears midwest vice president; and A. Alfred Taubman, chairman of the board of The Taubman Co., mall developer.

Maloney characterized the opening as "very successful," saying Sears was happy with the response of customers, which he termed "extremely favorable from everybody." He said he could not estimate the first day's shopping crowd, except to say "there have been a lot of people." Parking areas were full, and business was good, he said, with visitors to the new store both looking and buying.

Traffic in the area was expected to be a problem, said Maloney, with all major roads leading to the center under construction or repairs. However, he said, "the traffic anticipated problems did not develop."

MEANWHILE, Schaumburg Police Chief Martin Conroy, who detailed four men to traffic control with Sears paying the expense, said his men were "bombarded" about noon. Parking lots were filled with an estimated 10,000 cars during the early afternoon, Conroy said. A few accidents were reported on Rte. 58, with injuries reported from one of them. No details were available from police as of press time.

Bible School Set For Mentally Retarded

A Vacation Bible School type program for mentally retarded children will begin tonight at the Lutheran Church of the Holy Spirit, 666 Elk Grove Blvd., Elk Grove Village.

The class will meet from 7:30-8:30 p.m. every Thursday during August. For additional information contact Robert Smith at 437-1666.

WITH HER "magic wand", Anita Joyce Pankratz, Miss Illinois, officially opened Sears Roebuck & Co.'s new Woodfield store in Schaumburg, yesterday morning. An estimated 200 persons viewed the opening ceremonies at the main entrance, while other shoppers got acquainted with the store, using other entrances. Next to Miss Pankratz is John P. Maloney, store manager. On his right is Culver J. Kennedy, Sears' midwestern vice president.

'Dangerous Building' Signs Up At Meadow Trace

"Dangerous building" signs were placed on five apartment buildings in the Meadow Trace complex yesterday morning by Rolling Meadows officials.

The signs, entitled "Notice of Violation," state that the building and zoning officer and city council have determined the apartments are dangerous buildings.

Building and Zoning Officer Sverre Haug said the buildings, located on the southwest side of Rolling Meadows, are in violation of the city's safety code and were fire hazards.

Last month Haug asked that additional exits be constructed and ventilation improved in the basements of the buildings following an inspection. A time table was set up whereby Kassuba Development Co., owners of the complex, would make these corrections at the rate of two buildings each month starting in July.

To date Haug has received no response from Kassuba officials of intent to make the corrections or any plans for the necessary improvements. On the legal advice of the city attorney, who has also been unsuccessful in getting Kassuba officials to take appropriate action, the signs were erected yesterday morning.

"IF WE DON'T GET response (from Kassuba) to the signs in regard to correcting the building code violations further legal steps will be taken," said Joseph M. Ladd, who is replacing City

Atty. Donald M. Rose while he is on vacation. He declined to state what further action might be taken.

Haug said the effect of the signs is to warn people but the city couldn't stop people from going into the basement if they wanted to.

In the event of a fire, Haug said a person in the basement area would be trapped and unable to get out.

Today's action highlights a year of criticism of the complex by residents and city officials. The initial inspection of the buildings took place last October after several tenants complained to city officials.

The complaints reached a peak last January when one of the buildings was destroyed by fire.

Criticism of the complex has been so intent that city officials have discussed taking measures to have the complex dismantled from the city.

John Blyth, Meadow Trace manager, had reported in July that the necessary improvements would be made to the basements to meet city codes but he was unavailable for comment yesterday.

Government Won't Hike Taxes, But...

Elk Grove Village residents won't have an increase in their property tax rate because of the village government's operations next year.

However, members of the board of trustees' budget committee have not ruled out the possibility of levying some new tax on residents, Trustee James O'Brien said recently.

The budget committee met this week to discuss the 1972-73 budget requirements and decided, based on preliminary projects, that a property tax increase will not be needed, O'Brien said.

The village must file a levy ordinance in September and property tax rates are used to determine the levy, he explained.

When the budget committee examines the specific budget requests, which will be coming from village departments in September, he said, further decisions may have to be made about additional taxes.

The village has the authority to levy additional taxes such as a police and fire protection tax or utility tax.

In recent months village board members have said the 1972-73 budget will be much tighter than this year's and have indicated new sources of funds must be found.

The 1971-72 budget, which was adopted in June total $2,263,795, an increase of 14 per cent over the 1970-72 budget.

Block Carnival To Fight Dystrophy

A neighborhood Carnival Against Dystrophy will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday at 1156 Cheltenham, Elk Grove.

Vince Smiley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Smiley, will serve as ringmaster, assisted by Bobby Smiley, Tim Laga, Kevin Laga, Suzi Laga, Vivian Laga and Larry Riestler.

The carnival will feature Ring the Pop Bottle, Tic Tack Toss, Bozo Buckets, Bean Bag Throw, Cane Toss, Pocket Lady, Suction Dart Game, Ring Toss, Milk Bottle Drop and Sponge Toss. All proceeds will go to aid the fight against dystrophy and related diseases.

Vandalism At Rock Concert

An eight-foot tall root beer bottle was stolen and a hearse window was broken at the weekly rock concert at Wheeling High School.

Police are investigating the theft of the bottle, an advertising display valued at $1,500. The fiberglass model of a root beer bottle was attached to the top of a station wagon parked in the parking lot.

Police said the display was taken from the car between 10:10 p.m. and 11:15 p.m. Tuesday. It belonged to Larry Kopp of Morton Grove who was attending the rock concert at the high school.

In another incident Tuesday, Wheeling police released two juveniles who had been smoking marijuana cigarettes at the concert, to their parents.

Police Det. William Hoos said the two youths, both from Des Plaines, had no previous police records.

Village police squad cars were also called to the concert at 10:02 p.m. when a group of youths who had been refused admittance to the concert because they would not pay admission threatened security guards with rocks. The youths dispersed when squad cars arrived.

A fourth complaint to police was made by John Stelle of Waukegan who told police that someone broke the left rear door of his 1959 hearse which was parked in the parking lot while he attended the concert.

NOTICE OF VIOLATION signs were erected on five apartment buildings in the Meadow Trace complex by Rolling Meadows officials this morning.

Her Power 'From The Lord'

by KAREN RUGEN

A gilt-edged certificate on the wall calls her a medium. A notice below it claims she has the power of divine healing.

As if to guard the paper credentials and verify their credibility, a picture of Jesus Christ has been placed nearby. Across the room a statue of the Virgin Mary faces Molly Ranae as she does what she thinks God has intended her to do.

"I get all my powers from the Lord," says Mrs. Ranae who combines the religious with the supernatural. "I have the richest gift that can be found in the Bible."

Mrs. Ranae, who moved into her house at 1802 Locust Ln. in Mount Prospect a year ago, bills herself as a divine mystic and a possessor of extra-sensory perception, commonly called ESP. While she passes off her claim as a divine healer with "I just make people feel good," she has a lot more to say about her extra-sensory powers.

"I WAS THE SEVENTH daughter of seven daughters," explains Mrs. Ranae who is quick to tell you her lucky number is seven. "When I was born into the family, I was born with a psychic veil over my face. From then on, people just kept asking me questions."

Although she says she has always been sure of her gift, Mrs. Ranae did not go into business until about 10 years ago "because friends urged me to go out and help people." For $5 a private reading, she's been doing it ever since.

"There are a lot of phonies and all they do is ask for money," said Mrs. Ranae who also uses her talents to entertain at small parties. "But I give customers their money's worth."

When the self-proclaimed mystic does readings for the housewives and businessmen who are her customers, she tries to open the chapters of their lives by holding their hands or several of their personal effects.

She says she gets her powers through vibrations and meditation, but can't describe what happens when she tries to see into the future or uncover hidden remnants of someone's past. All she can say is that she "gets her answers from God, sometimes I see pictures and sometimes I see dates."

SHE SAYS HER vibrations have dealt with national issues as well as personal incidents of her friends. Like many other mystics, she says she warned John Kennedy from going to Dallas and claims to have predicted the deaths of Martin Luther King and Dwight Eisenhower. She also claims she has helped solve murders and predicted the 1968 riots in Chicago.

Mrs. Ranae said sometimes her friends do not heed her warnings. She said she predicted that a friend's home in Glenview would be bombed; several days later it was. "It got to the point where I was even afraid to drive around with her in her car," she said.

One of Mrs. Ranae's most unusual readings took place when she was called into a nudist camp. "I went there, clutching a rosary," she said. "I prayed to God that he would not let me see anything below the face. He answered the prayer, and I did the readings."

Mrs. Ranae is as serious about her business as she is about her gift. In a strong voice, she emphasizes she is not a fortune teller and doesn't own a crystal ball. She says she is clairvoyant, although in the next breath she admits she cannot define what it is. She keeps repeating that her gift is from above and she uses it only the way God wants her to use it.

"God knows who to put the gift upon," she explained but didn't know why she felt he chose her. "All I know is that the Lord is always with me."

Tim's Efforts In Kitchen Pay Off At County 4-H Fair

by JOANN VAN WYE
 "What you bake is what you eat" is the philosophy that started Timothy Tatlock cooking about two years ago.

Last weekend his efforts in the kitchen paid off in more than just good things to eat when he walked away from the North Cook 4-H Fair with a blue ribbon in cooking.

Tim, who was the only male entry in the cooking competition, was even more shocked than the girls he was competing against when the judges selected his cookies.

What's his secret? Tim said he just followed the recipe in the "You Learn to Bake" cookbook distributed by the 4-H club. He did confess though that he has learned his own shortcuts and doesn't even bother to sift the flour now.

Peanut butter cookies or a cake were the only kinds of bake good eligible for competition. Tim settled on the peanut butter cookies after his mother convinced him they would be a little easier.

TIM, WHO is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stehmer of 2301 St. James, Palatine, started cooking as a Cub Scout and has continued to expand his culinary abilities on his own. He prefers baking because baked goods are more fun to eat.

His mother explained that when she bakes Tim has to ask before he can have a cookie and the answer isn't always yes, but when he bakes there are no restrictions on the cookies because they are his and he can eat them when he wants.

Actually Tim is a little embarrassed to talk about his cooking talents but ask him about the chess set he made and he's beaming with pride. Rightfully so, since he was named grand champion in the arts and crafts division of the fair.

Starting with scraps of wood, table legs and lots of ingenuity and patience, Tim built the chess set in 20 hours and 40 minutes not counting the time he had to wait for the stain and shellac to dry.

The chess pieces are made with six different kinds of table legs with the king standing a foot high. No, Tim didn't go around cutting off the legs of tables in his house although his mother said he would have liked to. He bought the legs at a hardware store and cut them down to size. When he couldn't find an appropriate leg for the bishop he bought three different legs and glued parts of them together.

THE CHESS board is made of 64 square blocks of wood stained and varnished to match the color of the chess pieces.

A chess enthusiast himself, Tim has declined offers to buy the chess set. He did admit that he is thinking of going into business and making similar chess sets to sell. His goal — to be a millionaire before he is 20. Having tentatively settled on a $150 price tag for each set and figuring material costs at $45, Tim has a lot of chess sets to make in the next 11 years if he's to meet his goal.

A third blue ribbon was awarded to Tim in the entomology division. Tim, who competed in the beginning entomology category, beat out contestants in advanced entomology to be named the grand champion.

Tim's "bug display" included 25 different kinds of insects from five different categories. Three of the moths in his exhibit Tim had watched hatch from cocoons he bought from a friend for a dollar. Tim's grandfather made him the case but from there he was on his own as far as catching, hatching, mounting and classifying the insects.

In addition to three blue ribbons, Tim won $5.50 in prize money. Tim, who is only nine, won all of his prizes in competition with other contestants ranging from ages 9 to 19.

The Rolling Meadows 4-H Club of which Tim is a member just started in May. All but one of the group's 15 members had exhibits at the fair. The one who didn't have an exhibit had planned on entering the garden division until his father decided to erect a garage over his garden.

STEPHEN SIECH, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Siech of 3811 Wren, was the only other blue ribbon winner from the club. Steve was the grand champion in the tropical fish category.

Two years ago Steve became interested in fish when a teacher gave him some guppies. The hobby has expanded and Steve now has four fish tanks with many different varieties of fish.

Steve's prize winning fish was a swagtail sword fish. Although the fish is not fullgrown yet, Steve said the judge said it had good coloring and nice fins.

Steve and his swagtail won't be able to make it to the State Fair because of limitations of the exhibition hall. However, Tim is eligible to exhibit his chess set and bug collection at the State Fair and have it judged with entries from throughout the state.

Grass Always Greener On Other Side

Everyone agrees that Khalid Cosmo's lawn is mostly weeds and bare ground; no one agrees on why grass is not growing.

Cosmo blames Levitt and Sons, Inc., builders of his home at 845 Checker Dr., Buffalo Grove.

Ron Brown, project manager for Levitt, says the builders graded the lot properly and if grass won't grow it is Cosmo's fault, not Levitt's.

Cosmo disagrees, saying he waters the lawn regularly and "I even have tickets to prove it." The police, he explained, caught him sprinkling in violation of a village ordinance.

Bill Dettmer, chief of inspection services for the village, says he doesn't know the cause.

"Levitt graded the lot, after we complained," Dettmer said, "and they've seeded it five times. I don't know why the grass won't grow."

Cosmo says the lot is graded incorrectly and each rain washes away grass seed. Dettmer said the grade is incorrect, but has been changed, and is now correct. Brown says, "The grade is correct."

DETTMER HAS visited the Cosmo house and talked with Cosmo and Brown. "There definitely is erosion and ponding (water collecting in ponds on the lawn instead of draining)," Dettmer said. "And there shouldn't be, but it isn't caused by the grading."

The grass may not grow, Dettmer said, because of the soil quality, but he has no way of determining that.

"I can show you an identical case, a house where grass seed was planted the same day (as at the Cosmo house) and it has come in fine. I know they (the Cosmo) sprinkle; I've gone by and seen them."

Brown and Cosmo both point to neighboring homes with good lawns, but they draw different conclusions. Cosmo points to his neighbors and says they've been able to grow grass because their lots were landscaped properly by Levitt. Brown points to the same lawns and says Levitt has done everything for Cosmo that it did for the neighbors. "It's a customer maintenance problem," not a Levitt problem, he says.

Restaurant Owner Seeks Moratorium On Eating Places

A Wheeling restaurant owner has asked the village board to declare a moratorium on additional restaurants in the village.

Peter G. Maniatis, owner of the Spot Snack Shop at 98 E. Dundee Rd. made the request in asking the board to refuse rezoning for a new restaurant at 24 S. Milwaukee Ave.

The Wheeling Village Board is scheduled to vote next Monday on an ordinance granting a special use permit for a restaurant at the Milwaukee Avenue location. The storefront proposed for use as a restaurant was the former location of the Wheeling Public Library.

Maniatis told the village board in a letter that he has been in the restaurant business in Wheeling since August, 1965, and has lived in Wheeling since August, 1968.

He said that since he bought his restaurant "10 more new ones have been built."

HE SAID THAT he has seen every type of food establishment come into Wheeling in recent years.

"It is true that this town has been known for its food establishments, but the cycle has changed. There are many restaurants in this town now for sale or ready to close their doors. Rix Beef never got off the ground. The Orange Tree building and property are for sale. Corbel's building and property are for sale with a cocktail lounge," Maniatis told the Wheeling officials.

"This town needs other businesses, but surely not more restaurants," he wrote.

Maniatis is currently serving as the president of the Wheeling Chamber of Commerce, although his letter was not written to represent the views of the Chamber.

The village took provisions a little more than a year ago to prevent the "flood" of restaurants that Maniatis described.

An ordinance adopted June 22, 1970, placed restaurants in the special use category of village zoning, so that the village board has to give specific approval before any new restaurant can open.

THE ORDINANCE came after the village zoning board recommended such a limitation. Douglas Cargill, zoning board chairman, said at the time he advocated the ordinance because "I became alarmed when I saw on the zoning map how many places are property zoned for snack shops or drive-in restaurants."

Since the ordinance was adopted the village has approved special use permits for the new Mr. Steak restaurant being built in the Dunhurst Shopping Center, and approved remodeling of two existing drive-ins — McDonald's and Henry's.

The village board will consider rezoning of two other Wheeling restaurants, the Burger Chef and never-opened Rix Beef in the near future also.

In recent years the board has turned down several restaurant rezoning requests including a Picnic Tree franchise proposed on Dundee Road, and the Jack-In-The-Box which sought zoning for the southwest corner of Wolf and Dundee roads.

The board's general skepticism with restaurants seems to relate mainly to preferring dinner or sit-down restaurants to the drive-in variety.

IN CONSIDERING the rezoning request for the Milwaukee Avenue restaurant on Monday the board has a report from the Wheeling Zoning Board of Appeals which recommends that the special use permit be granted.

Board members said this week that they would consider Maniatis' letter at the time the rezoning ordinance for the restaurant is discussed Monday.

Incidents

Reported At Rock Concert

An eight-foot tall root beer bottle was stolen and a hearse window was broken at the weekly rock concert at Wheeling High School.

Police are investigating the theft of the bottle, an advertising display valued at $1,500. The fiberglass model of a root beer bottle was attached to the top of a station wagon parked in the parking lot.

Police said the display was taken from the car between 10:10 p.m. and 11:15 p.m. Tuesday. It belonged to Larry Kopol of Morton Grove who was attending the rock concert at the high school.

In another incident Tuesday, Wheeling police released two juveniles who had been smoking marijuana cigarettes at the concert, to their parents.

Police Det. William Hoos said the two youths, both from Des Plaines, had no previous police records.

Village police squad cars were also called to the concert at 10:02 p.m. when a group of youths who had been refused admittance to the concert because they would not pay admission threatened security guards with rocks. The youths dispersed when squad cars arrived.

A fourth complaint to police was made by John Stelle of Waukegan who told police that someone broke the left rear door of his 1969 hearse which was parked in the parking lot while he attended the concert.

Stolen Bike Found, Another Disappears

A bicycle stolen in Wheeling turned up in Buffalo Grove where the thief apparently escaped on another stolen bicycle yesterday.

Mrs. Catherine Domas, 284 University Dr., Buffalo Grove, called Wheeling police when she found a bicycle abandoned near her home. The bicycle had a Wheeling registration decal.

Wheeling police checked the decal number and found that the bicycle belonged to Renee Sommerfeld, 227 Fletcher, Wheeling.

Surprised by the call, the Sommerfelds checked and found that the bicycle had been stolen from their garage during the night. In the meantime, Mrs. Domas reported her daughter's bicycle had disappeared.

KEEP THAT FLAG STRAIGHT. Robert Hoehn instructs young members of Wheeling's First Illinois Drum and Bugle Corps during practice sessions each Tuesday evening at the Amvets Hall. The corps next appearance will be Aug. 22, when they will perform at the Wisconsin State Fair in Waukesha. The "Volunteers" will have a picnic Sunday at Lake Geneva to interest more young people in the corps.

Need Blood For Leukemia Patient

Blood donations will be collected in Buffalo Grove Saturday for a two and a half year old victim of leukemia.

Although leaders of the campaign were encouraged by the number of persons who have already volunteered to donate blood, they said more donors are needed.

The boy, Danny Sandler of Buffalo Grove, received about 30 units of blood during a recent two and a half week stay at Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago. The boy was released from the hospital, but still suffers from the blood disease and may need more transfusions.

Danny, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sandler of Buffalo Grove is a victim of lymphatic leukemia.

DONATIONS OF BLOOD will be collected at the James Fenimore Cooper Junior High School on Plum Grove Circle, just east of Arlington Heights Road in Buffalo Grove, beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday. Prospective donors were asked to phone for an appointment to avoid long lines and delays.

Persons interested in donating blood were asked to call the following volunteers: Mrs. Evan Fader, 537-3273; Mrs. Richard Friedman, 537-3838; Mrs. Richard Henrich, 537-2085; Mrs. Merrill Hoyt, 537-3870; and Mrs. Les Minkus, 537-3494.

Donors may have any blood type. However, there are some restrictions and prospective donors were asked to call their own doctors if they have any questions about their physical condition and its effect on blood donations.

Certain persons cannot act as donors. This includes persons who have had malaria, hepatitis, high blood pressure or heart disease and persons who have had major surgery or who have given birth in the past six months.

Prospective donors must not eat fatty foods for four hours before they plan to donate blood.

Civil Defense Director Is Honored

Wheeling Civil Defense director Robert Buerger was honored with a certificate from Cook County Monday at the Wheeling Village Board meeting.

Buerger was honored for his work in heading and organizing Wheeling Civil Defense volunteers. He received the award from a deputy Cook County Civil Defense commissioner.

The certificate, which recognizes Buerger's service to the village, is signed by Cook County Board President George Dunne and by Cook County Civil Defense director Patrick O'Block.

Buerger was praised Monday for the way he has built up Wheeling's Civil Defense program.

In receiving the award Buerger said that he attributes his success as civil defense director to the cooperation of the village board and the people in Wheeling.

VILLAGE PRES. Ted C. Scanlon told Buerger that the village board congratulated him and said "all of us think you're doing a tremendous job."

Buerger said yesterday that innovations in the Civil Defense organization have included establishing civil defense offices in the village fire station and the establishment of a new woman's auxiliary.

He said that civil defense currently has 1,000 local members. Of that number, 300 participate actively in the organization, he said.

Buerger said the newly organized woman's auxiliary currently has approximately 25 members and that other local women are invited to join.

Alice Tufano is president of the new auxiliary, and other officers are executive vice president Miriam Bieber, vice president Karen Shiffer and secretary Mary Ann Hartgraves.

Anyone interested in joining the new auxiliary may call Mrs. Tufano at 541-4336 or attend one of the meetings which are held the first Tuesday of every month beginning at 7:15 p.m. in the new office in the fire department building.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

The House approved a two-year extension of the nation's basic draft law, but final congressional action appeared doubtful until after Labor Day. Included in the measure was an amendment urging President Nixon to renegotiate, rather than set unilaterally, U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

The Apollo 15 astronauts ended their six-day stay on the moon, blasting off toward a splashdown in the Pacific Ocean on Saturday.

President Nixon hinted he might approve a wage-price control board if he was convinced it could work effectively against inflation and that it could be operated without coercive enforcement powers. Seventeen Republican Senators earlier introduced legislation to create such a board.

A federal magistrate recommended that Daniel Ellsberg stand trial on charges of unauthorized possession and distribution of the 47-volume Pentagon study of the Vietnam war.

The Senate voted to forbid a candidate from spending more than $50,000 of his own money to run for President, $35,000 for the Senate and $25,000 for the House. The reform legislation was the first in 46 years. Prospect for House passage were uncertain.

The World

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky filed petitions to qualify for the Oct. 3 presidential elections and said it was up to the South Vietnamese supreme court to decide whether he would be a candidate. Sources said Ky's chances of remaining on the ballot were slim because of his difficulties in recruiting supporters.

Peking's official news agency described the U.S. decision to back the seating of Communist China in the United Nations as a "clumsy two-Chinas trick played by U.S. imperialism."

The State

Three survivors of a 1969 police raid that resulted in the deaths of Black Panthers Fred Hampton and Mark Clark have filed suit in U.S. District Court asking that a federal grand jury report on the incident be expunged. It contends the document is illegal and showed bias toward the Black Panther party.

The War

U.S. helicopter gunships battered Communist patrols in the northern jungles and coastal lowlands of South Vietnam. In Saigon, Cambodian officials said thousands of villagers were fleeing their homes in eastern Cambodia, complaining that South Vietnamese government troops were committing atrocities.

The Market

The stock market, after suffering its second sharpest decline of the year Tuesday, firmed up during the first hour but then did an about face. The Dow Jones Industrial Average showed a loss of 4.89 at 845.14 after plunging nearly 15 points a day earlier.

Prices eased in moderate turnover on the American Stock Exchange.

Hard Work Keeps Her Going

100th Birthday A Bittersweet Party

by LINDA PUNCH

When the family gathers Sunday to celebrate Mrs. Victoria Rembowski's 100th birthday, it will be a bittersweet occasion.

Only two weeks ago they were together for the funeral of Mrs. Rembowski's last surviving child and only son.

Mrs. Rembowski, who lived with her son at the Willow Terrace Trailer Park in Elk Grove Township until his death, had a birthday celebration there earlier this week. The party, organized by Ida Knoll, was attended by several of the Rembowski's trailer park neighbors.

A bouquet of long-stem red roses was presented to Mrs. Rembowski as she stepped from her granddaughter's car. She climbed the stairs to the trailer unaided and entered her son's home for the first time since his death.

SHE SEEMED a little lost as she sat down in a black leather chair in the corner of the living room. Memories of the past seemed to compete with events of the present for her attention.

Her granddaughter kept up a continual flow of conversation, speaking to Mrs. Rembowski in Polish one minute and to the guests in English the next.

A handmade black mohair shawl, a basket of fruit and a rosary blessed by the Pope were given to Mrs. Rembowski by her neighbors. She also received the traditional birthday greeting from President and Mrs. Nixon.

"When I handed her the letter from President Nixon, she asked me if it was a bill," said Mrs. Stanley Williams, Mrs. Rembowski's granddaughter. "When I explained to her what it was, she was really astonished. She keeps it with her and shows it to everybody."

Mrs. Rembowski was born in Konig, Poland, Aug. 8, 1871, and came to this country in 1904. She lived in the small Polish town of West Wyoming, Pa., until her coalminer husband's death there in 1928. Mrs. Rembowski moved to the northwest side of Chicago in 1929 to live with her son and his family.

MRS. REMBOWSKI and her son moved to Elk Grove Village several weeks ago. They had been in the mobile home 12 days when he died. She now lives with her granddaughter at 1727 Kim Ave., Mount Prospect.

In her 100 years of life, Mrs. Rembowski has witnessed not only the death of her five children, but the birth of her first great-great grandchild. She also has eight grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Williams said her grandmother helps with housework and yardwork. Trailer park neighbors report having seen Mrs. Rembowski pulling weeds around her trailer home.

"I think it's hard work that keeps her going," said Mrs. Williams. "She's swept and washed the floors every day since she's been with us. She's always been a hardworking Polish woman."

Wheeling Youths Place In Jamboree

Two Wheeling youngsters took second place awards in a Jaycees regional sports jamboree at Prospect High School.

Dan Larson was second in the midjet boys high jump for 10 and 11 year olds and Karen Fererra was second in the intermediate long jump for 14 year old girls.

Other Wheeling winners included Carol Grams who placed third in the junior girls high jump for 12 and 13 year old girls.

Dianne Schultz was fourth in the midjet girls high jump. Art Subrin was fifth in the intermediate boys long jump, and Sandy Rainey took fifth in the junior girls baseball throw.

Sixth place finishers were Karen Whitmore in the junior girls 50 yard dash and Steve Shobanian in the boys version of that event.

Festival Raises Funds For Home

Sunday's festival at Addolorata Villa, a home for the elderly in Wheeling, was "highly successful" according to Arthur Applequist, executive director at the home.

Applequist said that many residents from throughout the Northwest suburbs attended the festival, which featured games, prizes and refreshments.

"We want to thank everyone who supported our festival," he added. "The money we raised will be used to get all the little jobs we have here finished."

'Dangerous Building' Signs Up At Meadow Trace

"Dangerous building" signs were placed on five apartment buildings in the Meadow Trace complex yesterday morning by Rolling Meadows officials.

The signs, entitled "Notice of Violation," state that the building and zoning officer and city council have determined the apartments are dangerous buildings.

YOU ALMOST couldn't see the cake for the candles when Mrs. Victoria Rembowski celebrated her 100th birthday at a party at the Willow Terrace Trailer Park. Her granddaughter Mrs. Stanley Williams helped cut the cake.

Sears Is First To Open At Woodfield

by NANCY COWGER

"Fifteen years ago, I had a dream, and fortunately for me, seven years ago Sears saw the same dream I had," said Mayor Robert O. Atcher as he welcomed Sears Roebuck & Co. to Schaumburg at the firm's grand opening of its new store at Woodfield yesterday.

Atcher briefly related the history of negotiations to bring Sears and the other stores that will soon open at Woodfield to the village. Sears made the decision to build in Schaumburg seven years ago, and the following year hearings on the development were held. "People expected to see stone, brick and cement go up then," said the mayor, and when they didn't see it, they doubted Woodfield would be built.

"I was called the world's biggest liar in the Northwest suburbs for having said the world's biggest shopping center would be built right here in Schaumburg," Atcher said.

But construction started two years ago, culminating in the series of store openings begun by Sears yesterday. Other stores, including Marshall Fields & Co. and J. C. Penny outlets will be accepting customers in September and October.

AN ESTIMATED 200 persons crowded the main entrance to the new Sears store, off of Rte. 58, to watch while Anita Joyce Pankratz, Miss Illinois, opened the door with a "magic wand," and led shoppers into the building. Also participating in the formalities were Jack Twyman, former professional athlete and master of ceremonies; John P. Maloney, store manager; John D. Taylor, general manager of the Sears Chicago retail group; Culver J. Kennedy, Sears Midwest vice president; and A. Alfred Taubman, chairman of the board of The Taubman Co., mall developer.

Maloney characterized the opening as "very successful," saying Sears was happy with the response of customers, which he termed "extremely favorable from everybody." He said he could not estimate the first day's shopping crowd, except to say "there have been a lot of people." Parking areas were full, and business was good, he said, with visitors to the new store both looking and buying.

Traffic in the area was expected to be a problem, said Maloney, with all major roads leading to the center under construction or repairs. However, he said, "the traffic anticipated problems did not develop."

MEANWHILE, Schaumburg Police Chief Martin Conroy, who detailed four men to traffic control with Sears paying the expense, said his men were "bombarded" about noon. Parking lots were filled with an estimated 10,000 cars during the early afternoon, Conroy said.

A few accidents were reported on Rte. 58, with injuries reported from one of them. No details were available from police as of press time.

WHS Liaison Officer Is Praised

Wheeling High School police liaison officer Clarence Trausch was praised by WHS Principal Thomas Shirley in a letter read aloud at a Wheeling Village Board meeting.

Trausch, who has served as the liaison officer at the high school for two years, has been reassigned to regular duty as Wheeling police patrolman.

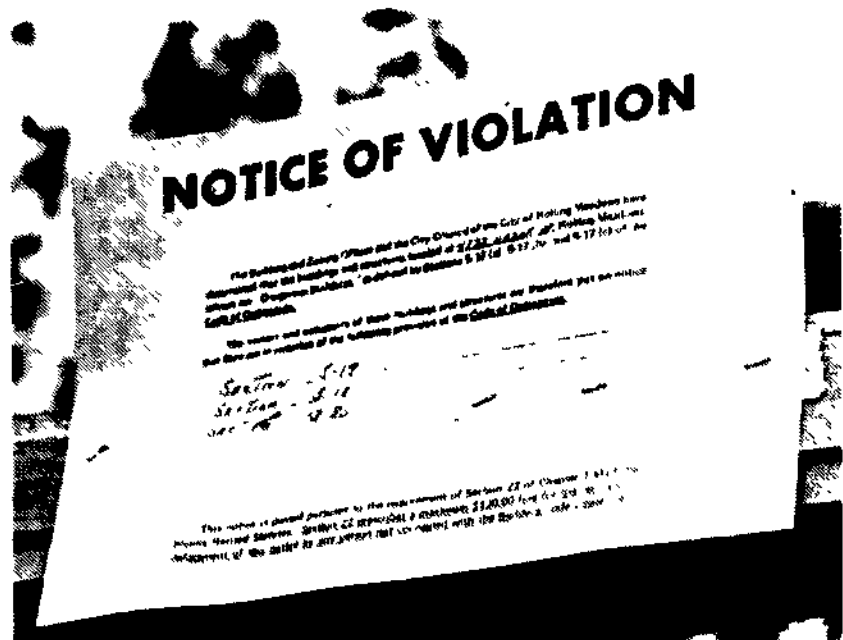

Interviews of other Wheeling policemen interested in applying for the position are scheduled for next week.

Police Chief M. O. Horcher explained yesterday that it has become a department policy for a man to serve in the liaison officer program for approximately two years before being replaced.

THE NEW LIAISON officer, who will begin duties Aug. 31, will be the third officer in the program since it began in 1966. Former Patrolman Ted Homeyer was the first Wheeling policeman to serve as a WHS liaison officer.

In the letter praising Trausch for the job he did as liaison officer, Shirley said, "You are to be commended for identifying with the position and becoming a counselor as well as a police officer in the resolution of the many, many cases handled during your stay. You were successful in relating to students as well as faculty members and provided a 'sense of security' to the various personnel of the building."

In the letter of appreciation to Trausch, Shirley wrote, "I realize that the assignment was, and probably always will be, a very highly active and involved type of work. . . We shall miss your services and trust that your replacement will be able to identify in the same fine manner that you did. Therefore, on behalf of the student body and faculty of Wheeling High School, please accept our most sincere thanks for a job 'Well Done.'"

NOTICE OF VIOLATION signs were erected on five apartment buildings in the Meadow Trace complex by Rolling Meadows officials this morning.

Building and Zoning Officer Sverre Haug said the buildings, located on the southwest side of Rolling Meadows are in violation of the city's safety code and were fire hazards.

Last month Haug asked that additional exits be constructed and ventilation improved in the basements of the buildings following an inspection. A time table was set up whereby Kassuba Development Co., owners of the complex, would make these corrections at the rate of two buildings each month starting in July.

To date Haug has received no response from Kassuba officials of intent to make the corrections or any plans for the necessary improvements. On the legal advice of the city attorney, who has also been unsuccessful in getting Kassuba officials to take appropriate action, the signs were erected yesterday morning.

"IF WE DON'T GET response (from Kassuba) to the signs in regard to correcting the building code violations further legal steps will be taken," said Joseph M. Ladd, who is replacing City Atty. Donald M. Rose while he is on vacation. He declined to state what further action might be taken.

Haug said the effect of the signs is to warn people but the city couldn't stop people from going into the basement if they wanted to.

In the event of a fire, Haug said a person in the basement area would be trapped and unable to get out.

Today's action highlights a year of criticism of the complex by residents and city officials. The initial inspection of the buildings took place last October after several tenants complained to city officials.

The complaints reached a peak last January when one of the buildings was destroyed by fire.

Criticism of the complex has been so intent that city officials have discussed taking measures to have the complex dismantled from the city.

John Blyth, Meadow Trace manager, had reported in July that the necessary improvements would be made to the basements to meet city codes but he was unavailable for comment yesterday.

Tim's Efforts In Kitchen Pay Off At County 4-H Fair

by JOANN VAN WYE
"What you bake is what you eat" is the philosophy that started Timothy Tallock cooking about two years ago.

Last weekend his efforts in the kitchen paid off in more than just good things to eat when he walked away from the North Cook 4-H Fair with a blue ribbon in cooking.

Tim, who was the only male entry in the cooking competition, was even more shocked than the girls he was competing against when the judges selected his cookies.

What's his secret? Tim said he just followed the recipe in the "You Learn to Bake" cookbook distributed by the 4-H club. He did confess though that he has learned his own shortcuts and doesn't even bother to sift the flour now.

Peanut butter cookies or a cake were the only kinds of bake good eligible for competition. Tim settled on the peanut butter cookies after his mother convinced him they would be a little easier.

TIM, WHO is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stehmer of 2301 St. James, Palatine, started cooking as a Cub Scout and has continued to expand his culinary abilities on his own. He prefers baking because baked goods are more fun to eat.

His mother explained that when she bakes Tim has to ask before he can have a cookie and the answer isn't always yes, but when he bakes there are no restrictions on the cookies because they are his and he can eat them when he wants.

Actually Tim is a little embarrassed to talk about his cooking talents but ask him about the chess set he made and he's beaming with pride. Rightfully so, since he was named grand champion in the arts and crafts division of the fair.

Starting with scraps of wood, table legs and lots of ingenuity and patience, Tim built the chess set in 28 hours and 40 minutes not counting the time he had to wait for the stain and shellac to dry.

The chess pieces are made with six different kinds of table legs with the king standing a foot high. No, Tim didn't go around cutting off the legs of tables in his house although his mother said he would have liked to. He bought the legs at a hardware store and cut them down to size. When he couldn't find an appropriate leg for the bishop he bought three different legs and glued parts of them together.

THE CHESS board is made of 64 square blocks of wood stained and varnished to match the color of the chess pieces.

A chess enthusiast himself, Tim has declined offers to buy the chess set. He did admit that he is thinking of going into business and making similar chess sets to sell. His goal — to be a millionaire before he is 20. Having tentatively settled on a $150 price tag for each set and figuring material costs at $45, Tim has a lot of chess sets to make in the next 11 years if he's to meet his goal.

A third blue ribbon was awarded to Tim in the entomology division. Tim, who competed in the beginning entomology category, beat out contestants in advanced entomology to be named the grand champion.

Tim's "bug display" included 25 different kinds of insects from five different categories. Three of the moths in his exhibit Tim had watched hatch from cocoons he bought from a friend for a dollar. Tim's grandfather made him the case but from there he was on his own as far as catching, hatching, mounting and classifying the insects.

In addition to three blue ribbons, Tim won $5.50 in prize money. Tim, who is only nine, won all of his prizes in competition with other contestants ranging from ages 9 to 19.

The Rolling Meadows 4-H Club of which Tim is a member just started in May. All but one of the group's 15 members had exhibits at the fair. The one who didn't have an exhibit had planned on entering the garden division until his father decided to erect a garage over his garden.

STEPHEN SIECH, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Siech of 3811 Wren, was the only other blue ribbon winner from the club. Steve was the grand champion in the tropical fish category.

Two years ago Steve became interested in fish when a teacher gave him some guppies. The hobby has expanded and Steve now has four fish tanks with many different varieties of fish.

Steve's prize winning fish was a swagtail sword fish. Although the fish is not fullgrown yet, Steve said the judge said it had good coloring and nice fins.

Steve and his swagtail won't be able to make it to the State Fair because of the limitations of the exhibition hall. However, Tim is eligible to exhibit his chess set and bug collection at the State Fair and have it judged with entries from throughout the state.

Swimming Is Challenge For Handicapped

by KAREN RUGEN
On Thursdays, 7-year-old Scott Peters grabs his bathing suit and heads toward Kopp Pool.

Thursday is the day for his swimming lesson. Like most kids, Scott gets excited when he has a chance to splash around on a hot summer day. But for Scott, who lives in Mount Prospect, swimming means just a little more.

Scott is one of the 25 physically and mentally handicapped children in the handicapped swim class sponsored by the Mount Prospect Park District. The park district started the summer program in June "as a service program," according to aquatic director Gil Fennie. Since then, it has served to fill in the gap for many of the children who attend the Northwest Suburban YMCA handicapped swim classes that are not conducted during the summer months.

From 3:15 to 6 p.m., the kids work with their individual instructors on bubbling, arm strokes and kicking. Supported by air floats underneath each arm or holding on to kickboards, most of their students are anxious to show instructors and their mothers what they have learned.

Some may never swim alone. Some may eventually learn how to dive. Some, like Scott, can swim for a few feet, with hands outstretched towards a pleased instructor.

"He loves to show off for the other ladies," said Mrs. Edmond Peters, Scott's mother. "He's a real little ham."

SCOTT, WHO is mentally handicapped, also swims underwater which is one of "his favorite stunts," according to his mother. He, like many of his fellow students who come from all over the Northwest suburbs, is usually ready to jump right in when he sees the bright blue of the water.

"Those kids aren't any problem. They'll jump in if you don't keep your eye on them," said Mark Durlacher, assistant manager at the pool who works with the handicapped swim class. "Especially Scotty, you just can't lose him down."

While each of the instructors try to teach their students the basic skills of swimming, the program "gives them a chance to have fun," said Mark. "That way they can get just a little bit more pleasure out of life."

THERE IS NO SET pattern for teaching the children how to swim, according to Durlacher. Each instructor works according to the individual handicaps of the children whose disabilities vary from deafness and emotional problems to motor facilitation problems.

"The big thing is that the instructor gets used to them and they get used to the instructor," said Durlacher. "And most of the guards like working with the handicapped more than they like working with the other kids."

Fennie, who helped get the program off the ground, emphasized that the park district instructors "are not concentrating on championship form with these children." He said, "All we want to do is make them happy in the water and be able to navigate without difficulty. That is our goal."

According to Scott and his mother, the park district instructors are achieving that goal. Scott has learned to "love the water," according to his mother. He now spends a lot of time at Meadows Pool, also in Mount Prospect, when he doesn't have his lesson. And his mother likes to tell the story about how Scott now likes to "dive" in the tub when he takes a bath.

"The program is really marvelous for the children. It helps them have a good time," said Mrs. Peters. "The individualized training is important. It really means a lot, to Scotty — and to me."

Lake County Interested In New Arlington Road

At least one local government appears interested in helping Buffalo Grove rebuild the badly rutted Arlington Heights Road.

Village Pres. Gary Armstrong told trustees Monday night that he has been encouraged by the response from Lake County officials to the village's request for help.

"I have every indication from Lake County — I don't want to be too optimistic about this — but they want to get the show on the road, perhaps this year," Armstrong told the village board.

Armstrong made his comments in response to questions from Jerrold Sundt, head of the Buffalo Grove Alliance.

THE VILLAGE president had just given Sundt and Ed Smith, president of the Strathmore Homeowners Association, petition forms asking Lake and Cook County to help rebuild the road.

Sundt appeared puzzled about the legal status of the road and wanted more information to use when asking residents to sign the petition.

"Is it a state road," Sundt asked.

"It's not a state road, and it's not a county road," Armstrong said with a laugh. He went on to explain the complex legal status of the road — part Vernon Township, part Wheeling Township, part Arlington Heights, part Long Grove and about 47 per cent Buffalo Grove.

Armstrong said that the village has offered to pay part of the cost of repairs to encourage the two counties to reclassify the roads. Eventually, he said, the legislature will make the road a county highway and the counties will be responsible for all the cost of repairs.

THE COUNTIES KNOW about the state plans, Armstrong said, and they may decide to repair the road now, when they can get some money from Buffalo Grove, instead of waiting until the road becomes entirely their responsibility.

Armstrong told Sundt that he did not have exact figures on the cost of rebuilding the road, but said that the entire job would cost about $500,000 with Buffalo Grove paying $100,000.

If the village does not get outside help, Armstrong said it would still try to fix the road "since it is an arterial street."

The village had considered closing the roads with barricades if it got no outside help. After the meeting, Armstrong said that while this is still possible, it would be done "only as a last resort."

Arlington Heights Road has proved to be a particularly expensive job, because it has deteriorated so much it cannot simply be resurfaced, but must be reconstructed almost from scratch.

Board Gives Architect Nod To Proceed With School Plan

A modified "open school" has been chosen as the architectural plan for the third school in School Dist. 96.

At a special meeting Monday the Dist. 96 School Board unanimously directed architect Donald Anderson to proceed with a plan for a modified "open school." The action came after more than two hours of discussion about various school architectural plans.

Voter approval to construct the third school will be sought in a Sept. 25 referendum.

Anderson and school officials explained that an "open school" is a building which allows for more flexibility than in a traditional classroom, because it does not contain classrooms of uniform size, or with the traditional four walls. Instead, the space is more open and thus can be easily modified in size to accommodate groups of varying sizes.

THE DIST. 96 board approves a modified open plan, which will include movable partitions that will enable the creation of traditional classrooms. The partitions could be removed to create a completely "open school" if desired, in the future, Anderson explained.

Dist. 96 Supt. William Hitzeman told the board that he supports the open school concept.

"Not to go to this type of plan, would in my opinion, do a disservice to the children of this district," he said.

He said that the building would easily enable the use of modern teaching methods and more individualized instruction of each child.

In the educational program that could be developed in the open school, an older child having trouble in one subject could go to a first or second grade teaching area for extra help in that subject, he explained. Or, if advanced in another subject could go to a first or second grade teaching area for extra help in that subject, he explained. Or, if advanced in another subject he might attend a class of students older than he.

A child could also work on an individual project in a library, Hitzeman said.

"However, these activities would be directed. The children wouldn't be free to roam around the building," the superintendent added.

SEVERAL BOARD members and members of the audience expressed concern about the ability of instructors to teach in such a school.

Hitzeman said that a number of days would be required to prepare teachers to teach in an open school building, but that the building would not require hiring a completely new teaching staff.

Hitzeman said that most teachers who have taught in such a school seem to have the most difficulty overcoming a feeling of self-consciousness. "They don't have the usual four walls protecting them," he said.

Concern for adequate teacher preparation and parent acceptance of the open school were two of the factors that led the board to approve a modified open school plan rather than a completely open school.

GEORGE DICKSON, a member of the citizens' committee working for passage of the Sept. 25 referendum, said that some residents view the open school as a "radical" concept and might not support the referendum.

Board Member Frank Clayton said that while he is in favor of the idea of the open school, he would be "hesitant to commit 1,400 students to it" at one time, noting that this would include over half the students in district.

Some board members and persons in the audience said they were concerned about whether the district would have time to adequately prepare its teachers for the school, since the district will most likely be on double shifts before the school can be built.

Incidents Reported At Rock Concert

An eight-foot tall root beer bottle was stolen and a hearse window was broken at the weekly rock concert at Wheeling High School.

Police are investigating the theft of the bottle, an advertising display valued at $1,500. The fiberglass model of a root beer bottle was attached to the top of a station wagon parked in the parking lot.

Police said the display was taken from the car between 10:10 p.m. and 11:15 p.m. Tuesday. It belonged to Larry Kopold of Morton Grove who was attending the rock concert at the high school.

In another incident Tuesday, Wheeling police released two juveniles who had been smoking marijuana cigarettes at the concert, to their parents.

Police Det. William Hoos said the two youths, both from Des Plaines, had no previous police records.

Village police squad cars were also called to the concert at 10:02 p.m. when a group of youths who had been refused admittance to the concert because they would not pay admission threatened security guards with rocks. The youths dispersed when squad cars arrived.

A fourth complaint to police was made by John Stelle of Waukegan who told police that someone broke the left rear door of his 1959 hearse which was parked in the parking lot while he attended the concert.

WEEDS AND DIRT cover most of the lawn at Khalid Cosmo's home at 945 Checker Dr. Cosmo says it is the fault of Levitt and Sons. A Levitt official denies the charge.

Levitt, Homeowner Can't Grow Grass

Everyone agrees that Khalid Cosmo's lawn is mostly weeds and bare ground; no one agrees on why grass is not growing.

Cosmo blames Levitt and Sons, Inc., builders of his home at 845 Checker Dr., Buffalo Grove.

Ron Brown, project manager for Levitt, says the builders graded the lot properly and if grass won't grow it is Cosmo's fault, not Levitt's.

Cosmo disagrees, saying he waters the lawn regularly and "I even have tickets to prove it." The police, he explained, caught him sprinkling in violation of a village ordinance.

Bill Dettmer, chief of inspection services for the village, says he doesn't know the cause.

"Levitt regraded the lot, after we complained," Dettmer said, "and they've seeded it five times. I don't know why the grass won't grow."

Cosmo says the lot is graded incorrectly and each rain washes away grass seed. Dettmer said the grade is incorrect, but has been changed, and is now correct. Brown says, "The grade is correct."

DETTMER HAS visited the Cosmo house and talked with Cosmo and Brown. "There definitely is erosion and ponding (water collecting in ponds on the lawn instead of draining)," Dettmer said. "And there shouldn't be, but it isn't caused by the grading."

The grass may not grow, Dettmer said, because of the soil quality, but he has no way of determining that.

"I can show you an identical case, a house where grass seed was planted the same day (as at the Cosmo house) and it has come in fine. I know they (the Cosmo) sprinkle; I've gone by and seen them."

Brown and Cosmo both point to neighboring homes with good lawns, but they draw different conclusions. Cosmo points to his neighbors and says they've been able to grow grass because their lots were landscaped properly by Levitt. Brown points to the same lawns and says Levitt has done everything for Cosmo that it did for the neighbors. "It's a customer maintenance problem," not a Levitt problem, he says.

Blind Woman Gets Gifts From Club

Mrs. Carl Schiller of Buffalo Grove has received a leader dog and a braille typewriter from the Buffalo Grove Lions.

Mrs. Schiller will use the typewriter for her work as a part-time teacher at the Louisa May Alcott School.

Last March, Mrs. Schiller went to the Leader Dog School in Michigan to receive and train a dog. The dog, Lady, now lives with the Schillers.

Lions president Richard Holtz presented the typewriter to Mrs. Schiller at a picnic last month.

Need Blood For Leukemia Patient

Blood donations will be collected in Buffalo Grove Saturday for a two and a half year old victim of leukemia.

Although leaders of the campaign were encouraged by the number of persons who have already volunteered to donate blood, they said more donors are needed.

The boy, Danny Sendler of Buffalo Grove, received about 30 units of blood during a recent two and a half week stay at Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago. The boy was released from the hospital, but still suffers from the blood disease and may need more transfusions.

Danny, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sendler of Buffalo Grove is a victim of lymphatic leukemia.

DONATIONS OF BLOOD will be collected at the James Fenimore Cooper Junior High School on Plum Grove Circle, just east of Arlington Heights Road in Buffalo Grove, beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday. Prospective donors were asked to phone for an appointment to avoid long lines and delays.

Persons interested in donating blood were asked to call the following volunteers: Mrs. Evan Fader, 537-3273; Mrs. Richard Friedman, 537-3839; Mrs. Richard Henrich, 537-2085; Mrs. Merrill Hoyt, 537-3670; and Mrs. Les Minkus, 537-3494.

Donors may have any blood type. However, there are some restrictions and prospective donors were asked to call their own doctors if they have any questions about their physical condition and its effect on blood donations.

Certain persons cannot act as donors. This includes persons who have had malaria, hepatitis, high blood pressure or heart disease and persons who have had major surgery or who have given birth in the past six months.

Prospective donors must not eat fatty foods for four hours before they plan to donate blood.

Stolen Bike Found, Another Disappears

A bicycle stolen in Wheeling turned up in Buffalo Grove where the thief apparently escaped on another stolen bicycle yesterday.

Mrs. Catherine Domas, 284 University Dr., Buffalo Grove, called Wheeling police when she found a bicycle abandoned near her home. The bicycle had a Wheeling registration decal.

Wheeling police checked the decal number and found that the bicycle belonged to Renee Sommerfeld, 227 Fletcher, Wheeling.

Surprised by the call, the Sommerfelds checked and found that the bicycle had been stolen from their garage during the night. In the meantime, Mrs. Domas reported her daughter's bicycle had disappeared.

Wheeling began its bicycle registration program last Saturday by placing registration decals on more than 2,100 bicycles. Buffalo Grove trustees have been discussing a registration program, without results, for a month.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

The House approved a two-year extension of the nation's basic draft law, but final congressional action appeared doubtful until after Labor Day. Included in the measure was an amendment urging President Nixon to renegotiate, rather than set unilaterally, U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

The Apollo 15 astronauts ended their six-day stay on the moon, blasting off toward a splashdown in the Pacific Ocean on Saturday.

President Nixon hinted he might approve a wage-price control board if he was convinced it could work effectively against inflation and that it could be operated without coercive enforcement powers. Seventeen Republican Senators earlier introduced legislation to create such a board.

A federal magistrate recommended that Daniel Ellsberg stand trial on charges of unauthorized possession and distribution of the 47-volume Pentagon study of the Vietnam war.

The Senate voted to forbid a candidate from spending more than $50,000 of his own money to run for President, $35,000 for the Senate and $25,000 for the House. The reform legislation was the first in 48 years. Prospect for House passage were uncertain.

The World

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky filed petitions to qualify for the Oct. 3 presidential elections and said it was up to the South Vietnamese supreme court to decide whether he would be a candidate. Sources said Ky's chances of remaining on the ballot were slim because of his difficulties in recruiting supporters.

Peking's official news agency described the U.S. decision to back the seating of Communist China in the United Nations as a "chummy two-Chinas trick played by U.S. imperialism."

The State

Three survivors of a 1969 police raid that resulted in the deaths of Black Panthers Fred Hampton and Mark Clark have filed suit in U.S. District Court asking that a federal grand jury report on the incident be expunged. It contends the document is illegal and showed bias toward the Black Panther party.

The War

U.S. helicopter gunships battered Communist patrols in the northern jungles and coastal lowlands of South Vietnam. In Saigon, Cambodian officials said thousands of villagers were fleeing their homes in eastern Cambodia, complaining that South Vietnamese government troops were committing atrocities.

The Market

The stock market, after suffering its second sharpest decline of the year Tuesday, firmed up during the first hour but then did an about face. The Dow Jones Industrial Average showed a loss of 4.89 at 845.14 after plunging nearly 15 points a day earlier.

Prices eased in moderate turnover on the American Stock Exchange.

Hard Work Keeps Her Going

100th Birthday A Bittersweet Party

by LINDA PUNCH

When the family gathers Sunday to celebrate Mrs. Victoria Rembowski's 100th birthday, it will be a bittersweet occasion.

Only two weeks ago they were together for the funeral of Mrs. Rembowski's last surviving child and only son.

Mrs. Rembowski, who lived with her son at the Willow Terrace Trailer Park in Elk Grove Township until his death, had a birthday celebration there earlier this week. The party, organized by Ida Knoll, was attended by several of the Rembowski's trailer park neighbors.

A bouquet of long-stem red roses was presented to Mrs. Rembowski as she stepped from her granddaughter's car. She climbed the stairs to the trailer unaided and entered her son's home for the first time since his death.

SHE SEEMED a little lost as she sat down in a black leather chair in the corner of the living room. Memories of the past seemed to compete with events of the present for her attention.

Her granddaughter kept up a continual flow of conversation, speaking to Mrs. Rembowski in Polish one minute and to the guests in English the next.

A handmade black mohair shawl, a basket of fruit and a rosary blessed by the Pope were given to Mrs. Rembowski by her neighbors. She also received the traditional birthday greeting from President and Mrs. Nixon.

"When I handed her the letter from President Nixon, she asked me if it was a bill," said Mrs. Stanley Williams, Mrs. Rembowski's granddaughter. "When I explained to her what it was, she was really astonished. She keeps it with her and shows it to everybody."

Mrs. Rembowski was born in Konig, Poland, Aug. 8, 1871, and came to this country in 1904. She lived in the small Polish town of West Wyoming, Pa., until her coalminer husband's death there in 1928. Mrs. Rembowski moved to the northwest side of Chicago in 1929 to live with her son and his family.

MRS. REMBOWSKI and her son moved to Elk Grove Village several weeks ago. They had been in the mobile home 12 days when he died. She now lives with her granddaughter at 1727 Kim Ave., Mount Prospect.

In her 100 years of life, Mrs. Rembowski has witnessed not only the death of her five children, but the birth of her first great-grandchild. She also has eight grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Williams said her grandmother helps with housework and yardwork. Trailer park neighbors report having seen Mrs. Rembowski pulling weeds around her trailer home.

"I think it's hard work that keeps her going," said Mrs. Williams. "She's swept and washed the floors every day since she's been with us. She's always been a hardworking Polish woman."

Wheeling Youths Place In Jamboree

Two Wheeling youngsters took second place awards in a Jaycees regional sports jamboree at Prospect High School.

Dan Larson was second in the midget boys high jump for 10 and 11 year olds and Karen Ferreira was second in the intermediate long jump for 14 year old girls.

Other Wheeling winners included Carol Grams who placed third in the junior girls high jump for 12 and 13 year old girls.

Dianne Schultz was fourth in the midget girls high jump. Art Subrin was fifth in the intermediate boys long jump, and Sandy Rainey took fifth in the junior girls baseball throw.

Sixth place finishers were Karen Whitmore in the junior girls 50 yard dash and Steve Shobanian in the boys version of that event.

Festival Raises

Funds For Home

Sunday's festival at Addolorata Villa, a home for the elderly in Wheeling, was "highly successful" according to Arthur Applequist, executive director at the home.

Applequist said that many residents from throughout the Northwest suburbs attended the festival, which featured games, prizes and refreshments.

"We want to thank everyone who supported our festival," he added. "The money we raised will be used to get all the little jobs we have here finished."

'Dangerous Building' Signs Up At Meadow Trace

"Dangerous building" signs were placed on five apartment buildings in the Meadow Trace complex yesterday morning by Rolling Meadows officials.

The signs, entitled "Notice of Violation," state that the building and zoning officer and city council have determined the apartments are dangerous buildings.

Building and Zoning Officer Sverre Haug said the buildings, located on the southwest side of Rolling Meadows are in violation of the city's safety code and were fire hazards.

Last month Haug asked that additional exits be constructed and ventilation improved in the basements of the buildings following an inspection. A time table was set up whereby Kassuba Development Co. owners of the complex, would make these corrections at the rate of two buildings each month starting in July.

To date Haug has received no response from Kassuba officials of intent to make the corrections or any plans for the necessary improvements. On the legal advice of the city attorney, who has also been unsuccessful in getting Kassuba officials to take appropriate action, the signs were erected yesterday morning.

"IF WE DON'T GET response (from Kassuba) to the signs in regard to correcting the building code violations further legal steps will be taken," said Joseph M. Ladd, who is replacing City Attorney Donald M. Rose while he is on vacation. He declined to state what further action might be taken.

Haug said the effect of the signs is to warn people but the city couldn't stop people from going into the basement if they wanted to.

In the event of a fire, Haug said a person in the basement area would be trapped and unable to get out.

Today's action highlights a year of criticism of the complex by residents and city officials. The initial inspection of the buildings took place last October after several tenants complained to city officials.

The complaints reached a peak last January when one of the buildings was destroyed by fire.

Criticism of the complex has been so intense that city officials have discussed taking measures to have the complex dismantled from the city.

John Blyth, Meadow Trace manager, had reported in July that the necessary improvements would be made to the basements to meet city codes but he was unavailable for comment yesterday.

Sears Is First To Open At Woodfield

by NANCY COWGER

"Fifteen years ago, I had a dream, and fortunately for me, seven years ago Sears saw the same dream I had," said Mayor Robert O. Atcher as he welcomed Sears Roebuck & Co. to Schaumburg at the firm's grand opening of its new store at Woodfield yesterday.

Atcher briefly related the history of negotiations to bring Sears and the other stores that will soon open at Woodfield to the village. Sears made the decision to build in Schaumburg seven years ago, and the following year hearings on the development were held. "People expected to see stone, brick and cement go up then," said the mayor, and when they didn't see it, they doubted Woodfield would be built.

"I was called the world's biggest liar in the Northwest suburbs for having said the world's biggest shopping center would be built right here in Schaumburg," Atcher said.

But construction started two years ago, culminating in the series of store openings begun by Sears yesterday. Other stores, including Marshall Fields & Co. and J. C. Penny outlets will be accepting customers in September and October.

AN ESTIMATED 200 persons crowded the main entrance to the new Sears

store, off of Rte. 58, to watch while Anita Joyce Pankratz, Miss Illinois, opened the door with a "magic wand," and led shoppers into the building. Also participating in the formalities were Jack Twyman, former professional athlete and master of ceremonies; John P. Maloney, store manager; John D. Taylor, general manager of the Sears Chicago retail group; Culver J. Kennedy, Sears midwest vice president; and A. Alfred Taubman, chairman of the board of The Taubman Co., mall developer.

Maloney characterized the opening as "very successful," saying Sears was happy with the response of customers, which he termed "extremely favorable from everybody." He said he could not estimate the first day's shopping crowd, except to say "there have been a lot of people." Parking areas were full, and business was good, he said, with visitors to the new store both looking and buying.

Traffic in the area was expected to be a problem, said Maloney, with all major roads leading to the center under construction or repairs. However, he said, "the traffic anticipated problems did not develop."

MEANWHILE, Schaumburg Police Chief Martin Conroy, who detailed four men to traffic control with Sears paying the expense, said his men were "bombarded" about noon. Parking lots were filled with an estimated 10,000 cars during the early afternoon, Conroy said.

A few accidents were reported on Rte. 58, with injuries reported from one of them. No details were available from police as of press time.

WHS Liaison Officer Is Praised

Wheeling High School police liaison officer Clarence Trausch was praised by WHS Principal Thomas Shirley in a letter read aloud at a Wheeling Village Board meeting.

Trausch, who has served as the liaison officer at the high school for two years, has been reassigned to regular duty as Wheeling police patrolman.

Interviews of other Wheeling policemen interested in applying for the position are scheduled for next week.

Police Chief M. O. Horcher explained yesterday that it has become a department policy for a man to serve in the liaison officer program for approximately two years before being replaced.

THE NEW LIAISON officer, who will begin duties Aug. 31, will be the third officer in the program since it began in 1966. Former Patrolman Ted Homeyer was the first Wheeling policeman to serve as a WHS liaison officer.

In the letter praising Trausch for the job he did as liaison officer, Shirley said, "You are to be commended for identifying with the position and becoming a counselor as well as a police officer in the resolution of the many, many cases handled during your stay. You were successful in relating to students as well as faculty members and provided a 'sense of security' to the various personnel of the building."

In the letter of appreciation to Trausch, Shirley wrote, "I realize that the assignment was, and probably always will be, a very highly active and involved type of work. . . We shall miss your services and trust that your replacement will be able to identify in the same fine manner that you did. Therefore, on behalf of the student body and faculty of Wheeling High School, please accept our most sincere thanks for a job 'Well Done.'"

Friendly Shopping In Palatine Stores

by MARTHA KOPER

We've all been told we have to make sacrifices for progress and most of us have learned to bear inconveniences for the sake of the future.

But it's getting more and more difficult to keep smiling while dodging barricades and construction crews. Road improvements have to rank highest on the list of unpleasant progress.

Unpleasant almost is not an adequate enough description for the condition of Algonquin Road as it goes through Rolling Meadows.

The story of Algonquin is a long one. But history is little comfort in the midst of today's traffic jam on the highway.

Residents who live along Algonquin from Wilke to Rte. 53 hate to go home at night. Merchants see little purpose in opening their stores for business.

"This is killing us. No one will stop here," said one shop owner. Others agreed business has fallen between one third and one half lower than normal.

By that it's easy to determine that many people simply are eliminating Algonquin Road from their travels.

The unfortunate part of the entire construction project is that it could have been completed by now. Almost five years ago Rolling Meadows officials pointed out the poor condition of the road and provided statistics on the high number of accidents along the highway. There were even a couple of fatal accidents, but nothing happened.

Even when the state highway department finally decided it was time to improve Algonquin, they didn't. Improvement of the rough and busy strip of two-lane highway has dropped from the state's plans in 1969. Someone, somewhere thought Higgins Road (Rte. 72) should be improved first and so it was.

After ignoring Algonquin for a year, it once again was announced that work on the road would begin in 1970. It didn't.

It's understandable there's just so much state money to go around and certain priorities must be established. It's just unfortunate that this summer's madhouse on Algonquin had to be tied in with road improvements on Golf, Rte. 53, the tollway, and Arlington Heights Road. Eliminating all of those, it's not easy to find an alternate route.

The crowning touch was added a couple of weeks ago when several cracks were noticed in the new section of the highway. Although state highway officials say that's normal, local engineers don't agree. We probably won't know who's right until the next time the road needs improvement and it happens only a year from now.

No matter how long it lasts, the construction project has been hard to view as a sign of progress this summer. As it comes close to the end, there's only one thing for local residents to look forward to — the rerouting and construction of Wilke Road from Central to Algonquin.

From The Library

by the staff of the Palatine Library

Don Schollander, former Olympic swimming gold medal winner, has written a dramatic account of amateur athletics in the U.S. and other countries, and the Palatine Public Library has added it to its collection of new books. "Deep Water" reports a champion's effort in achieving both mental discipline and physical conditioning.

As the hay fever season swings into high gear, the library has a new book for all allergy sufferers. "The Complete Allergy Guide" provides over 400 pages of comprehensive material for both child and adult sufferers. Prepared by a certified allergist, Dr. Howard Papeport, and an experienced medical writer, Shirley Linde, the book provides medical explanations in laymen's terms.

For animal lovers and bureaucrat haters, Faith McNulty's "Must They Die?" gives an account of the extinction of the prairie dog and black-footed ferret to show Washington bureaucrats at their worst.

In "Catamarans Offshore," Rudy Choy explains how these multi-hull sailboats are designed, built and raced.

Some excellent works of fiction have also been added to the library's collection this week. Fred Levon's "The Manx Cat" is a chilling mystery of a lunatic student stalking a girl to whom the police won't listen. He has already killed the first girl who lived in the same apartment.

For Milo March fans, M. E. Chaber has come out with "The Bonded Dead." It's another breezily readable caper of Milla March, this time about the murder of a lovely secretary and a million dollar securities theft.

The Voles are a humanoid race and they shoot down a spaceship of human warriors, of whom there are two survivors. It's all in Charles Platt's "Planet of the Voles," a science fiction thriller in the classic tradition.

"Fireflies" is a novel cheerfully satirical and profoundly touching as it traces the decline and fall of a pretentious family. It's by Shiva Naipaul.

Nancy Carlisle In Phi Society

Nancy M. Carlisle of Palatine has been selected to membership in Phi Society at Roanoke College, Salem, Va.

The society recognizes superior academic achievement.

Miss Carlisle, a junior at the college, is a graduate of Langley High School, McLean, Va. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Oram of 1542 Durham Drive.

Plans Under Way For Deepest Well

Plans for construction of the well building to house the deepest well in Palatine are currently being developed by the village engineer.

The Palatine Village Board this week authorized the engineer to proceed with the design and control facilities for Well No. 8, about 1,950 feet deep, on Michigan near Smith Street, and to prepare the necessary documents for bidding of the construction.

Test pumping of the well, which is already dug, was quite favorable and produced water at a rate of 1,400 gallons per minute. According to Village Mgr. Bert Braun, the test pumping was only expected to produce about 1,100 gallons per minute.

"We'd like to have the new well in full operation by late spring or early summer of next year," Braun said. However, he said a more definite schedule depends upon how quickly the plans can be developed.

Well No. 8 when completed will not service any specific area of Palatine, but will improve the total water service for all of Palatine. Braun said all of the village wells pump into a single unified water system. The additional well will provide more water and improve water pressure for the total system.

The well will lessen the possibility of a water shortage and the need to enforce a water ban similar to the one established this year for several days in early June.

The subject of his talk will be announced.

Wynn Church will talk about "Atheism of the Pocketbook" on Aug. 22, and Gary Alexander will be the final guest speaker on Aug. 29. Alexander will talk about "Childish or Childlike Faith."

Storage Unit For Salt May Be Built

Possible construction of a salt storage facility behind the city garage is being investigated by Rolling Meadows officials.

The streets, alleys and utilities committee directed City Engineer James Muldowney to study the proposal, gather cost estimates and draw up plans and specifications that could be presented to the council.

The facility, which received extensive discussion at the meeting, would be 24 by 36 feet and have facilities for loading and unloading. It is estimated the facility could hold between 150 and 200 tons of salt.

Drums outside the salt storage facility to hold calcium chloride are also proposed. This would permit spraying the salt with calcium chloride as it is being loaded.

Alderman James A. Huddleston explained that spraying the salt with calcium chloride at a rate of 12 gallons per ton would improve the city's salt program 30 per cent. He said calcium chloride is very effective in clearing ice at low temperatures.

City Puts Up 'Danger' Signs At Meadow Trace

"Dangerous building" signs were placed on five apartment buildings in the Meadow Trace complex yesterday morning by Rolling Meadows officials.

The signs, entitled "Notice of Violation," state that the building and zoning officer and city council have determined the apartments are dangerous buildings.

Building and Zoning Officer Sverre Haug said the buildings, located on the southwest side of Rolling Meadows are in violation of the city's safety code and were fire hazards.

Last month Haug asked that additional exits be constructed and ventilation improved in the basements of the buildings following an inspection. A time table was set up whereby Kassuba Development Co., owners of the complex, would make these corrections at the rate of two buildings each month starting in July.

To date Haug has received no response from Kassuba officials of intent to make the corrections or any plans for the necessary improvements. On the legal advice of the city attorney, who has also been unsuccessful in getting Kassuba officials to take appropriate action, the signs were erected yesterday morning.

"IF WE DON'T GET response (from Kassuba) to the signs in regard to correcting the building code violations further legal steps will be taken," said Joseph M. Ladd, who is replacing City Atty. Donald M. Rose while he is on vacation. He declined to state what further action might be taken.

Haug said the effect of the signs is to warn people but the city couldn't stop people from going into the basement if they wanted to.

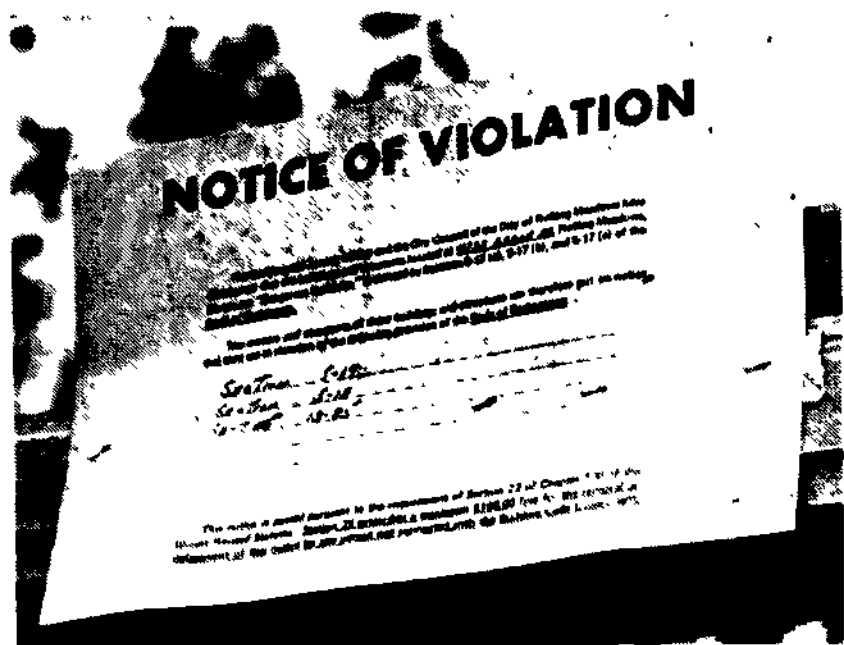

In the event of a fire, Haug said a person in the basement area would be trapped and unable to get out.

Today's action highlights a year of criticism of the complex by residents and city officials. The initial inspection of the buildings took place last October after several tenants complained to city officials.

The complaints reached a peak last January when one of the buildings was destroyed by fire.

Criticism of the complex has been so intense that city officials have discussed taking measures to have the complex disannexed from the city.

John Blyth, Meadow Trace manager, had reported in July that the necessary improvements would be made to the basements to meet city codes but he was unavailable for comment yesterday.

NOTICE OF VIOLATION signs were erected on five apartment buildings in the Meadow Trace complex by Rolling Meadows officials this morning.

Recommend Zoning For Condominiums

The rezoning of 24.4 acres of land in western Rolling Meadows to permit the construction of 318 condominiums has been unanimously recommended for approval by a special zoning commission.

The commission will recommend to the city council that the parcel owned by Edward Zale be rezoned from R-6, multi-family residential district, to R-5, single family attached planned development.

Zale explained he was requesting the rezoning of the land near Plum Grove School because R-6 would only permit the erection of 253 units and R-5 would permit construction of 325 units.

In response to questions by the commissioners, Zale said he is planning the construction of 318 contemporary two-bedroom condominiums that would be built in four unit modules. Each unit would be two stories with the bedrooms and a full bath on the top floor and the living room, dining area, kitchen and half bath on the ground level. In addition each unit would have a patio located on interior courtyards.

WHEN CONDOMINIUMS are being planned to sell for between $25,000 and $30,000. The residents will have access to a club house and swimming pool.

Concern about the parking situation was expressed by several commissioners. Zale said each unit would have one garage space and one space for parking in the driveway for a total of 632 parking spaces.

Zale also reported to the commissioners that there would be one dedicated street. The street will meet the city's requirements for pavement area but Zale said he would be asking for a variance on the right of way in the future.

Preliminary building plans presented to the commission call for 56.5 percent of the total 1,062,864 square feet to be open space. Buildings will cover approximately 25.9 percent of the land far below the 40 per cent building coverage allowable under the zoning.

Questions about anticipated population of the complex were also asked by the commissioners. Zale said he did not have enough experience with the type of project being proposed to even give an estimate. Previously Zale had discussed making a financial contribution to Elementary School District 15 to help fund additional teachers or buildings that might be necessary in the district because of children in the complex.

DENIAL OF THE rezoning request would be a real hardship on him Zale told the commissioners. He explained that he had suffered a hardship already because he had originally planned to construct 407 units and had been forced to change his plans because of zoning changes.

Area residents voiced no complaints about the project at the meeting when they learned purchase units were being proposed instead of rental units.

Zale has been attempting to develop the parcel since 1965. At that time he became involved in a court case between Rolling Meadows and Palatine over jurisdiction of the property.

In 1968 when the court decision was handed down and the property was annexed to Rolling Meadows, Zale decided against development because of the "tight money situation." In 1969 he received approval for apartment units but decided against construction when he was advised the market conditions were better for condominiums.

What's his secret? Tim said he just followed the recipe in the "You Learn to Bake" cookbook distributed by the 4-H club. He did confess though that he has learned his own shortcuts and doesn't even bother to sift the flour now.

Peanut butter cookies or a cake were the only kinds of bake good eligible for competition. Tim settled on the peanut butter cookies after his mother convinced him they would be a little easier.

TIM, WHO is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stehmer of 2301 St. James, Palatine, started cooking as a Cub Scout and has continued to expand his culinary abilities on his own. He prefers baking

Apartments May Bring In 650 New Kids

Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 officials anticipate an influx of some 650 additional students to the district because of the proposed development of 2,500 apartment units on 120 acres north of the Pinehurst subdivision in unincorporated Palatine Township.

Although developers of Ivy Hill complex, which is located on the former Otto Bittner farm, agreed to donate eight acres to the district for construction of a new school, Joseph Kiszka, deputy superintendent, said one site will not be adequate to accommodate all students in the area.

Proposed construction of multi-family dwellings on the Weidner Poultry Farm on Dundee Road by Kassuba Developers will bring even more students to the district, Kiszka said. Students currently living in Pinehurst have also been a concern for the school district for some time because of a lack of facilities.

Pinehurst students during the past year attended Lake Louise School but will transfer to the new Lincoln School in the Pepper Tree Farms subdivision opening this fall.

KISZKA SAID HE was pleased with the acreage offered to the school district, but it won't stop the district from continuing to look for more land. Although the eight acres lie in the middle of a drainage area, he said underground pipes should keep the site in acceptable condition.

No soil tests have yet been taken on the school site, which would be a responsibility of the developers until the school district actually receives the deed to the land.

With other recent land developments in the area, such as the Zale project in Rolling Meadows and the Sellergren project on the Pebble Creek Golf Course, the district has received promises from the developers for financial donations rather than acreage to compensate for the additional students to be brought to the district.

The Ivy Hill development, which will be shaped like an L, is pending Cook County Board approval. The project runs along Gardena Lane and Lake-Cook Road between Baldwin and Long Grove Roads. When fully developed, the project will be worth an estimated $50 million.

About one-third of the units will be quadrominiums having two-story units in each building. Eight 12-story high rises will also be built, with a total of 210 high rise units. Half will be one-bedroom units and half will be two-bedrooms.

The Nation

The House approved a two-year extension of the nation's basic draft law, but final congressional action appeared doubtful until after Labor Day. Included in the measure was an amendment urging President Nixon to renegotiate, rather than set unilaterally, U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

The Apollo 15 astronauts ended their six-day stay on the moon, blasting off toward a splashdown in the Pacific Ocean on Saturday.

President Nixon hinted he might approve a wage-price control board if he was convinced it could work effectively against inflation and that it could be operated without coercive enforcement powers. Seventeen Republican Senators earlier introduced legislation to create such a board.

A federal magistrate recommended that Daniel Ellsberg stand trial on charges of unauthorized possession and distribution of the 47-volume Pentagon study of the Vietnam war.

The Senate voted to forbid a candidate from spending more than $50,000 of his own money to run for President, $35,000 for the Senate and $25,000 for the House. The reform legislation was the first in 46 years. Prospects for House passage were uncertain.

The World

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky filed petitions to qualify for the Oct. 3 presidential elections and said it was up to the South Vietnamese supreme court to decide whether he would be a candidate. Sources said Ky's chances of remaining on the ballot were slim because of his difficulties in recruiting supporters.

Peking's official news agency described the U.S. decision to back the seating of Communist China in the United Nations as a "clumsy two-Chinas trick played by U.S. imperialism." Washington sources said the attack was not unexpected but the harshness of it distressed some administration officials.

The State

A Chicago businessman, Edward O. Boshell Jr., said sworn testimony that he engineered $111,000 in loans secured by stolen collateral for mob-linked figures in 1965 was "an absolute lie." Earlier, a city banker had said his bank had been lured into granting $300,000 backed by collateral that later proved to be forged.

The War

U.S. helicopter gunships battered Communist patrols in the northern jungles and coastal lowlands of South Vietnam. In Saigon, Cambodian officials said thousands of villagers were fleeing their homes in eastern Cambodia, complaining that South Vietnamese government troops were committing atrocities.

The Market

The stock market, after suffering its second sharpest decline of the year Tuesday, firmed up during the first hour but then did an about face. The Dow Jones Industrial Average showed a loss of 4.89 at 845.14 after plunging nearly 15 points a day earlier.

Prices eased in moderate turnover on the American Stock Exchange.

Algonquin Road Bad Progress?

by MARTHA KOPER

Something big happened to Palatine this week and it didn't even take place in town. Woodfield Mall in Schaumburg opened.

Billed as the country's largest shopping center, Woodfield opens new horizons to local residents. It's located near the tollway on Golf Road, just a hop, skip and jump from Palatine.

Few people will dispute the magnificence of the occasion. Few people, that is, except Palatine businessmen, but they're not panicking.

Knowing for the past couple of years that Woodfield would open this summer, the local Chamber of Commerce began its strategy a long time ago. Although all plans didn't go as smoothly as hoped, the group now appears to be calm about the giant looming to the south.

A motto has sprung up which describes their reason for relaxation. "Palatine — A Real Home Town."

The Chamber is promoting a return to putting people in business. It seems to believe the country is yearning for the good old days of close-knit hometowns. A place where almost everybody knows everybody else.

For several months the Chamber has stressed friendship shopping to its members. Believing that customers will return time after time if they're given a smile and extra special attention, the Chamber wants all local merchants to add the personal touch to their sales techniques.

It's such a simple idea it just may work. There's not many shoppers who don't like to be recognized when they go into a store and if a sales clerk actually remembers the name, the friendly atmosphere is enhanced.

A new director of the Chamber started his job this week. His qualifications and opinions indicate the Chamber's strategy will continue.

A friendly sort of guy, Dave Shoemaker, believes the town has great potential for keeping Palatine residents shopping in Palatine.

Although it's probably most local people will make frequent trips to the newest attraction in Schaumburg, they may find service and handshakes outweigh size and coldness.

It's almost like the story of David and Goliath. But only time will tell if the sling shot is a good weapon against skyscrapers.

STEVE SIECH keeps a close tab on his fish to make champion in the tropical fish category at the North Shore everything is okay. Steve was named the grand Cook Co. 4-H fair.

From The Library

by VIRGINIA CONNELL

Opening a new shipment of books is like celebrating Christmas every month and sometimes oftener.

Books for the library are purchased mainly from reviews and when the shipments arrive and are unpacked it is a delightful experience to actually see and feel the books, to examine the artists work who has designed the dust wrapper, to feel the texture of the paper yes and even smell the printers ink.

Such a package arrived this week and we would like to share some of the "goodies" we will have for our young people next school term.

By popular demand often times books that have long been out of print are reprinted. Such is the case of a very popular set of books on music. "The International Library of Piano Music." This is a fifteen volume set of books and as the title implied covers many facets of piano music. The books will circulate and will be of benefit to the student of piano and to music instructors as well.

IF, LIKE SO MANY of our young people today, you are concerned with our world today you will enjoy Walter Cronkite's new book "Eye On The World." This book encompasses chapters on such thought provoking subjects as: — Can the world be saved? Diplomacy by hijack, history under pressure, we've got a problem . . . 200,000 miles of earth, the great Chicago trial, the new junkies, Women of the world unite, and is France a widow? The author has won many awards in the field of journalism including the White award as well as being heard on TV.

THE HANDBOOK of Modern Experiments For High School Biology written by Adelaide Hechtlinger will interest the science student. It will present the latest concepts of biology in the form of exercises and experiments effective for use at the high school level.

Each experiment is outlined in detail as to the aim, procedure, materials needed, and results to expect and questions on the experiment. Don't laugh but the one page in the book that will be of greatest help to the library staff is a double spread page on the frog. Each fall students pour into the library for detailed information on the parts of the frog. Now we really have a book that can help them.

"Animals Nobody Loves" one of America's most literate and widely read naturalists takes up words of defense of a dozen "critters." Man has harried, hounded, hated and murdered for fun, all because the great ecological misfit himself doesn't like the way they act, or the way they look, or a combination of both. According to Ronald Rodd the author, the pig is actually bright and merry, the rat is courageous and adaptable. The wolf is loyal, brave and affectionate. The snake peace-loving and helpful. He even has a kind word to say about mosquitoes. According to Cleveland Amory it is a book that everyone will read and love.

WHAT IS "PROTOCOL" Why is it, and what is behind it? How necessary is it to national and international affairs? What does the job of United States Chief of Protocol entail? Is it confined to the preparation of Presidential trips, official ceremonies for visiting dignitaries. Can protocol, in any event conceal, much less heal, the divisions within and between societies seeking alternatives to war and civil disorders?

JAMES SYMINGTON explores these questions for the inside. In a first-hand look at the game, Congressman Symington, who was United States Chief of Protocol from 1966 to 1968, takes us behind the scenes in Washington and on presidential tours overseas, to meetings, non meetings, adventures and misadventures that marked squares on the checkerboard of American diplomacy during that period. You will find "The Stately Game" an exciting as well as informative book to read.

Storage Unit For Salt May Be Built

Possible construction of a salt storage facility behind the city garage is being investigated by Rolling Meadows officials.

The streets, alleys and utilities committee directed City Engineer James Muldowney to study the proposal, gather cost estimates and draw up plans and specifications that could be presented to the council.

The facility, which received extensive discussion at the meeting, would be 24 by 36 feet and have facilities for loading and unloading. It is estimated the facility could hold between 150 and 200 tons of salt.

Drums outside the salt storage facility to hold calcium chloride are also proposed. This would permit spraying the salt with calcium chloride as it is being loaded.

Alderman James A. Huddleston explained that spraying the salt with calcium chloride at a rate of 12 gallons per ton would improve the city's salt program 30 per cent. He said calcium chloride is very effective in clearing ice at low temperatures.

THE CHESS board is made of 64 square blocks of wood stained and varnished to match the color of the chess pieces.

A chess enthusiast himself, Tim has declined offers to buy the chess set. He did admit that he is thinking of going into business and making similar chess sets to sell. His goal — to be a millionaire before he is 20. Having tentatively settled on a $150 price tag for each set and figuring material costs at $45, Tim has a lot of chess sets to make in the next 11 years if he's to meet his goal.

A third blue ribbon was awarded to Tim in the entomology division. Tim, who competed in the beginning entomology category, beat out contestants in advanced entomology to be named the grand champion.

Tim's "bug display" included 25 different kinds of insects from five different categories. Three of the moths in his exhibit Tim had watched hatch from cocoons he bought from a friend for a dollar. Tim's grandfather made him the case but from there he was on his own as far as catching, hatching, mounting and classifying the insects.

In addition to three blue ribbons, Tim won $5.50 in prize money. Tim, who is only nine, won all of his prizes in competition with other contestants ranging from ages 9 to 19.

The Rolling Meadows 4-H Club of which Tim is a member just started in May. All but one of the group's 15 members had exhibits at the fair. The one who didn't have an exhibit had planned on entering the garden division until his father decided to erect a garage over his garden.

STEPHEN SIECH, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Siech of 3811 Wren, was the only other blue ribbon winner from the club. Steve was the grand champion in the tropical fish category.

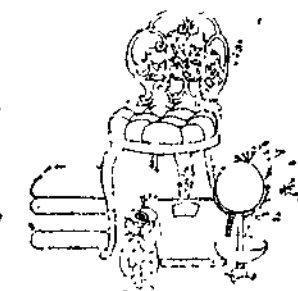

Two years ago Steve became interested in fish when a teacher gave him some guppies. The hobby has expanded and Steve now has four fish tanks with many different varieties of fish.

Steve's prize winning fish was a swagtail sword fish. Although the fish is not fullgrown yet, Steve said the judge said it had good coloring and nice fins.

Steve and his swagtail won't be able to make it to the State Fair because of the limitations of the exhibition hall. However, Tim is eligible to exhibit his chess set and bug collection at the State Fair and have it judged with entries from throughout the state.

River Trails Supt. Urges Sale Of TAWs

River Trails School Dist. 26 Supt. Thomas Warden has recommended that the district sell additional tax anticipation warrants (TAW) to offset a money shortage that may arise because of late tax receipts.

The school board will vote on Warden's proposal at a meeting Aug. 17. Warden said he will continue to study the problem and may have additional recommendations to make at that time.

"Last year we had collected $500,000 in tax monies in the education fund at this time," said Warden. "This year we only have $250,000 so far."

"If the incoming tax flow continues at this rate, we will be $100,000 short of cash by September," added Warden. Districts throughout Cook County have been faced with the problem of late tax money because the county mailed out the tax bills 2 1/2 months later than usual.

School districts are allowed to borrow up to 75 per cent of their anticipated taxes through the sale of warrants in any given year.

DURING THE past fiscal year Dist. 26 sold $450,000 in warrants, which equals 55 per cent of the district's assessed valuation. Now, facing a possible money shortage in the fall, Warden has proposed that the district raise the warrant level on the 1970 levy. "We won't raise the level all the way up to 75 per cent," said Warden. "I would like to sell another $100,000 in warrants."

Because the school board has not yet approved a budget for the 1971-72 fiscal year, the district is extending the warrant debt from the past fiscal year. The board expects to be able to pay off the additional debt as soon as the new budget is approved and more tax monies are available. Consequently the $100,000 warrant sale will accumulate a minimum amount of interest.

Warden pointed out that the present problem might not have arisen if the district had already sold bonds for construction of an addition to the River Trails Junior High School. Voters earlier authorized the district to sell bonds totaling $525,000 for the construction. "If the bonds had been sold we would have been able to borrow from the building fund until more tax monies came into the education fund," Warden said.

The school board now hopes to announce the bond sale by Sept. 1 so that a contractor can be hired and the foundation laid for the addition before winter.

Once the budget is approved, the district plans to sell additional tax anticipation warrants to balance projected expenditures with expected revenue. Based on last year's teacher salary figures, expenditures would be $200,000 more than the expected revenue of $2,400,000. But the deficit is expected to be even higher after teacher salary negotiations are completed.

Warden said, "We hope to hold the deficit down in the coming fiscal year." He said he does not know how the 1970-71 warrant sale will compare to the post-budget warrant sale.

WHS Liaison Officer Is Praised

Wheeling High School police liaison officer Clarence Trausch was praised by WHS Principal Thomas Shirley in a letter read aloud at a Wheeling Village Board meeting.

Trausch, who has served as the liaison officer at the high school for two years, has been reassigned to regular duty as Wheeling police patrolman.

Interviews of other Wheeling policemen interested in applying for the position are scheduled for next week.

Police Chief M. O. Horcher explained yesterday that it has become a department policy for a man to serve in the liaison officer program for approximately two years before being replaced.

THE NEW LIAISON officer, who will begin duties Aug. 31, will be the third officer in the program since it began in 1968. Former Patrolman Ted Homeyer was the first Wheeling policeman to serve as a WHS liaison officer.

In the letter praising Trausch for the job he did as liaison officer, Shirley said, "You are to be commended for identifying with the position and becoming a counselor as well as a police officer in the resolution of the many, many cases handled during your stay. You were successful in relating to students as well as faculty members and provided a 'sense of security' to the various personnel of the building."

In the letter of appreciation to Trausch, Shirley wrote, "I realize that the assignment was, and probably always will be, a very highly active and involved type of work. . . . We shall miss your services and trust that your replacement will be able to identify in the same fine manner that you did. Therefore, on behalf of the student body and faculty of Wheeling High School, please accept our most sincere thanks for a job 'Well Done.'"

Handicapped Swim Fills The Gap

by KAREN RUGEN

On Thursdays, 7-year-old Scott Peters grabs his bathing suit and heads toward Kopp Pool.

Thursday is the day for his swimming lesson. Like most kids, Scott gets excited when he has a chance to splash around on a hot summer day. But for Scott, who lives in Mount Prospect, swimming means just a little more.

Scott is one of the 25 physically and mentally handicapped children in the handicapped swim class sponsored by the Mount Prospect Park District. The park district started the summer program in June "as a service program," according to aquatic director Gil Fennie. Since then, it has served to fill in the gap for many of the children who attend the Northwest Suburban YMCA handicapped swim classes that are not conducted during the summer months.

From 5:15 to 6 p.m., the kids work with their individual instructors on bubbling, arm strokes and kicking. Supported by air floats underneath each arm or holding on to kickboards, most of their students are anxious to show instructors and their mothers what they have learned.

Some may never swim alone. Some may eventually learn how to dive. Some, like Scott, can swim for a few feet, with hands outstretched towards a pleased instructor.

"He loves to show off for the other ladies," said Mrs. Edmond Peters, Scott's mother. "He's a real little ham."

SCOTT, WHO IS mentally handicapped, also swims underwater which is one of "his favorite stunts," according to his mother. He, like many of his fellow students who come from all over the Northwest suburbs, is usually ready to jump right in when he sees the bright blue of the water.

"Those kids aren't any problem. They'll jump in if you don't keep your eye on them," said Mark Durlacher, assistant manager at the pool who works with the handicapped swim class. "Especially Scotty, you just can't slow him down."

While each of the instructors try to teach their students the basic skills of swimming, the program "gives them a chance to have fun," said Mark. "That way they can get just a little bit more pleasure out of life."

THERE IS NO SET pattern for teaching the children how to swim, according to Durlacher. Each instructor works according to the individual handicaps of the children whose disabilities vary from deafness and emotional problems to motor facilitation problems.

"The big thing is that the instructor gets used to them and they get used to the instructor," said Durlacher. "And most of the guards like working with the handicapped more than they like working with the other kids."

Fennie, who helped get the program off the ground, emphasized that the park district instructors "are not concentrating on championship form with these children." He said, "All we want to do is make them happy in the water and be able to navigate without difficulty. That is our goal."

According to Scott and his mother, the park district instructors are achieving that goal. Scott has learned to "love the water," according to his mother. He now spends a lot of time at Meadows Pool, also in Mount Prospect, when he doesn't have his lesson. And his mother likes to tell the story about how Scott now likes to "dive" in the tub when he takes a bath.

"The program is really marvelous for the children. It helps them have a good time," said Mrs. Peters. "The individualized training is important. It really means a lot, to Scotty — and to me."

Incidents Reported At Rock Concert

An eight-foot tall root beer bottle was stolen and a hearse window was broken at the weekly rock concert at Wheeling High School.

Police are investigating the theft of the bottle, an advertising display valued at $1,500. The fiberglass model of a root beer bottle was attached to the top of a station wagon parked in the parking lot.

Police said the display was taken from the car between 10:10 p.m. and 11:15 p.m. Tuesday. It belonged to Larry Kopol of Morton Grove who was attending the rock concert at the high school.

In another incident Tuesday, Wheeling police released two juveniles who had been smoking marijuana cigarettes at the concert, to their parents.

Police Det. William Hoos said the two youths, both from Des Plaines, had no previous police records.

Blood Donations Needed

Blood donations will be collected in Buffalo Grove Saturday for a two and a half year old victim of leukemia.

Although leaders of the campaign were encouraged by the number of persons who have already volunteered to donate blood, they said more donors are needed.

The boy, Danny Sandler of Buffalo Grove, received about 30 units of blood during a recent two and a half week stay at Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago. The boy was released from the hospital, but still suffers from the blood disease and may need more transfusions.

Danny, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sandler of Buffalo Grove is a victim of lymphatic leukemia.

DONATIONS OF BLOOD will be collected at the James Fenimore Cooper Junior High School on Plum Grove Circle, just east of Arlington Heights Road in Buffalo Grove, beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday. Prospective donors were asked to phone for an appointment to avoid long lines and delays.

Persons interested in donating blood were asked to call the following volunteers: Mrs. Evan Fader, 537-3273; Mrs. Richard Friedman, 537-3539; Mrs. Richard Henrich, 537-2085; Mrs. Merrill Hoyt, 537-3670; and Mrs. Les Minkus, 537-3494.

Donors may have any blood type. However, there are some restrictions and prospective donors were asked to call their own doctors if they have any questions about their physical condition and its effect on blood donations.

Certain persons cannot act as donors. This includes persons who have had malaria, hepatitis, high blood pressure or heart disease and persons who have had major surgery or who have given birth in the past six months.

Prospective donors must not eat fatty foods for four hours before they plan to donate blood.

Peking's official news agency described the U.S. decision to back the seating of Communist China in the United Nations as a "clumsy two-Chinas trick played by U.S. imperialism."

The State

Three survivors of a 1969 police raid that resulted in the deaths of Black Panthers Fred Hampton and Mark Clark have filed suit in U.S. District Court asking that a federal grand jury report on the incident be expunged. It contends the document is illegal and showed bias toward the Black Panther party.

The War

U.S. helicopter gunships battered Communist patrols in the northern jungles and coastal lowlands of South Vietnam. In Saigon, Cambodian officials said thousands of villagers were fleeing their homes in eastern Cambodia, complaining that South Vietnamese government troops were committing atrocities.

Hard Work Keeps Her Going

100th Birthday A Bittersweet Party

by LINDA PUNCH

When the family gathers Sunday to celebrate Mrs. Victoria Rembowski's 100th birthday, it will be a bittersweet occasion.

Only two weeks ago they were together for the funeral of Mrs. Rembowski's last surviving child and only son.

Mrs. Rembowski, who lived with her son at the Willoway Terrace Trailer Park in Elk Grove Township until his death, had a birthday celebration there earlier this week. The party, organized by Ida Knoll, was attended by several of the Rembowski's trailer park neighbors.

A bouquet of long-stem red roses was presented to Mrs. Rembowski as she stepped from her granddaughter's car. She climbed the stairs to the trailer unaided and entered her son's home for the first time since his death.

SHE SEEMED a little lost as she sat down in a black leather chair in the corner of the living room. Memories of the past seemed to compete with events of the present for her attention.

Her granddaughter kept up a continual flow of conversation, speaking to Mrs. Rembowski in Polish one minute and to the guests in English the next.

A handmade black mohair shawl, a basket of fruit and a rosary blessed by the Pope were given to Mrs. Rembowski by her neighbors. She also received the traditional birthday greeting from President and Mrs. Nixon.

"When I handed her the letter from President Nixon, she asked me if it was a bill," said Mrs. Stanley Williams, Mrs. Rembowski's granddaughter. "When I explained to her what it was, she was really astonished. She keeps it with her and shows it to everybody."

Mrs. Rembowski was born in Konig, Poland, Aug. 8, 1871, and came to this country in 1904. She lived in the small Polish town of West Wyoming, Pa., until her coalminer husband's death there in 1928. Mrs. Rembowski moved to the northwest side of Chicago in 1929 to live with her son and his family.

MRS. REMBOWSKI and her son moved to Elk Grove Village several weeks ago. They had been in the mobile home 12 days when he died. She now lives with her granddaughter at 1727 Kim Ave., Mount Prospect.

In her 100 years of life, Mrs. Rembowski has witnessed not only the death of her five children, but the birth of her first great-great grandchild. She also has eight grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Williams said her grandmother helps with housework and yardwork. Trailer park neighbors report having seen Mrs. Rembowski pulling weeds around her trailer home.

"I think it's hard work that keeps her going," said Mrs. Williams. "She's swept and washed the floors every day since she's been with us. She's always been a hardworking Polish woman."

YOU ALMOST couldn't see the cake for the candles when Mrs. Victoria Rembowski celebrated her 100th birthday at a party at the Willoway

Terrace Trailer Park. Her granddaughter Mrs. Stanley Williams helped cut the cake.

Link Sought In Kidnap Case

The kidnaper of Katherine Kuhn, 12, of Barrington may be the same man who kidnaped a North Barrington girl a short time ago, according to Barrington Police Lt. Ronald Hemmingson.

Hemmingson said descriptions of the kidnaper and the experiences of both girls were very similar. He said the North Barrington girl, whose name he could not release, is 9 years old, and was driven away in a light-colored four-door sedan by her armed abductor.

The abductor was then described as being heavy set, with graying hair.

Katherine's sister, Suzanne, 10, who was with Katherine Sunday afternoon when she was kidnapped, told police the abductor drove away in a 1966 blue-green, four-door Rambler. The abductor, who was armed, also was heavy set, in his fifties and had graying hair, according to Suzanne.

BOTH GIRLS were reportedly driven around for a short time, slapped in the face several times, and then driven near their homes where they were released.

Katherine was released around midnight Sunday, about six hours after she had been kidnapped.

Katherine knocked on the door of Mrs. Judith Papciak, 2388 Irene Dr., in unincorporated Palatine Township, who called Cook County Police. Katherine was then taken to Ravenswood Hospital, where she was later released after treatment for facial bruises.

Katherine had been kidnapped while playing with Suzanne near the Chicago and North Western Rwy. tracks about 100 yards from the Kuhn's townhouse home at 579 Shorely.

While police refused to say whether Katherine or her sister recognized the abductor, Katherine's father, John C. Kuhn, said he was convinced the abductor was "a local person."

Hemmingson said he had been in contact with the North Barrington police, and that they would be continuing their investigations together.

Senior Citizens Still May Join Eastern Tour

Senior citizens wishing to join the Extensioners, a local senior citizen group, on an 11-day bus tour of the New England states still can make reservations.

The tour will begin on Sept. 26 when the bus leaves at 7 a.m. from the Community Presbyterian Church, 407 N. Main St. in Mount Prospect. From there, the bus will head toward Detroit, the Canadian side of Niagara Falls, Ontario, Maine, and along the New England coast line. Other stops include New York and Pennsylvania.

The cost of the tour is $299, which includes bus fare, lodging, museums and other attractions, all breakfasts, three lunches and one dinner. Another bus leaving Sept. 25 for the 11-day tour has already been filled up.

Reservations can be made by calling Elizabeth Meyer at 255-3169. Anyone over 50 is eligible to take the tour. A briefing on the tour will be held Aug. 22 at the church at 3:30 p.m.

Other activities of the Extensioners include a day-long trip to Waukegan and a double-header at Wrigley Field.

On Aug. 13, an air-conditioned bus will leave the church at 10 a.m. for a tour of Waukegan. A tour of a 100-year-old church will be part of the tour which costs $2.50 for bus fare. Lunch at Mathon's, where senior citizens will select their own lunch, will be included.

The bus will leave the church at 10 a.m. on Aug. 20 for the Chicago Cubs against the Houston Astros doubleheader. Bus fare is $1.25. Participants can purchase tickets at the stadium.

Sears Is First To Open At Woodfield

by NANCY COWGER

"Fifteen years ago, I had a dream, and fortunately for me, seven years ago Sears saw the same dream I had," said Mayor Robert O. Atcher as he welcomed Sears Roebuck & Co. to Schaumburg at the firm's grand opening of its new store at Woodfield yesterday.

Atcher briefly related the history of negotiations to bring Sears and the other stores that will soon open at Woodfield to the village. Sears made the decision to build in Schaumburg seven years ago, and the following year hearings on the development were held. "People expected to see stone, brick and cement go up then," said the mayor, and when they didn't see it, they doubted Woodfield would be built.

"I was called the world's biggest liar in the Northwest suburbs for having said the world's biggest shopping center would be built right here in Schaumburg," Atcher said.

But construction started two years ago, culminating in the series of store openings begun by Sears yesterday. Other stores, including Marshall Fields & Co. and J. C. Penny outlets will be accepting customers in September and October.

AN ESTIMATED 200 persons crowded the main entrance to the new Sears store, off of Rte. 58, to watch while Anita Joyce Pankratz, Miss Illinois, opened the door with a "magic wand," and led shoppers into the building. Also participating in the formalities were Jack Twyman, former professional athlete and master of ceremonies; John P. Maloney, store manager; John D. Taylor, general manager of the Sears Chicago retail group; Culver J. Kennedy, Sears Midwest vice president; and A. Alfred Taubman, chairman of the board of The Taubman Co., mall developer.

Maloney characterized the opening as "very successful," saying Sears was happy with the response of customers, which he termed "extremely favorable from everybody." He said he could not estimate the first day's shopping crowd, except to say "there have been a lot of people." Parking areas were full, and business was good, he said, with visitors to the new store both looking and buying.

Traffic in the area was expected to be a problem, said Maloney, with all major roads leading to the center under construction or repairs. However, he said, "the traffic anticipated problems did not develop."

MEANWHILE, Schaumburg Police Chief Martin Conroy, who detailed four men to traffic control with Sears paying the expense, said his men were "bombarded" about noon. Parking lots were filled with an estimated 10,000 cars during the early afternoon, Conroy said.

A few accidents were reported on Rte. 58, with injuries reported from one of them. No details were available from police as of press time.

School Board Sets Goals

The board of education of Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 adopted educational goals for the coming school year Monday night.

The goals include improvement of the teaching of reading in the district, development of school-park district cooperation and improved communication with the public and review of the foreign language program.

In addition the board approved long-range goals, which will be reviewed every year, which include reducing the district's debt position and changing the program in the junior high schools.

Judith Zanca, chairman of the board's policy committee recommended the goals to the board saying, "I think it is important to have objectives that are achievable and I think these are."

Supt. James Erviti said the goals do not mean any change in "how teachers relate to students," but should mean improvements in the education offered by the district.

The change in the junior high schools, which will occur over several years, will mean a change from curriculum centered departments to "a child oriented middle school." Mrs. Zanca said the change will help ease the transition between fifth and sixth grade.

The objectives adopted for next year are:

- To make efforts to improve all teachers' ability to teach reading.
- To expand park district/school board cooperation, including discussion of responsibility for supervision of community services with park boards.
- To revise personnel evaluation methods.

- To begin changing from one language arts textbook series to another.

- To explore the laboratory approach to all subjects, while continuing the lab approach in math.

Board members said the administration will be reporting during the year on achievement of the goals.

Arlington Youth Short-Circuits Computer In Chess

It was boy versus machine Monday at the second annual computer chess tournament in Chicago's Conrad Hilton Hotel. And 12-year-old Kurt Schultz, 1428 Yale Ct., Arlington Heights, came out on top.

Kurt was declared the winner over the $2.5 million Northwestern University computer after 41 moves. International Chess Master David Levy from the University of Glasgow judged the young champ to be in better position and have more men than his programmed opponent.

The match was sponsored by the Association for Computing Machinery. A carrier for the Arlington Heights Herald, Kurt uses the money he earns delivering papers to cover entry fees at various chess tournaments in the area, according to his mother, Mrs. Dudley Schultz.

"I THINK IT was a little easier than playing a real person because the computer can't think for itself and doesn't have a strategy," Kurt said after the match, which lasted about three hours and 20 minutes.

The computer normally took about a minute to decide on its move, Kurt said, but certain variations in the boy's strategy sometimes apparently bewildered the electronic brain forcing it to delay its move up to five minutes.

Kurt had been recommended to participate in the computer tourney by Richard Berber of the Chicago Chess Club, one of several chess associations the youngster plays in.

Now a seventh grader at Rand Junior High School, Kurt first learned to play chess a little over a year ago in the learning center at Patton Elementary School. Since then books and a lot of practice have been his principal teachers.

Although his parents encouraged him to learn the game no one else in the family plays, his mother said.

DAVID J. SLATE, a systems analyst at Northwestern and programmer for Chess 3.5 — the computer's tournament name said that although the machine has no strategy per se, it tries out all its moves in advance, often thinking as much as five moves ahead.

The computer was victorious in last year's tournament, but this year just couldn't seem to recover from Kurt's surprise opening which, the boy said, "really botched it up."

At 12 years of age, Kurt Schultz still has a number of years to perfect his game. A game which is already good enough to short circuit a computer.

Survey Male Vs. Female Teachers

Has the recent influx of male teachers into the classroom improved the male image in the United States? How do school children compare male and female teachers?

These questions will be answered by a doctorate candidate who has been granted permission to conduct River Trails School survey in Dist. 26 during the coming school year.

At a meeting Tuesday the Dist. 26 school board voted to authorize the survey on a strictly voluntary basis. One school will be chosen for the survey. Questionnaires will be mailed to parents of children attending that school. No parent will be required to answer the questionnaire.

"If a principal volunteers to participate and parents volunteer to answer the questionnaire, I wouldn't object to the survey," Supt. Thomas Warden told the school board.

A male teacher will also be chosen to participate in the survey. Warden said he will be asked about his relationship with the students.

The parents will be asked to supply such information as how often the father of the family is home. Student achievement records will be examined to see how the scores of students with a male teacher compare to those of students with a female teacher.

The board approved the survey with the understanding that "the parents won't be heckled," said Harold Haney, board president.

Warden said he thought the results of the survey should be interesting, pointing out that "The number of male teacher applicants in the district is decreasing even though the total number of applicants is increasing."

Lutheran Church Sets Annual Picnic Aug. 15

The Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd in Prospect Heights will hold its annual picnic Aug. 15 at Camp Augustana at Lake Geneva, Wis.

The day will begin with a holy communion service at 8:30 a.m. at the church. Then an outdoor worship service will be held at 11 a.m. at the camp. Following this lunch will be held. Those attending the picnic are asked to bring their own lunch.

After lunch games and swimming will be available.

Burroughs Named President Of Group

James E. Burroughs, a Mount Prospect resident, has been named president of the Chicago section of the Society for Applied Spectroscopy.

The organization is made up of more than 400 scientists who use various forms of radiation to describe and measure all forms of matter. Burroughs is a group leader in the analytical chemistry section of the Borg Warner Inc. research center in Des Plaines. He holds a master's degree in analytical chemistry from Loyola University.

Burglary Reported

Three Mount Prospect juveniles were caught in the act of stealing $500 worth of stereo and tape equipment from the Lions Park Recreation Center field house, 411 S. Maple St.

According to Mount Prospect police, the youths, aged 15, 13, and 16, were stopped by Illinois County Patrolman Richard W. Bouches as they were leaving with a Motorola stereo, a record changer, an eight-track player and two speakers. The time was about 8:30 p.m. Monday.

Police said entry had been gained by throwing a rock through a window on the south side of the building. The youths were leaving by the basement door at the time of their detention, police said.

All three were placed in the custody of the juvenile officer.

Lt. Savage Temporary Police Chief

Police Lt. John Savage, 45, has been named temporary chief of the Mount Prospect Police Department, Village Mgr. Robert J. Eppley announced Tuesday. The appointment will become effective after Aug. 13, the day when the present chief, Newell Esmond, retires.

Savage, who has been on the Mount Prospect police force for 17 years, has been a lieutenant since 1966. Esmond said Savage has been in charge of the local mutual aid group, part of a system comprising 12 area towns pledged to aid each other in cases of disaster or other emergencies.

"I don't think a better man could be chosen for temporary police chief," Esmond said. "He is calm, collective, steady and a good police officer. He has good judgment, the respect of the men and the ability to work with the men and the village government. He also is receptive to new ideas."

Savage has, for the past few years, filled in for Esmond during his official absences. He lives at 119 N. Wille St. with his wife, Evelyn, and his two daughters, Arlette, 18, a student at Harper College, and Mary, 16, a junior at Prospect High School.

Eppley said it would be some time before a permanent replacement for Esmond could be named. By ordinance, it is Eppley's job to appoint the new police chief. However, Eppley has been manager for only four days and is still getting acquainted with Mount Prospect.

MAYOR ROBERT Teichert said that Esmond had made a recommendation on an acting chief. "Eppley asked for that. As for a permanent chief, I imagine that would take a little time to find."

Though Esmond would not reveal the identity of his recommendation, he said it would be preferable to select a permanent successor from within the ranks of the Mount Prospect department "if that man meets the requirements." He added, "We have some people here who are qualified, but the decision is Eppley's."

Esmond said his successor should have a background of good police work and an understanding of department procedures and police problems. "He should also have a mind open to new police operations and be receptive to them. He must be a man who can work with others and understand their problems as well as his own."

Esmond is leaving a position that pays $17,200 a year. Upon his retirement he will receive a pension of 52 per cent of his last year's salary, $16,250.

Individualized instruction is an important part of the course, according to aquatic director Gil Fennie.

Handicapped Swim Fills The Gap

by KAREN RUGEN

On Thursdays, 7-year-old Scott Peters grabs his bathing suit and heads toward Kopp Pool.

Thursday is the day for his swimming lesson. Like most kids, Scott gets excited when he has a chance to splash around on a hot summer day. But for Scott, who lives in Mount Prospect, swimming means just a little more.

Scott is one of the 25 physically and mentally handicapped children in the handicapped swim class sponsored by the Mount Prospect Park District. The park district started the summer program in June "as a service program," according to aquatic director Gil Fennie. Since then, it has served to fill in the gap for many of the children who attend the Northwest Suburban YMCA handicapped swim classes that are not conducted during the summer months.

From 5:15 to 6 p.m., the kids work with their individual instructors on bubbling, arm strokes and kicking. Supported by air floats underneath each arm or holding on to kickboards, most of their students are anxious to show instructors and their mothers what they have learned.

Some may never swim alone. Some may eventually learn how to dive. Some, like Scott, can swim for a few feet, with hands outstretched towards a pleased instructor.

"He loves to show off for the other ladies," said Mrs. Edmond Peters, Scott's mother. "He's a real little ham."

SCOTT, WHO IS mentally handicapped, also swims underwater which is one of "his favorite stunts," according to his mother. He, like many of his fellow students who come from all over the Northwest suburbs, is usually ready to jump right in when he sees the bright blue of the water.

"Those kids aren't any problem. They'll jump in if you don't keep your eye on them," said Mark Durlacher, assistant manager at the pool who works with the handicapped swim class. "Especially Scotty, you just can't slow him down."

While each of the instructors try to teach their students the basic skills of School Budget Hearing Set

A hearing will be held Sept. 20, for the Mount Prospect School Dist. 57 1971-72 budget which currently shows an approximate $11,000 deficit.

At that time, the school board will adopt a final budget. The hearing has been set, according to state law, so residents can ask questions or comment on the proposed budget which will be on display starting August 16 at the district offices, 701 W. Gregory St.

Expenditures in the education and building funds make up the budget deficit. The $2.8 million education fund, which makes up approximately three-fourths of the district's total budget, currently has a deficit of approximately $27,000 after an estimated increase in tax and state aid receipts. The $591,400 building fund, which includes cost of a proposed expansion at Fairview School, currently shows a deficit of almost $34,000.

The education fund in June showed a $105,000 deficit. That deficit has been narrowed down by an estimated increase in state aid receipts by $40,000 and in tax receipts by nearly $50,000, according to Dist. 57 Business Mgr. J. C. Busenhardt. The budget that will go on display also shows an additional $12,000 expenditure for special education programs which had not been budgeted in June.

EXPENDITURES FOR teachers salaries and instructional supplies and equipment are included in the education fund. Busenhardt stressed that the $28,000 projected deficit of the fund is probably only temporary since the current budget is based on last year's salary schedule. It does not include salary increases or extra fringe benefits now being negotiated by the Mount Prospect Education Association (MPEA) and the board.

The proposed education budget is approximately $200,000 less than last year's $3 million. Most of the decrease results from fewer teacher's salaries. According to a staffing plan adopted by the board, the district intends to employ 25½ fewer teachers next fall than it employed last year.

The proposed building budget covers the cost of maintenance and operation of school buildings. Included in the fund are salaries of maintenance men, repairs, grounds maintenance and building insurance. Expected revenue for the fund comes primarily from real estate taxes.

The district's other funds show no deficits. They are the transportation, bond and interest, municipal retirement, life safety and liability insurance funds.

swimming, the program "gives them a chance to have fun," said Mark. "That way they can get just a little bit more pleasure out of life."

THERE IS NO SET pattern for teaching the children how to swim, according to Durlacher. Each instructor works according to the individual handicaps of the children whose disabilities vary from deafness and emotional problems to motor facilitation problems.

"The big thing is that the instructor gets used to them and they get used to the instructor," said Durlacher. "And most of the guards like working with the handicapped more than they like working with the other kids."

Fennie, who helped get the program off the ground, emphasized that the park district instructors "are not concentrating on championship form with these children." He said, "All we want to do is make them happy in the water and be able to navigate without difficulty. That is our goal."

According to Scott and his mother, the park district instructors are achieving that goal. Scott has learned to "love the water," according to his mother. He now spends a lot of time at Meadows Pool, also in Mount Prospect, when he doesn't have his lesson. And his mother likes to tell the story about how Scott now likes to "dive" in the tub when he takes a bath.

"The program is really marvelous for the children. It helps them have a good time," said Mrs. Peters. "The individualized training is important. It really means a lot, to Scotty — and to me."

Elders To Get Not One, But Two Centers

While now they have none, senior citizens in Mount Prospect will have two drop-in centers this fall where they can talk, read, or play cards with their friends.

Plans are currently being made to convert a parish house owned by Community Presbyterian Church, 407 N. Main St., into a drop-in center. Elizabeth Meyer, director of the Extensioners, a local senior citizens group, said yesterday the center will open by mid-September.

The announcement of the church center follows plans for a senior citizen center made by the Mount Prospect Park District. Currently part of the Mount Prospect Country Club, 600 See-Gwyn Ave., remodeled for the center which park district officials say will open in early fall.

THE CENTER, to be located at the corner of Main and Gregory streets, will consist of five rooms on the ground floor and a basement. Mrs. Meyer said one of the rooms will be used as a reading room, with books supplied by the Mount Prospect Public Library. She said a $500 kiln, donated to the Extensioners by the Mount Prospect Lions Club, will be placed in the basement for work with ceramics.

A stove, sink and refrigerator have also been donated to the center, according to Mrs. Meyer. She said other donations would be appreciated.

All the remodeling of the brick bungalow will be done by MAD (Music, Art, Drama), an extracurricular church group of junior high students who have been using the house for meetings. The students plan to paint the center with paint donated to the Extensioners by the local J. C. Licht Co.

Thomas Miner, coordinator of MAD, said the students offered to remodel the house for the center after Mrs. Meyer contacted him and expressed an interest in the house for a center. He said the building currently is used mostly for Sunday School classes.

"This way the senior citizens can have an excellent opportunity to make use of the facilities and so they can have more freedom in their scheduling," he said. "The remodeling will benefit both organizations." He said he hopes some of the senior citizens will be able to teach MAD members how to use the kiln.

Miner said the planning for the center is now basically left up to Mrs. Meyer under the approval of church officials. No specific hours of operation have been set, but Mrs. Meyer said she hopes the center will be open every day from about 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Currently the Extensioners meet every Thursday in the church's basement. The Young at Hearts meet each Monday at the Mount Prospect Country Club.

Mrs. Meyer, whose group has been invited to share the park district center, has been critical of the adequacy of that center. She said she worried about transportation to that center and about the rooms being too small.

"I am really pleased with the offer of the church for the new center," she said. "Not to compete with anyone else, but this center will be bigger and more livable."

The park district center, which was made available after park officials moved their offices, will consist of four rooms. A stove, refrigerator and sink donated by Illinois Range Co. in Mount Prospect has already been installed in the center.

The Nation

The House approved a two-year extension of the nation's basic draft law, but final congressional action appeared doubtful until after Labor Day. Included in the measure was an amendment urging President Nixon to renegotiate, rather than set unilaterally, U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

The Apollo 15 astronauts ended their six-day stay on the moon, blasting off toward a splashdown in the Pacific Ocean on Saturday.

President Nixon hinted he might approve a wage-price control board if he was convinced it could work effectively against inflation and that it could be operated without coercive enforcement powers. Seventeen Republican Senators earlier introduced legislation to create such a board.

A federal magistrate recommended that Daniel Ellsberg stand trial on charges of unauthorized possession and distribution of the 47-volume Pentagon study of the Vietnam war.

The Senate voted to forbid a candidate from spending more than $50,000 of his own money to run for President, $35,000 for the Senate and $25,000 for the House. The reform legislation was the first in 46 years. Prospect for House passage were uncertain.

The World

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky filed petitions to qualify for the Oct. 3 presidential elections and said it was up to the South Vietnamese supreme court to decide whether he would be a candidate. Sources said Ky's chances of remaining on the ballot were slim because of his difficulties in recruiting supporters.

Peking's official news agency described the U.S. decision to back the seating of Communist China in the United Nations as a "chummy two-Chinas trick played by U.S. imperialism."

The State

Three survivors of a 1969 police raid that resulted in the deaths of Black Panthers Fred Hampton and Mark Clark have filed suit in U.S. District Court asking that a federal grand jury report on the incident be expunged. It contends the document is illegal and showed bias toward the Black Panther party.

The War

U.S. helicopter gunships battered Communist patrols in the northern jungles and coastal lowlands of South Vietnam. In Saigon, Cambodian officials said thousands of villagers were fleeing their homes in eastern Cambodia, complaining that South Vietnamese government troops were committing atrocities.

Hard Work Keeps Her Going

100th Birthday A Bittersweet Party

by LINDA PUNCH

When the family gathers Sunday to celebrate Mrs. Victoria Rembowski's 100th birthday, it will be a bittersweet occasion.

Only two weeks ago they were together for the funeral of Mrs. Rembowski's last surviving child and only son.

Mrs. Rembowski, who lived with her son at the Willow Terrace Trailer Park in Elk Grove Township until his death, had a birthday celebration there earlier this week. The party, organized by Ida Knoll, was attended by several of the Rembowski's trailer park neighbors.

A bouquet of long-stem red roses was presented to Mrs. Rembowski as she stepped from her granddaughter's car. She climbed the stairs to the trailer unaided and entered her son's home for the first time since his death.

SHE SEEMED a little lost as she sat down in a black leather chair in the corner of the living room. Memories of the past seemed to compete with events of the present for her attention.

Her granddaughter kept up a continual flow of conversation, speaking to Mrs. Rembowski in Polish one minute and to the guests in English the next.

A handmade black mohair shawl, a basket of fruit and a rosary blessed by the Pope were given to Mrs. Rembowski by her neighbors. She also received the traditional birthday greeting from President and Mrs. Nixon.

"When I handed her the letter from President Nixon, she asked me if it was a bill," said Mrs. Stanley Williams, Mrs. Rembowski's granddaughter. "When I explained to her what it was, she was really astonished. She keeps it with her and shows it to everybody."

Mrs. Rembowski was born in Konig, Poland, Aug. 8, 1871, and came to this country in 1904. She lived in the small Polish town of West Wyoming, Pa., until her coalminer husband's death there in 1928. Mrs. Rembowski moved to the northwest side of Chicago in 1929 to live with her son and his family.

MRS. REMBOWSKI and her son moved to Elk Grove Village several weeks ago. They had been in the mobile home 12 days when he died. She now lives with her granddaughter at 1727 Kim Ave., Mount Prospect.

In her 100 years of life, Mrs. Rembowski has witnessed not only the death of her five children, but the birth of her first great-great grandchild. She also has eight grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Williams said her grandmother helps with housework and yardwork. Trailer park neighbors report having seen Mrs. Rembowski pulling weeds around her trailer home.

"I think it's hard work that keeps her going," said Mrs. Williams. "She's swept and washed the floors every day since she's been with us. She's always been a hardworking Polish woman."

Sears Is First To Open At Woodfield

by NANCY COWGER

"Fifteen years ago, I had a dream, and fortunately for me, seven years ago Sears saw the same dream I had," said Mayor Robert O. Atcher as he welcomed Sears Roebuck & Co. to Schaumburg at the firm's grand opening of its new store at Woodfield yesterday.

Atcher briefly related the history of negotiations to bring Sears and the other stores that will soon open at Woodfield to the village. Sears made the decision to build in Schaumburg seven years ago, and the following year hearings on the development were held. "People expected to see stone, brick and cement go up then," said the mayor, and when they didn't see it, they doubted Woodfield would be built.

"I was called the world's biggest liar in the Northwest suburbs for having said the world's biggest shopping center would be built right here in Schaumburg," Atcher said.

But construction started two years ago, culminating in the series of store openings begun by Sears yesterday. Other stores, including Marshall Fields & Co. and J. C. Penny outlets will be accepting customers in September and October.

AN ESTIMATED 200 persons crowded the main entrance to the new Sears store, off of Rte. 58, to watch while Anita Joyce Pankratz, Miss Illinois, opened the door with a "magic wand," and led shoppers into the building. Also participating in the formalities were Jack Twyman, former professional athlete and master of ceremonies, John P. Maloney, store manager; John D. Taylor, general manager of the Sears Chicago retail group; Culver J. Kennedy, Sears Midwest vice president, and A. Alfred Taubman, chairman of the board of The Taubman Co., mall developer.

Maloney characterized the opening as "very successful," saying Sears was happy with the response of customers, which he termed "extremely favorable from everybody." He said he could not estimate the first day's shopping crowd, except to say "there have been a lot of people."

Parking areas were full, and business was good, he said, with visitors to the new store both looking and buying.

Traffic in the area was expected to be a problem, said Maloney, with all major roads leading to the center under construction or repairs. However, he said, "the traffic anticipated problems did not develop."

MEANWHILE, Schaumburg Police Chief Martin Conroy, who detailed four men to traffic control with Sears paying the expense, said his men were "bombarded" about noon. Parking lots were filled with an estimated 10,000 cars during the early afternoon, Conroy said.

A few accidents were reported on Rte. 58, with injuries reported from one of them. No details were available from police as of press time.

School Board Sets Goals

The board of education of Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 adopted educational goals for the coming school year Monday night.

The goals include improvement of the teaching of reading in the district, development of school-park district cooperation and improved communication with the public and review of the foreign language program.

In addition the board approved long-range goals, which will be reviewed every year, which include reducing the district's debt position and changing the program in the junior high schools.

Judith Zanca, chairman of the board's policy committee recommended the goals to the board saying, "I think it is important to have objectives that are achievable and I think these are."

Supt. James Erviti said the goals do not mean any change in "how teachers relate to students," but should mean improvements in the education offered by the district.

The change in the junior high schools, which will occur over several years, will mean a change from curriculum centered departments to "a child oriented middle school," Mrs. Zanca said the change will help ease the transition between fifth and sixth grade.

The objectives adopted for next year are:

- To make efforts to improve all teachers' ability to teach reading.
- To expand park district/school board cooperation, including discussion of responsibility for supervision of community services with park boards.
- To revise personnel evaluation methods.
- To begin changing from one language arts textbook series to another.
- To explore the laboratory approach to all subjects, while continuing the lab approach in math.

- To develop a communication system through the use of citizens' committees and service organizations.
- To continue development of principals as educational leaders.
- To develop an accounting manual.
- To review the foreign language program.

Board members said the administration will be reporting during the year on achievement of the goals.

Link Sought In Kidnap Case

The kidnaper of Katherine Kuhn, 12, of Barrington may be the same man who kidnaped a North Barrington girl a short time ago, according to Barrington Police Lt. Ronald Hemmingson.

Hemmingson said descriptions of the kidnaper and the experiences of both girls were very similar. He said the North Barrington girl, whose name he could not release, is 9 years old, and was driven away in a light-colored four-door sedan by her armed abductor.

The abductor was then described as being heavy set, with graying hair.

Katherine's sister, Suzanne, 10, who was with Katherine Sunday afternoon when she was kidnapped, told police the abductor drove away in a 1966 blue-green, four-door Rambler. The abductor, who was armed, also was heavy set, in his fifties and had graying hair, according to Suzanne.

BOTH GIRLS were reportedly driven around for a short time, slapped in the face several times, and then driven near their homes where they were released.

Katherine was released around midnight Sunday, about six hours after she had been kidnapped.

Katherine knocked on the door of Mrs. Judith Papciak, 2368 Irene Dr., in unincorporated Palatine Township, who called Cook County Police. Katherine was then taken to Ravenswood Hospital, where she was later released after treatment for facial bruises.

Katherine had been kidnapped while playing with Suzanne near the Chicago and North Western Rwy. tracks about 100 yards from the Kuhn's townhouse home at 579 Shoreley.

While police refused to say whether Katherine or her sister recognized the abductor, Katherine's father, John C. Kuhn, said he was convinced the abductor was "a local person."

Hemmingson said he had been in contact with the North Barrington police, and that they would be continuing their investigations together.

Senior Citizens Still May Join Eastern Tour

Senior citizens wishing to join the Extensioneers, a local senior citizen group, on an 11-day bus tour of the New England states still can make reservations.

The tour will begin on Sept. 26 when the bus leaves at 7 a.m. from the Community Presbyterian Church, 407 N. Main St. in Mount Prospect. From there, the bus will head toward Detroit, the Canadian side of Niagara Falls, Ontario, Maine, and along the New England coast line. Other stops include New York and Pennsylvania.

The cost of the tour is $299, which includes bus fare, lodging, museums and other attractions, all breakfasts, three lunches and one dinner. Another bus leaving Sept. 25 for the 11-day tour has already been filled up.

Reservations can be made by calling Elizabeth Meyer at 255-3189. Anyone over 50 is eligible to take the tour. A briefing on the tour will be held Aug. 22 at the church at 3:30 p.m.

Other activities of the Extensioneers include a day-long trip to Waukegan and a double-header at Wrigley Field.

On Aug. 13, an air-conditioned bus will leave the church at 10 a.m. for a tour of Waukegan. A tour of a 100-year-old church will be part of the tour which costs $2.50 for bus fare. Lunch at Mathon's, where senior citizens will select their own lunch, will be included.

The bus will leave the church at 10 a.m. on Aug. 20 for the Chicago Cubs against the Houston Astros doubleheader. Bus fare is $1.25. Participants can purchase tickets at the stadium.

Master Plan Survey To Begin Soon

by SANDRA J. BROWNING

Surveying of local businessmen is expected to begin this week as part of another cog in the wheel that will produce a new master plan for Arlington Heights.

Interviewing of businessmen will be conducted by the staff and members of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce. The survey is part of a two-front attack on the problems of the central business district, generally including businesses in the area between and on Arlington Heights Road, St. James Street, Sigwalt Street and Highland Avenue.

The businessmen's survey is being jointly conducted by the Chamber of Commerce and the village's planning department. The questions were developed by representatives from both organizations. The chamber will do the interviewing and the planning department will tabulate the results.

The second part of the survey will include interviewing of shoppers in the downtown area. This portion of the survey will be conducted by village staff members.

This survey, in conjunction with others, will be used as part of the basis for forming a new master plan for development and redevelopment. In addition to the shopper's survey, results from a survey of residents also will be used in preparing a new plan. More than 2,000 questionnaires were mailed to residents earlier this week.

ALTHOUGH THE survey is aimed almost exclusively at the central business district, some surveys probably will be circulated to some other areas, according to Earl Johnson, executive director of the Chamber of Commerce. These ad-

Minors Linked To Vandalism

Arlington Heights police report two youths have admitted causing an undetermined amount of damage in a wave of vandalism that swept through a southwest section of the village early Wednesday morning.

At least 14 incidents of property damage in the vicinity of the Surrey Ridge subdivision were reported to police yesterday.

Officers say the two youths, both of Arlington Heights, told them they were sleeping out in a backyard tent Tuesday night when they decided to go on the damage-causing spree.

Slashed screen doors, broken windows, uprooted shrubbery, and cut convertible tops were the most common cases reported.

One resident, who lives along S. Walnut Ave., reported several trees broken. Another homeowner said garbage bags in front of his home had been slit and their contents strewn about the yard.

Village police said each report would have to be thoroughly checked before they could arrive at an accurate estimate of the damage.

The two minors were turned over to the police youth division pending further investigation.

B'ER BEAR AND B'ER FOX, two characters from Uncle Remus' Tarbaby fables, brought smiles to the faces of about 40 handicapped children at the United Cerebral Palsy day camp at Wilson School in Arlington Heights. The two were part of a traveling cast of Disney characters which visited the camp Friday afternoon.

Mary Carter holds young Ricky Swanson who is obviously delighted with the troupe's antics. The day camp has been in session since July 6, offering handicapped youngsters a wide variety of recreational activities including field trips, picnics and swimming.

Arrest Youth In Gas Station Burglary

One youth has been arrested and Arlington Heights police are searching for a second suspect in connection with the $1,300 burglary last Sunday of Grand's Shell service station, 406 E. Northwest Hwy.

The first youth was released on $2,000 bond by Judge Peter O'Malley of the Arlington Heights branch of the Cook County Circuit Court. A court date was set for 9 a.m., Aug. 20.

Police said a second youth eluded them at his home Wednesday afternoon and apparently escaped through a rear door.

Both suspects are from Arlington Heights.

Police say the first youth told them he and a friend entered the service station with a key and took approximately $1,300 in currency, checks and credit card receipts.

The pair then reportedly threw a couple of bricks through a window to make it appear they had entered the building forcibly.

Police say the first youth returned $67.50 of the stolen money to them. He had been called into the station on a warrant for a stolen motorcycle believed to have been used in the burglary.

Complaints and warrants have been issued for the second suspect.

Officials Consider Two-Pronged Solicitor Ordinance

Arlington Heights officials are now considering an ordinance to regulate solicitors which would give each resident a way to regulate door-to-door salesmen.

The proposal, more lenient than the original proposal studied by the village board, was made Tuesday night by the board's legal committee, is two pronged.

First, Village Atty. Jack Siegel has been instructed to draft an ordinance allowing residents to post "no trespassing" signs on their property as a deterrent to solicitation.

Second, the village will require "a mild form of registration" at the Municipal Building to establish positive identity of the salesman and his company. Under this proposal, solicitors would also be required to wear an identification badge issued by the village.

James Ryan, chairman of the committee, said the badge would be neither a sanction on the quality of a product or the ethical practice of its representative, but merely a means of identification.

THIS PROPOSAL, in its rough form, will be formulated into an ordinance by Siegel and submitted for review by the legal committee Aug. 17 before they make a recommendation to the board.

The proposal was more palatable to residents and salesmen attending Tuesday's meeting than a previous ordinance the committee had under review.

That ordinance did not include a no-trespassing clause and provided for a more stringent registration procedure, including fingerprinting by police, which raised considerable disagreement among representatives of the Illinois Direct Sellers Association.

To formulate a proposal, the committee met once with about a dozen members of the sellers association nearly two weeks ago.

Building Firms To Eye Low-Cost Housing

Representatives of four building companies will discuss private development of housing at tonight's meeting of the low and moderate-income housing study committee.

The committee meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd. The committee includes members of the Arlington Heights Village Board and Plan Commission.

Joe Kesler, village planner, said the invited representatives are from a cross-section of firms, ranging from large developers to smaller ones.

Among those expected to attend are representatives from Kenroy, Inc., and Miller Builders, two large developers in Arlington Heights. Also expected is Albert Riley, builder of the Hasbrook subdivision in Arlington Heights and other subdivisions in Rolling Meadows and Palatine.

Joe Morrison of Gem Construction Co., which builds a few homes in the area each year, is also expected to attend, Kesler said.

The representatives were asked to attend because the study committee wanted to discuss the possibilities of developing moderate-income housing by private firms and determining builders' opinions about constructing this type of housing.

Meetings This Week

Tours for new students at Harper College, Roselle and Algonquin roads, Palatine, will begin at 7 tonight at the college's student center.

The low and moderate income housing study committee will meet at tonight in the Municipal Building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd. The committee includes members of the Arlington Heights Village Board and Plan Commission.

Eye on Arlington

Hersey Band Peps Up Sports Action

by BARRY SIGALE

The collective eye of the nation was focused on television last weekend and a couple of events triggered national recognition for Arlington Heights.

Friday night was the Baltimore Colts-College All Stars football extravaganza at Soldier Field in Chicago, and many viewers of that nationwide telecast were more impressed with the actions of the John Hersey High School marching band than with the football game, a drab affair won by the professionals 24-17.

AND SATURDAY afternoon, the featured American Derby Classic was held at Arlington Park Race Track and the spectacle thrust Arlington Heights into the national spotlight again.

Hersey's band performed before the game, at halftime and following the football clash. The halftime show was spectacular because the 180-member band performed most of it with the stadium lights off.

It was a special routine, 180 tiny lights on top of the band members' caps were turned on, flashing green, white and orange. "The world's only stroboscopic marching band," the stadium voice said. He called the routine, "the shimmering magic of 'STROBOMOTION'!"

And to the spectators in the stands and the millions of persons watching on television, the halftime show, usually pretty boring at most football games, was lively and entertaining.

FOR HORSE RACE fans, the broadcast of the American Derby was less than entertaining and if they expected to gain any insight into who was going to the finish first they were disappointed.

Bruce Roberts did the pre and post-race commentary and about the only thing race fans found out was that comedian Sheeky Greene was a funny man and that he's been to a lot of horse races when he's not telling jokes.

The race itself was outstanding, and I guess that's what matters most. But for a television happening the half hour presentation finished out of the money.

In both instances, the halftime show at Soldier Field and the running of the American Derby, Arlington Heights received national recognition. That's not bad for one weekend.

YOUNGSTERS IN Arlington Heights and throughout the Northwest suburbs have been doing something about the problems of the world. One of the most significant events has been the carnival against dystrophy being hosted by local children.

Held in connection with the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America national drive which raised over $353,000 at carnivals last year, local kids have offered games and entertainment in exchange for contributions to be sent to the national organization.

As an example of what these youngsters have done, one group, including Andy Herlache, 10, and his friends, Eric and Nancy Swanson, Rick and Carrie Godwin, Jane Guilfoyle, Ginger Pate, Jimmy and Kathleen Kating and Elizabeth Gerlach, held a carnival recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ward J. Herlache. They raised $30 for their efforts.

That also grabs national recognition for Arlington Heights and other communities but in this instance the kids deserve all the credit.

Park Program Sites Vary

Fall and winter programs offered by the Arlington Heights Park District will be held at locations throughout the district rather than just one site, following recommendations made Tuesday night.

Members of the recreation committee of the Arlington Heights Park Board suggested changes in the proposed program presented Tuesday. The proposals were prepared by the park district recreation staff members.

Chairman William Meister and committee member Robert Stenzel agreed on the change after noting some classes were proposed for only one location.

"We're trying to keep this as well-balanced a program throughout the community as we can," Stenzel said.

The proposal from the recreation staff will be changed from the offering of modelmaking at only one location to offering it at all the major parks throughout the district during the fall, winter and spring seasons.

The entire program for the upcoming season was reviewed by the two committee members during a marathon meeting that continued until after midnight. The park board will vote on approving the entire program at its meeting next week.

The approval of the program next week is necessary to allow time for printing brochures and mailing them to residents.

IN DISCUSSING the brochure, Stenzel suggested a cross reference page be included. This page would list each park and the activities offered at that location. Other parts of the brochure could be used to explain the programs, but a list of what's offered at each park will be helpful to residents because "then they will have to look at only one part."

The proposed program includes many items offered in past years, including classes for preschoolers, craft classes, instructions on knitting, tumbling and trampolining, art and others.

New programs will include vue de optique, a form of making three-dimensional pictures by using three identical prints; a second senior citizens club for the northside of the village; and a specialized adult crafts workshop, featuring instructions in making jewelry, candles, batiks, macrame and pottery.

Other programs will include father and son swim nights, dad and daughter date nights, women's competitive volleyball, judo and self-defense, yoga, boys' flag football and men's teams for volleyball and basketball.

The boys' floor hockey program, a popular activity offered last year, will include separate leagues for fourth, fifth and sixth graders. A combined league will be formed for seventh and eighth graders.

ADDITIONAL programs will include wrestling, boys' basketball, golf, an overnight canoe trip, ski lessons and after-school programs.

The park district's teen center located in the basement of Olympic Park, 660 N.

Ridge Ave., will operate on the same schedule as it did last year. It will be open after school until 5 p.m. and Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings.

Special events will include a punt, pass and kick contest; a stick, pass and shoot contest, table tennis tournament; and a flower and garden show.

The "Feminique" program offered about once a month last year will be expanded to twice a month this year. Local residents who register for the trips are provided with bus transportation and arrangements for seeing plays in Chicago and visiting various places of interest throughout the area.

A new program will be the offering of a package deal of six trips to see plays at the Goodman Theater in Chicago. Residents will pay $25 for the cost of play tickets and bus transportation. After the plays, people on the trip will be able to visit backstage and talk with cast members.

Combined Chorus To Sing

A concert combining voices from the Elk Grove Festival Chorus and the Hoffman Hallmark Chorus will be presented at 8 p.m. Monday at Pioneer Park, 500 S. Fernandez Ave., Arlington Heights.

A 45-member combined chorus will present the free concert, which is part of the Arlington Heights Park District's summer concert series, "Concerts in the Park."

Songs included in the concert will be "Consider Yourself," "Moon River," "The Shadow of Your Smile," "Yesterday" and "Maria."

Additional numbers will be "Lemon Tree," "Fiddler on the Roof," "Gonna Build a Mountain" and "Sing Sorrow."

Director for the free concert will be June Cowin, who is the director of the Hoffman Hallmark Chorus.

The Elk Grove Festival Chorus was formed in the mid-1960s and members form an ecumenical group drawn from church choirs from throughout the area. The chorus includes residents of Elk Grove Village, Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Itasca, Schaumburg, Palatine and Elgin.

In past years, the chorus has performed on WEFM radio and made its own records.

The Hoffman Hallmark Chorus was formed in 1969 and is open to residents of Schaumburg, Hoffman Estates, Hanover Park, Schaumburg, Bartlett, Roselle and surrounding towns.

Two Added To Planning Department, 3rd Starts Sept. 1

Two new members have been added to the Arlington Heights Planning Department, and a third will begin work Sept. 1.

Joseph Kesler, village planner, said he thought the village's planning department will be the largest staff of its size in the area.

The two recent additions include Maureen O'Hara, who will work as a secretary for the department, and William Fabis, who will work as a draftsman. Fabis has his bachelor's degree in architecture from the Illinois Institute of Technology in Chicago.

A third staff member, Shirley Slater, will begin Sept. 1 as a research planner.

Mrs. Slater has a bachelor's degree in landscape architecture and a masters' degree in urban studies from Loyola University in Chicago.

Kesler said the new employees will be helping with the department's goals of preparing a new master plan for the village.

IN CONJUNCTION with the master plan committee, the planning department is responsible for preparing a statement of future planning objectives in relation to proposed redevelopment, zoning changes, annexations and other matters.

The committee includes members of the Arlington Heights Village Board and Plan Commission.

The department's duties also include aiding and advising in all proposed land development in the village.

The planning department marks a different approach to preparing a master plan than has been done in the past by Arlington Heights and many other towns. Many times, master plans are prepared by hired consultants.

Kesler said there are many advantages to having a new master plan prepared by a village department. The local employees "live with the problems everyday," Kesler said, whereas a consultant is usually from out-of-town. Although developing a village planning department "may be hard, the result is better," Kesler said.

Among the present and planned projects to be coordinated by the department are a survey of 2,000 residents and surveys of businessmen and shoppers in the downtown area of Arlington Heights.

Carnival Against Dystrophy Set

Ring toss, penny pitch and other games will be a part of Saturday's "Neighborhood Carnival Against Dystrophy" at 2225 N. Champlain St., Arlington Heights.

Janet Locker, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harvey Locker, will serve as ringmaster for the carnival which will feature hot dogs and other refreshments for sale.

The carnival will begin at noon and all proceeds will be donated to the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America to aid the fight against dystrophy and other related diseases.

ditional areas include Arlington Market at Dryden Place and Kensington Road, Westgate Shopping Center at Campbell Street and Wilke Road, and Northpoint Shopping Center at Rand and Arlington Heights roads.

Johnson said the 150 or more surveys will "probably take the whole month of August to complete. It's not going to be a simple two-day survey."

The surveys will be completed by a chamber interviewer as he asks questions of businessmen. Johnson asked for local businessmen to cooperate because some of the information is necessary for future planning and can be obtained from no other source. He estimated it would take about 15 minutes to complete the survey form.

Johnson said the surveying of local businessmen was not a new venture, because it has been done in the past. "Some of these former endeavors unfortunately have gone into limbo and not much was done with them. Hopefully, something will come of it this time."

The chamber executive said he hopes to be a part of developing a "better sense of cooperation" between local merchants and between businessmen and the village. He said individual businessmen have to realize that some of the problems of downtown are not just parking or traffic, but also includes merchandising, service, pricing, esthetics and other factors.

The solution is not simple, he said, because it is hard for individual businessmen to realize that one store can unfavorably impress a resident who will then say, "I just won't go downtown anymore." That can hurt all merchants, Johnson said.

The chamber executive said the development of the village's planning department is a "real progressive step." Having a local planning department is better than hiring an outside consultant because the planning effort is a continuous process and "more effective," according to Johnson.

QUESTIONS on the survey include how long businessmen have been operating in Arlington Heights and the major reasons the merchants selected that site. Other information asked for will include the age of the building and whether the businessman owns it, the total square footage of floor area and whether any expansion is planned.

Other items will include the number of full-time and part-time employees and where these employees park, whether off-street parking in the vicinity of the business is sufficient and the percentage of increase or decrease in the volume of business from 1969 to 1970.

Local businessmen also will be asked to list the advantages and disadvantages associated with their operation at its present location.

Merchants also will be asked their opinions about how the downtown area should be developed. Choices for future development include closing off some of the streets to automobile traffic to create a pedestrian mall, constructing a multi-level parking structure and establishing an "old town" character. Businessmen will also be asked to list other suggestions.

The survey takers also will ask what measures the village could take to improve sales and if businessmen would share in the cost of improvements when an "acceptable" plan is developed for the downtown area. Additional comments from businessmen are also asked for on the survey form.

When the surveys are filled out, the results will be tabulated by the planning department. The department and members of the master plan committee will be using results from this survey and other surveys in preparing the goals and objectives for the village's future.

The committee will then recommend adoption of policies and ordinances to implement the stated goals and objectives. The committee includes members of the Arlington Heights Plan Commission and Village Board.

Library Requests Fact List On Reciprocal Borrowing

An ad hoc committee of the Arlington Heights Library Board will wait for additional information before recommending whether the local library will participate in a reciprocal borrowing program.

During a meeting Tuesday night, committee members requested a long list of facts as part of the process in considering a reciprocal borrowing program advocated by the North Suburban Library System (NSLS).

The concept of the system is to allow residents who have a card at one library to use the facilities and books at any other library in the system. The eventual goal is to develop a state card which would be honored at all public libraries.

In March, the library board rejected a proposed program, stating the board thought reciprocal borrowing was a good concept to work towards, but was not feasible at that time.

The ad hoc committee was established to delve further into the issue of allowing nonresidents of Arlington Heights to check out books from the local library. No recommendation is expected in the immediate future on the matter.

WHEN THE BOARD vetoed the reciprocal borrowing in March, members stated they felt the program would drain the resources of the library and overburden the present facilities.

At Tuesday's meeting, committee members requested statistics comparing Arlington's parking, seating, circulation per book, books per capita and other information with libraries in surrounding towns.

Committee member Roland Ley said he thought the objective of the program was a good philosophy but "somebody's got to pay for this."

The main objection to the program centers around the fear that residents of other towns which do not have the collections or facilities the size of Arlington's, will swamp the library. Board members have said they think this would be unfair to the taxpaying residents of Arlington Heights who have provided the money for the facilities.

CHAIRMAN ROBERT Melroy said the purpose of the committee was to study the different aspects of the program and then prepare a written report for the full board. He said the NSLS proposal was not "inflexible" and suggested the system might come up with a reimbursement plan which would be acceptable to the local library.

Although NSLS does have a formula for reimbursing larger libraries which are heavily used by nonresidents, the payment scale is not sufficient to cover actual costs, according to committee members. Elgin's library withdrew from the program after a pilot project because it found the reimbursement formula insufficient.

Group Sets Incorporation Rule Appeal

Prospect Heights residents have filed a notice to appeal circuit court rejection of their proposal to incorporate Prospect Heights.

The residents announced they planned to appeal the case last month after Judge Harry Comerford dismissed the incorporation petition. The hearing had been continued five times since March.

The petition calls for incorporation of portions of Prospect Heights, unincorporated Wheeling and unincorporated Arlington Heights. It was filed by leaders of the Prospect Heights Improvement Association.

Attorney Don Kreger, representing the petitioners, announced this week that he has filed a notice of appeal. He said, "A record of the county court trial is now being prepared and will be forwarded to the appellate court. Once the report is completed, I will prepare a brief on the case and submit it to the appellate court. Objectors will be given a chance to answer my brief."

IT IS NOT known when the case will appear before the appellate court. However, some parties involved in the case predicted it would be several months before the case is called because of the backlog of cases in the courts.

The county judge based his ruling on the fact that the petitioners failed to secure the consent of the municipalities which lie within one mile of the boundaries of the proposed city. Two of these municipalities, Arlington Heights and Wheeling, have filed an objection in court to the incorporation proposal.

The necessity of the municipalities' consent was the key factor in the hearing and the subject of a discrepancy in the statutes. The judge listened to arguments on both sides of the consent question before ruling. He heard no other evidence of objections. The consent question was the deciding factor in the case.

Attorneys representing objectors to the incorporation proposal include Jack Siegel, attorney of the Village of Arlington Heights; Paul Hamer, attorney of the Village of Wheeling; and Roger Bjorvik, attorney of the River Trails Park District. Several individuals are also objecting.

Sears Is 1st Store To Open At Woodfield

by NANCY COWGER

"Fifteen years ago, I had a dream, and fortunately for me, seven years ago Sears saw the same dream I had," said Mayor Robert O. Atcher as he welcomed Sears Roebuck & Co. to Schaumburg at the firm's grand opening of its new store at Woodfield yesterday.

Atcher briefly related the history of negotiations to bring Sears and the other stores that will soon open at Woodfield to the village. Sears made the decision to build in Schaumburg seven years ago, and the following year hearings on the development were held. "People expected to see stone, brick and cement go up then," said the mayor, and when they didn't see it, they doubted Woodfield would be built.

"I was called the world's biggest liar in the Northwest suburbs for having said the world's biggest shopping center would be built right here in Schaumburg," Atcher said.

But construction started two years ago, culminating in the series of store openings begun by Sears yesterday. Other stores, including Marshall Fields & Co. and J. C. Penny outlets will be accepting customers in September and October.

May Register For 'Friendly Town'

Local residents interested in opening their homes for two weeks to inner city children may call either sponsor of the Friendly Town program to volunteer.

Mrs. Betty Ginger at 239-1158 or Mrs. Mary Ann Reiter, at 392-2654 still are accepting local families for the program.

Friendly Town offers inner city children a chance to visit with suburban families for a period of two weeks.

Supplement To City Summer Wages

City Officials' Sons Getting Federal Antipoverty Funds

by LEON SHURE

Sons of two Des Plaines aldermen, a former alderman, and the public works commissioner are receiving federal antipoverty funds to supplement wages from summer jobs they have with the city, the Herald has learned.

Thomas Hinde, John Thomas, John Leer III and Steven Schwab — sons respectively of Ald Robert E. Hinde (4th), Howard Thomas (8th), former third ward alderman John Leer and commissioner Joseph Schwab — each receive about $37 weekly through the Cook County Office of Economic Opportunity (CCOEO) in a program designed for children of families below the federal poverty level standards.

The four youths are among five of the city's summer job holders whose salaries are paid in part by the OEO program, it was learned. The city has a total of 30 summer jobs this year.

Information about the antipoverty funds going to sons of city officials has been obtained from a city official who asked not to be identified. Confirmation of the information was received from persons within the city government.

Ald Hinde yesterday confirmed that his son has been receiving the OEO funds as part of his pay for a summer job with the city's parking meter department. Thomas, Leer and Schwab were unavailable for comment. The city payroll office confirmed that the sons are listed as receiving city wages above the federal supplement.

The sons of city officials are all high school or college students.

Another youth, Stephen Holmbeck, also receives the federal funds, the official said.

CHARLES HUGHES, director of the CCOEO, which administers the funds, said he could not immediately provide records confirming that the five are receiving the checks.

The Herald also learned yesterday that Edward Haag, son of Fire Chief Frank Haag; Beth Ann Corey, daughter of Deputy Fire Chief Donald Corey, and John Branding Jr., son of city health director Jean Branding, also are employed by the city this summer but not under the OEO program.

Kenneth Shillington, son of former eighth ward alderman Edward Shillington, also has a city summer job. About 30 jobs were available this year, according to one city hall source.

Des Plaines Mayor Herbert Behrel yesterday said that the city has no policy about hiring children of city officials, but that the children "probably do get preference."

In an apparent contradiction to city records, Behrel said the city did not apply to receive OEO money this year.

Hinde said he had been told by City Comptroller Duane Biletz that all applicants for city jobs would have to apply for the OEO program, so that the city could use the money it saves to hire more summer help. Biletz is on vacation and unavailable for comment.

Schwab is also on vacation. Leer is attending a convention in Chicago, and was not available for comment by press time. Thomas also was not available.

Leer and Shillington both were defeated in last April's aldermanic elections.

ACCORDING TO Hughes, parents of recipients of the OEO summer job funds must sign statements declaring that their families' incomes are below the federal antipoverty level.

Hinde said yesterday he did not sign such a statement and that his family is not below the poverty level. Hinde owns a local floor covering store.

The federal poverty level for a family of four is an income of $3,800 a year, Hughes said. For each additional family member, the level is raised by $600, so that a family of five could earn $4,400 and a family of six could earn $5,000 a year and still qualify.

Under the OEO program, the poverty-stricken youth, between 16 and 21 years of age, work for a public agency and are paid $1.60 an hour, the federal minimum wage, up to 23 hours a week. In Des Plaines, the city supplements the salary so that it is $2.35 an hour, and pays this rate beyond the 23 hours to the 40 hours of a regular work week.

IN SEVERAL CASES, the sons or daughters of public officials have worked for more than one summer for the city, according to the city's published statement of 1970 payrolls.

Steven Schwab earned $464.40 last summer and is now working on the city's water department. Joseph Schwab, the public works commissioner, earned $17,425 last year.

Edward Haag, earned $954 last summer, and is now working in the city streets division. Carolyn Rohrbach earned $895.15 in 1970. She is the daughter of City Clerk Eleanor Rohrbach.

Beth Ann Corey earned $945 last year, and is now working in the city water division.

Sewage Treatment Plant Round Lost

The City of Des Plaines yesterday lost another battle to keep a Metropolitan Sanitary District (MSD) sewage plant out of its city limits.

By a unanimous vote the planning committee of the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission (NIPC) recommended approval for federal funds for four interceptor sewer lines leading to the project.

The lines will channel sewage into the plant for treatment from Mount Prospect, Des Plaines and parts of unincorporated Elk Grove Township.

The approval on funding for the sewer lines came despite a strong plea from Des Plaines city officials that the plant would only compound pollution problems created by O'Hare International Airport.

Ald. Alan Abrams (8th) said that a proposed airport runway to parallel one which channels air traffic over Des Plaines would create more traffic and more air pollution.

He added a study of wind patterns in the area showed the proposed plant, to be located at Oakton Street and Elmhurst Road, would be in a pattern which would carry fumes from the plant at least one-third of the time directly into a heavily populated section of Des Plaines.

Des Plaines Mayor Herbert Behrel reported another site was available at Elmhurst Road and the Northwest Tollway. Smoke and fumes would be buffered by the Tollway, and thus would be a good alternate site, he said.

Earlier, however, Forrest Neil, chief

IT WAS A HOLE-IN-ONE for John McKee, 63, in Monday's Des Plaines Park District's Hank Pezoldt Golden Age Golf Tournament. McKee and Oscar Blume, 77, were among 13 participants, all over 60 years of age,

Oakton Registers 978

A total of 978 students out of 1,506 applicants have registered for the 1971 fall semester at Oakton Community College in Morton Grove.

John Donohue, dean of student personnel, said the figure represents the number of students who have applied for admission to the college, been accepted, and enrolled in fall classes.

Of the remaining 528 applicants, 356 were not accepted because programs are not offered at the college to meet their educational objectives. The other 172 applicants have yet to register for the fall semester, he said.

Of the 978 students already registered, 735 are full-time and 243 are part-time students. Male students represent 510 of the registered students and females number 468. There are 503 continuing students, 473 new students and two students readmitted.

"In order to handle a full time application adequately we should receive it before Aug. 16, two weeks before classes begin," said Donohue. "It takes time to obtain a student's high school record and test scores."

Part-time students, said Donohue, may apply up until Aug. 30, when fall classes begin.

In its first year of existence, the official enrollment figures for Oakton were 832 students for the fall 1970 semester and 932 students for the spring 1971 semester, said Donohue.

Maine East High '61 Reunion Slated

The Maine East High School Class of 1961 will hold a 10-year reunion Saturday, Aug. 28 at 8 p.m. in the O'Hare Inn, Mannheim and Higgins roads in Rosemont.

The $6 per person cost will include hors d'oeuvres, class directory and entertainment. A bar will be available. Class members interested in attending should make checks payable to Class of 1961 Reunion Maine Township High School East and send them to Mrs. Patrick Gaines, 218 Timberland Dr., Palatine, Ill. 60067.

MSD engineer, reported he did not expect any major odor problem with the new facility.

Frank Chesrow, an NIPC commissioner, earlier said Abrams was belaboring the point to "where we can't tell whether you're opposing the airport or the plant."

In June, NIPC recommended that $26.4 million in federal funds and $12 million in state funds be approved to help finance the $48 million project.

In January, Des Plaines lost a six-year court fight against the sewage plant construction when the Illinois Supreme Court ruled the city had no control over zoning for the MSD project.

After the vote to approve the project had been taken yesterday NIPC commissioner John Baird said the statement to be transmitted to federal authorities should include the statements from Des Plaines officials on their opposition to the plant.

Early in the hearing, Richard Ward, an attorney speaking for the Des Plaines position, said he had conducted a door-to-door survey of residents in Evanston who live near the MSD treatment plant there.

He said residents complained about odors from the Evanston plant, and there had been some public confusion among MSD officials as to how much odor could be expected from a sewage treatment plant.

Later, however, Chesrow said the amount of an odor is a matter of judgment, and his criteria of judgment would be the health and safety of the public.

Advisory Units Formed At Oakton College

Three advisory committees for engineering, trade and industrial programs and public-social programs were created by the board of Trustees of Oakton Community College at Tuesday night's meeting.

According to William Koehnline, college president, the advisory committees have been formed to assist the college in development of job training and technical education programs.

"We must, by law," Koehnline said, "offer programs in five broad occupational areas. It is a difficult task to determine specific programs in each area that would most benefit our students and best fulfill the employment needs of our community."

"We need the expertise in board occupational areas which members of these committees represent in order to meet our commitment to community service in a rapidly fluctuating employment market. Members of these committees will help us to discover avenues of critical employment needs of which we might not otherwise be aware," Koehnline said.

Included on the engineering advisory committee are Herman Kunal of A. B. Dick Company in Evanston; Dennis Korlin of The Hirsch Company in Skokie; D. J. Tessari of DeSoto, Inc., in Des Plaines; L. P. Beer of Industrial Bio-Test Laboratory in Northbrook; R. J. Neilson of Miller Builders in Skokie; Ralph Teich of Teletype Corp. in Skokie; Marshall Miles of Vapor Corp. in Niles, and William Padgett of Warwick Electric in Niles.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

The House approved a two-year extension of the nation's basic draft law, but final congressional action appeared doubtful until after Labor Day. Included in the measure was an amendment urging President Nixon to renegotiate, rather than set unilaterally, U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

The Apollo 15 astronauts ended their six-day stay on the moon, blasting off toward a splashdown in the Pacific Ocean on Saturday.

President Nixon hinted he might approve a wage-price control board if he was convinced it could work effectively against inflation and that it could be operated without coercive enforcement powers. Seventeen Republican Senators earlier introduced legislation to create such a board.

A federal magistrate recommended that Daniel Ellsberg stand trial on charges of unauthorized possession and distribution of the 47-volume Pentagon study of the Vietnam war.

The Senate voted to forbid a candidate from spending more than $50,000 of his own money to run for President, $35,000 for the Senate and $25,000 for the House. The reform legislation was the first in 46 years. Prospect for House passage were uncertain.

The World

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky filed petitions to qualify for the Oct. 3 presidential elections and said it was up to the South Vietnamese supreme court to decide whether he would be a candidate. Sources said Ky's chances of remaining on the ballot were slim because of his difficulties in recruiting supporters.

Peking's official news agency described the U.S. decision to back the seating of Communist China in the United Nations as a "chummy two-Chinas trick played by U.S. imperialism."

The State

Three survivors of a 1963 police raid that resulted in the deaths of Black Panthers Fred Hampton and Mark Clark have filed suit in U.S. District Court asking that a federal grand jury report on the incident be expunged. It contends the document is illegal and showed bias toward the Black Panther party.

The War

U.S. helicopter gunships battered Communist patrols in the northern jungles and coastal lowlands of South Vietnam. In Saigon, Cambodian officials said thousands of villagers were fleeing their homes in eastern Cambodia, complaining that South Vietnamese government troops were committing atrocities.

The Market

The stock market, after suffering its second sharpest decline of the year Tuesday, firmed up during the first hour but then did an about face. The Dow Jones Industrial Average showed a loss of 4.89 at 345.14 after plunging nearly 15 points a day earlier.

Prices eased in moderate turnover on the American Stock Exchange.

A SAND TRAP at the Lake Park Golf Course on Lee and Howard streets in Des Plaines temporarily trapped Jim Biba, 67, Monday in the park district's Golden Age Golf Tournament. Trophies were awarded for low score and closest ball to the pin on the 18th green. The tournament will become an annual event for the park district's Golden Agers.

Supt. Warden Urges Sale Of TAWs

River Trails School Dist. 26 Supt. Thomas Warden has recommended that the district sell additional tax anticipation warrants (TAW) to offset a money shortage that may arise because of late tax receipts.

The school board will vote on Warden's proposal at a meeting Aug. 17. Warden said he will continue to study the problem and may have additional recommendations to make at that time.

"Last year we had collected $500,000 in tax monies in the education fund at this time," said Warden. "This year we only have $250,000 so far."

"If the incoming tax flow continues at this rate, we will be $100,000 short of cash by September," added Warden. Districts throughout Cook County have been faced with the problem of late tax money because the county mailed out the tax bills 2½ months later than usual.

School districts are allowed to borrow up to 75 per cent of their anticipated taxes through the sale of warrants in any given year.

DURING THE past fiscal year Dist. 26 sold $450,000 in warrants, which equals 55 per cent of the district's assessed valuation. Now, facing a possible money shortage in the fall, Warden has proposed that the district raise the warrant level on the 1970 levy. "We won't raise the level all the way up to 75 per cent," said Warden. "I would like to sell another $100,000 in warrants."

Because the school board has not yet approved a budget for the 1971-72 fiscal year, the district is extending the warrant debt from the past fiscal year. The board expects to be able to pay off the additional debt as soon as the new budget is approved and more tax monies are available. Consequently the $100,000 warrant sale will accumulate a minimum amount of interest.

Warden pointed out that the present problem might not have arisen if the district had already sold bonds for construction of an addition to the River Trails Junior High School. Voters earlier author-

Seek Blood For Young Leukemia Victim

Blood donations will be collected in Buffalo Grove Saturday for a two and a half year old victim of leukemia.

Although leaders of the campaign were encouraged by the number of persons who have already volunteered to donate blood, they said more donors are needed.

The boy, Danny Sendler of Buffalo Grove, received about 30 units of blood during a recent two and a half week stay at Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago. The boy was released from the hospital, but still suffers from the blood disease and may need more transfusions.

Danny, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sendler of Buffalo Grove is a victim of lymphatic leukemia.

DONATIONS OF BLOOD will be collected at the James Fenimore Cooper Junior High School on Plum Grove Circle, just east of Arlington Heights Road in Buffalo Grove, beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday. Prospective donors were asked to phone for an appointment to avoid long lines and delays.

Persons interested in donating blood were asked to call the following volunteers: Mrs. Evan Fader, 537-3273; Mrs. Richard Friedman, 537-3839; Mrs. Richard Henrich, 537-2065; Mrs. Merrill Hoyt, 537-3670; and Mrs. Les Minkus, 537-3494.

Donors may have any blood type. However, there are some restrictions and prospective donors were asked to call their own doctors if they have any questions about their physical condition and its effect on blood donations.

Certain persons cannot act as donors. This includes persons who have had malaria, hepatitis, high blood pressure or heart disease and persons who have had major surgery or who have given birth in the past six months.

Prospective donors must not eat fatty foods for four hours before they plan to donate blood.

'Country Fair Day' Set Aug. 14

The Des Plaines United Methodist Camp Grounds will hold its annual "Country Fair Day" Saturday, Aug. 14, from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Booths and attractions will include the book stall, Maxwell Street, Food booth, candy box, flea market, trash and treasure chest, and the jewelry mart. The campgrounds is located on Algonquin Road east of River Road.

Hymn Sing Sunday

The Des Plaines Christian Reformed Church, 1485 Whitcomb Ave., will sponsor an outdoor hymn sing this Sunday at 6:30 p.m. in the church parking lot. In case of rain the sing will be held in the church school. Special music will be provided and group singing will be led by Harold Bangor.

OAKTON COMMUNITY COLLEGE APPLICATIONS FOR TUITION REIMBURSEMENT THE FALL-SPRING OF 1971-1972

The Board of Trustees of Junior College District No. 535, County of Cook and State of Illinois (Oakton Community College) will receive tuition reimbursement (charge-back) applications from residents of the college district who desire to attend a recognized Public Junior College in another district to enroll in a program not offered by Oakton Community College, in accordance with the following instructions:

CHARGE-BACK FOR THE FALL-SPRING OF 1971-1972

All students who desire a charge-back must file a letter of intent and application in the form and manner prescribed by Oakton College not later than 5:00 p.m. thirty calendar days prior to the first day of classes at the College where the student intends to enroll.

Letters of intent and applications may be filed by mail. If mailed, the envelope must bear a postmark not later than midnight of the thirtieth calendar day prior to the first day of classes at the college that the student desires to attend.

All students previously granted a charge-back for the last school year 1970-71 and/or for the Summer of 1971 must reapply for a charge-back for the Fall-Spring of 1971-72.

Charge-back letters issued for the Fall or Spring Semester of 1971-72, will be valid only for that period. Such charge-back letters will not be valid for the Summer of 1972.

Application forms are available at the Admissions Office, Building No. 3, 7900 North Nagle Avenue, Morton Grove, Illinois 60053. Questions regarding tuition reimbursement are to be directed to the Admissions Office of Oakton College. The telephone number is 967-5120, extension 393.

School District Approves Survey

A hearing will be held Sept. 20, for the Mount Prospect School Dist. 57 1971-72 budget which currently shows an approximate $11,000 deficit.

At that time, the school board will adopt a final budget. The hearing has been set, according to state law, so residents can ask questions or comment on the proposed budget which will be on display starting August 16 at the district offices, 701 W. Gregory St.

Expenditures in the education and building funds make up the budget deficit. The $2.8 million education fund, which makes up approximately three-fourths of the district's total budget, currently has a deficit of approximately $27,000 after an estimated increase in tax and state aid receipts. The $591,400 building fund, which includes cost of a proposed expansion at Fairview School, currently shows a deficit of almost $84,000.

The education fund in June showed a $105,000 deficit. That deficit has been narrowed down by an estimated increase in state aid receipts by $40,000 and in tax receipts by nearly $50,000, according to Dist. 57 Business Mgr. J. C. Busenhart. The budget that will go on display also shows an additional $12,000 expenditure for special education programs which had not been budgeted in June.

EXPENDITURES FOR teachers salaries and instructional supplies and equipment are included in the education fund. Busenhart stressed that the $28,000 projected deficit of the fund is probably only temporary since the current budget is based on last year's salary schedule. It does not include salary increases or extra fringe benefits now being negotiated by the Mount Prospect Education Association (MPEA) and the board.

The proposed education budget is approximately $200,000 less than last year's $3 million. Most of the decrease results from fewer teacher's salaries. According to a staffing plan adopted by the board, the district intends to employ 25½ fewer teachers next fall than it employed last year.

The proposed building budget covers the cost of maintenance and operation of school buildings. Included in the fund are salaries of maintenance men, repairs, grounds maintenance and building insurance. Expected revenue for the fund comes primarily from real estate taxes.

The district's other funds show no deficits. They are the transportation, bond and interest, municipal retirement, life safety and liability insurance funds.

ized the district to sell bonds totaling $525,000 for the construction. "If the bonds had been sold we would have been able to borrow from the building fund until more tax monies came into the education fund," Warden said.

The school board now hopes to announce the bond sale by Sept. 1 so that a contractor can be hired and the foundation laid for the addition before winter.

Once the budget is approved, the district plans to sell additional tax anticipation warrants to balance projected expenditures with expected revenue. Based on last year's teacher salary figures, expenditures would be $200,000 more than the expected revenue of $2,400,000. But the deficit is expected to be even higher after teacher salary negotiations are completed.

Warden said, "We hope to hold the deficit down in the coming fiscal year." He said he does not know how the 1970-71 warrant sale will compare to the post-budget warrant sale.

Northwest CBMC To Hear Television Exec

Emil Gaverluk, president of International Television Productions, Inc., will speak to the Northwest Christian Business Men's group Tuesday, Aug. 10. Gaverluk is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the National Association of Educational Broadcasters.

Northwest CBMC is sponsored by Christian businessmen in the Northwest suburbs of Chicago. All men are invited to attend. The group meets each Tuesday for luncheon from noon until 1 p.m. in the main banquet room of the Nielsen Restaurant, 6475 Mannheim Rd., Rosemont.

Oakton Parking Plan OK'd

A new on-campus and off-campus parking policy for Oakton Community College in Morton Grove was adopted by the board of trustees at Tuesday night's meeting.

On-campus parking will be available for students in the lots surrounding Oakton buildings one, two, three, four and five and six. Off-campus parking will consist of a series of parking lots which may become available in the general vicinity of the college.

Parking permits will be required for both on-campus and off-campus parking spaces.

Permits for student on-campus parking will cost $10 and will be limited to the number of spaces available. They will be offered first to returning students who are carrying 12 or more hours of work and who first attended Oakton during the fall and spring semester of the 1970-71 academic year.

Permits will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis. If any parking spaces remain, they will be made available to the rest of the student body.

Evening parking permits for students attending classes after 4 p.m. will be available first to returning students and then to other students.

Certain lots near the college will be reserved for staff parking and permits will be issued to all regular faculty, classified, administrative and board of trustee members.

Negotiations are currently underway to obtain the use of four off-campus parking lots. According to Board Member Stephen Loska, the tentative lots are at Niles West High School, Lawrencewood Shopping Center, at Caldwell and Howard streets and Vapor Heating Co.

Pending approval of the use of the off-campus lots, the board voted to provide a shuttle bus service to and from the lots and the Oakton interim campus.

We had a good scare the other night. Returning home from visiting friends last Saturday night we noticed that my son's 5-speed racer was missing. I remembered seeing the bike before we left and thinking I must put it away. I had reminded my son to do the same but he was as apathetic to the situation as I was.

Anyway we pulled up and the first thing that was obvious was that the bike was not in its cherished place on the sidewalk. For an hour we walked up and down the street hoping it would be found. No such luck.

The next morning a little boy from down the street stopped by and asked what Billy's bike was doing in the alley. That was a $75 relief. There it was — about a half block down.

It taught both Billy and me a good lesson. No more apathy when it comes to taking care of that bike. When you're faced with the prospect of shelling out a good amount of money that is always needed elsewhere you care a lot more.

In back of the police station in downtown Des Plaines are racks of bikes that have been found. The police patiently wait for the owners to claim them. However, each year many bikes go unclaimed and they are donated to Maryville and other needy institutions.

If you're one of the unfortunates who has had a bike stolen check over at the police department at least once a week and you may be pleasantly surprised.

I NEVER GET TO the library as often as I'd like to but I finally managed to go yesterday. I noticed something (which may have been going on there for the past six months but was new to me) that you might be interested in. They have rows of paperback books on display. You bring in one of your own to leave there and you can take one of theirs. And there were some pretty good selections available.

WHERE ARE YOU Military Order of Lady Bugs? Maine West Mothers Club? DAR? Eastern Star and many of the other woman's clubs and organizations we've been trying to contact in the Suburban Living Department?

We are now trying to update our files to keep track of new presidents and publicity chairmen. Many of you have already been contacted by phone or have filled out the "Club President's" coupon that has run in the Suburban Living section.

But for the rest of you (the above included) please either check the paper for the next coupon, fill it out and send it in, or give us a call so we can get to know you.

A FURTHER note to club presidents and publicity chairmen of women's organizations: set aside Sept. 10 for the annual publicity workshop conducted by the Suburban Living Department of Pad-dock. Last year was the first that Des Plaines organizations were invited to attend and the response was enthusiastic. Right now the date and place (North-west Suburban YMCA) are the only things that are definite. It is a morning well spent. Look for articles on the workshop and plan on attending.

Speakers Bureau Formed

Oakton Community College in Morton Grove is inviting area residents to participate in a speakers bureau program according to William Koehnline, college president.

About 2,000 letters announcing the program have been mailed to officials of local communities, hospital administrators, attorneys, architects, clergymen and representatives of nearby businesses and industries.

According to Koehnline, the goal of the project is to provide speakers with competencies in as many fields of interest as possible.

"We hope to provide enrichment of educational, informational, and recreational pursuits at the college as well as at other educational institutions in our college district. And in the spirit of community service, this is an entirely voluntary endeavor," he said.

"In the near future we hope to expand this program and to create a 'pool' from which civic groups, educational institutions, and special interest groups may draw speakers to enhance their programs. We hope that there are many persons within our college district who will be willing to volunteer their service," Koehnline said.

"ANYTIME IS PANCAKE TIME"

Handicapped Swim Fills The Gap

by KAREN RUGEN

On Thursdays, 7-year-old Scott Peters grabs his bathing suit and heads toward Kopp Pool.

Thursday is the day for his swimming lesson. Like most kids, Scott gets excited when he has a chance to splash around on a hot summer day. But for Scott, who lives in Mount Prospect, swimming means just a little more.

Scott is one of the 25 physically and mentally handicapped children in the handicapped swim class sponsored by the Mount Prospect Park District. The park district started the summer program in June "as a service program," according to aquatic director Gil Fennie. Since then, it has served to fill in the gap for many of the children who attend the Northwest Suburban YMCA handicapped swim classes that are not conducted during the summer months.

From 5:15 to 6 p.m., the kids work with their individual instructors on bubbling, arm strokes and kicking. Supported by air floats underneath each arm or holding on to kickboards, most of their students are anxious to show instructors and their mothers what they have learned.

Some may never swim alone. Some may eventually learn how to dive. Some, like Scott, can swim for a few feet, with hands outstretched towards a pleased instructor.

"He loves to show off for the other ladies," said Mrs. Edmond Peters, Scott's mother. "He's a real little ham."

SCOTT, WHO IS mentally handicapped, also swims underwater which is one of "his favorite stunts," according to his mother. He, like many of his fellow students who come from all over the Northwest suburbs, is usually ready to jump right in when he sees the bright blue of the water.

"Those kids aren't any problem. They'll jump in if you don't keep your eye on them," said Mark Durlacher, assistant manager at the pool who works with the handicapped swim class. "Especially Scotty, you just can't slow him down."

While each of the instructors try to teach their students the basic skills of swimming, the program "gives them a chance to have fun," said Mark. "That way they can get just a little bit more pleasure out of life."

THERE IS NO SET pattern for teaching the children how to swim, according to Durlacher. Each instructor works ac-ording to the individual handicaps of the children whose disabilities vary from deafness and emotional problems to motor facilitation problems.

"The big thing is that the instructor gets used to them and they get used to the instructor," said Durlacher. "And most of the guards like working with the handicapped more than they like working with the other kids."

Fennie, who helped get the program off the ground, emphasized that the park district instructors "are not concentrating on championship form with these children." He said, "All we want to do is make them happy in the water and be able to navigate without difficulty. That is our goal."

According to Scott and his mother, the park district instructors are achieving that goal. Scott has learned to "love the water," according to his mother. He now spends a lot of time at Meadows Pool, also in Mount Prospect, when he doesn't have his lesson. And his mother likes to tell the story about how Scott now likes to "dive" in the tub when he takes a bath.

"The program is really marvelous for the children. It helps them have a good time," said Mrs. Peters. "The individualized training is important. It really means a lot to Scotty — and to me."

Horseman Denies Fault In Fire

One of three defendants named in a suit filed by horse owners who lost their horses in the June 3 fire at Arlington Park Race Track has said, "They've got the wrong man."

Robert Cramer, a horse trainer in the barn which was destroyed by fire and where 33 horses were killed, said, "I had nothing to do with them," referring to the plaintiffs, all New Orleans businessmen.

Owners Eugene H. Rutter, James H. Rutter and Jack Weiss jointly filed suit this week in U.S. District Court seeking reparations for damages estimated at $280,000. The men owned six of the 33 horses killed.

Cramer was named as a defendant in the suit along with Gilberto Morales, who was employed by Cramer as a stable hand and was questioned by Arlington Heights police about the fire.

Police said the fire was caused by negligence. Morales was seen smoking near the stable minutes before the fire began, according to Arlington Heights police. He was questioned but never prosecuted.

Records in the licensing office of Arlington Park show that Morales was discharged from the track on June 15, the day the Illinois Racing Board rejected his employment license upon the recommendation of track management.

Cramer said he knew Morales, but was never involved in training horses for either of the Rutters or Weiss. "I lost 15 of my own horses in that fire," he said.

The third defendant named in the suit is the Arlington Park Jockey Club, a division of Chicago Thoroughbred Enterprises (CTE), track operator.

The suit charges negligence in the stable area and the lack of an adequate fire alarm system in the barn, which, in total, sustained about $500,000 damage.

John F. Loomer, president of CTE was not available for comment. Loomer flew to Plainfield, N.J., where funeral services were being held for Philip J. Levin, president of Madison Square Garden Corp., the parent company of CTE.

Levin Lives On—In Probe

Race Track operator Philip J. Levin died at the age of 62 Tuesday, but investigations into his past live on.

Levin's $100,000 donation to Illinois politicians last year recently triggered a number of state investigations which will continue despite his death.

Among the investigators still pursuing the Levin case are members of Illinois Atty. Gen. William J. Scott's office, the Cook County State's Attorney's office, the Illinois Liquor Control Commission, the Cook County Grand Jury and the Illinois Racing Board.

Much of the controversy centered around the political contribution as it relates to state liquor laws.

A spokesman for the liquor control commission said a hearing will be held Aug. 30 to determine if nine state liquor licenses Levin held at Arlington and Washington Park Race tracks will be revoked.

LEVIN, FORMER president of Madison Square Garden Corp., the parent company of race track operator Chicago Thoroughbred Enterprises (CTE), allegedly violated a little known state law by making his donations through one of his companies, Western Concessions Incorporated.

The spokesman said state statutes prohibit political donations by licensees who derive more than 5 per cent of their income from liquor sales.

Western Concessions operates food and beverage service at Arlington and Washington Parks and Arlington Park Towers Hotel. Western Concession is a subsidiary of CTE.

Among the 12 cancelled checks the attorney general's office has offered as evidence of the donations are four from Western Concessions, showing $5,150 was given to Democrats and $40,000 to Republicans.

Illinois Assistant Atty. Gen. James P. Zagel said his office also "still has the Levin matter under consideration."

Last month Atty. General Scott ordered Levin to supply the Illinois Racing Board with cancelled checks, corporation meeting minutes, financial records of CTE and other information pertaining to the contributions.

RACING BOARD officials have been asked to call in one more key witness before closing the books on Levin. He is Sidney Korshak, Chicago attorney and brother of Chicago city collector, Marshall Korshak, whom Levin allegedly entrusted to distribute the $100,000 gift to the GOP.

Zagel said the attorney general's office has twice asked the racing board to question Korshak. It is not known if the board will comply with Zagel's request.

Although a spokesman for the Cook County State's Attorney's office declined comment on the Levin case, he said it is still under investigation.

The Cook County grand jury, which was investigating Levin at the time of his death, is also expected to continue their probe into the political donations. On July 22, Levin, along with other track officials, spent nearly an hour testifying before the jury.

On July 20, however, Levin told racing board commissioners he was never solicited for political contributions and "never expected political favors for them." He said the contributions were made in the interest of "good citizenship, doing business in Illinois," and to offset predominantly Democratic pledges he said was made in the past by his predecessor, Mrs. Marje Lindheimer Everett.

Pair Take To The Road For Adventure In Spain

by BILLIE BACHHUBER

A spirit of adventure, positive attitudes and a minimum of luggage. That's what Mrs. Robert Magill and daughter Christy of Mount Prospect took with them on a recent automobile jaunt through Spain.

This venturesome pair first boarded a 747 jet at O'Hare Airport, landed in Paris, then took off for Barcelona. In Barcelona, a hotel reservation was the one "scheduled" overnight on their 10-day agenda. "We just took it from there," smiled Betty Magill.

Traveling is nothing new for the Magill family. Robert, head of the household is a regional vice president for Continental Airlines. Airline passes encourage traveling plans, the Magills agree. Family members — including Susan, who recently was graduated from St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minn., and Hugh, younger brother who will enter Prospect High School this fall — have traveled extensively within the United States . . . and to Hawaii.

BECAUSE CHRISTY, now a sophomore at St. Olaf, plans to teach Spanish, she wanted to visit Spain and to get to know the land and the people first hand. The yen grew stronger this past year when she was studying Spanish history.

Her talent for the Spanish language reaped more than one benefit. Last summer Christy worked for Mexicana Airlines . . . using only Spanish. She made out tickets, typed passenger lists and tourists' cards, and helped passengers through customs. Now more confident of her abilities, the attractive coed recalled her first day on the job. "Scary!" she laughed, remembering that at first Spanish speaking passengers seemed to talk too fast.

Christy's fluency in Spanish reversed the traditional mother-daughter roles when she and Mrs. Magill decided to go adventuring alone in Spain this past June. "I can't speak Spanish, so everything was up to Christy," admitted her proud mother.

BETTY RECALLED how much she enjoyed watching her daughter working her way through everyday as well as unusual situations. The 19-year-old handled the money, ordered meals, made hotel reservations, asked for aid when needed and did all the driving.

For their exciting motor trek from Barcelona along the scenic Mediterranean coastline to Javea, Cartagena and Granada . . . then inland from Jaen to Madrid, the intrepid travelers rented a Fiat. For those planning a similar trip, the Magill ladies advise thoroughly checking out rented cars. "And learn to change a tire!"

Puncture-prone tires, no seat belts, no side mirrors and a faulty battery added unexpected delays and "flavor" to the Magills' already flexible schedule! During a harrowing nighttime drive to Cartagena, a port city, Christy had to fight her way through drunken sailors to locate a policeman who could direct them to a fourth class hotel. "Not fancy, but clean and adequate."

HELPFUL SPANIARDS guided them to scenery worth viewing, historical sites and to paradises, the Spanish national system of inns. Immaculately dressed local police, "so nice and polite," and Spanish national soldiers, "dignified and always willing to help" were the most helpful.

The friendliness of the Spanish people also impressed Christy and her mother. "Two delightful teenage boys changed a tire for us on a lonely stretch of road and wouldn't accept payment," Betty recalled. But, the two women caution, ladies traveling alone in Spain should be wary of "overly" friendly Spanish men. "They are very aggressive, so ignore them."

Betty and Christy agreed that swimming in the beautifully clean, cold, blue Mediterranean, driving out of Barcelona and happening upon a Roman triumphal arch and Roman road built in 200 B.C. and spotting an old fortified castle from afar, then later touring it, are among their most treasured memories.

OTHER EXPERIENCES not soon to be forgotten are the beautiful Spanish children, Alhambra Palace in Granada ("one of the most beautiful Arabian palaces in the world"), staying overnight at the Washington Irving Hotel in Granada and "little old ladies dressed all in black walking along the highways with their donkeys."

Betty also enjoyed stopping in the hills to search for wildflowers. "I found dozens of beautiful flowers but recognized only wild snapdragons, hockweed, rho-dodendron and a deep cobalt blue flower resembling phlox.

For women who may plan to go adventuring as they did, Betty and Christy Magill have this advice: Take time to visit the national tourist office of the country you wish to see. Travel lightly but take along soap, toilet paper, tissues, wash cloths and pills for diarrhea. Keep a flexible schedule, watch all price lists and have a good time!

Planned Parenthood Open Meeting

Northwest Suburban Planned Parenthood Association will hold an open meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. in First Methodist Church, 123 N. Plum Grove Road, Palatine.

Prospective members as well as anyone interested in the problems of population increase and in working toward its control are invited to attend.

Speaker for Tuesday's meeting will be Mrs. Lessel Papp, a member of Planned Parenthood's board of directors who serves as liaison with the auxiliary groups. Mrs. Papp, who has been an active member of the Planned Parenthood Speaker's Bureau, will present a program on the methods of family planning. She will discuss the various methods of contraception which are available, including the option of voluntary sterilization.

NORTHWEST SUBURBAN chapter is planning to initiate a canvass of local physicians in regard to their willingness to take referrals for birth control, sterilization, pregnancy testing, venereal disease testing and treatment, and abortion when legal. When results of the canvass are compiled, a system of telephone referrals will be inaugurated as a means of helping area women select a physician to meet their particular needs in relation to family planning services.

Project chairman Mrs. Mark Beaubien Jr., FL 6-8108, may be contacted for further details.

Medical Aid Is Available

Mature Woman Must Help Herself

by FRIEDA KAYE

A combination of medical help and self-help can overcome the crisis of confidence faced by the woman over 40. So says Madeline Gray, who has described the crisis in such books as "The Changing Years" and "The Normal Woman," which she wrote after consulting many medical authorities throughout the country.

The woman over 40, according to Mrs. Gray, is usually so beset by unsettling problems, she finds her self-confidence ebbing. Her children are grown and about to fly the nest. Her husband may be particularly preoccupied with his own business-connected worries. And while she's trying to adjust to all these, the menopause comes along. "It's not surprising," Mrs. Gray observes, "that many women suffer emotional fatigue during this time."

However, she points out, there are two possible paths for the menopausal woman to take: one negative, the other positive. A woman she notes, can feel she must inevitably lose her physical attractiveness and try "to escape to the ice box." But, warns Madeline Gray, it's the overeating, rather than the menopause, which makes her "spread out" and lose her figure.

SUCH A WOMAN, she adds, can also say: I'm exhausted. I'm going to be a limp dishrag for the rest of my days. I'm through. Feel sorry for me. Or the woman — being positive — can face up to her problems and "recognize that the menopause is an inescapable part of life."

Help during such difficult times, according to Madeline Gray, is now available from physicians. Before 1900, she says, the average woman's life span was so brief she usually didn't survive until the menopause. "But with modern health care and modern gynecology, all this has changed."

Part of the changing picture, she adds, was the introduction of estrogen replacement therapy. Describing estrogen as the "hide-over medicine," and speaking from personal experience as well as her extensive research, she declares that the use of this hormone under medical supervision may dramatically relieve many menopausal symptoms. Among these she includes flushes, dizzy spells, fatigue and anxiety.

"THE PRESENT generation," she declares, "is probably the first in history where the woman over 40 has the help of hormones." If a woman needs estrogen, she points out, it can probably tide her over the difficult times "so she can enter her older years and be herself again."

In addition to this medical help, the modern woman should also recognize, says Mrs. Gray, the "all-important help she can give herself." For one thing, she should know she can't be 18 years old forever and should accept her actual age. For another, she must stop living through her children, re-think her own role in life, and find constructive new activities which give her ego support.

"The only way to keep one's self-respect," declares Madeline Gray, "is by being a unique personality and by using one's talents to the fullest." And she concludes, "You can do the best with your life if you don't expect it to be perfect."

Herald Sets Two Dates For Publicity Workshop

For women's clubs and organizations that have registered their president's name, address and phone number at the Herald offices, personal reminders will soon be in the mail regarding the eighth annual publicity workshops sponsored by the women's staff of Paddock Publications.

However, all club presidents and in particular news chairmen of all area women's groups are invited. All that is necessary is to call your reservation in to 394-2300, Extension 233. In Des Plaines, the number to call is 297-6633 and ask for Dorothy Oliver.

Workshops are scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 9, and Friday, Sept. 10. Sessions begin at 9 a.m., closing at 11:30 so that busy homemakers can be home by lunchtime. Each workshop will include a mid-morning "coffee and" break.

The Thursday, Sept. 9, workshop will be held at the Plum Grove Club, Plum Grove Estates, Palatine. The Friday, Sept. 10, session will be held in the Northwest Suburban YMCA, Northwest Hwy., Des Plaines.

Presidents and news chairmen may attend whichever workshop is most convenient for them.

The workshops are designed to aid the large number of club publicity chairmen and presidents seeking more and better publicity for their organizations.

The program includes discussions on copy preparation, what is "news," hints on writing, deadlines, how to submit news copy, writing publicity to interest readers, use of names, importance of accuracy and an explanation of Paddock Publications' publicity policies.

Pictures, too, will be thoroughly covered with discussion and slides of good and "bad" publicity shots.

Helpful pamphlets will also be given to each woman present.

The workshops are timed to coincide with the first week of school and the beginning of the active club year. This year Sept. 9 also marks the grand opening of the new Woodfield Mall shopping center and workshop guests will find it only a short hop for luncheon and an afternoon of browsing in the new shops.

Reservations for the workshops are requested so that comfortable seating can be arranged for all — and of course, enough rolls and coffee.

Serving the "coffee and" will be members of the women's staff who will also be introduced during "entertainment" earlier in the program.

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: We recently bought a used refrigerator, which is in good condition except for a lingering odor. We washed the inside thoroughly with a Pinesol solution, then sprayed with a disinfectant. There was still an odor so put in some activated charcoal; left it for four days and found the original odor gone but can't get rid of the charcoal smell. Used a baking soda solution but to no avail. Do you have any other suggestions we might try? Mrs. E.D.A.

To alert other readers, the worst thing that could be wrong with a used refrigerator is an odor. Other parts can be replaced fairly reasonably, but if an odor has gone into the insulation, you've had it. The insulation can be replaced but what an expense.

Charcoal has no odor of its own, but it is one of the few ingredients that can absorb any odor it's near. You might still try the method recommended by refrigeration experts and tried by many readers.

Evelyn Menges tried a double-whammy — using not only activated charcoal but the granules used to line kitten boxes — three paper plates of each ingredient. But first she washed every available area with ammonia water, with the motor turned off, of course, and then put in these plates with the door slightly ajar. Four days later, the odor was gone. One more washing and the refrigerator was in perfect shape. Readers have used vanilla, bread, vinegar and so forth, but a different type of method might be used if the above doesn't work — direct a fan or sunlamp into the interior of the box.

Good luck.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to Dorothy Ritz in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.)

'Gala' Is A Success

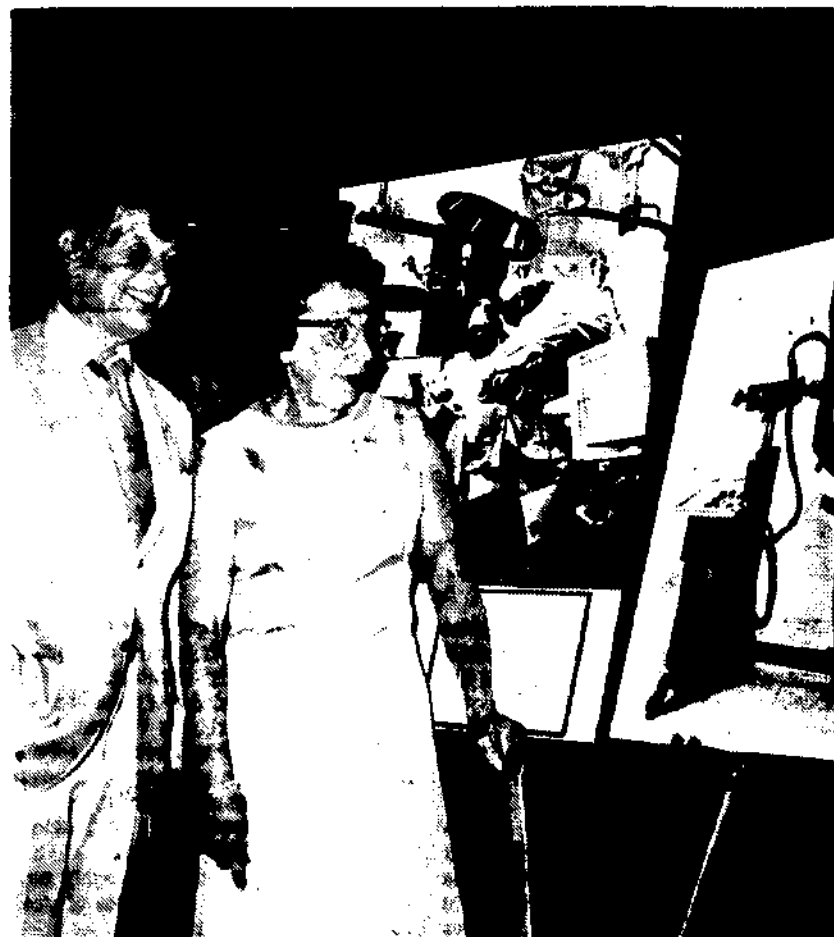

A crowd of more than 840 attended the sixth annual Gala July 31, a benefit for Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge. Approximately $25,000 was raised.

The funds will be used to purchase a mobile image intensifier. The equipment consists of an x-ray generator, tube and image system.

It can be used throughout the hospital in areas such as emergency, intensive care, surgery, patient rooms and coronary care.

"We are deeply grateful to all who supported Gala '71, both those who attended and those who contributed," said Mrs. Martin Bengtson, general chairman.

"We're looking forward to Gala '72." The Gala is sponsored by the Medical Staff, the Service League and the Men's Association of the hospital.

PROCEEDS FROM GALA '71 will go for a mobile image intensifier. Dr. Allen Green, chairman of the medical staff advisory committee, and Mrs. Carl Dahlquist, reservations chairman of the benefit, view photos of the equipment.

ELAINE MAY AND Walter Matthau are the "Love Couple of the Seventies" in "A New Leaf," now playing at Galt Mill, Woodfield and Arlington Theaters.

Announcement Information For Those Getting Married

Getting married? The Herald will be happy to publish your wedding story if you will fill out our wedding form and get it into our office within five weeks following your wedding date.

Wedding forms may be picked up in our offices at 217 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights or 1419 Ellingwood, Des Plaines, or may be requested by mail. Forms are automatically mailed to mothers of all girls giving a wedding date in their engagement announcement.

To accompany the story, a picture of the bride and groom is preferable. This should be a close-up black and white glossy (preferred) from the bouquet up. No small snapshots are acceptable and rarely will color prints reproduce satisfactorily. A picture of the bride alone is acceptable but will be printed only in 1-column width.

If photo has not been received at our office within the five week deadline, the story will be printed without the picture. However, a picture of the bride and groom with caption or short story only (no date) will be accepted up to three months following the date of the wedding.

We suggest that a picture for the newspaper be selected immediately upon receiving the photographer's proofs. Any delay may mean missing the deadline.

There is no charge for printing wedding stories or photos.

To Make Easier Living

by United Press International
Just about everyone's getting into the anti-pollution campaign. One chain of specialty stores has added to its women's fashion line a home-care wash product free of phosphates and enzymes. The chain, Peck & Peck, recommends it for either hot or cold water, for handwashing delicate fabrics or for use in the machine. No additives are necessary for the machine wash.

Peck & Peck's Lovlast.
Now comes the hero-ette sandwich, a smaller version of that meal-sized sandwich. The sandwich, a low calorie type, features the slimmer-sized sausage meats, cracker-sized cheeses, small amounts of vegetables, pickles and finger size rolls. The hero-ette made its debut at the national convention recently of the American Home Economics Association (AHEA) in Denver. Introducing it was a firm which makes, among other things, plastic food wraps and bags and sausage casings.

Here's How To Announce Engagement In The Herald

With the summer rush of engagements, Paddock Suburban Living department is again besieged with calls from those seeking information on submitting announcements for publication. We print the following for the reader's information and help.

The announcement of an engagement is always made by the parents of the engaged girl, who may either fill out an engagement form at our office or submit their own information along with a wallet sized picture of the bride-to-be.

If a wallet sized picture is not available a larger one may be submitted. Photos accompanied by stamped, self-addressed envelopes will be returned. Others may be picked up at either our main office in Arlington Heights or our Des Plaines office.

Parents not using one of our forms may either write or type the information. If the announcement is submitted in hand-writing we ask that all names be printed to avoid errors. We also request that a phone number accompany the signature at the bottom of the announcement.

A glossy picture is preferable although a dull finish is often acceptable. Color photos are used at the discretion of the editors depending on contrast and depth of color.

There is no charge for engagement pictures and announcements. They will be printed within a week after reaching our office.

Governor Ogilvie Signs Correction Legislation

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie recently approved 50 bills which he called "the most far-reaching legislation in the field of corrections" since 1899.

Ogilvie signed the bills at a meeting of the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission in Springfield, where he was the principal speaker.

Citing the advances made by the department of corrections since its creation in January, 1970, the governor hailed the new legislation as "a monumental advance on the goal of bringing a new sense of purpose and a concern for results to Illinois' correctional system."

Among the correctional bills signed by Ogilvie were:

Senate Bill 756 amends the prisoners' furlough act, providing the legal machinery to help offenders work their way back into the free community on a gradual basis. The new law allows carefully screened inmates who are within one year of being eligible for parole to visit their homes, families and friends for three-day periods to help them reestablish their relationships.

THE BILL ALSO authorizes Dir. Peter B. Bensinger to release inmates for short periods of time to appear before certain educational and professional groups interested in a better understanding of the causes and results of crime, and to talk to students about the dangers of drug abuse.

House Bill 2819 authorizes the department to grant educational furloughs to certain qualified inmates and permits educational field trips. Under the bill, inmates may continue their academic or vocational education in programs developed with junior colleges and the state's universities.

THIRTY-ONE BILLS remove the arbitrary licensing and registration restrictions which have heretofore barred felons from gainful employment in a wide variety of pursuits.

The occupations affected are: physical therapists, chiropractors, optometrists, veterinarians, psychologists, plumbers, beauty culture operators, barbers, funeral directors, water well pump installers, nurses, court reporters, employment agency operators, liquor dealers, sanitarians, blood bank operators, structural and professional engineers, surveyors, business and vocational school operators, livestock and swine dealers, architects, medical practitioners, pharmacists, dentists and dental surgeons.

House Bill 1705 allows carefully screened inmates to volunteer for assignment outside penitentiary walls on conservation, anti-pollution and environmental work projects.

Senate Bill 752 amends the Criminal Code by extending the correction department's authority to give conditional releases for periods of up to 180 days prior to the date the inmate is eligible for final discharge by expiration of his sentence. The previous statute allowed for periods of not more than 90 days.

SENATE BILL 213 authorizes payment of up to $10,000 to families of correctional personnel fatally injured in performance of their official duties. The bill, previously affecting only policemen and firemen killed in line of duty, now includes youth supervisors, guards, wardens, captains, lieutenants, parole agents, counselors, maintenance workers and other institutional personnel.

Senate Bill 753 gives penitentiary officials police powers off the institution ground to recapture and reimprison escapees.

House Bill 161 amends the Sentence and Parole Act to provide a notification and writ process in connection with parolees or conditionally released individuals who have been arrested by local police or sheriffs for another crime.

Other correctional bills signed by the governor were:

SB 32 amending the State Reformatory for Women Act providing for placement of babies born at the institution by the Department of Children and Family Services; SB 33 amends the Code of Criminal Procedure to prevent limiting the Department of Children and Family Services' powers in taking custody of babies born at the Dwight Institution; SB 751 changes the name of the department's Bureau of Community Services to the Bureau of Field Services.

SB 754 amends the Code of Criminal Procedures to require notification of the corrections department in cases where there is an unexpired federal sentence and a subsequent Illinois sentence which is to be served in federal custody concurrently; SB 755 amends the State Reformatory for Women Act to include women over 18 years of age sentenced and committed for one year or longer, or women sentenced or committed for six months or over at the department's discretion.

SB 757 AMENDS the Probate Act, providing that a person under conviction as a felon is not qualified to act as an administrator of an estate; SB 1057 removes disfranchisement of persons convicted of felonies upon completion of their sentences; SB 1058 amends the Election Code, removing disfranchisement of persons convicted of crime upon completion of their sentences;

HB 1615 adds inmates released, pardoned or paroled to those entitled to suitable clothing, transportation and spending money upon leaving the penitentiary; HB 1648 transfers land in Will County to the City of Joliet; HB 1674 transfers land owned by the City of Joliet; HB 1674 transfers land owned by the department's juvenile division to the City of Vienna; and HB 2178 provides that if a candidate for parole is in the department's custody, the Parole and Pardon Board shall interview him.

Computer No Match For 'The Champ'

It was boy versus machine Monday at the second annual computer chess tournament in Chicago's Conrad Hilton Hotel. And 12-year-old Kurt Schultz, 1428 Yale Ct., Arlington Heights, came out on top.

Kurt was declared the winner over the $2.5 million Northwestern University computer after 41 moves. International Chess Master David Levy from the University of Glasgow judged the young champ to be in better position and have more men than his programmed opponent.

The match was sponsored by the Association for Computing Machinery.

A carrier for the Arlington Heights Herald, Kurt uses the money he earns delivering papers to cover entry fees at various chess tournaments in the area, according to his mother, Mrs. Dudley Schultz.

"I THINK IT was a little easier than playing a real person because the computer can't think for itself and doesn't have a strategy," Kurt said after the match, which lasted about three hours and 20 minutes.

The computer normally took about a minute to decide on its move, Kurt said, but certain variations in the boy's strategy sometimes apparently bewildered the electronic brain forcing it to delay its move up to five minutes.

Kurt had been recommended to participate in the computer tourney by Richard Berber of the Chicago Chess Club, one of several chess associations the youngster plays in.

Now a seventh grader at Rand Junior High School, Kurt first learned to play chess a little over a year ago in the learning center at Patton Elementary School. Since then books and a lot of practice have been his principal teachers.

Although his parents encouraged him to learn the game no one else in the family plays, his mother said.

DAVID J. SLATE, a systems analyst at Northwestern and programmer for Chess 3.5 — the computer's tournament name — said that although the machine has no strategy per se, it tries out all its moves in advance, often thinking as much as five moves ahead.

The computer was victorious in last year's tournament, but this year just couldn't seem to recover from Kurt's surprise opening which, the boy said, "really botched it up."

At 12 years of age, Kurt Schultz still has a number of years to perfect his game. A game which is already good enough to short circuit a computer.

Czechoslovakian Makes His Own 'Great Escape'

by TOM VON MALDER

It sounded like any one of a hundred movie escapes from behind the Iron Curtain, complete with the escapee hanging from the undercarriage of a streaking train.

But it wasn't. It was real and it happened to George Lippert 18 years ago.

"I don't know about it being like the movies," Lippert said in a recent interview, while recalling his adventure. "I only know I wouldn't want to do it a second time. I don't know if I could."

Lippert, who lives at 1031 Cottonwood Ln. in Mount Prospect, was born in Prague, Czechoslovakia in 1921. He vividly remembers the 1938 Munich agreement by which France and Great Britain gave his Czechoslovakia to Hitler and the Nazis.

"I got married in 1944," Lippert said. "It was after the war, in 1945, that I became an active member of the anti-Communist party, called the Beles Party after our president."

BUT IT WASN'T until 1949 that Lippert got into serious trouble with the Communist regime.

"I openly voted against the Communists in 1949 and was placed on their blacklist," Lippert said. The next year, Lippert was kicked out of his job as a chemist because "I didn't have a positive approach to the Communist regime."

The soft-spoken former refugee took a puff on his cigarette. "There was nothing I could do. They suggested I go to work in the coal mines."

But, with the help of a friend, he managed to avoid the mine pits and get a job as a buyer in the steel industry.

The period of respite for Lippert was short however. In the spring of 1953, he received a secret message from a member of the Communist-controlled labor union. "The message said that my days over there were counted."

THIS MESSAGE forced a decision and the decision was to escape. "I knew it was impossible for my whole family to escape as at that time Czechoslovakia was blocked from all sides. But by listening to Radio Free Europe I got the impression that in two to three years the Communist regime would be over. Then I could come back."

Yet once the decision to escape had been made, it could never be certain that he would return or even make it out of the country. So Lippert and his wife got a divorce, with her taking care of their two children.

Since it was impossible to get to West Germany directly at that time, the plan was to go over the border to East Germany. This was in July.

"At the border I could see the soldier and hear the dogs about 200 yards away. I laid down on the ground. I had brought some black pepper which I spread around my resting place."

The pepper was to throw the dogs off his scent. "The pepper saved my life," Lippert said. He was then free to move across the border into East Germany.

It was then a 50-mile hike to Dresden where Lippert sold his wedding ring for German money. He needed the money to purchase the train fare for East Berlin.

LIPPERT LEFT Dresden on a regular Berlin express. After an hour's ride, a Russian patrol boarded the train.

"They came from one side only so I was able to climb under the car until the next station," Lippert said. The next station was some 50 miles and 30 minutes away.

Once back in the train, Lippert had only a short ride before another patrol boarded the train. This time it was the East Germans.

"These were regular patrols. But when the Germans came on I had no choice but to face them. They came from both sides and I was in the middle with nowhere to go."

"I still recall they asked for the identification card of the man next to me and the woman across from me. I had already given up. It was just plain luck."

The guards left without asking to see a card from Lippert, who had none.

The train reached East Berlin without further incident. There Lippert was shocked to see the buildings still bombed out. "I could only orientate myself by watching the sun go down. I couldn't recognize anything."

The sun went down — to the west, Lippert's goal. He walked to the Brandenburg Gate. There was no wall yet dividing the city, but barbed wire and armed guards had the same effect. Lippert could not get across to West Berlin.

"THERE I WAS completely lost. So I decided to go ask somebody to help me."

The time was about 5 p.m. and Lippert began walking through the park, trying to judge people by their faces. He picked out an old man and "in my broken German I asked for help to get to West Berlin."

The man advised him to sit and wait until the next morning at 4 a.m. when the border would be opened again.

"This changed my opinion of Germany. From my childhood I had been brought up to hate the Germans and their 300 years of control over my people. It was amazing for me. I realized then there were only good and bad people."

He later met a woman who approached him with the straight question if he were trying to cross the border. Lippert said that in his naivete he told her the truth. She told him she too was waiting to cross and they spent the next lonely, frightening hours together.

ening hours together.

The next morning, after hiding from patrols among crowds all night long, they separated with Lippert taking the elevated train to West Berlin. Once there he tried to get a policeman's attention by changing his clothes and swimming in a public fountain.

"I thought one had to do something wrong to get a policeman's attention," Lippert laughed.

When he went to the Canadian embassy, there were so many other refugees ahead of him that he was taken to the American Army Intelligence service. Six weeks with them, three with the British and three with the French, as the Allies tried to learn as much as possible from Lippert about conditions in Czechoslovakia.

AT ONE POINT, the French intelligence service asked Lippert to become a spy for them and carry secret codes back to his country. In return, they offered him immediate passage to the United States. Otherwise he faced a two-year waiting period.

Lippert said he refused when he learned that agents were being sent over with false codes. Arrangements were made by the French to have the Czechs capture these agents so they would be confused by the false codes.

Before coming to the United States, Lippert worked for the U.S. refugee program in West Berlin and Munich. He married again in 1956 to Edith, a German girl. In January 1956 he entered this country and settled in Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Edith followed later.

The couple now have a five-year-old son, Erik. They moved to Arlington Heights in 1961 when Lippert was offered a job at Pre-Finished Metals in Elk Grove Village, his first job as a chemist since being black-listed by the Communists in 1950.

The Lipperts also have lived in Park Ridge and will shortly move to Schaumburg.

Back in 1963, Lippert helped his son, George, escape. He is now an electronic engineer in San Francisco. The other child from his first marriage, Donna, got as far as Munich where she met and fell in love with a German boy. Lippert's first wife had no desire to leave Czechoslovakia, he said.

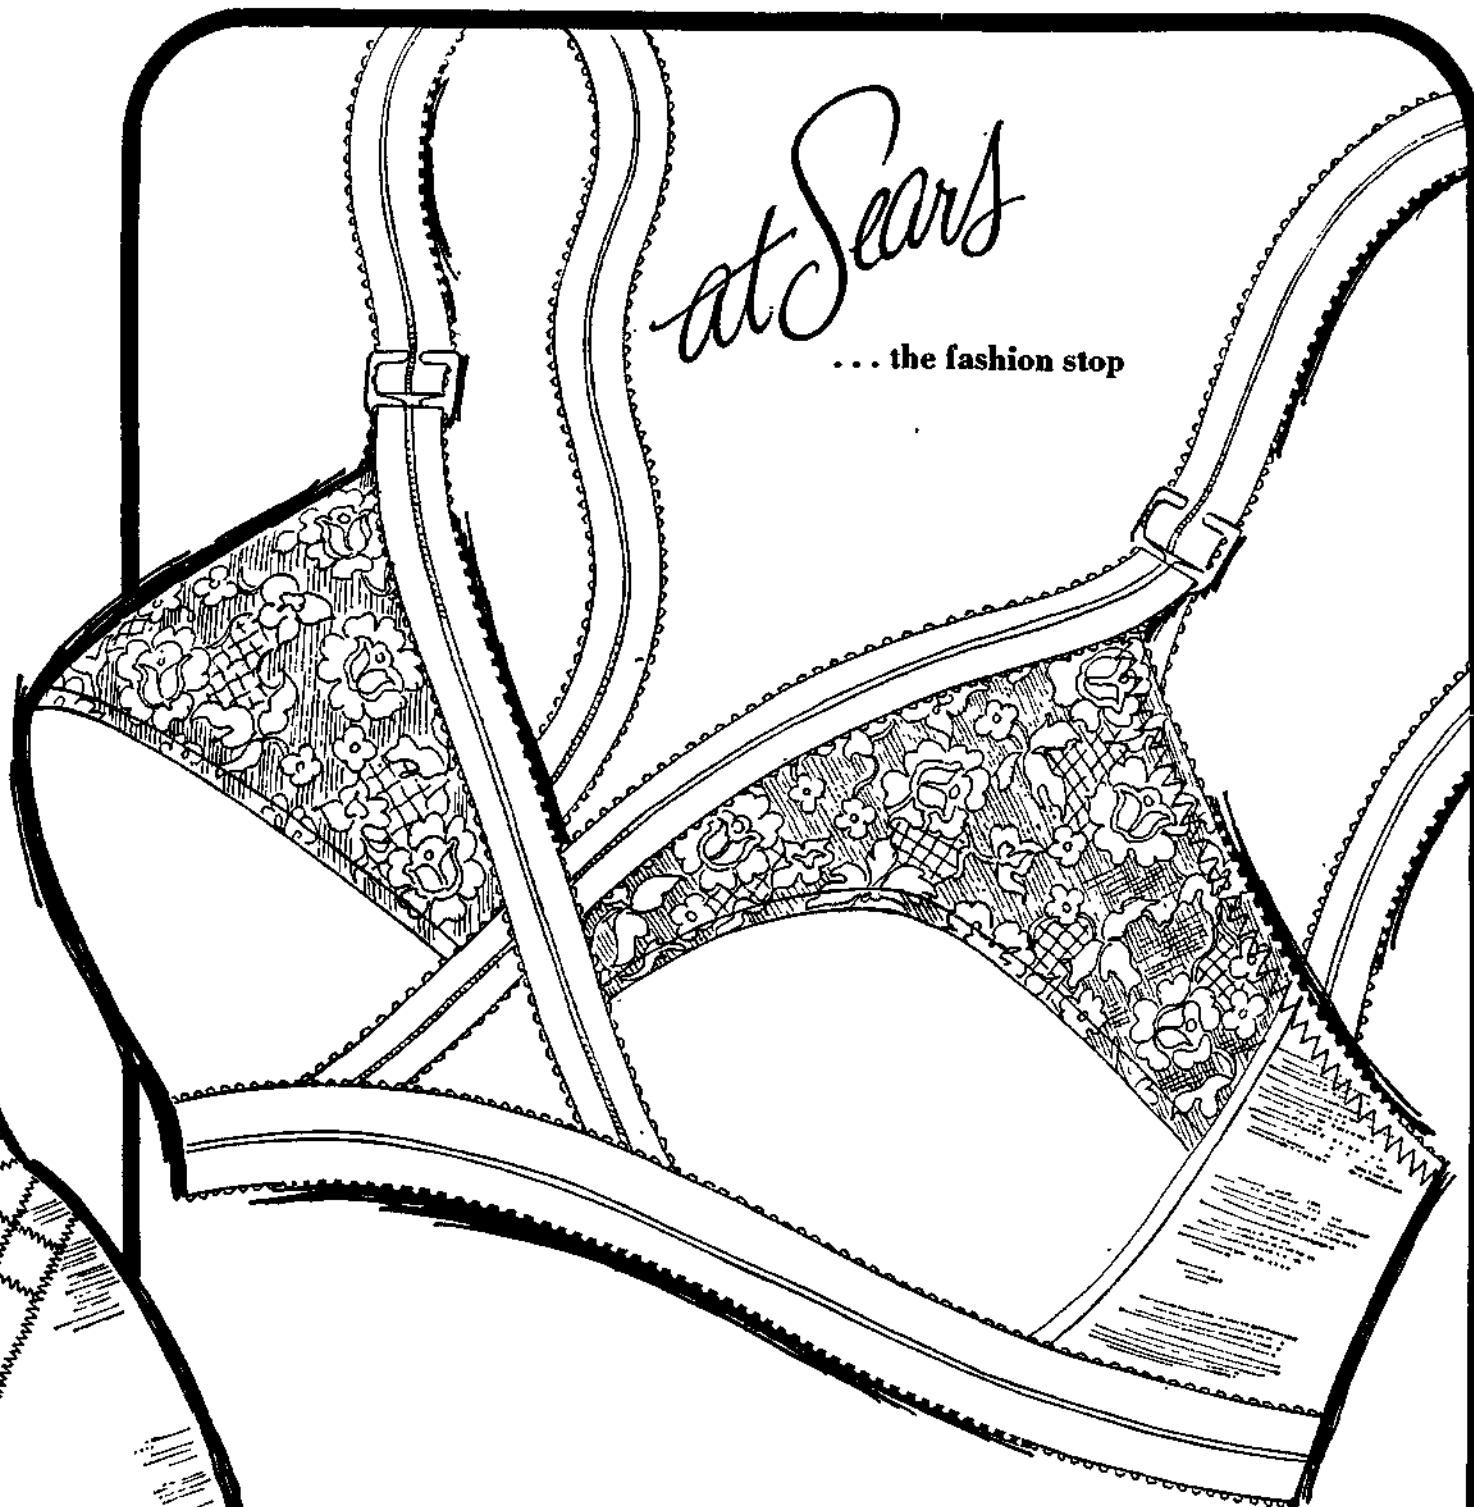

GEORGE LIPPERT recalls his 1953 escape from Communist Czechoslovakia. "When I first came to the United States, I found it hard to adjust. I wanted to go back immediately. Fortunately, I didn't have the money."

Carpentry Was Just A Hobby

From Fashions To Remodeling Homes

The amazing thing about Tom Nathan's transition from designing and manufacturing stylish fabrics for women's fashion designers to the home remodeling business is that the two are related.

For fifteen years Thomas C. Nathan, president of Craftwood Lumber Company of Highland Park and Des Plaines, worked as a designer of fabrics for women's high fashion designers. During this period Nathan developed a feeling for color and style. With this knowledge and talent it was natural for him to apply his art to the home remodeling, he said.

"Carpentry and remodeling were just hobbies that became engraving as the years went by," Nathan said. "I started by building a room addition to my home and finally remodeled every room in the house." His friends and neighbors insisted he start a business along those lines. They said nothing they had seen came close to the way he beautified and upgraded a home.

Thomas
Nathan

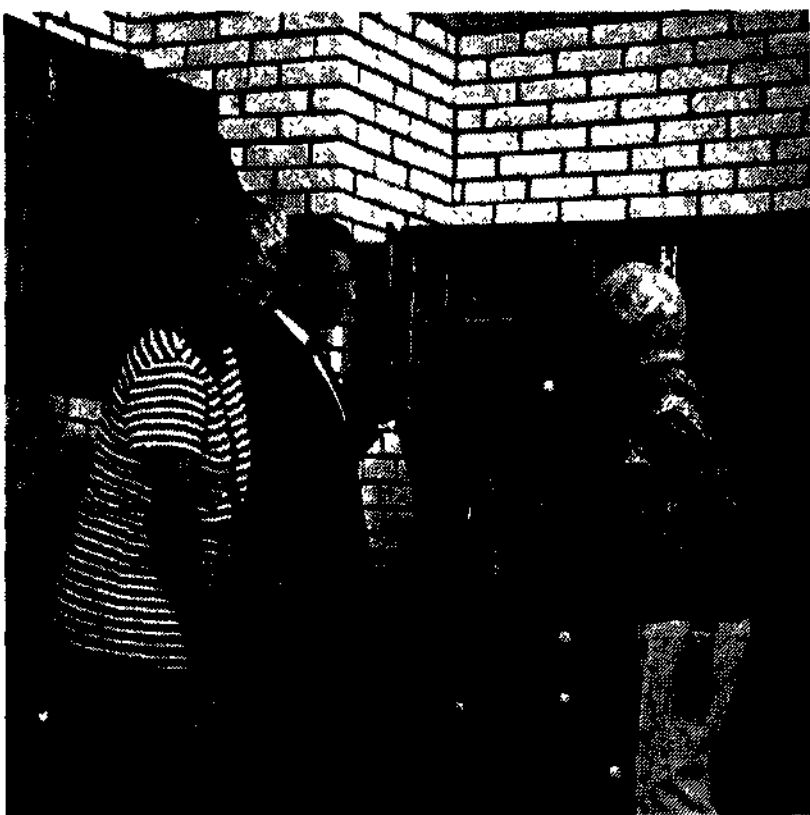

With his major jobs Nathan said he realized there was no lumber yard or home center on the North Shore to serve the needs of the first-time homeowner wanting to do more than just an odd job. In fact, there was not even a yard or store that had an inkling of the kind of service or knowledge that was needed.

SO NATHAN decided to start his own combination lumber yard and complete home remodeling operation. That was fourteen years ago in Highland Park. Today the Craftwood Lumber Company has added another and more comprehensive remodeling home center in Des Plaines.

Surrounded by some of the nation's top craftsmen in the fields of carpentry, cabinet making and architectural designing, Nathan has built his business into one of the most modern and unique in America. On the premises is a built-in movie theater to show customers color motion pictures on paneling.

Craftwood also has completely remodeled rooms as a showcase for customers to select from. There is a room with a floor and ceiling for the purpose of sliding different types of panels into the walls to show them under incandescent light in a full sized room. This eliminates the guessing game for the housewife who visualizes a panel on a rack as ideal, then finds it is not what she wants when it's put up in her home.

"But the most interesting thing homeowners discover," says Nathan, "is the economical aspects of doing the job yourself. First they discover how simple it is to do it yourself when shown by experts, then they find out it costs only a fraction of what a contractor would charge."

Is Family Arrangement Essential To Survival?

EDITOR'S NOTE: Some 2.3 million couples were married in the United States 25 years ago, the largest number in any single year to date. This is the story of one of them.

by AILEEN SNOODY

WESTBURY, Long Island — (NEA) — Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reidman recall their honeymoon 25 years ago as a happy experience.

Now a retired New York City police detective, Reidman was working as a waiter at a resort in upstate New York and she was on her first vacation by herself when they met. When she later married his brother, they doubled-dated.

"I had a chance to watch him operate," Beatrice Reidman explains. Reidman's brother was killed in Europe during World War II. She was nine months pregnant and they didn't tell her until the baby was born that her husband was dead.

The Reidmans celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary June 18. They were married by a rabbi in Kew Gardens, Flushing, N.Y., and had a catered reception for 50.

Unlike many couples in '46 the Reidmans started married life with a $25,000 reserve and took a three-week honeymoon, one week of which was at that Adirondack resort.

NEITHER CONSIDERS marriage old hat and as a mother of an unmarried daughter, Mrs. Reidman says she is troubled by youth's attitude toward it. She explains, "I'm square. I can understand some of the arguments but I don't believe a relationship should be from bed to bed. This is too impermanent and could be tragic." Reidman still condones the double standard but adds, "This country was predicated on the basis of a family arrangement and it is essential to survival."

As for changing each other, he says he changes his attitude from time to time but appreciates someone "who allows me to criticize them . . . but I feel I'm now willing to accept them as they are." Her major complaint is that he is too conservative about money when money isn't a worry for them.

Reidman now owns The Playhouse in Harlem. It was formerly the jazz-famous Minton's and still features live music. He has been a technical adviser for such TV shows as Brenner, Car 54 and the movie,

"The Pawnbroker."

With a more than $20,000 income, net worth of around $100,000 and insurance, the Reidmans stick to a no credit card, no charge account creed. This is part of his conservatism, as is owning two Cadillac convertibles, bought when they are always a year or two old.

He thinks credit cards are a disease. He doesn't believe people should charge anything that has an increased cost after a month, i.e. interest charges.

THE REIDMANS are do-it-yourselfers. There are times, though, Mrs. Reidman would like to call in a repairman and get something done right away rather than wait. Theirs is a well-equipped house with automatic dishwasher, air conditioner, separate freezer, color TV, five black/white TVs, power mower, barbecue equipment, movie projector, blender, stereo components, a movie camera, four still cameras.

Although they don't belong to social clubs or a country club, he is active in Temple, both bowl, golf and garden. She also took adult education courses in reading comprehension, sewing, cooking, decorating and bridge. They like to entertain friends "socializing" over late-night snacks and card games.

The Reidmans took a vacation around the world in 1966 and like vacations in general but she doesn't believe in separate trips or weekends.

With two daughters and one grandchild, the Reidmans worry about drugs and the wars around the world and their effect on the children's future.

As a former policeman Reidman comments on certain attitudes toward police. "I feel," he says, "that people get everything they deserve. They only scream when they are affected personally and are not concerned about Charlie next door until they are bothered. It is good youths are telling government they won't accept the garbage that was handed to their mothers and fathers."

HAROLD REIDMAN holds grand-daughter Jill and is surrounded by daughter Lauri, 22; Mrs. Reidman, and daughter Sande Weinstein, 26.

Third GOP Boundary Map Presented

by TOM LANE

With deadline pressure mounting, the Illinois Reapportionment Commission has begun studying a third Republican proposal for redrawing the state's legislative boundaries in the hope that more maps will spark the ideas commission members need to reach agreement on a redistricting plan by Aug. 10.

"This GOP proposal is lacking in several respects," Sen. Cecil Partee, D-Chicago, said Tuesday. "But I welcome the chance to look at it, as I'm sure other commissioners do, because the more maps we have the easier it will be to do our jobs."

Partee and other Democratic commissioners criticized the GOP proposal because, they said, it was incomplete and retained district boundaries based almost entirely on political considerations.

Partee said the courts have held that legislative lines must be drawn to guarantee equal representation even if traditional political lines must be crossed.

"THIS PLAN GIVES currency to the idea this state is divided into three sub-states," Partee said. "Chicago, the rest of Cook County and downstate Illinois."

The latest GOP proposal would give control of 19 districts to Chicago. Democrats have consistently lobbied for at least 20.

Sen. Terrel Clarke, R-Western Springs, who says he'll vote for no map with more than 19 Chicago-controlled districts, said the GOP plan was "a reasonable compromise that gives Democrats one more district than they deserve in Chicago according to census data." Democratic objections to the plan, Clarke said, were nothing more than "gobbledygook."

Because the proposal included only Chicago and the rest of Cook County, Democratic commission members expressed displeasure at what they called an "incomplete" map.

"I'D HAVE HOPED they'd bring a complete map," said Rep. Clyde L. Choate, D-Anna.

Clarke said the partial plan was submitted only to give the commission a chance to look at as much information as possible as soon as it became available. He said a full map embracing the Cook County plan offered Tuesday would be introduced soon.

One Democratic and three Republican proposals are now before the commission and each party is expected to offer another shortly, perhaps in time for the commission's next meeting which was scheduled for noon today.

Partee said he sees no solution to the impasse over whether Chicago should control 19 or 20 districts.

"Someone will have to give in," he said. "Ideally, Republicans would get 28 districts favorable to them. Democrats would get 28 and there'd be three swing districts. I think that's what we're all aiming for."

Jazz Band's Trip Going 'Smoothly'

The Elk Grove High School Jazz band's trip to Europe is proceeding "smoothly" with the 38 students and 15 parents thoroughly enjoying themselves, reported Band Director Douglas Peterson in a letter to the Herald.

"Tomorrow we head for Austria," he said, in the letter sent from Germany at the end of the first week of the 21-day tour that began July 17. The band is due back in Chicago next Sunday night.

"Things went smoothly until we reached New York," Peterson jokingly reported. "Our charter flight landed at Bangor, Me., instead of Kennedy International."

"A man on board had a heart attack," he explained, forcing the plane to land in Maine and causing a six-hour delay in the trip across the Atlantic.

THE GROUP STAYED briefly in England before crossing the North Sea by boat and arriving some eight hours later at the Hook of Holland.

After a canal boat sightseeing tour of Amsterdam the group arrived July 19 in Sneek, The Netherlands, where they stayed with Dutch families.

"The best experience of the trip was meeting our friends in Holland," Peterson said. "Everyone made lasting friends."

"We played our first concert there in group. Our unofficial guide was a teenage guy named Casse (literally 'Cheese,' which is what we called him.)"

"No one can ever forget the fantastic success of the second concert in Korkum and the graciousness of our hosts, The Advendo Marching Band. We proved that international good will and world peace can be a reality."

The band members arrived in Mannheim, Germany, July 21, by bus where they stayed at the Hotel Mack, and played a concert at the Heidelberg Concert Hall. The next stops were Kinkelsbühl and Garmisch.

"EVERYONE AGREED that Germany was beautiful, Bavaria especially," Peterson said.

"One member of the band was relieved to find out that Germany didn't live up to his impressions of secret police and people being tortured in the streets."

"Who can ever forget searching the dried-up moat at Kinkelsbühl for a passport at midnight," Peterson said, explaining that one member of the tour who thought he lost his passport finally remembered that he left it in another jacket.

The toughest part of the trip was the crossing of the North Sea and the drive through the Bavarian Alpine roads where most members of the band got sick from the ride, he said.

"But the most common problem is the post cards," he said. "Everyone was told to write every day. The only hang-up left is mailing the cards."

THE BAND WAS scheduled to be in Salzburg, Austria, July 25, followed by stops in Liechtenstein and then Montreux, Switzerland, July 28.

They were to be in Paris Saturday for a concert beneath the Eiffel Tower, followed by a ferry boat trip across the English Channel and a train ride to London, arriving today at Victoria Station.

Northwest Obedience trial

Entries for the 14th annual obedience trial to be held by the Northwest Obedience Club, Inc., of Suburban Chicago, close next Tuesday, Aug. 10, at noon.

The trial will be held on Sunday, Aug. 22, at Prospect High School, 801 W. Kensington Road, Mount Prospect, with the judging starting at 9 a.m. In conjunction with the regular trial, the club will also hold a tracking trial on Sunday, Aug. 15, at the Twin Ponds Hunt Club, Algonquin. For the tracking trial, you have to be an early bird. The event starts at 7 a.m.

The obedience trial, to be held Aug. 22, will no doubt be one of the largest in the country. Reasons for the large entry are that in addition to the regular classes, Novice A and B, Open A and B, Utility and Tracking, there are four non-regular classes offered — Graduate Novice, Veterans, Brace, and Team. There is also one drawing card in the form of first prize to the highest scoring dog in the trial from the regular classes — $150.

The Northwest club, which holds its training classes each Wednesday evening at 15 N. Brockway, Palatine, plans this year to donate a portion of the proceeds from the trial to the Leader Dogs for the Blind, Rochester, Mich. This school is supported in the main from donations received from Lions clubs and other interested parties.

For information and entry blanks for the trial, contact Roy J. Jones, Supt., P. O. Box 307, Garrett, Ind., 46738, telephone, 219-925-0523.

Overweight less resistant

People these days are quite concerned about their diet and the subject of overweight and diets is a popular one. By the same token, if you have a dog, don't get him up to the point of being way over his normal weight.

Dr. Paul M. Newberne, professor of nutrition and food science, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, gave some important facts at the Gaines Small Animal Nutrition Workshop, held at the University of Illinois this past March.

Among other things, Dr. Newberne reported on the nutrition study made of three groups of dogs. The high calorie intake dogs received about twice the calories per day as the low calorie group and about one-fourth as many calories per day as the normal calorie intake dogs. Series of tests were held to indicate the degree of resistance to viral and bacterial infections shown by the three groups of dogs.

At the conclusion of the various tests, it was found that obese or overweight dogs proved more liable to infection than their low or normal-feed counterparts.

Fun Match

Just another reminder that the Park Shore Kennel Club is holding a fun match this Sunday, Aug. 8, at the Northbrook Sports Complex, which is located at 1730 Pfingsten Road, between Willow and Dundee Roads.

The indoor event will be for conformation dogs and will be open for entries from 9 a.m. to 10:30 a.m., with judging to begin at 11 a.m. For information call 272-1813 or 831-3550.

How Do You Know When To Quit?

by IRA BERKOW

NEW YORK — (NEA) — While George Blanda, nearly 44 years old, sweats through two-a-days at the Oakland Raider training camp, Bob Waterfield plays touch football with his son at a picnic in Los Angeles, Lou Groza and his son kick alone at a park in Cleveland and Otto Graham employs his famous right arm to spread cement for the flagstones at his new house in New London, Conn.

"Personally, I think it's a shame, all the star football players who retired in the prime of life," wrote Blanda in a recent Sports Illustrated article. "Lou Groza washed up at 43, Ben Agajanian, prematurely retired at 45, Y. A. Tittle, gone when he was 38 and Bob Waterfield at 35. Norm Van Brocklin hung them up at 35 as did Otto Graham. . . (They all) fell victim to one of pro football's many unreasoning prejudices: that you're no longer capable of playing when you reach 30 or 35. Baloney!"

What do Groza (now 47), Agajanian (51), Tittle (45), Waterfield (59), Van Brocklin (46) and Graham (49) think of that?

"We all get older in spite of George," said Graham.

"Everybody doesn't grow old gracefully like him. Some are physically old at 30."

"I could have played longer if it had been pass and touch," said Y. A. Tittle. "I played a long, long time with aches and pains, then I just sort of lost the itch. George still has the itch, the will to play and try to do his best all the time. He's a rare guy."

"Chances are," said Agajanian, "that football is the only thing in George's life. Or it's the most important thing. When I quit in 1964 I just could no longer give enough to football."

The pull of outside interests, in fact, and not the physical strain was the primary reason the six stars retired when they did.

COULD THEY HAVE LASTED Longer? George Blanda says that the six former pro football stars above — Bob Waterfield, Lou Groza, Y. A. Tittle, Ben Agajanian, Otto Agajanian had a sporting goods distribution company, and oil and ranching property which he still looks after. Tittle and Groza are still in the insurance business. Van Brocklin retired in 1960 after quarterbacking the Eagles to a championship. ("What do you do for an encore?" he asks.) and thought this the most opportune time to look toward the future — and get a job as head coach. He did, with Minnesota. He is now head coach of the Atlanta Falcons.

Waterfield retired to go into "the picture business." (He is now the director of player personnel for the Rams.) Graham retired to enter business, too. "I wanted to quit on top," he said. "I thought my business future depended on that. I didn't just want to hang on, like a Joe Louis." (Graham has coached the Washington Redskins, and is now athletic director of the Coast Guard Academy.)

Family was another factor for retirement. As Tittle said, "I had three kids who were about to enter high school age. I thought they could use a full-time father."

All six ex-stars agreed that they could have played a few years more. "Age is no problem — as far as kicking and quarterbacking is concerned," said Groza.

Said Agajanian: "Some of the older kids are in better condition than the younger kids. I think that if coaches would let the older ones train at their own pace — and not do two-a-days — that more would stay on. I even think some guards and tackles could then play on until 45 or 50."

Tittle, Van Brocklin, Waterfield and Graham said that they can still throw, that their arms are in good shape right now.

"My arm was never a problem," said Van Brocklin. "My legs were. I never had any."

"I picked up a ball last year," said Graham, "and was still able to throw accurately."

"Sure," continued Graham, "I could have played a few more years, but the older you get the worse become the pregame stomach jitters. And then, when those 6-8, 300-pound linemen can run faster than you, you know it's time to quit."

Money was a major factor when each of the six quit.

"I was making $20,000 a year in 1962, when I retired," said Waterfield. He probably would be making four times that much if playing today.

Actually, Agajanian remained in football not so much for the money he made from football, but for the money he made outside football. In his last season, 1964, Agajanian received $9,000 from the San Diego Chargers.

"I never played football for the money," said Agajanian, "I never asked for a raise. Other things were more important. I didn't want football to be my entire life. And I was grateful to football for the opportunity to succeed in business. Because of your name, people were willing to trust you and help you."

Today, all six are close to their playing weights, except for Groza who at 275 is, he said, "some 25 pounds flabbier than when I quit football in 1967." They play golf, tennis, handball, paddleball and generally watch their diet.

"I eat very light," said Van Brocklin. "When you're coaching, food don't taste that good."

Crown Minor Champs; MNLL All-Stars Fall

Maine-Northfield Little League's hopes for a Little League World Series berth were crushed last week in Palatine as the MNLL major National Stars bowed to Des Plaines South 3-1.

Although pitcher Bob Machun had a perfect game going for three innings, his teammates couldn't get around the Des Plaines pitching to lend him support. Machun gave up only two hits, one a homer, and struck out six. He also had a single, one of his team's three hits. The other two were collected by third baseman Russ Karlins, who had a double and a single, and also played some praiseworthy ball defensively. Both defenses were good with Des Plaines having a slight edge offensively.

It was a victorious week for the Flying Frenchman Restaurant, however, as they captured the MNLL minor division championship 4 to 3 in a thrilling playoff game against Glenview Foremost. There was good pitching and good defensive play by both teams. Glenview Foremost took an early lead and held it until the last inning when the Frenchmen came back with two runs to give them their one run victory. Nick Tremont tripled for the champions and Gary Adelman singled. The four pitchers, Murray Shore and Nick Tremont for the Flying Frenchman, and Mike Miller and Richard Glass for Glenview Foremost, all did exceptionally fine jobs.

In make up games in the senior league, Golf Mill Bank won by a forfeit from White & Cronin. Yorktown-Sertoma lost to Gas Light Coin Shop. Semmerling Fence defeated Martin & Marbury 9 to 3. Tom Knauber was the winning pitcher for the Fence with George Kaufman and Brad Eisenberg also pitching for the Fence. Ed Radousky started for Martin and Marbury and Mitch Glickman finished the game and was the losing pitcher.

Tom Schultz drew a base on balls to put runners on first and second. Bill Olsen lined a single to right field and, with the help of an error, Warren scored. Schutz went to third and Olsen took second.

Bantam pitcher Dave Nelson blanked the Elks for the remaining four innings and Bill Heyse stopped Bantam without a run after the second.

Frank Mitchell got the second inning going for Bantam with a double to right-center field. Gary Warren followed with a single to score Mitchell and close the Elks' lead to 2-1.

Tom Schultz drew a base on balls to put runners on first and second. Bill Olsen lined a single to right field and, with the help of an error, Warren scored. Schutz went to third and Olsen took second.

and. Tim Gillespie cracked a double to left field to score Schultz and Olsen to make the score 4-2 and Gillespie went to third on an error. Roger Spencer lofted a sacrifice fly to right field to score Gillespie from third to make it 5-2.

A single by Bill Besenhofen, a double by Colin Carroll and a double by George Kinsler closed the Elks' deficit to 5-4 but the visiting team was unable to knot the score.

The Elks had taken a 2-0 lead in the first inning with a single by Heyse, a walk to Ken Schroeder, a single by Besenhofen and a single by Paul Locke.

Nelson hurled no-hit ball for the last four innings, allowing only two baserunners — one by an error and the other via a base on balls.

Heyse allowed only one hit over the last four innings — a single by Spencer in the fifth inning. A double play erased Spencer from the basepaths.

Bantam took full advantage of its opportunities, leaving only one runner on

Troubadours Climb Back Into Third

In the College 16" Softball League Hackett's Troubadours climbed back into 3rd place this week by defeating the Seeds of Onan in an eight-inning thriller 7-6. It was Kraft over the Cosmos in five innings 21-2. Nick's, still undefeated, whipped Bob Mack's team 10-4.

Markworth rallied over the O'Neills 10-2 to put the two teams in a 2nd place Blue League tie. The Rosebuds put down Skala to tie them for 4th. The Curtins defeated the Deviates in five innings 19-9.

Records Wilt

Wilt Chamberlain established or extended 11 National Basketball Association records during the 1970-71 season. He now holds records for most career minutes played, most career field goals made and attempted, most career free throws attempted, most career points scored, highest scoring average, most consecutive games without fouling out, most years leading the league in rebounds, most play-off free throws attempted, most career All-Star game rebounds and highest lifetime All-Star field goal percentage.

Class winners for low gross in the 9-hole league were Pat Rezny with a 51 in A flight, Ruth Kain and Phyllis White with 58 in B flight, Flo Razmusen with 58 in C flight and Jenny Martin with a 59 in D flight.

Low putt honors went to Pat Fasnacht, Madelain Klumpey, Jenese Busch and Barbara Nixon.

South Side Little League Advances In Tourney Play

The South Side Little League advanced to the Northern Illinois Sectionals by winning the District 14 tournament at West Park.

The South Siders drew a bye in the first round of the tournament, nipped Devon Higgins 3-2 in the second round, trimmed Maine-Northfield National 3-1 in the third round and edged Central 2-1 in the finals.

South Side trailed Devon Higgins 2-0 until two were out in the final inning when a triple, the only hit by the South Siders, by Rick Sandri sparked the winning rally.

Against Maine-Northfield South, the South Siders trailed 1-0 until the fourth inning when they pushed across a pair of runs. In the fifth inning Tim Platek belted a home run to make the final score 3-1.

After Central took a 1-0 lead in the top of the first, Bob Zuccarini blasted a home run to make the score 2-1 in the bottom of the first with a runner on base. Wanroba was the winning hurler, throwing a two-hitter.

In the wrapup of the regular season at South Park, McCall's Texaco downed Iroquois 4-2 for second place. Bob Bahr, Bill Baresche and Tim Logisz had two hits each. Frosty Wanroba slammed three doubles.
